Leon S. Marshall Honored With English Scholarship

Will Study at Manchester University During Next Year

Professor Leon S. Marshall of the history department has been singularly honored by being selected as the American candidate for the Manchester University scholarship offered by the English-Speaking Union in England. Professor Marshall has been given a leave of absence from Westminster for next year, and will do research at the University of Manchester in England.

The project, with such backers as Lord Derby, includes two scholarships to be given to Americans, Canadians, or Australians for study at Manchester in order that relations between English-speaking countries be bettered.

Professor Marshall was the American candidate selected from all others in this country. He will work under Professor G. Daniels, dean of the faculty of commerce, at Manchester University, and will devote his study to the development of the early industrial city, Manchester. The other candidate selected was Miss Muriel A. H. Reid, Sydney, New South Wales.

Professor Marshall, a graduate of the College of Emporia, University of Colorado, and University of Pittsburgh, spent last summer in graduate study in England. He has been instructor in history at Westminster since 1930, coming here from the University of Pittsburgh where he was a graduate assistant in history, working on his doctor's degree.

Sir Ernest Thompson, in submitting his recommendations for the two appointments, indicated the aid given the Union by Andrew Mellon, United States Ambassador to England. Mr. Mellon caused some funds belonging to the defunct Anglo-American society to be added to the scholarship fund of the Union.

IN ORGAN RECITAL MARCH 20

GORDON BALCH NEVIN

Gordon Balch Nevin, internationally known organist, who presents another of his organ recitals as part of the artist course on Monday evening, March 20, in the chapel. Among Professor Nevin's numbers will be one of his own compositions, "A Sylvan Idyll."

Nevin Explains Artistic Inspiration, Choral Music

Tells About New Piece "The Shepherd Of The Hills"

The old question as to what constitutes so-called artistic inspiration is explained by Gordon Balch Nevin, noted organist and composer and member of the faculty of the Westminster Conservatory.

Professor Nevin recently composed a cappella anthem, "The Shepherd of the Hills", and dedicated it to Dr. Williamson, conductor of the famous Westminster choir. So immediate was the success of the composition, and so appealing was it to the public that the publishers wrote Professor Nevin asking if it were not the result of some unusual mental or spiritual experience at the time.

Professor Nevin answered, saying, "In all modesty, I can truthfully say that it was an inspiration—one of those all-too-rare cases where a piece springs full-blown into the mind, and literally races itself down on paper. In fact, there were almost no alterations in the actual harmony of the thing during the polishing process, and none whatever to the form. The polishing concerned itself with getting the best part-leads, balance of parts, and possibilities of choral effects."

"Which brings me to the thought that choral music of the future will be written by men who know the voice. In the past, they have been primarily instrumentalists, with only casual knowledge of the voice. I believe that a choral composer must have studied singing extensively, must have done some solo singing, and must have some experience in singing in choruses. I count myself fortunate to have tasted deeply of all three of these activities."

"I do not mean that a man cannot think effects which might be called 'orchestral', for he can, and I believe should; but he will so allocate and distribute his individual parts that they will be essentially vocal."

"There is in my mind no doubt that the higher types of choral music are showing the finest development of any of the branches of musical art. I have heard college and school cappella choirs during the past two years which could not have been duplicated in America 20 years ago, singing with a perfection of (Continued on Page 2)

Team Leaves Today; Will Debate St. Francis Tonight

Traveling 1300 miles to meet five opponents, the Westminster debate team faces a strenuous schedule this week and next. The team left today on its Eastern tour, and will debate the war cancellation subject on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday, and next Monday nights.

The schedule for the Westminster team includes: St. Francis, at Loretta, March 15; Juniata, at Huntingdon, March 16; Dickinson, at Carlisle, March 17; Villanova, at Villanova, March 18; and Rutgers, at New Brunswick, N. J., March 20.

Members of the team who will make the trip include three affirmative and two negative team speakers. Wilbur Christy, Pittsburgh; John Engle, Youngstown, O.; and Fred Luderer, Punxsutawney, constitute the affirmative team. Herbert Smith, New Castle, and Alan Van Harper, Zellenople, are on the negative team. The team will make the trip in private car, and will be in charge of Wilbur Christy and Herbert Smith.

In the St. Francis and Dickinson debates, Westminster will debate the negative of the question, Resolved: That War Debts Should Be Abolished. In the Juniata, Villanova, and Rutgers contests, the Westminster speakers will debate the affirmative.

Professor Leon S. Marshall of the history department, Coach of the team, will be unable to accompany the speakers on their tour. He spent much time last week drilling the men for the five contests away from home, and is pleased with the improvement shown during the week, especially in the debate victory over Bethany last Tuesday.

ROTARY CLUB HONORS TEAMS

"Tuss" McLaughry Speaks At Banquet Which Attracts 200 People

Almost 200 people turned out for the Rotary Club banquet in honor of the Westminster basketball and football teams last night at Wyatt Lodge.

Alumni, faculty members, students, townspeople, members of the championship New Wilmington high school team, the Rotary Club, and friends from the district crowded the banquet hall.

De Ormand "Tuss" McLaughry, head football coach at Brown, was the principal speaker. "Tuss" told of his student and coaching days at Westminster, of what he thought of athletics in the East, of the aims of competitive sports, of John Lawther as a player, and of the proper emphasis of athletics in a college.

"We must have teams that will win," McLaughry said, "for any man who goes into a competitive sport without the idea of winning is not a real man."

The banquet, presided over by W. Fillmore Campbell, was started by the singing of "America", led by A. A. McDonald. Dr. J. Ralph Neale asked the blessing.

Among those introduced were: Judge McLaughry, Jim McLaughry, Bill McLaughry, District Attorney Park, Judge McNaughton, Judge Chambers, representatives of the press, the athletic council, guests from other schools, and members of the championship New Wilmington high team and Coach Hutchison.

Speakers included W. W. Campbell, who told of the early days in Westminster athletics; Attorney Walter Braham, who reviewed athletics under Lawther; Dr. Galbreath, who spoke on "Westminster, Builder of Men;" and "Tuss" McLaughry.

Coach John Lawther introduced members of the Titan football and basketball squads.

Music was furnished by the Westminster band, under the direction of Professor Donald Cameron; and songs were directed by A. A. McDonald.

CABBAGES AND KINGS

War Clouds

That was it hell nobody will deny. Everyone agrees with Sherman in that respect. But people in general, especially those who have never shouldered arms personally, tend to treat the epigram in the light of a smart saying. Sherman, living as he did in a period when a few thousand men killed in battle was a staggering loss, really did not know just how hellish war might become. Perhaps the participants in the late World War formed a rather hazy idea as to depths to which war might sink humanity, but they had no way of visualizing the war of the future, a war against humanity in general, a war in which whole civilian populations may be wiped out over night.

Yet with all the awful possibilities inherent in a second twentieth century conflict, despite the still fresh memories of the debacle of ten years or so ago, the nations of the world seem to be on the brink of another war-precipice, ready at a moment notice to plunge into inevitable economic and moral disaster for the sake of a so-called "national honor" which is but the hunting cry of big business.

Symonds points out clearly in his book, Can Europe Keep the Peace? the ethnological, physical, and economic reasons for his contention that Europe cannot remain peaceful. Current events in Jehol seem to indicate that Japan has somewhere acquired an over-dose of national feeling. All the petty international jealousies and misunderstandings point to the absurdity of the statement that the late war was a war to end wars. The League of Nations, lacking adequate enforcement machinery (the non-membership of Russia and the United States foiling any attempts to utilize the economic boycott-arms embargo sword), makes futile remonstrances toward errant nations. The international kettle boils faster and faster. Yet no great sage steps forward with an effective plan for the promotion of world peace.

Where are the intellectuals that devised the steam engine, that invented the electric light that developed modern surgery? It seems strange that no leader steps out to show the way to a world that would not be unwilling to follow. Is the lack of such a leader or leaders a sign of a decadent civilization, or is man doomed ever to turn his abilities to the purely mechanical needs of the race? Is man inherently so stupid that he cannot be educated to an international rather than a national point of view? Is it impossible to turn propaganda, that tool so useful to a nation trying to incite its people to war, toward an everlasting peace?

O money may acquire a shine
But scarcely off these hands of mine.
It comes so fast; it goes so soon;
I'm always deadly broke by noon.

Two hundred here....for room and board,
Four hundred there....Why can't I hoard?
Three dollars for a Latin book
So soon laid down without a look.
O, father, when you see these bills,
Your heart will ache with many ills.

Turn Out the Light!

Scene: Ante chamber of Purgatory.

Time: 8 A. M. yesterday, today, or tomorrow.

Enter Diogenes from left, wearing a tattered toga and a long face, and carrying a lighted lantern of ancient vintage in his hand. He is joined by Juvenal, Cicero, Aristotle, Rockefeller, and Henry Mencken. The last mentioned carries a torn, green magazine with which he playfully slaps his companions. Diogenes favors them with a surly, disillusioned glance, and turns to watch the procession of shades bound toward the inner sanctum.

Mencken (smartly): "Three to one that the old gent doesn't find what he's looking for before ten o'clock."

Juvenal (bluntly): "I believe that if your grandfather died you'd bet on the possibility of his hearse reaching the cemetery without an accident. I'll cover that bet."

Cicero: "To what fate of mine. Conscript Fathers...I mean, friends,.....shall I attribute it that no man these many years has been a fool with his money without at the same time contributing to my happy existence as the supreme politician of the Roman world? I'll cover it, too."

Aristotle merely shakes his head sadly.

Rockefeller: "I'll hold the stakes."

They hurriedly go through the formalities and then silently watch Diogenes as he stops each man in the unending line. Man after man is questioned and immediately waved away. An hour passes, then fifty minutes. Mencken begins to show signs of self-complacency. He makes grasping movements with one hand. Five minutes of ten comes. Diogenes stops a rather seedy looking young man, who is dressed in knickers and a sweater with a big letter Y on it.

Diogenes: "Young man, why did you go to college? Was it to have a good time, to get a degree, or to find some place to loaf where your parents couldn't disturb you?"

Youth: "Why, to tell the truth, I don't really know."

Diogenes, with a wild shout of joy and relief, throws his lantern against a brick wall, and hurries off to see if he can't get Satan to pardon the boy. Mencken curses and stalks angrily away. Juvenal and Cicero, with happy smiles, turn to collect their winnings. Their smiles disappear as suddenly as did the stakeholder.

Curtain.

Fable

There were three students: Bluff, and Slide,
And Wishwash were their names;
And all three said, "Your mission, sir?
Your message? And your aims?"

"Kind gentlemen, to tell the truth,
Nor color fact with fable;
My chief concern is just to work
As well as I am able."

"Sound studying, my mission is;
My message, and my aim."
"An awful grind," said Bluff and Slide,
And Wishwash said the same.

—Of alumni who always talk about "the good old days."
—Of up-town coaches who never played anything tougher than Flinch, but who know how every game should have been played.

—Of Campus Ladder Climbers who get offices and then never do a bit of work in them.

—Of athletes who think that brawn makes up for lack of brain.

—Of alumni who went through college on nothing and think the college still owes them a living.

—Of demon coeducators who forget that while love is blind the neighbors are not even wearing dark glasses.

finish not even dreamed of 20 years ago.

"The American composer of talent and expert technic has his chance in this field, if he has something to say. We have learned a lot from the Russian school, but the Russian musical idiom does not transplant to our American religious services with entire happiness. Racially, we are too far apart, and our conceptions of worship at too much variance. We dare not pattern after the Russian school."

"I do not expect to see, and I do not want to see, a fetish made of a cappella music, but it has its place and is going to do American church music a lot of good, and it may be the whip which will produce better sacred organ accompaniments."

TITANS DEFEAT GROVE CITY BY 36-26 SCORE MAR. 7

WESTMINSTER HAS ANOTHER GREAT COURT YEAR

Titans Maintain Record With Nineteen Victories

1933 Outfit Has Hardest Schedule Of Any School In District

One hundred and four victories and only 21 defeats in seven seasons—that is the record of Westminster in basketball. Thus, with a percentage of .832 for seven years, and with five Tri-State Conference championships, four Pittsburgh district championships, and two second-place ratings in the district and conference, the Titans have the best seven-year record of any college in the district and one of the best in the entire country.

JOHN D. LAWTHER

This year's Titan schedule, the hardest attempted by any college in the district, included contests with teams from Ohio, New York, New Jersey, West Virginia, and Pennsylvania. Nineteen of these contests were won, and six were lost.

When it is remembered that Westminster lost Harry Brownlee, star center who scored 395 points; Phil Rice, one of the best guards ever to play in the section; Michael Kocheran, sharpshooting forward; and John Hamas, diminutive forward, from last year's great team, the success of this year's Titan five under Coach John Lawther is most remarkable.

Starting with green material for the most part, Coach John Lawther brought his squad along until, at the end of the season, Westminster had another of the strongest fives in the district and one of the best in the East.

Victories over Duquesne, the best team in the Pittsburgh section; St. Johns, one of the best, if not the best, team in the New York section; and over John Marshall, a strong outfit in New Jersey, were some of the highlights of the 1933 season.

The Titans scored a total of 866 points in 25 contests this year to 610 by opponents, or an average of 34.6 points per game, to 24.4 points by rivals. In eight contests, the Titans scored 40 or more points, tallying 54 against Glenville State Teachers college. In eight other contests the Westminster five scored 30 or more points. Seven teams were held to 17 points or less, and Case, a team which later defeated Western Reserve, was held to nine points.

Bill Douglass, captain-elect, was high scorer with a total of 247 points in 24 contests. Gerald Newton, second with 171 points in 24 games; West Bennett third, with 132 in 15 games; Mauno Siljander, fourth, with 92 in 21 games. Twelve Titan players figured in the scoring.

Finishing the season, then, with 19 victories and six defeats, and with a record of seven victories and three defeats in Tri-State Conference competition, the Titans placed second in the Tri-State Conference race, and second only to Duquesne in district achievement.

The Westminster record for seven seasons includes the following standings: 1927, runner-up for Tri-State Conference championships; 1928, Tri-State Conference champions; 1929, Tri-State Conference and Pittsburgh district champions; 1930, Tri-State Conference and Pittsburgh district champions; 1931, Tri-State Conference and Pittsburgh district champions; 1932, runner-up for Tri-State Conference championship

W. A. A. ACTIVITIES

IS NATIONAL MEMBER

W. A. A. received communication March 9 that its application for National membership has been accepted. This makes the local W. A. A. a member of the Athletic Conference of American College Women, and connects it with the work done in 225 other colleges and universities.

The national news letter will keep us informed concerning athletic activities in these colleges monthly.

Any member of Westminster W. A. A., if transferred to another college which is a member of A. C. A. C. W. can transfer her W. A. A. points and credits toward athletic awards given by the college or university to which she goes.

Westminster W. A. A. may now send delegates to sectional and national conventions, receive and send out news of interest from and to the national publications.

HISTORY

W. A. A. at Westminster had its first meeting in February 1932. Evelyn Judson was its first president. Charter members were those selected as especially skillful in field hockey. With each sport season new members have been added. Requirements for membership are strict, and requirements to maintain membership are such that once a member, a girl's interest in sports increases with each sport. This year has been one of rapid progress. Under the presidency of Virgil Wettich, W. A. A. has grown in membership and spirit. A new recreation room has been furnished, and within a year the Westminster W. A. A. has become an ember of a national organization.

PING PONG TOURNAMENT

The W. A. A. is sponsoring a ping-pong tournament in the W. A. A. room, Hillside. The tournament started March 9 and will run until April 28. Twenty-one women students have entered the tournament, awards for which will be made at the conclusion of the tournament. The tournament will be run in elimination fashion, with one consolation match.

CO-CAPTAINS

MAUNO SILJANDER

Both Players Honored At End Of Titan Court Season

Gerald Newton, New Wilmington, and Mauno Siljander, Pittsburgh, were elected captains of the 1933 season at Westminster at the conclusion of the basketball season, Coach John Lawther announces.

Siljander was acting by appointment in a number of games, while Newton was also acting captain in many contests. No election was held before the season started, and since both men played their last game for Westminster against Grove City and both were important cogs in the success of this year's team, the squad honored them by designating both as captains for the past year.

Siljander, handicapped by a football injury, played his best ball on the Eastern trip and in the final same against Grove City. Newton tallied 171 points during the season in 25 contests. Siljander scored 92 points in the 21 games in which he saw action.

Both men are members of Delta Phi Sigma fraternity. Newton is an outstanding student, majoring in mathematics. He was president of his class last year and has been a member of the choir, the yearbook staff, the honorary mathematics fraternity, and intra-mural sports teams.

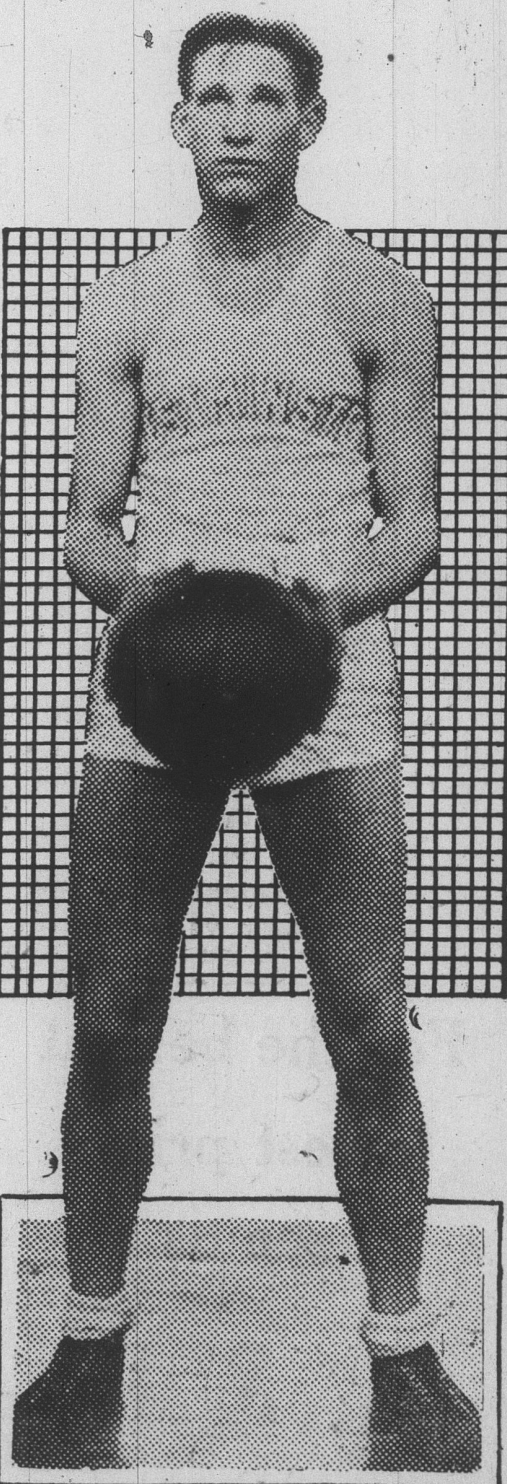

Siljander, has won letters in football, basketball, and track. He played end and halfback in football, ran the sprints and hurdles and competed in the broad jump and javelin in track, and has played guard and forward in basketball. Siljander, who graduates next February, will be eligible for football next fall.

Douglass Is Made Captain Of Titan Five

Star Forward To Lead Titan Cage Team Next Season

William Douglass, Iselin, Pa., star forward on the Westminster basketball team for the last three seasons, leading scorer of the Tri-State Conference this year, has been elected captain of the 1934 court team by a unanimous ballot of the nine lettermen.

Douglass this year alternated at

Siljander Stars In Final Contest, Making 17 Points

Westminster gained an eight-point lead over the Redmen in the first half and was ahead at the intermission, 13 to 2. Westminster added six points to its score on three led goals with Coach Freeman's three aces sitting on the bench. When they went back into the game after four minutes of play with instructions to play Westminster close and keep the ball moving fast, the Indians made a gallant stand. In the last 16 minutes of play they outscored the Titans 10 to 6 but the big lead of the Lawtherites could not be overcome.

stayed at Stroudsburg on Tuesday night, Feb. 28. Wednesday at noon found the Westminster outfit in New York, which was the headquarters until Saturday morning.

The Titans scored 134 points to 95 by opponents during the trip. Wes Bennett, center, was leading scorer with a total of 46 points in the four contests. Newton was third in scoring with 25 points, while Bill Douglass was second with 27 points. Hunneke, at guard, scored 19 points, Siljander scored nine points in three of the contests.

End Season In Second Place In Tri-State Conference League

Grove City came to New Wilmington in the final game of the season for both teams, March 7, and was defeated by a 36 to 26 score. The victory gave the Titans a second place tie in the Tri-State conference with Waynesburg.

Mauno Siljander of Pittsburgh, playing his final game of basketball at Westminster, was nearly the whole works with 17 of the points through the medium of seven field goals and three fouls. Gerald Newton of New Wilmington played his final game for the Titans and while he made no field goals, he scored four points for the Blue and White on fouls. Newton's accurate passing was one of the features of the game. Bill Douglass came through with nine points and Wilhelm, Hunneke and Williams made two points each.

The play was close with Westminster leading 14 to 12 at the half. Grove City came back and took the lead from the Titans binging the score up to 18 to 14. But Westminster regained the lead and walked all over the Grovers for a 10 point lead.

Westminster's record for the year shows that the Titans have won 20 out of 26 contests, Geneva being the only team to take the Titan's measure twice. Duquesne won one, St. Thomas won one, and Edinboro Teacher's college was successful in defeating the Lawther coached outfit.

Win Three Contests In East, Defeating St. Johns, Brooklyn

Monday, February 27, the Westminster College Titans started on trip though the east playing their first game with St. Thomas, Tuesday afternoon, February 28. The veteran St. Thomas outfit defeated the Titans by a 35 to 30 score. At the half-way mark the score was 19 to 12 in favor of St. Thomas, with the Westminster team coming back strong in the second half and with four minutes of the game left the St. Thomas team led 30 to 29. Bennett at center for the Titans was high scorer with seven straight shots from the foul line and a total of 15 points. Deitch and Kelly of the St. Thomas team 11 points apiece.

The Blue and White went from Scranton to New York and defeated the Long Island Coaches. The Long Island team was composed of Nassau and Suffolk county high school mentors. The Westminster team displayed a strong attack and got off to a fast start to gain an advantage which they held to the end. They led at the close of the first half by 24 to 12. Wes Bennett was the outstanding star of the game. He sank eight of the Titans' 20 field goals and added three fouls for a 19 point total.

At the Henry Snyder Junior High School gymnasium in Jersey City the Titans came up against the John Marshall team, March 2, and gave them a lacing to the tune of 36 to 22. It was a fast and interesting game to watch, with the teams moving the ball up and down the long court rapidly. Westminster, however, gave a brilliant demonstration of passing and shooting, and were much too strong for the Begovitch outfit. The Titans managed to get the ball frequently off the tip off, and compiled an advantage of 15 to 12 at the half. With Douglass, Bennett, and Hunneke leading the attack the Blue and White resumed the second half and continued their mastery over the Veterans Square combination. Douglass starred with 13 points while Lape tallied five points for the losers.

Coach Lawther's five defeated the strong St. John's team in New York, March 3, by a 25 to 15 score. It was the first time the St. John's outfit had been defeated on their home floor in four years. Westminster took to lead at the start on a basket by "Gerry" Newton and had things all their own way in the first half. With Newton and Bennett doing most of the scoring, West-

Arts Students Make Practical Things As Classroom Project

Students taking the Arts course in advanced design are engaged in developing a design that is to be put to practical use. The current problem is a project in leatherwork and the problems being developed are quite varied; some students are making wallets and purses, others book jackets, key-tainers and card cases.

Leather tooling is one of the oldest of the crafts, and the fine work executed by the Florentine craftsmen in their hand tooling of leathers has never been surpassed; in Italy there are still to be found artists who are maintaining by the quality of their work, the high ideals of the Renaissance artists.

In addition to producing a very useful project, the students are learning something of the uses and quality of leathers. To most students, however, the most interesting feature of the leather problem is the fact that they are producing an article that they have designed, and that cannot be duplicated.

The class in Oil Painting is hard at work on their first painting problem, and although most of the students are discovering that oil painting is a difficult medium, the work produced so far has been of unusual quality, and interest runs high.

BIOLOGY DEPT. IS DONATED RARE INSECTS

Among some of the more interesting specimens recently received by the biology department may be listed the following:

Locust from India, a large species, used for food by the people of that country, reported of good flavor by those who have had the temerity to taste them. This locust is a true locust, i. e., what we call a "grass-hopper" in this country, and not related to the "seventeen year locust".

Praying Mantis from India. This insect should be called "preying mantis" instead, for its prayerful attitude on the front legs does not denote reverence, but like that of some hypocrites, is intended to deceive, or to disguise its appearance. These forms are very fierce forms, probably comparable in the insect world to the tiger in higher animals.

An especially interesting specimen is a "blind-worm", or "slow-worm", from its wormlike appearance. As appearances are so often deceitful, so here the animal is not only not really blind, but is not a worm! It is related to our form called the "glass snake", which also is not made of glass, nor is it a snake. Such forms are really lizards, but as they have no limbs they look like short snakes, or thick worms, and their habit of living underground helps confuse the unskilled observer. The eyes are poorly developed, hence the word "blind", the animal crawls slowly, hence the second name, and the habit of breaking off its own tail to mystify the enemy, and escape while the tail still wriggles on the ground, is the reason our forms are called "glass snake".

These specimens are the gift of, Rev. Gustafson, who has given us other interesting specimens. Rev. Gustafson is also arranging to send us other forms, when he returns to India.

"Suicide" Court Game Planned for Saturday

Intramural basketball will close with a feature "Frat-ball" game on Saturday. This game is something new and unique in basketball. It resembles basketball in that the scores are made by "dropping the ball through the hoop", but there the resemblance ends. Instead of the usual basketball two basketballs will be used.

The game consists of five minute quarters, an alternation of goals, and three referees. For fouls committed one point will be deducted from the score of the team committing the foul. A basket counts three points instead of two. Running with the ball will constitute a foul and a deduction of one point.

The notes above are just a few of the outstanding differences from regular basketball. To make the game faster, funnier, rougher, and "what have you", four teams will play at the same time. It would be impossible to put into writing the thrills and laughs that one experiences during this game, so anyone wanting to see a "he-mans" basketball game, be at the college gym at three o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Economics And The College Student

Dean L. C. Marshall, University of Chicago says: "Business is a peculiarly organized scheme of gratifying human wants, and, properly understood, falls little short of being as broad, as inclusive as life itself in its motives, aspirations, and social obligations. It falls little short of being as broad as all science in its technique. Training for the task of business administration must have breadth and depth comparable with those of the task."

The church is supported by Business. Education and government—in fact all, all public and philanthropic institutions derive their revenues solely from the fruits of economic activities.

Our present troubles are largely economic. We know now that a breakdown in financing and distributing goods is tragic for multitudes of individuals and important to everyone. We are not living in fear and uncertainty because our farms and factories have failed to produce but because our citizens lack knowledge and skill in financing and distributing.

If we are to attain a fair degree of stability—if our citizens are to feel the sense of contentment and security in which the arts and sciences flourish—the leaven of college trained men and women, at least, must understand trade and finance sufficiently to be able to recognize and combat unscrupulous practices and anti-social laws and to support and advocate sound and just principles.

Polonus, a junior, is a member of Delta Phi Sigma fraternity, is on the staff of the Argo, and is an assistant in the News Bureau.

Ebba Sizer was made managing editor. Two sports editors appointed were Maurice Michmerhuizen, varsity editor; and Alan Van Harper, intramural editor. Alumni page editors appointed were:

Theresa Burgoon, alumni; and Helen Taylor, society. Robert N. Jones was reappointed business manager; and Kenneth Mehl and Grace Kelly were reappointed gers.

Reporters reappointed or appointed or appointed advertising manager were: Jane Baker, Margaret Bell, Elaine Chapman, Charlotte Melhorn, Gully Lewis, Jean Miller, Louise Burke, Mildred Renshaw, Anna Mary Kendlehart, Comfort Spelman, Robert Faber, and Charles Trevasik. Polonus is the first editor-in-chief to be appointed in the last four years. During this period a managing editor has had charge of the publication.

JAMES PRESENTS NOVEL LIQUID AIR DEMONSTRATIONS

Elliot James, noted scientist and lecturer, gave a liquid air demonstration at the Community House on Tuesday evening, April 4, as another feature of the Westminster lecture course.

Mr. James aimed to present a scientific program in a colorful, entertaining, and even sensational manner, without detracting from its educational value. He illustrated the practical uses of liquid air and demonstrated the peculiar qualities given various substances when subjected to its freezing contact.

Explanations of liquid air as the basic product of argon, neon, nitrogen, and oxygen for such uses as light globes, neon signs, explosives, welding, and separation of helium from natural gas were particularly interesting.

During the course of his demonstrations, Mr. James called attention to the fact that Muscle Shoals, erected for the purpose of extracting nitrogen from the air, is probably the largest air reducing plant in the world.

Sophomores Hold Successful Ball Saturday Night

Kress' Orchestra from Meadville Provides Music; Decorations In Green And White

The Sophomore Ball which took place in the college gymnasium, Saturday evening, April 8, from 8 p. m. to 11:30 p. m., was one of the most successful dances of the school year. Dutch Kress and his orchestra from Meadville furnished music for the dances.

Green and white decorations made an attractive background for spring styles, and a bower of balloons, suspended above the center of the floor and released during the evening, created an added stir of color and fun.

Dr. and Mrs. Russell, Dr. and Mrs. Galbreath, Dean Turner, and Mrs. Robertson acted as chaperons for the evening.

Charles Davison, Erie, was the general chairman of the dance committees.

Charlotte Bartlette, New Castle was chairman of the decoration committee. She was assisted by: Ruth Martin, Oil City, Elaine Chapman, Union City, James Smith, New Castle, Isabel McGregor, Wilkinsburg, and Stellarose McKean, New Kensington. Each sorority and fraternity, cooperating with this group, sent four members to aid the committee.

The advertising committee consisted of Elizabeth McCrory, Cambridge, Ohio, chairman, and Maurice Michmerhuizen, Grand Rapids, Michigan.

Those in charge of the tickets were: Charlotte Melhorne, Erie; Janet Bryneman, New Castle; Arthur Dikemiller, Oakmont, and Dorothy Cowden, Youngstown, Ohio.

Phillip Chambers, New Castle, was chairman of the program committee. Other members of this group were: Anna Barr, Finleyville, and August Miller, Farrell.

Robert Faber, Freeport, New York, was chairman for the committee for chaperons.

SCHAUFFLER TALKS ON VALUE OF STUDY

Schauffler And Nevin Are Collaborating On Operetta

Among the most interesting speakers in chapel in the last few years was Professor Henry A. Schauflier of the Union College civil engineering department, who spoke last Thursday, April 6, on "Why One Should Study."

Professor Schauflier's ideas on study were novel and interesting. The appreciation of the student body for Professor Schauflier's talk was shown by its applause.

Professor Schauflier is visiting professor Gordon Balch Nevin, well-known composer and organist. They are working on a dramatic musical on which they have been collaborating. "Following Foster's Footsteps."

This work is an unusual novelty presenting for the first time a stage work for women's or girl's ensemble which emphasizes the musical content and virtually eliminates the usual amateur histrionics. The room and the occasion is an afternoon musical. The music study group of a club is presenting a program of songs of the South and about the South.

Harvey B. Gaul, eminent music critic, writing in the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette, says in part:

"This operetta should make a capital musical. Mr. Schauflier has given it dialogue and continuity, and he actually builds a story. A rather novel stage set is part of the picture."

"Mr. Nevin has quoted or reprinted many of the popular Foster airs and he works it all up to a climax. For young people wishing to learn more about the composer of 'Old Black Joe' this work should prove a contribution; it sings and develops from curtain to curtain; the time is about 55 minutes."

Helen Farnsworth's Death Comes As Shock To Entire College

News of the death of Helen Farnsworth, Thursday morning, March 23, came as a shock to the entire student body and faculty of Westminster college. After being sick a short time at college, she went to her home in Buffalo, New York, where she died after a month's illness.

One younger brother survives, both parents being dead.

Theta Upsilon is proud to have had Helen as a member of the sorority and the sophomore class claims her as one of its most popular members. Active on the campus, she became well-known for her dramatic ability.

Some of the "Little Theatre" plays in which Helen has taken a major part include, "On the Shelf", "Lady Windemere's Fan", "The Show-Off", and "Telegram". Previous to the last three showings of "Telegram", she had taken the part of the mother when the play was presented at the meeting of the Rebecca Missionary Society, in the First United Presbyterian Church, in New Castle.

Culture Is Subject At Wed. Chapel

Westminster Women Students Hear Discussions Each Wednesday

A series of cultural talks are being given to Westminster College women students each Wednesday this month at the regular chapel hour.

The first of the series was given April 5 by Mrs. R. C. McKelvey, Pittsburgh. Mrs. McKelvey, a graduate of Westminster with the class of 1906, spoke on "Conversational Ability."

Tomorrow, April 12, Mrs. E. B. Russell, New Wilmington, will speak on "Things That Are Not Done." The program for Wednesday, April 19, has not yet been announced. On Wednesday, April 26, Mrs. James A. Stranahan, Mercer, will speak on "What Each Student Can Contribute to the Campus."

The Wednesday morning chapel programs are for women students only, the men holding chapel in the Little Theatre.

Science Club Will Hold Meeting Thursday Evening

The Science club will hold its regular meeting on Thursday evening, April 13, in the chemistry lecture room, Science hall. The speaker will be Dr. Hugh M. Hart, New Wilmington, who will speak on "Clinical Tests of Modern Hospitals."

Dr. Baldinger Preaches At Sabbath Chapel, April 9

The Rev. Dr. A. H. Baldinger, a graduate of Westminster with the class of 1900 and a member of the faculty of the Pittsburgh-Xenia seminary, was the guest preacher at the Sabbath evening chapel service, April 9. Dr. Baldinger took his text from Acts, 11th chapter, "And the disciples were called Christians first in Antioch." He spoke of the many different types of Christians, and emphasized the privilege of being true Christians.

Westminster Wins Two, Loses One, Takes part in No-Decision Contest

Winning two contests, losing one, and participating in one no-decision event, the Westminster debate team closed its 3,000 mile Eastern invasion on March 20 at Rutgers University.

The Westminster forensic team left here March 14 by automobile, and debated St. Francis at Loretta on that night. Juniata, at Hollidaysburg, on March 15; Dickinson, at Carlisle, on March 16; had the Villanova debate, at Philadelphia, cancelled which was to have been on March 18; and ended the Eastern tour with a debate at Rutgers, New Brunswick, N. J., on March 20.

At St. Francis on March 14 the Westminster team, composed of Herbert Smith, New Castle, and Alan Van Harper, Zelenople, lost by a two to one decision of the judges. The Westminster team debated the negative of the War Debt Cancellation question.

A team composed of Wilbur Christy, Pittsburgh, and Herbert Smith, New Castle, won a three to nothing decision over Juniata at Hollidaysburg on March 15. The Oregon plan of debate was used in this contest for the first time this year, and the Westminster team debated the affirmative of the War Debt question.

At Carlisle on March 16, the Westminster team won an audience decision over Dickinson College. A visiting team rarely accomplishes such success where the audience vote plan is used. The Westminster team, debating the negative of the War Debt question, was composed of Alan Van Harper, Zelenople, and Herbert Smith, New Castle.

Villanova had to cancel the debate scheduled for Philadelphia on March 18. On March 20, the Westminster team, composed of John Engle, Youngstown, O., and Fred Luderer, Punxsutawney, took the affirmative of the War Debt question against the Rutgers University negative team at New Brunswick, N. J. This debate was a no-decision contest.

Leaflets And Books Are Contributed To School Library

Vocational Guidance Pamphlets To Be At Disposal Of Student Body

Students who have not yet chosen their vocation will doubtless be interested in the Vocational Guidance Leaflets published by the University of Chicago. The pamphlets may be secured from the college library. Miss Ailman announces, and students are welcome to study them at any time. These pamphlets are especially helpful, since they show the relative merits of the various professions, and the various types of positions open to those taking their major work in these professions.

Friends of the college have donated several interesting volumes to the library recently. One set of twelve books, written by Dr. Clarence E. McCartney, Pittsburgh, was donated by Mrs. Frank Bailey, of Pittsburgh. In the set are included such books as Sons of Thunder; Paul the Man; and Wrestling with God.

Another interesting book, of a historical nature is: Fort Ligonier and its Times, by C. Hale Sipe, donated by Mr. Richard B. Mellon. The U. S. Bicentennial Commission, Washington, D. C., the first volume of a three-volume set, History of the George Washington Bicentennial. Included in the book is a wealth of historical material about George Washington, the man.

Other new books recently purchased for the library are: Evolution and Christian Faith, by Lane; and The Devil in Legend and Literature, by Rudwin. A Lost Commander—Florence Nightingale, by Mary Andrews, is now available to Book Club members.

TOO MANY TEACHERS

It is always the obvious that is so difficult to see. We remain blind to things that immediately effect us. We talk of problems and theories in education. We read Dewey and Horne and nod in a knowing manner. But just how much do we know?

We are training to be teachers. We are about to spend four years and more to legitimately take our places in the schools of America. And we are justified in asking, "What schools?" Just what are the persons who are obtaining their degrees going to do with them? There are no state exams to take except in special instances and even if there were examinations to take; presuming you passed all the examinations; what line will you wait on, and for how many years?

Not so many years ago, fat politicians all over the country wanted to please their constituents. Teachers' salaries were skyrocketed and there was a rush on the training schools. Here were soft pickings. True enough, there were no tremendous salaries in actual teaching but if you were satisfied with a comfortable salary, an assured position, plenty of vacation and easy hours, the school was the place for you. God, how they poured into the training schools. And now?

Only the powers that be know how many unemployed teachers are hanging around New York alone; how many teachers have been politely discharged; how many years of study have gone unused. And the powers that be don't tell. But you can listen to some of the teachers organizations and they won't even risk the use of numbers. They say "innumerable." In New York City, the authorities have closed all three training schools. Realizing that there are too many teachers, Maxwell, Jamaica and New York teachers colleges have shut their doors.

Now, let's look at ourselves. It may hurt, but let's do it anyway. We have spent as little as one term and as much as five years preparing to teach. Shortly, the School of Education will graduate close to a thousand people who are qualified to teach. You can't expect men and women who have worked in schools for so many years to accept their fate. And yet they keep coming and they keep graduating. New York University accepts the fees and eventually gives a rather pretty diploma. And we can teach. Where?

It isn't just New York University. It's the countless schools of education in every corner of the country that are turning out thousands of teachers each year. Their theorizing and philosophizing doesn't include the rather ridiculous question for a philosopher and theorist to handle, "What are we going to do with the teachers?" And we insist that it is part of the job of every school of education to make it possible for their students to realize a little happiness on all the work they have done in school. Just what are we going to do with our degrees? We fondly ask.—Education News N. Y. University

VALUELESS KNOWLEDGE

The value of knowledge as a means of public service forever and always will be limited by the extent of application the public permits of the benefits derived therefrom.

So, in a short sentence we have indicated one of the great hazards to the functioning of the American government—the most nearly perfect large-scale democracy which man has been able to establish.

Sound, intelligent thinking and action are the prime requisites to the success of any project, whether it be running a corner-store or the affairs of a nation. Just as this type of activated thought is requisite to the soundness and intelligence of reasoning. The knowledge which is basic to successful enterprise, whether it has been acquired by education, experience, or both, is more prevalent in the United States than in any other country.

Yet, why is it that in this land blessed with practical intelligence, we must stand by and watch an appalling quantity of that great potential service daily being delegated to the rubbish heap?

Private enterprise suffers little from the handicaps that hinder the furtherance of public welfare. That is because in private business the application of knowledge is essential to survival, and those concerned make sure that they obtain what they need. The public, on the other hand, seems to have little concern about its welfare except during the periods between those all-important occasions when they are given opportunity to choose between knowledge and ignorance. When the latter times arrive, they are far more interested in individual profit than in public gain. Many of those who do have the interest of the public at heart, often are the most gullible prey to the designs of unscrupulous machines operating in the cause of private profit, and political graft.

That is the reason that a government of the people, by the people, often is a miserable failure in being for the people.

The trouble with America is not that she does not have enough competent knowledge; but that she does not have the sense to use it.—Purdue Exponent.

Marriage is shunned by the average Phi Beta Kappa student, but once the step is taken, he is inclined to have more children than the average graduate, according to a master's thesis in philosophy on file this week at Columbia University. "This may be explained," according to Israel B. Polonsky, writer of the thesis, "by the fact that they earn larger salaries and are therefore better able to afford children."

The conclusions were derived from a study of Phi Beta Kappas at the College of the City of New York, as compared with other students at the same institution. Two groups of approximately 150 students each were selected to represent the honor men and the average scholars.

In college, the honor men are more interested in club activities, while their less industrious brethren turn to fraternities and class activities for diversion, according to the thesis. In general, however, both groups were said to be equally interested in extra-curricular activities.

Although not engaged in inter-collegiate athletic competition to as great an extent as some of the non-Phi Beta Kappas, the honor men were found to be in better physical condition at the time of their graduation.

"Thus we see," Polonsky wrote, "that Phi Beta Kappa members, although superior in scholastic achievements, are not superior in physical proficiency. However, they are not inferior in this respect either."

Once outside the university, Phi Beta Kappas take a little longer to get started in their life vocations, but once settled, they receive larger salaries and are more satisfied with their positions, Polonsky said.

THE NEW STAFF

Once again the HOLCAD changes hands. A new staff, appointed by the Faculty Committee on Publications, takes charge of the paper with the issue of April 25.

The old staff worked well. To Virginia Kerins, managing editor; Harriette Robinson, assistant editor; Helen McCormick, alumni editor; Harold Polonus, sports editor; and Robert Jones, business manager, go the thanks of the students and faculty.

To the new staff, best wishes and continued success. May even more students become interested in staff positions, and may the paper become a weekly publication if at all possible.

HOLCADABRA

Fraternities fill in the college world of today the need of a social outlet. Anyone who suggests the abolition of the fraternity must also present a plan which will satisfactorily meet the existing need.

No one supposes that because one frater calls another "Brother" that the fraternity man is actuated by a love for the men that live in his house. The so-called indissoluble bonds of a fraternity are bunk, whether or not the National Officers would ever admit such a thing.

The fraternity has several advantages and to those who prefer the social life it offers a means of utilizing many hours in a pleasant and even at times profitable manner.

The fraternity offers a means of forming pleasant friendships not otherwise possible. It gives an entrance into desirable circles. And it teaches human values and conforms young men to a certain standard which while not intellectually desirable makes, for by the recognition of certain materialistic values and the possession of them, a happy or at least contented life.

Living in a house with fourteen other young men, one learns much. He learns to discount first impressions. He learns to appreciate character manifesting itself in unselfishness and good manners. If he is at all intelligent he learns to adjust himself to other personalities so that he may live agreeably with them. What is more important than this?

He may learn to develop a sense of toleration which does not judge the foibles and idiosyncracies of others. A fraternity man should be a more complete gentleman at the end of four years of fraternity life. Many are not, but the fault lies with the individual and not with the system. The fraternity is the greatest single unit of education in the college life of today. Any father who refuses to allow his son to join a fraternity is not actually doing a very wise thing.—Student Weekly, Franklin and Marshall

CHRISTY GATHERS PRISON INFO FOR Y.M.C.A. SPEECH

Wilbur Christy, debater, editor, scholar, and gent, exhibited his versatility during the recent debate team trip through the East when, after viewing the battlefields of Gettysburg, he piloted the squad through the wrong gate, was accosted by the guards, tramped on the gas, and scooted away.

But murder will out, and the State Highway patrol will follow its man, even if he is a Y. M. C. A. president.

It was some days after the team returned home that Christy was arrested, taken to the hoosegow, and fined $20 in Uncle Sam's pretty little green picture papers.

And the moral is: never drive sideways on a one-way street even if it is on a battlefield.

Penthouse Items

Three shotguns are strapped to the fireplace in the Penthouse now that the mountain feud between the Wettichs and the McCalls has broken out again.

It is reported that the Canns and the Bakers are also in on the feud, but blank cartridges are used by these two clans.

Home debates have been attracting large crowds of students.... to the Sharpsville railroad, the College Inn, and other places. At least, so the authorities report. As a result, the affirmative has been that some of the local lads have been suspended, some of the local young ladies placed on limits, and there will be no three-minute rebuttal speeches either. —Olga.

TARTAN PRINTS STORY ON "ENGLISH WAY" BY PROFESSOR LAWLER

Our language, like everything else in the country, seems to be getting a new deal. What appears to be outmoded or innocuous is being made ready for the scrap heap. The obsolescent is being rapidly made obsolete, and the borderline colloquialism is practically ready for the King. Those who have always wanted their way in this matter, and who have frequently been cited as authorities—they being responsible for such standards as "you hear this usage very commonly," or "most of the people I know express themselves in this manner"—they may be credited with urging a change; but it remained for those who profess the language officially to give any new attitude significance. In commenting upon recent movements connected with these changing conceptions of current usage, the New York Times expresses a clean estimate of what is in process.

"The King's English is going democratic nowadays in a revolution led by no other people than some of the teachers of English themselves. Its ancient and honorable traditions are openly questioned and even scoffed at. We are told that a preposition is a perfectly proper word to end a sentence with. We are advised that we may split the infinitive all we like if our object in doing so is to more clearly express our meaning. And we may open our sentences with conjunctions.... The public, as a matter of fact, has already done the nullifying, and many teachers are swept along with the majority. They admit that grammatical prohibition does not prohibit. They do not go all the way, of course. They still object to "light-complected girl," "If John had of come," "The engine was hitting good this morning," and "These kind of bananas." They are in doubt about "It seems to be them," "Everybody brought their own tickets," and "The kitten mews when she wants in," but they make large concessions to the crowd, and they strike off grammatical shackles that have galled the slaves of poor form for generations." In brief we find here an expression of a recognition of the fact that English is not a dead language, but is very much alive, growing and changing in accordance with the nourishment it receives and the environmental influences brought to bear on it.

The recognition of this condition, however, does not indicate that a revolution has occurred. It does not mean that the language of the street has suddenly become the language of literature. It does not mean that any new royal road has been opened, making the access to the fine art of thought expression easy. The teachers of English composition will undoubtedly find it just as difficult as ever to acquaint their students with the accepted ways of expressing ideas, and to insure the habitual following of these ways.—L. T. Lawler in Tech Tartan.

tion by Tarkio students of legalized "As Will Rogers says, 'All I know is what I read in the papers' and a hasty scanning of the pages of the daily press indicates that we are about to witness the dawn of a new day when all the citizens of this "grand and glorious country," from toddling infants to doddering old men, will be able to obtain in unlimited quantities that health giving liquid than which, according to the learned scientists and physiological experts in the United States congress, there is none better, not even the lactic fluid obtained from Dr. George's goat. Theologians have been arguing as to when the millennium is due. This long debated question is now settled, for it is now all but here.

"Since we are soon to have beer to the right of us, beer to the left of us, in front of us beer behind us, beer outside us, and beer inside of us, the question has been asked as to what colleges such as ours are going to do about it. Or, in other words, what is going to be the attitude of colleges such as ours towards those students who insist in taking an extensive course in beer drinking as a cure for what ails them.

"Off hand I should say that the attitude should be the same as the attitude of any Christian community towards any unfortunate imbecile with whom they are called upon to deal. They should try to do something for his head if possible and if this turns out to be a hopeless task, gently but firmly remove him elsewhere. This college in spite of the light shed on the question by those in high places still recommends milk as the regular beverage for infants and college students." —Dean Jenison

Play Day For School Girls Planned By W. A. A.

Extensive Intra-Mural Sports Program Planned by Jack Hulme

Foul Shooting, Mushball, Volleyball, Track, Tennis, and Archery Scheduled

With the arrival of spring, the Westminster intra-mural sports program comes to the fore. Six sports are already on the tentative calendar, and there is a possibility that one or two more may be added.

Starting Tuesday, April 11, the men of the college will meet in the annual "foul-shooting" contest. This sport is very simple, but requires an exceptionally good "eye" and muscular control. Each contestant will be given 20 shots and the man "making" the most will win. In case of a tie, the contestants will be given another attempt. No finite time is scheduled for try-outs. Any time after 3 o'clock Tuesday, 4 o'clock Wednesday, as well as all day Friday and Saturday, the contestants can take their trials.

Just as soon as the weather permits, the intra-mural mushball tournament will get under way. An announcement will be posted on the gymnasium bulletin board before the season opens.

All mushball games will be played on the athletic field below the gym. At the present time the plan is to play one game in the afternoon, probably starting at four o'clock; and the twilight game will follow the dinner hour. This league will include a team from each fraternity. Any student having had past experience as an umpire, is eligible to try out for the official staff.

Following the practice of last year, the volleyball tournament will be scheduled in the twilight hours. The winner of the spring tournament will be eligible to compete with the Deltas, winners of the fall contest, for the championship of the year. Care will be taken so that no conflict will appear between the mushball and volleyball schedules. Players may participate in both leagues.

As in varsity track, varsity tennis will be dropped for the present season. As a result, extensive plans are being made to prepare an intra-mural tennis program. The plans have not as yet been completed, but it has been definitely decided that it will be an inter-fraternity schedule. Any member of a fraternity will be eligible to compete. Due to the limited facilities (two courts for three afternoon a week) it will be necessary to restrict the games. More definite announcements concerning this sport will be made later.

Scheduled matches in the archery loop are being planned by Jack Hulme, director of intra-mural sports. Mr. Hulme announces that nothing definite can be decided until the interest in the sport is determined. In case the demand warrants a regular inter-fraternity contest in this sport, such a program will be followed.

"Babe" O'Donovan Leads Freeport to Long Island Court Championship

Win 19 of 20 Games Played And Gain Island Crown

Winning 19 of the 20 contests they played this year, the Freeport, N. Y. high school basketball team is again the championship outfit of Long Island. Coached by "Babe" O'Donovan, former Titan star, the Freeport outfit won 19 contests in succession before it was defeated.

O'Donovan was a star forward at Westminster, was captain of the championship Titan team, and was selected All-District forward, All-Conference forward, and was given mention on All-American floor teams. He is also head coach of football at Freeport.

HELEN BLAHA WINS DRAMATIC AWARD

Helen Blaha, New Castle, has won membership in the Thalian Dramatic club at Northwestern University. The club is composed of students who have done outstanding work in the Children's Theatre productions. Miss Blaha, a senior in the School of Speech, has earned membership in the organization by working on stage crews and by directing plays. Miss Blaha, a former student of the class of 1933, was active in dramatics while at Westminster.

Titan Grid Drills Start

Coach Lawther Has Squad Of 30 Men Report For Spring Training

Spring football drills started yesterday, April 10, at Westminster. The drills will probably last three weeks or more, and Coach John Lawther hopes to have a squad of 30 men reporting each day.

Most of the members of the Titan grid squad are sophomores. Only one man, Captain Glen Rehfus, stalwart tackle from Sandusky, O., will be lost by graduation. Of the 30 men who reported, 14 are varsity lettermen.

No captain has been elected for next season, and it is possible that Lawther will wait until next fall before holding a ballot for the captaincy. An eight-game card has been arranged for next fall, and a ninth contest is pending.

Lettermen available for the 1933 season are: Robert Scarbrough, Robert Rose, Merrill Straw, Robert Arrowsmith, James Bloker, Peter Leyshock, Homer Dishong, Irving Franklin, George Hollander, Mauno Siljander, Raymond Sweeney, Henry Hunneke, Walter Young, and William Staples.

Burry Will Compete In League Meet

Distance Star Will Be Entered In Conference Track Meet

Harold Burry, veteran track star of Westminster, will be the only member of the school to represent the Blue and White in any inter-collegiate track meet this year. According to Coach R. X. Graham, Burry will be entered in one or two events of the annual track championship of the Tri-State Conference to be held at Beaver Falls on May 30.

During the last two years Burry has been a consistent winner in the one and two-mile races. Besides his track efforts, he has been a member of the varsity football squad for the last two seasons.

Last summer in the Allegheny Mountain Association meet, Burry easily led his field in the one-mile run to break the tape in the fast time; 4:35.1. and with time similar to this is sure to place in the district track meet.

CO-OP RESIDENTS HOLD ENJOYABLE CABARET PARTY

One of the most unique parties of the current school year was held, Friday evening, March 17, by women residents of the Co-operative Houses. Sixteen couples were in attendance with Miss Mary E. Turner as special guest. Dancing and cards were the diversions with a cabaret lunch served at the culmination of the affair.

Miss Harriett Gray was general chairman with Majorie Glass, Lucille Amendola, Berdelle Kellar, Natalie Taylor, Mary Stanier and Jean Forbes as aides.

Dr. Russell Speaks At Pitt History Meeting

The fourth annual history conference was held Saturday, March 18 under the auspices of the University of Pittsburgh. Several hundred history instructors of Western Pennsylvania elementary schools, high schools, and colleges attended. Among the speakers at this assembly was Dr. E. B. Russell, head of the history department at Westminster.

A program of sports activities which will take place in the college gymnasium and on the hockey field will start at 10 o'clock in the morning and extend until 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The program will be under the direction of the Women's Athletic Association.

Activities for the day will include mushball, basketball, volleyball, swimming, relays, ping pong, marbles, jacks and jump the rope. Schools will not compete with one another, but girls be grouped so that representatives of different schools are on teams together.

Jacks, marbles, ping pong, skating and jump the rope have also been added as recreational activities for all college women.

Get Out of the Housman: Spring Fever Hits "Cabbages"

April Fool

Spring came to New Wilmington Wednesday, bringing with it warm breezes and bright sunshine. Young couples wandered arm in arm about the campus, completely oblivious of an older generation that looked askance at such neglect of the serious things of life. Every nook and corner of every country road roundabout became a trysting place for young lovers. Layers of dust collected on forgotten books, and grey-haired professors, dozing in front of sleepy classes, dreamed of happier days, days spent in the divine pursuit of life, days in the springtime of college years, days that lingered long after sunset as if reluctant to lengthen into nights. . . . May days.

Thursday all was changed. April replaced May, and in its own inimitable fashion. It rained, rained steadily, making us wonder that we could have dreamed so easily the day before, making us remember forgotten tasks, April had arrived. . . . April, the month of gloom the month devised by Nature to batter down the rising spirits of man, least he forget that life is not all beer and skittles and long May days. Poisson d'avril!

* We've often wondered why A. E. Housman, the poet, and a very good poet at that, was content to stop writing after his two thin volumes were published. Lately we've discovered the reason, or think we have. We discovered the reason in one of his own poems, to wit: Yonder see the morning blink: The sun is up, and up must I, To wash and dress and eat and drink And look at things and talk and think And work, and God knows why.

Oh often have I washed and dressed And what's to show for all my pain? Let me lie abed and rest: Ten thousand times I've done my best And all's to do again.

We believe the man had spring-fever. Or he may have believed, as

INTRA-MURAL TRACK WILL START MAY 3

Intra-mural track, replacing the varsity sport this spring, will get under way as soon as the weather permits. Coach "Zerk" Graham has already arranged the program of events, and plans to call a meeting of fraternity representatives on May 3.

A trophy will be presented to the winning team in the fraternity half-mile relay, and to the winning group in the inter-class relay. In the fraternity meet, awards will be made to the first and second place men in the pentathlon and the decathlon. All of these awards will be presented by the athletic department of the college. To prevent one man from winning more than one medal it has been decided that each man can enter in only one of the two events (pentathlon or decathlon).

The first of the three track events planned will probably be the inter-fraternity relay meet. Each fraternity must have a four-man team, and each runner will run 220 yards. The second event will be the inter-class relay. The same rules that applied to the fraternity contest will govern this race. No rules have been made barring men who have participated in varsity track.

The third and last event will be the inter-fraternity track meet. The main event will feature the decathlon and pentathlon. Coach Graham has placed the following events in the schedule: (track meet) 100 yds.; 220 yds.; 440 yds.; 880 yds.; broad jump; high jump; shot; and discus. The Pentathlon: discus; high pump; broad jump; 100-yd. dash; 110 low hurdles. Decathlon: 100 yd. dash; 220 yd. dash; discus; shot; high jump; broad-jump; javelin; pole-vault; 120 low hurdles.

Westminster Holds Edge Over District Rivals for Seven Years

Court Men Choose All Star Teams

Dukes Get Two On First Opponent Team of District Schools

Westminster basketball players, who won 19 of the 25 games played during the past season, have selected all-opponent teams from the best district colleges and from the best players of all teams played by the Titans this season.

Duquesne, defeated on one occasion by the Titans this year, gets two men on the first district all-opponent team. The other three positions go to Geneva, Waynesburg, and Grove City. On the second team are three from Waynesburg, one from Duquesne, and one from Grove City.

From all opponents, including players both from the Pittsburgh district and from other districts, the Titans selected on the first team one man each from St. Johns in Brooklyn, St. Thomas in Scranton, Duquesne, one from St. Johns, one from St. Thomas, and one from Waynesburg.

The selections, made by all Titan players and by Coach John D. Lawther, are:

Geneva, Duquesne, Grove City Have Made Best Records Against Titans

Westminster basketball teams hold a decided edge over all district opponents, a survey made of the last seven seasons shows. The Titans have defeated every district team more times than they have suffered defeat. Only two teams, Waynesburg and Geneva, have succeeded in defeating Westminster twice in one season. Waynesburg turned the trick in 1927, and Geneva's great team this season won two.

Geneva, Duquesne, and Grove City have the best district records against the Titans in seven years. Fourteen games have been played between Geneva and Westminster, and the Titans have won eight and lost six. Against Duquesne, Westminster has won six of the 10 games played.

Of the 12 games played between Grove City and the Titans, Westminster has won nine and the Grovers three. Other records are: Thiel, games played—14; games won by Titans—14; Allegheny, games played, 14, games won by Titans 13. Bethany, games played, 14; games won by Titans, 12. Waynesburg: games played, 10; game won by Titans, eight.

Carnegie Tech; games played, three; games won by Titans, three. Washington and Jefferson; games played, four; games won by Titans, four. St. Francis; games played, three; games won by Titans, three. Youngstown College: games played, two; games won by Titans, two. Edinboro: games played, two; games won by Titans, one. Slippery Rock: games played, two; games won by Titans, two. Indiana: games played, one; won by Titans, one.

In the seven seasons, 25 different colleges have been played by Westminster. This includes 13 colleges from Pennsylvania, five from Ohio, two from Michigan, two from West Virginia, and one each from Illinois, New York, and New Jersey.

Westminster has played 125 games in the seven seasons, and has won 104 and lost 21 for a percentage of .832. The 1933 team, with a 25-game schedule, 14 contests of which were away from home, won 19 games and lost six.

Prominent Trustee of College Meets Tragic Death March 17

New Wilmington Banker Active In College Affairs

Friends and alumni of the college were greatly shocked and saddened over the tragic death of Mr. Howell T. Getty, cashier of the First National Bank, New Wilmington, and trustee of the college.

Worry over the present financial crisis, and the failure of his bank to open with others, after the national banking holiday, is believed to be the cause of his taking his own life, Friday, March 17, on the Mercer road. A note was found in his car explaining his belief that this was the only way out, since there was an insurance policy of his life which would cover the depreciation of the bonds.

Mr. Getty was the son of the late George H. Getty, also a banker. He is a lifelong resident of Lawrence county, and was graduated from Westminster with the class of 1913. He had served as cashier in the New Wilmington bank since 1913, and felt personally responsible for investments he had advised.

Besides serving as cashier of the New Wilmington bank, Mr. Getty was president of the Volant bank, and was active in banking organizations in the State. He was prominent in church and community activities, and was one of the organizers of the New Wilmington Rotary Club. An alumnus of the college, and a member of the Board of Trustees for a number of years, Mr. Getty has always promoted the welfare of the college.

Mr. Getty is survived by his widow, Mrs. Dorothy Getty; three children, George, Caroline, and Geraldine; and by three sisters, Mrs. O. J. Walzer, 10, Youngstown; Mrs. H. J. Welsch, '03, Claysville; and Mrs. C. M. Canfield, Irwin.

ALUMNUS RECEIVES INTERESTING BOOK

Dr. A. R. Robinson, '89, while recently in Philadelphia was presented by his friend, Judge Buffington, member of the Superior Court, with a booklet which he has written entitled, "The Religious Life of George Washington".

Judge Buffington produces evidence giving a vastly different picture of Washington's religious interest and faith, than that painted by many of his biographers. Most of the evidence is taken from letters and papers written by Washington himself, and cover practically his entire life.

The evidence given by the booklet either leaves one with the opinion that Washington was a two-faced character or that he was a man of decided religious convictions. Since the world has never had any proof of hypocrisy in Washington, except by insinuation in the biography of Woodward, most people prefer to keep Washington the sincere and honorable character the world has always believed him to be.

Anyone interested in the life of Washington should read Judge Buffington's new booklet.

Miss McElwee Dies After Long Illness

Miss Mary McElwee, New Wilmington, died at the Overlook, Wednesday, March 21, following an illness of three months.

She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. George Davidson, Ellwood City, Mrs. William T. Anderson, '93, Enon Valley, and by a brother, Attorney Wm. McElwee, '97, New Wilmington.

Mr. McClure is attending the Pittsburgh-Xenia seminary, and is student pastor of the Murfreesville congregation. He is a graduate of the class of 1928.

The program for the radio service was arranged by Dr. C. D. Fulton, '95, pastor of the United Presbyterian congregation, Beaver.

Economics And The College Student

Dean L. C. Marshall, University of Chicago says: "Business is a peculiarly organized scheme of gratifying human wants, and, properly understood, falls little short of being as broad, as inclusive as life itself in its motives, aspirations, and social obligations. It falls little short of being as broad as all science in its technique. Training for the task of business administration must have breadth and depth comparable with those of the task."

The church is supported by Business. Education and government—in fact all, all public and philanthropic institutions derive their revenues solely from the fruits of economic activities.

Our present troubles are largely economic. We know now that a breakdown in financing and distributing goods is tragic for multitudes of individuals and important to everyone. We are not living in fear and uncertainty because our farms and factories have failed to produce but because our citizens lack knowledge and skill in financing and distributing.

If we are to attain a fair degree of stability—if our citizens are to feel the sense of contentment and security in which the arts and sciences flourish—the heaven of college trained men and women, at least must understand trade and finance sufficiently to be able to recognize and combat unscrupulous practices and anti-social laws and to support and advocate sound and just principles.

DR. VEACH GIVES FINE ADDRESS TO WOMEN AT CHAPEL SERVICE

Dr. Veach of the Overlook Sanitarium spoke at the third of the series of cultural meetings held by the women of the college, Wednesday, April 19, during chapel hour. Her subject was "Facing Realities."

In this connection, Dr. Veach explained, one must realize that there are three primary instincts in the human being; ego, sex, and herd. The exploitation of any one of these, at the expense of the other two will result in nervous disturbances, as great in some cases as to cause serious mental disorders. It is therefore important that the individual should strive to attain a well-rounded development of each of these instincts in order to lead a normal life. She emphasized also the fact that Christianity, professing as it does that "Happiness comes only through interest in a sufficient cause" is one of the best guides to this sane and healthful living.

The previous Wednesday, April 12, Mrs. E. B. Russell addressed the group on the topic "Things That Aren't Done". She had distributed folders containing a number of "Do's and Don't's" of social behaviour, and during her talk enlarged upon these points.

Dr. Russell Speaks On Disarmament At Y. W. C. A.

Efforts are being made to make the Prom the most elaborate ever held in the history of the school. The decorating committee under the direction of Hugh McCall, chairman, will start work tomorrow morning. They have engaged the services of L. E. Ogg, of Sharon, former president of the National Association of Displaymen, to come here to supervise the work. His assistants will arrive tomorrow morning to transform the gym into a myriad of color by Friday evening.

The decorating committee, Jane Black, Butler; Jane Chester, Sharon; Esther Caghey, Ben Avon; Evelyn Judson, Rural Valley; Betty Newell, Ambridge; James Bloker, Sandusky, Ohio; Alan Van Harper, Zellenople; and James McGeorge, New Castle; will assist Hugh McCall and his decorators in the work.

WANTED:—INTELLIGENCE

It is a common belief among psychologists that one must be of better than average intelligence to get into college and stay there. The current epidemic of ribald horseplay on the part of the fraternities, however, would seem to belie that belief. An intelligent person usually hates to appear ridiculous, yet the present wave of buffoonery goes on, as childishly ridiculous as ever. It makes the intelligent on-looker wonder how long it will be before the local boys discover that all that sort of rot disappeared long ago from the majority of colleges.

The freshman pledges are not to be blamed. Their minds are not sufficiently mature to realize the childishness of it all. And if they did realize it, they could do nothing about it, except, perhaps, turn in their pledge pins and tell the brothers to look for someone less gullible. No, it is the brothers themselves who are to blame, and in the last analysis they are but worshipping at the shrine of tradition. 'What was good enough for us is good enough for the freshmen,' they say, and let it go at that.

We repeat, we wonder when they will catch up with the times. We hope that it will not be necessary for some poor freshman to be bumped-off by a car when he is on a road-trip, or to die of embarrassment while running around campus in his underwear. If we can judge at all by experiences in other schools, schools which cut out all the coarser forms of horseplay years ago, it usually takes a death or serious injury to wake the fun-loving brothers; and even then, sometimes, they fail to see the handwriting on the wall, but solemnly initiate the deceased pledge while he lies in his casket and then forget the entire happening within a week.

The question now arises, how can the sacred brothers be shown the error of their ways? Certainly no amount of editorial jibing will prove effective; few of the erring ones have time to read editorials; they are too busy reading Ballyhoo in search of still coarser and more vulgar tricks to play on the pledges. How, then?

Two methods occur to us. There are probably more, but these will do. The first is to organize and initiate a berry-blowing campaign, directed not at the freshmen, but at the poor misguided souls who, hallowed as they are by the sacred bonds of brotherhood toward which every freshman looks with unconcealed awe, devise the various boorish torments which make those awe-struck freshmen better brothers. In other words, laugh at the brothers and pity the freshmen. But that is a rather harsh method for civilized people to employ.

A better method would be to give the fraternities something to which to turn their energies. The college, in comparison with other school; is sadly lacking in campus activities. The fraternity men have no Student Council politics in which to indulge their genius; they have no activities that they can call their own. Consequently, they have no interest in the activities controlled by the college authorities. It is small wonder that they spend hours putting freshmen through all manner of prep-school horseplay which is at times so vulgarly coarse as to stink to high heaven.

We reiterate, "when will they wise up?"

COMMENCEMENT

Alumni gatherings in various districts have been featured by enthusiasm about commencement. Many believe that this is the year to return to Old Westminster for Alumni Day and for Commencement.

The Alumni dinner and meeting at noon June 3, Alumni reunions in the afternoon, May Queen crowning, Senior Sing, Class Day and a Three-Act Play are some of the many features of June 3. There is also the possibility of a band concert.

Plan to be present for the three days—June 3, 4, and 5.

SPRING SPORTS

Fraternities would do well to bolster chapter pride by insisting that capable performers in various lines of sport report for intra-mural teams. One of the most extensive spring programs in any college is under way. Success of the program depends upon the five fraternities. Mushball and volleyball started yesterday. Enthusiasm on the part of players and spectators was noticeable. Track will start May 3. Archery, tennis, and other sports will be included. Efforts will be made to provide trophies to winning teams. It should be a matter of chapter pride to present strongest possible lineups.

BEER

One who has any knowledge of the power of modern propaganda methods knows that our impressionable youth will be facing a grave menace. Under its influence many a youth will be induced to take up beer drinking who would never think of it under ordinary circumstances. His temptations will be more severe than in the days of the open saloon which more frequently disgusted rather than attracted the intelligent, well-bred youth. Two courses can be adopted against this powerful drive. One is to stress the fact that the vital point in connection with 3.2 percent beer is not whether it is intoxicating, but that it has the power to create the deadly and destructive alcoholic thirst. The other is to try and enlist our young people in a drive against the brewers' beer selling campaign by practising and preaching total abstinence.—United Presbyterian.

BAND UNIFORMS

One of the most outstanding student organizations, the band, will, from now on, make an even better appearance than it did last fall at football and during the winter at basketball games. Through the generosity of William Duff, Pittsburgh, a member of the Board of Trustees, the band is to be uniformed.

Royal blue overseas hats with white piping, and royal blue West Point trousers with white stripes will give the band the same snappy appearance as its snappy playing. For this spring, white shirts will be worn, for it was not possible to purchase coats.

The Holcad hopes that some alumnus, noting the lack of uniform coats, may donate sufficient funds to complete the outfits. An excellent start has been made. Who will finish the job? The band deserves more than applause; it deserves dress in keeping with the high quality of the music it has been playing under direction of Professor Cameron.

Attorney L. K. Donaldson Lectures To Law Class

Attorney Leroy K. Donaldson, a former student of Westminster college who is now practicing law in New Castle, lectured to Attorney Robert White's law class Thursday afternoon on the subject, "Why the Law Must Be Uncertain". Mr. Donaldson was a student here for two years and then transferred to the University of Wisconsin. The last issue of the "Law Student", a magazine for students and lawyers, contains an article by Mr. Donaldson entitled, "Beyond the Bill-boards Lies America". It is a plea for the return of natural scenery without the adornments of billboards.

Earl Hutchison Dies On April 20; Buried April 22 Earl W. Hutchison, 25, member of the New Wilmington Post Office force, died suddenly at his home early in the morning, April 20. Heart trouble was probably the cause of death.

Hutchison was a former student of the college, secretary of the Fire Department, and was a member of the Methodist Church. Burial was made April 22 in the Neshannock cemetery.

Richards Pleased With "You And I"

Bart Richards, in his "Roaming With Richards" column in the New Castle News on April 19, had the following to say about "You and I", three-act play produced by Westminster students:

Whether the players have names like Barrymore, Reed, Hampden, Lunt or Fontanne, or are the rankiest amateurs back in the hinterland, "the play's the thing". If you love the drama you can enjoy players and play or enjoy them apart. And occasionally you run into amateur productions of better drama that surprise you.

Had one of those surprises last night. Piloted the family barouche up the center of culture, i. e., New Wilmington, and enjoyed an evening with the Little Theater of Westminster College, the vehicle being Philip Barry's "You and I."

If you like drama served with a dash of spice and yet not enough spice to kill the flavor of a well done play, Barry is your man. His plays are usually good box office and invariably good theater, although "You and I" was not the success that others were, say "The Animal Kingdom".

For production by college players, however, it has everything. Not too dramatic to inveigle a youngster into going "meller", enough comedy relief to provide a load of laughs, and a plot that is reasonable. And the Westminster players gave it just enough of what it took.

The college is handicapped in dramatic facilities. The Little Theater in the administration building isn't large enough if the families of the cast attend, and so the plays are produced in the Community House, a building that is at once an auditorium, a theater, a gymnasium, or what will you have.

Some day perhaps some alumnus of Westminster who has a half nelson on a bundle of gold certificates will erect an activity building for the college where ability such as was displayed last night will be given ample opportunity to spread. The talent is usually in Westminster and the director they have had for some time, A. T. Cordray, deserves something much better than they have in the way of tools.

The only criticism I had as a customer (no Charley, not a cash customer) was the goshawful rigidity of the seats. The first act had me longing for the services of a masseur, the second act found me numb and the third act, beyond feeling. If ever they produce "Strange Interlude" up there, I'll take a mattress.

Alan Harper, Zeilenopie, sports writer for the Holcad, was appointed intra-mural sports editor for the coming year by the faculty committee on publications.

Harper has been active in varsity football and varsity track. He is a member of the Y. M. C. A. cabinet, the Junior Prom committee, and Delta Phi Sigma social fraternity.

He is taking a pre-legal course and is a member of the varsity debate squad, takes part in Little Theatre plays.

Jack Martin, Former Penn State Captain, Assists In Spring Grid Drills

Jack Martin, Sharon, former captain and guard on the Penn State football team, assisted Coach John Lawther in spring football drills which ended April 22.

Martin, who is taking special work in psychology and education at Westminster in order to qualify for a teacher's certificate, drilled the line candidates, while Lawther gave his attention to the backs and ends.

Besides his gridiron record Reh-fus has been a member of the varsity track team, and an outstanding performer on the Kappa Phi Lambda intra-mural teams.

Reh-fus has been active in fraternity circles; serving as president of the Kappa Phi Lambda, but with all these activities he was able to act as assistant swimming instructor at the college gym and pursue a Bachelor of Business Administration course.

After graduation this spring Reh-fus expects to teach for a few years and then enter the business department of the Sandusky Oil Company.

TITAN ANTICS

Intra-mural sports are holding the attention of the men students of the college. The Delts are practicing regularly for the mushball season on the athletic field. The Phi's are using the drive-way near their house as they "warm-up", and the Kaps have prepared a miniature playing field in their own back yard. With all this preparation the tournament looks like a battle to the finish.

We have it from reliable sources that the Phi's are under the fingers of the law. The trouble seems to be over the destruction of a certain street light near the campus, all of which proves that a young man's fancy turns to thoughts of ????

Our great football captain, Glen Reh-fus, was recently visited by a large delegation from the Kap house as he was entertaining a certain little freshman miss at the College Inn.

Pledges are beginning to wonder why it is they never answer court marshal questions correctly... but they are still in that infantile period of college life when such serious things are beyond their realm of reasoning.

It is rumored that a very interesting talk was given to the women students last Wednesday in chapel. They all seem to be very reticent when questioned, and we wonder why. Bet a quarter that it could explain the shrinkage in cigarette sales.

With the coming of warm weather the "daters" are having less and less trouble finding "spots" where they can be alone. Seems kind of queer to watch those happy couples walk a mile to find a nice comfortable place to park, when the chairs in the lobby of Browne hall are soft.

The campus is being thoroughly canvassed by ticket salesman. A fine business opportunity is open to some student offering signs such as: "I have my ticket to the Junior Prom." or, "Dad's bank is closed."

Seems as though the ticket takers at the recent college play were unable to distinguish between a student and a member of the animal family; commonly known as the "jackass". He must have had his ears tucked inside his hat when he entered, but the truth will out and between acts his bray gavel him away.

First Meet To Be Held On May 10; Three Scheduled

Much interest is being taken in intra-mural track, and already some of the runners are taking a daily cross country run to get into shape. The first meet, scheduled on May 10, will be the interfraternity relay. At present Coach "Zerk" Graham is planning to have three separate meets, but if, due to unfavorable weather conditions, an event has to be cancelled, it will be run off at the same time as the next meet.

This is the first time in recent years that the college has sponsored intra-mural track, but due to the cancellation of the varsity track program, the inter-college schedule has been substituted.

W. A. A. ACTIVITIES

The committees for sports day, which is to be held May 6, are as follows: the welcoming committee, is headed by Vergil Wettich, who is now the president of W. A. A., to be assisted by Allene Somerlade. Other members of this committee are Betty Curtis, Helen Whieldon, Jane Holland, Virginia Booth, Annabelle Stevenson, and the next president who will be elected at the meeting this afternoon.

The committee in charge of checking the swimming suits and towels at the pool will be Lillian Gaines and Martha Morrow. Those who will check the valuables are Harriett Gray and Mariett Jackson.

Nine Letters Presented To Court Team

Basketball awards were made to nine members of the Blue and White basketball team Tuesday April 11, in chapel. Manno Siljander, Pittsburgh; and Gerald Newton, New Wilmington; co-captains of the team which won 19 games and lost six this year to finish second in the Tri-State Conference, were presented with a blanket as a memento of having served four years on the Westminster team. Letters were earned by: John Wilhelm, Kittanning; William Douglass, Iselin, captain-elect; Peter Leyshock, Farrell; Louis Patt, Altoona; Ray Sweeney, Youngstown, O.; Westley Bennett, Akron, O.; and Henry Hunneke, Baldwin, L. I. N. Y. Student Managers Arthur Evans, Sharon, and William Rea, McDonald, O., were also given letters.

Co-Captains Siljander and Newton are the only men who played their last court season for the Titans, but both men will be hard to replace next season. A hard 26-game card is being arranged for the Titan court team, with a fine Eastern trip to start the season.

Case School of Applied Science To Be On Schedule

TITANS NOT TO PLAY GRID GAME THIS SPRING

The contemplated night football game for the Westminster team this spring has been dropped by the athletic council due to the fact that few district teams have facilities for a night game and a number of schools will not have spring drills late enough to fit in with Titan drills. Coach Lawther gave the squad some short-period scrimmage games during the past week, and hopes to be able to call the men out for fall camp early in September.

Dishong Has Success As Frat. Coach

Intra-mural sports are largely dependent upon the cooperation of the fraternities of the campus, and the extent of this unity has been apparent in the ever increasing interest and success of the interfraternity leagues.

With basketball, horseshoes, tennis, volleyball, archery, mushball, and foul pitching to promote it can easily be seen that much effort must necessarily be spent, by some members of the frats, to have a team that will appear at scheduled game and play as the games should be played.

The fraternities have appointed a general coach, and manager, to co-operate with Jack Hulme in the intra-mural program. Perhaps, due to the success of all his teams, Homer Dishong is probably the outstanding coach in the group. Dishong has been the Delt coach during the present season and a championship volleyball team, a championship horse-

One More Contest May Be Added; Four Good Home Games Carded

Eight contests are carded for the Westminster football team for the 1933 season, and a ninth contest may be added, the athletic council announced following its regular meeting two weeks ago.

Case School of Applied Science, Cleveland, O., is the only new rival on the grid card. Home contests with Grove City, Muskingum, Case, and Slippery Rock, and games away with Thiel, Geneva, Duquesne, and St. Bonaventure have been accepted by the council.

The schedule:
Sept. 23—Slippery Rock at home.
Sept. 30—Open
Oct. 7—St. Bonaventure at Olean, N. Y.
Oct. 13—Geneva at Beaver Falls (*)
Oct. 21—Thiel at Greenville.
Oct. 27—Duquesne at Pittsburgh (*)
Nov. 4—Grove City at home.
Nov. 11—Muskingum at home.
Nov. 18—Case at home.
(*) Night games.

shoe team, and winners of the basketball tournament are all "Dishong coached machines".

Tom, McClure, basketball star of the Phi's, has been in charge of the intra-mural sports at the Phi house. Though rather unsuccessful in the intra-mural loop, his teams have been active in most sports.

The Kaps have been coached by Glen Reh-fus, who also aided Coach Lawther in the spring training of the varsity football players. His basketball team won third place in the tournament and two of his men were named on the "all-frat team".

Edgar Allshouse, manager and coach of the T. U. O., has had a team that always came out near the top. In basketball and volleyball the T. U. O. won second place and in the "all-frat team" the T's placed one man.

IS EDUCATION SCIENTIFIC?

Education is endeavoring to become scientific. Like all the well advanced sciences in the early stages of its development the science of education must justify itself in the midst of much current popular belief.

Many successful farmers were successful in growing potatoes by planting them in the proper sign of the moon. They had tried it. Their grandfathers grew large crops by such methods. Farmers knew how to grow potatoes without the aid of the science of agriculture. Education today is in the "sign of the moon" stage. Did not John Locke know that Latin and Mathematics train the mind? Did not G. E. Hardy produce great men in fields of learning by first building the minds of her youth in the Gymnasium by means of the classics? Education was considered to be successful long before there existed a science of education. Hence there are many popular beliefs about education. Science either confirms or shows the falsity of popular beliefs.

Just as in agriculture, so in education, many capable scientists have been applying biology in the study of heredity in order to find inborn potentialities. Psychologists have been seeking to know more accurately the learning processes. Sociologists and Philosophers have been trying to find permanent life values. To the extent that these men are scientific we shall be able to direct education with some certainty of results.

What are the individual differences and how shall they be treated in a democracy? Why do we do the things we do and how is character formed? Are our troubles now due to just a slump in morals or to a lack of information? Why lay it to the ignorance of the banker when parents, teachers, ministers and professors are ignorant of education.

But we must carry on in the light we have. We cannot stand still. Better to plant potatoes in the sign of the moon than not plant them at all.

Fifty Schools Will Send Delegates To Education Meeting Here Saturday

Commencement Speakers Are Named By Prexy

Dr. Clarence J. Williamson And Dr. William F. Rotzler To Give Addresses

The Reverend Dr. Clarence J. Williamson, Pittsburgh, will be the commencement speaker at Westminster college, Monday, June 5. The commencement services, probably to be held on the South Terrace, will start at two o'clock, with the college band, directed by Professor Cameron, playing the processional.

Dr. Williamson, former pastor of the Highland U. P. Church of New Castle, is now a member of the faculty of Pittsburgh-Xenia Seminary in Pittsburgh. He is also on the editorial staff of the United Presbyterian.

The Reverend Dr. William F. Rotzler of Rochester will preach the Christian Associations sermon, Sabbath morning, June 4.

The baccalaureate sermon on Sabbath evening, June 4, will be preached by Dr. Galbreath.

Prominent Educators of Section To Give Addresses On Educational Problems

Fifty schools have already notified President Robert F. Galbreath of Westminster College that they will be represented at the educational conference at the college on Saturday, May 13. It is thought that 200 or more high school principals, superintendents of schools, college presidents and deans, and college professors of education will attend the gathering. Articulation of high school and college curricula, teaching methods, and preparation will be the subject for discussion.

Dr. John A. Shott, head of the department of education at Westminster and chairman of the conference, announced today the program for the conference.

At 10:30 in the morning, the first session will be held in the college chapel. Following words of greeting by President Galbreath, the first discussion of the conference will get under way. Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent of New Castle schools; and Dr. Gilbert H. Taylor, head of the ancient language department at Westminster, will speak on "What is College Material?" Discussions of these two presentations will be led by H. E. Brumbaugh, superintendent of schools in Irwin; and by Roy Jackson, principal of the Beaver high school.

Luncheon will be served to the guests in the Hillside dormitory at 12:30.

The afternoon sessions will start at 2 o'clock with Mr. Jones, principal of the Sharon high school, and Anthony Marino, of Youngstown East high school, speaking on "Guidance in the High School for College Entrance." Discussion of these presentations will be led by Frank Burton, principal of the Benjamin Franklin junior high school, New Castle, and Dr. Ralph W. Ogan, dean of Muskingum college.

W. D. Gamble, superintendent of schools of Sharon, and J. G. Diehl, superintendent of Erie schools, will speak on "What I Expect of the College Graduate When I Employ Him to Teach." Discussion of these presentations will be led by F. H. Carson, principal of the Wilkesburg high school; V. K. Irvine, principal of the Butler high school; and Dr. C. R. Foster, president of Indiana State Teachers' College.

SPEAKER

DR. G. H. TAYLOR

Dr. G. H. Taylor, head of the Ancient Language Department of Westminster College, will address the educators who will attend the Educational Conference held here, Sat. May 13. Dr. Taylor's address will be "What is College Material?"

HOLCAD GAINS HIGH HONORS IN PRESS ASSOC. CONTEST

Distinguished recognition for editorials and editorial policy has been given the Westminster College Holcad, student newspaper, by the Intercollegiate Newspaper Association of the Middle Atlantic States, word received here today states.

Professor William S. Maulsby, University of Pittsburgh, executive secretary of the association, sent a score sheet of judges' decisions to the student staff today in which it is recorded that editorials and editorial policy in the Lehigh University Brown and White was accorded first place; those of the Holcad, distinguished recognition, or second place; and those of the Bucknell University Bucknellian, honorable mention, or third place.

Of the four judges, one gave the Westminster paper fourth place in news coverage and news writing, while in editorial policy and editorial writing the paper placed first in the opinion of one judge, but was accorded second place by a pooling of all four judges' votes.

The Holcad, established in 1884, has during the last two years been twice given higher rating in the national contest sponsored by the Scholastic Press Association. This new honor recently received is an indication of the ability of the Westminster journalists.

DELTA NABLA TO HOLD STEAK FRY FOR NEOPHYTES

Delta Nabla will hold its formal initiation, in conjunction with a steak fry, at Millcreek park, Youngstown, Ohio on Thursday evening, May 11.

Dorothy Wilder, Dorothy Grant, Gerald Newton, Arthur Evans, and Stewart Rankin, who are seniors in the organization, will be honored at this time.

Robert Jones and Howard Robinson are in charge of initiation. In charge of general arrangements are: Hershel Rickard, Charles Branfield, and Emily Parker.

CO-OPERATIVE LODGE GIRLS ENTERTAIN WITH HOUSE PARTY

Girls, residing in the co-operative lodges, held a house party Saturday evening May 6, in place of the picnic planned for that afternoon.

Dancing was the form of diversion enjoyed by fifteen couples, and late in the evening a picnic lunch was served.

Arrangements for the party were completed by the following committee: Mary Stainer, Burdell Keller, Harriett Gray, and Marjorie Glass. Dean Mary E. Turner and Miss David W. Ritchie were chaperons.

Music Week Is Observed By Fine Programs

Professor Gordon Balch Nevins Gives Last Organ Recital Of College Year

A special week of music is being held by the various musical organizations of the campus. The programs have been made possible by the co-operation of the faculty, students, and members of Girls' Glee Club.

Last Sunday, May 7, the Orpheus mixed choir under the direction of John M. Ferguson of Pittsburgh presented a special recital in the college chapel. Last evening as the second feature of the week, Professor Gordon Balch Nevins gave his last organ recital of the year.

Tonight, and tomorrow evening, a varied program including both instrumental and vocal selections will be given. On Thursday evening the Girls' Glee Club will present a concert. This organization is under the direction of Miss Florence Thomas.

The program on Thursday evening will conclude the special week of music. This program is part of a tradition established two years ago to present a week of musical selections to the student body, and the success of the present offerings will probably mean the continuing of the policy in the future.

The girls' glee club will present a concert Friday evening in the First United Presbyterian church, Butler.

IN ANSWER TO "THE CROAKER"

A very bitter and unfounded denunciation "The Croaker" calls the editorial Wanted: Intelligence appearing in the last issue of the Holcad, and goes on to state that he "Only desires to correct a few fallacies" in it. (See Communication). It is the purpose of this editorial to do two things, namely, to explain the "bitterness", and to point out, in turn, a few fallacies in "The Croaker's" communication.

It is to be regretted that anyone should term the editorial a 'bitter denunciation', for it was not intended to be such. Perhaps an explanation is in order.... and it is an explanation, not an apology or a retraction. The editorial itself referred, albeit indirectly, to its choice of style as 'editorial jibing', which is not in itself a 'bitter' style. Rather, the editorial aimed, through the use of over-strong words, perhaps, to awaken a critical attitude in the minds of fraternity members, to shake them from their attitude of satisfaction with present conditions, to set them thinking. In short, the editorial was meant to serve as an alarm clock. Evidently it should have patterned itself after the newest type of alarm clock.... one that whispers, then shouts.

Surely "The Croaker" will admit that a critical attitude is essential to progress, and that if that critical attitude is dormant it should be awakened. And, furthermore, he will admit that a certain degree of rudeness is usually necessary to such an awakening, for man has ever been noted for his smug satisfaction with the existing order, a satisfaction that requires strong measures if it is to be over-thrown. History is full of examples of 'harsh, destructive criticism' preceding the more constructive type. (e.g., the French Revolution, the Russian Revolution, etc.)

To continue, "The Croaker" points out that the writer of the editorial under discussion 'shows very little knowledge of the real initiation policies of the campus fraternities' and that the editorial was 'unfounded'. Lack of space forbids extensive rebuttal; hence a few short sentences must suffice. The writer of the article is a fraternity man himself and believes that so-called policies are not worth the paper they are written on if they are not put into practice. In other words, seeing is believing; it is in the outward manifestations of those policies that the fault lies. His criticism was founded on fact, visual fact.

"The Croaker" contends that dangerous horse-play was banned some years ago at Westminster, and that he was unable to find any pledges among those he questioned who 'felt that their initiation had been in the least dangerous'. The fallacy there lies in the fact that he did not question all the pledges, and hence failed to discover that one pledge suffered a heart attack after running a half-mile or so through the town and campus, and that another, while singing.... at his brothers' request.... a decidedly profane and derogatory song in front of a rival fraternity house, was struck on the shoulder by a bottle thrown from that house. True, the injuries mentioned were not serious, but what if the heart attack had been more severe? What if the bottle had struck the pledge on the head instead of on the shoulder?

"The Croaker" further contends that it is impossible 'to allow the two statements' (see communication), that 'the first is the method by which the latter was obliterated'. Were it not for the fact that further repetition of the odious words 'childishly ridiculous' might prove still more irritating, it could be said that the substitution of 'buffoonery' for the more dangerous forms of horse-play is a rather puerile solution of the problem. It seems to be, more-or-less, a throw-back to the days of gladiatorial shows, or to the present-day dance marathon and walkathon, all of which are scarcely civilized recreations. Surely a civilized society need not seek amusement in watching the suffering, be it mental or physical, of others. In short, is the 'buffoonery' necessary at all?

In his concluding paragraph "The Croaker" states that he does 'not necessarily mean to belittle any attempt at constructive criticism of our social orders', and that 'probably no one is more anxious to better these organizations than the fraternity members themselves.' If he will read again the concluding paragraph of Wanted: Intelligence, he will find there the germ of an idea, namely, the plea for the fraternities to expend their energies on campus activities. If the fraternity members are so anxious to better their organizations, why don't they do something? The mere fact that they are anxious doesn't prove anything, doesn't accomplish anything.

To return to the matter of buffoonery.... it would seem that the constructive criticism is an integral part of the destructive. In other words, get rid of the buffoonery, keep the initiation proceedings within the house where they belong, be content with a formal initiation preceded by a training period in which the pledges learn the necessity, by actual participation, of keeping the house neat, of doing a little constructive work. What of a constructive nature is there in horse-play?

PLAY DAY SUCCESS

Rainy weather could not dim the enthusiasm with which members of the W. A. A. and Miss Love went about the activities of the high school girls' play day on Saturday, May 6.

With representatives from more than 20 schools, a group of 130 high school girls, present, all activities had to be shifted to the gymnasium. Last-minute changes in the schedule had to be made, but the W. A. A. members were capable, and Miss Love and her groups had a highly successful day.

The play day was valuable to the high school girls, to the W. A. A. members, and to the college. The high school girls had an opportunity to meet girls from other schools and members of the college student body. The W. A. A. members had the excellent experience of handling such an event. The college made valuable contacts with future students among the high school groups.

AN HOUR OF MUSIC

Last evening the students of the college were entertained with an exceptionally fine, and well rendered musical programme by Professor Gordon Balch Nevin. Professor Nevin is to be congratulated on the attractive and magnetic quality of his recital. Few programmes can be named that would offer to the students a more inspiring hour of music. Mr. Nevin presented a recital that was not only diversified in content but brilliant in rendition. We are honored to have a musician of his calibre as a member of our faculty.

THE SENIOR RECEPTION

It was a far-sighted move on the part of those in charge to arrange for formal clothes for seniors only at the senior class reception to be held May 18 in the Hillside.

In more prosperous times, those who did not own full dress suits and evening gowns could borrow them or rent them. Others who could not, usually stayed away from this important event. Now there will be no reason why all students and faculty members cannot attend.

Dr. and Mrs. Galbreath as hosts have reason to expect all seniors, and all other members of the student body and faculty to attend. Success of such an affair to honor the seniors depends, of course, on the attendance of the whole college family.

Let's go one hundred per cent to the senior reception in the Hillside on May 18.

THE SENIOR DANCE

The class of 1933 is nearing the end of four years of college life. One of the memorable events will be the senior dance on May 20. In order that all members of the student body may attend, the class has done two things: made the dance a semi-formal affair, with spring clothes the vogue; placed the cost at the lowest possible figure, one dollar and ten cents. Congratulations, seniors!

Our Readers Say

In the last issue of the Holcad there appeared, in the editorial column, a very bitter and unfounded denunciation of the initiation policy of the Westminster fraternities. The writer of this reply to that unfair criticism of our social organizations, does not intend to place himself in the position of a sovereign judge of the rightness and wrongness of certain actions, but only desires to correct a few fallacies in the former article.

In the first place the writer of "Wanted: Intelligence" shows very little knowledge of the real initiation policy of the campus fraternities. Also it is apparent that he does not know, or refuses to recognize, that Westminster was among the first to ban dangerous "ribald horseplay". We must admit that it was not until a member of the student body was injured that this act was passed. But as we are dealing with the present and not the past, the writer must necessarily recognize that fact.

Is the informal initiation policy dangerous? Certainly the only one who could answer that question correctly would be the pledges. The writer of this article was unable to find any pledge, of the numerous ones questioned, who felt that their initiation had been in the least dangerous. Certainly it would follow that the "ribald horseplay" and "all that sort of rot" is not nearly as dangerous as the editorial would lead one to believe.

In the same breath we hear "the present wave of buffoonery" called "childishly ridiculous" and "We hope that it will not be necessary for some poor freshman to be bumped-off" criticised. How can we possibly allow the two statements? The first is the method by which the latter was obliterated. Again we repeat that the writer must be unfamiliar with the fraternity initiation.

What possible motive the writer might have had, we do not know. Evidently the criticism was not to be constructively read. It only served to irritate the fraternity members, and, perhaps, cause the disinterested reader to chortle a little. Of course this hypothesis may be incorrect, but your writer does not mean to judge.... just commenting.

We do not necessarily mean to belittle any attempt at constructive criticism of our social orders. Probably no one is more anxious to better these organizations than the fraternity members themselves. But we do feel that the criticism should be just and not without firm foundation; otherwise it becomes ridiculous and the intended purpose becomes an intangible maze.—"The Croaker"

A WHITEWASH REPLY

Where is the dirty active,
Who killed Mr. pledge,
And laid the poor freshman in his grave?

Many are the ones who have gone through that wave of buffoonery. Intelligence was lacking on the part of these hundreds. Tell me then what made them what they are now if they lacked this great thing—intelligence?

If we could but see ourselves as others see us! If the only time one looked foolish was when ignorant actives made a poor pledge look so, then we should beg forgiveness. But things do not size up in that manner. Sport shoes in mid winter and many other things look foolish, but why criticize someone's dress. That is their own business.

We thought Ballyhoo was long ago forgotten but we see that there are still some in a class with those who enjoy it now and then, as that great writer of editorials and meddler seems to enjoy it. In three fraternities visited last week not one copy six months old could be found. What we want in our editorials is facts and not what someone day-dreams.

We are glad to know that this ribald horseplay has left the real schools. Can you tell us what they do now?

Now you have a solution for these initiations. My good man, study the history of Westminster Student Council politics and see why we fail to have it. Then sing your song. We as students of a place where intelligence is lacking know enough that we do not want politics here. Why start to encourage it here? Where has politics been entered into that people have profited? It is one of the most disgusting things in our government today.

The students are interested in the activities but the activities are too limited. The activities are not lacking in support of the student nearly as much as of the faculty. Debate is a fine example. Remember, the faculty belong to the college as well as the students.

The faculty of this college to me does not seem lacking in intelligence. Yet many of them did the same things. They also "killed" the poor pledges.

As to our fraternity policy, it is "hands off". We will tend to it. Let your editorials be turned to a better cause of which they are many. If you want to know some come to me.

—An Active

Reading over the cow-wash submitted by "An Active", one immediately turns to the much-mulled-over editorial in the issue of April 25 and reads it again with glee. Intelligence, Dear Brutus, is also lacking in some of the replies to said editorial.

A man is always proud of his own limitations, pal. And fraternities are just as proud of their limitations. Not being able to think up anything new, they resort to the old tricks which some imaginative lad of a decade ago happened upon in a fit of coma or the delights of a jeweled pin the size of a sheriff's badge in Bad Axe county, Mo.

Blindfolds, paddles, searching for name on tombstones, and all the other lapses of intelligence with which pledges are said to prove themselves fit for membership on a par with the kingfish "in that great fraternity", are as stale as the hot rolls dug out of Pompeii and Herculaneum; if you know what that is. They are without originality, and have as much chance of surviving the new order in colleges as a man with a wooden leg and inflammatory rheumatism in the other leg has of escaping a forest fire.

Dear Editor:

We, of Browne Hall, agree with you in your recent criticism of fraternity initiation. If some of the 'sacred brothers' would date one of their pledges after almost a week of no bath taking they would agree with us that "Lifebuoy conquers all evils". To be proposed to by some poor freshman whose teeth are chattering and whose speech is somewhat interrupted by groans as the paddle touches him is not very flattering. To have one of them sing "I love you truly" to you is less so. Then of course, to look out of the window and see a dozen fellows running around the building in their underwear is so thrilling. If you're asking us we'd rather it would be the football team. This 'hell week' business which takes place every evening at 6:30 is rather annoying too. This "I'll be over as soon as it's over" is so indefinite. Browne Hall is for a more intelligent initiation.

Page Marlene

They are at it again! When uniforms were bought for the band, the three or four young ladies in the organization had a choice between trousers and skirts. They chose trousers. A lobby was immediately formed. An ultimatum was issued. They will wear skirts. What, no Marlene Detrichs?

Rumor has it that the junior class wanted to add a little color to the formal promenade. Well, they did. Oswald.

Banking note: Well, the class in surveying is on the level, if you understand your engineering terms.

It is understood that the football team next fall will be off the lead standard. (Two minutes)

As yet, no one has bought up a lot of tuitions for next year in order to make a killing when the American dollar is sufficiently inflated.

The Personnel office wonders what connection if any, philologically speaking, there is between influx and inflate. We wish to inform all that infer that influx will wax with inflation of the influence of influenza. That's a sentence for you!

Eric Thompson now wears smoked glasses and eats smoked herring. Reason? He sits between two corn-cob pipe smokers as he commutes each day. We have watched the smoke of commuters each morning at one-half minute to eight!

First Intra-mural Track Meet Thursday

Second Round of Intra-mural Ball Games Started

Mushball And Volleyball Games Bring Out 150 Students

Intra-mural colleyball and mushball tournaments are being led by the Delta Phi Sigma fraternity, as the second half of the scheduled meets start. With four victories to one defeat they have a one game advantage over their closest competitor, the T. U. O. fraternity, in the mushball league. The volleyball race is not quite as close as the former. With six wins and one defeat the Delts have a decided advantage over their nearest rival, the T. U. O. fraternity.

More than 150 men students are taking an active part in these two sports. Games are scheduled at four in the afternoon and six-thirty o'clock in the evening. The games are limited to seven innings instead of the regular nine.

"Ray" Sweeney, Elmer Mieder, and John Brown have held the spotlight during most of the matches. Sweeney is perhaps the best all around player in the group. With good control and plenty of speed, he has been one of the leading factors in the splendid performance of the T. U. O. team. The Delts are using Mieder at the mound and, with splendid support from such stars as Douglass, Leyshock, Siljander, Patterson, Kennedy, and Healy, he has been able to keep his team in the lead throughout the season.

The Phi's have Brown, McClure, and Neely "hamming" the ball over the creek. Emery, Offutt and Patt are the hard hitting stars of the Kap team. They have been largely responsible for the four victories credited to the Kaps.

"Whitey" Siljander, Simpson, Mieder, Southard, and Scarbrough have all scored the four bases at one attempt. The fielding and batting ability of these players has been the reason for the Delts leading the mushball loop. The T. U. O.'s have such stars as "Ray" Sweeney, "Hughie" McCall, "Joe" Ketterer, and Clint Welch as their representatives.

Volleyball is not quite as popular as the former sport, but is having its share of the intramural sport interest. The Delts have only been defeated by the T. U. O. fraternity. With such netmen as Bennet, Southard, Patt, and Hunneke, they have proven themselves a hard team to defeat.

Track Relays To Take Place On Thursday

First Intra-Mural Track Meet Will Be Held On May 11 At Upper Field

Entry blanks for the intra-mural track meet have been given out to the fraternities, and the first of the three meets will be held this Thursday, May 11. All entry blanks must be returned to Coach Graham not later than today.

Four men will represent each fraternity in the half mile relay, which is the first of the three events. From this group sixteen runners will be chosen to represent their class in the inter-class relay which is to be held Tuesday of next week (May 16). The last of the intra-mural races will be held on Thursday, May 18, when the inter-fraternity track meet will be run off. In conjunction with this event the all-college pentathlon will take place. Varsity men are eligible to participate in any of these events, but in the inter-fraternity meets every representative must be a fraternity member. (Either pledge or active).

SCHEDULE

Tuesday, May 11—Inter-fraternity half-mile relay. Each man to run 220 yards. To be held at Upper Field.

Tuesday, May 16—Inter-class half-mile relay. Each class to have a team of four men; each man to run 220 yards. Upper Field.

Graduates

JOHN BROWN
Plans To Teach And Coach After Graduation On June 5

College, to many students, is just four years of leisure before they start on their own. It is not so with all college students, and probably the best example of this type is John Brown, a member of the Senior class.

A college career that is filled full of activities, work, and achievement is his. Coming to Westminister in 1926 he was an outstanding member of the freshman class; being active in varsity football, varsity track, varsity swimming, and varsity basketball.

A college career that is filled with activities, work, and achievement of school and go to work. From 1927 until 1931 he was employed by the Pittsburgh Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad. His "job" consisted of playing baseball, representing the organization at swimming meets, and playing basketball. In the last mentioned he was high scorer on the team for three consecutive years.

In 1931 he again returned to Westminister to resume his Bachelor of Arts course. Due to his aquatic ability he was able to secure a position as an assistant swimming instructor under Jack Hulme. When the writer questioned Jack about Brown graduating he made the following comment: "He is a good man, and that is a high compliment!"

As a charter member of the Phi Pi Phi fraternity, he has been active in that organization and has been coach of many of their intra-mural sport teams.

In June, Brown receives his "sheepskin" to go forth as a worthy representative of Westminister College in any field he may undertake.

BAND WILL PLAY CONCERT FOR ROTARIANS

Bandmaster Donald O. Cameron announced today that the Westminister band will make its first appearance wearing the new uniforms at the Rotary dinner in the Hillside on Monday evening, May 15. The band will play a concert from 6:30 until 7 o'clock. Professor Cameron announced.

The new uniforms, of royal blue whipcord, were donated by William M. Duff, Pittsburgh, a member of the board of trustees. Mr. Duff has been invited to attend the Rotary dinner.

Uniforms arrived last week and were issued to members of the band at the Conservatory. The band will also appear in uniform during commencement week, playing the academic processional music on June 5.

Thursday, May 18—Inter-fraternity eight event track meet. 100, 220, 440, 880, high jump, broad jump, shot put, discus. Each fraternity to enter a complete team, one man limited to five events. All-College Pentathlon events will take place in conjunction with this inter-fraternity track meet.

TITAN ANTICS

Spring is here! Spring with all its invigorating atmosphere and joy. Students are placing their books on the shelves till the time in the future when a test looms near. The tennis courts are coming into their own as rackets of all descriptions are brought out from winter storage. Even the W.A.A. girls are monopolizing the sidewalks as they engage in their roller skating antics.

Speaking of roller skating and the W.A.A. we recall the day a certain roller skatrix discovered that the sport is not only enjoyable, but is often quite embarrassing. Girls may be girls, but when two roller skates get together they will not always respect their prerogative of dignity, and when things start happening it is just too bad for the fair young misses. We would suggest that all feminine skaters take the precaution of carrying cushions to be placed in the proper place at the proper time.

Interest, antics, and pleasure all are combined as the intra-mural program swings into full sway. With two mushball games and two volleyball games six days a week the men on the campus are having the time of their lives. Of the numerous games scheduled only one has been postponed. Certainly with such enthusiasm the intra-mural program, built up mainly through the efforts of Jack Hulme, can be expected to occupy a prominent position in the future athletic policy of the college.

In contradiction to the general impression that the college athlete is nothing but a "boiler-maker" brought to the college for athletic purposes, the athletic lights of the school swung a "mean hoof" and were quite the "social lions" at the recent Junior Prom. An athlete has the advantage of always having the opportunity to become a so-called gentleman, while there are few of the latter who could become an athlete.

We see that Miss Nandeen Love has moved her girls gym class to the wide open place. The ashed terra in front of the college gym has been singularly honored by the jump-jump of the rope jumping class. That is nothing new, though. We need only to walk along any side street and little girls will gladly entertain us with their rope jumping ability. Of course their is an advantage in watching a college girl jump rope. She, through her high degree of mental training, can do it less gracefully than the little "tikes".

We have it direct that our plunging fullback, Bill Staples, is going in for swimming in a big way. Every afternoon he visits the gym swimming pool, and we deduce that there must be something big in the background. We know that two of our best swimming instructors, Glen Rehfus and John Brown, are graduating and we wonder if Bill will not be the man to fill that vacancy. Anyhow it is a good hypothesis, and we don't want you to be surprised if he is Jack's righthand man next year. Staples is popular with the men students (girls too) of the college and would be the ideal man for the position.

The intra-mural league has been increased by the addition of the non-frat. team to the mushball and tennis tournaments. The team will be composed only of men who are not affiliated with any of the social organizations on the campus, and will be under the direction of James Jacobsen. We hope that this group will become a regular member of the intra-mural loop. In the past it has always been difficult to keep them organized and active in the sports. Having the disadvantage of unorganization they have, in the past, often disrupted the schedules by not appearing at scheduled meets. There is no reason why this group should not have a very good team, if they are able to keep organized, and they can be a worthy addition to the loop.

Athletes Are Presidents Chairmen

Gerald Newton Has Successful Basketball And Social Record

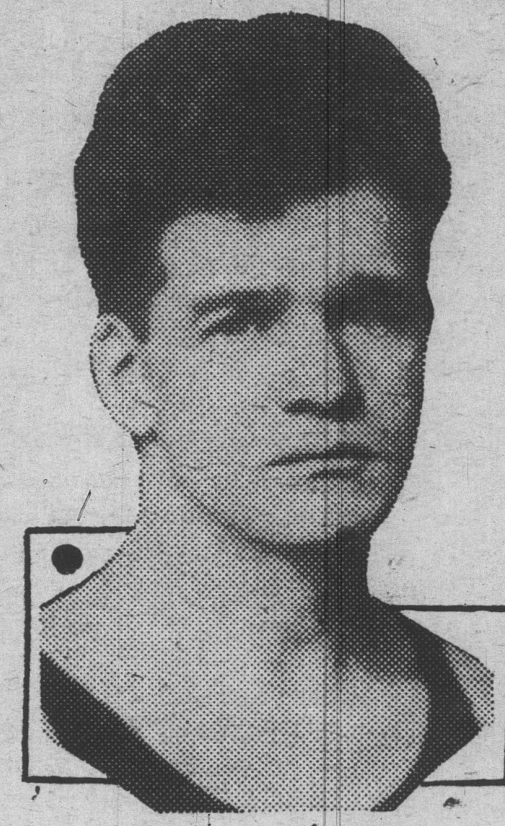

College athletes attending Westminister are as active, if not more so, than the average college student in social activities. A review of the college records show that with few exceptions the athletic element has an exceptionally high social rating. Class presidents, class officials, class representatives, fraternity presidents, etc. are some of the honors given to this group.

Gerald Newton, a member of the varsity basketball team, was president of the present Senior class for two years. As a member of the Delta Phi Sigma fraternity he held various offices in that organization during the last three years.

Looking at the football records we find Elmer Mieder, star end of the varsity string, until a leg injury incapacitated him, leading the Junior class for the last three years. He has also been president of the Delta Phi Sigma Fraternity and a member of the intra-fraternity council. Glen Rehfus, captain during the past season, is president of the Kappa Phi Lambda fraternity, president of the Block "W" club, and a member of the interfraternity council. James Jacobsen, a member of the non-frat. group has been active in the Y. M. C. A., a member of the Cabinet, and a chairman of the Junior Prom.

Bill Douglass, captain-elect, and star forward of the basketball team, is vice president of the Delta Phi Sigma fraternity, and is a member of the interfraternity council. Hugh McCall, member of the T. U. O. fraternity and star dash man on the Westminister track team, is vice-president of the Junior class and was chairman of the recent Junior Prom.

Director

JACK HULME
Plans Extensive Intra-Mural Program For Men Students

Jack Hulme, director of physical education, has done more for intra-mural sports than any man in the college. He has seen intra-mural activities grow from an unorganized program of one or two sports a year to the present condition of popularity.

Coming to Westminister in 1925 his only duty was to conduct swimming classes for the college students. In his second year he organized a varsity swimming team which was very successful, winning all meets during their first year.

In the fall of 1926 he was appointed trainer for all varsity sports, and has held this position since that time. Shortly after taking up his duties at Westminister he began to plan for an extensive intra-mural program. It was not all easy going and patience and tact was necessary to secure the cooperation of the fraternities.

Jack has always believed that "A lot of sport is innate in each student; if you can get it out." Working on this theory he has been very successful. From the original unorganized intramural program it has grown to a smooth running and successful loop.

At the present time each fraternity on the campus takes an active interest in at least eight different sports. Outstanding among these are basketball, tennis, and volleyball. Each of these sports attract a large number of men students each year. Others act as referees, umpires, timekeepers and scorers.

Hulme has acted as trainer for six different coaches since coming to Westminister. Besides all of the duties connected with this he has been placed in charge of the college gymnasium and is head of the Physical Education department.

FRENCH CLUB WILL PRESENT PROGRAM IN LITTLE THEATRE

French Club of Westminister college will present a program of French plays and music in the Little Theatre at 8 p. m., May 16.

This is the last meeting of the French club this year and will be open to all the students and faculty members of the college.

A special feature of the meeting will be a book mending demonstration which should be of interest to the students, especially who are attending.

More Than One Hundred Attend Sports Program Sponsored By Women

Sports events of all kinds marked the play day at Westminister Saturday morning and afternoon May 6, when more than 100 high school girls from towns in the Tri-State area were the guests of the college.

Thirty-five high schools were sent invitations, and more than 20 sent in entries, Miss Nandeen Love, director of physical education for women, announced. The play day was sponsored by W. A. A., the women's athletic association of the college.

GRAND MARCH AT 9:45

Events started at 9:45 with registration in the college gymnasium. A grand march of the visitors followed this. A short welcome program in the gymnasium which included three speakers: Miss Virgil Wettich, New Castle, president of W. A. A.; Miss Nandeen Love, director; and President Robert F. Galbreath.

Organization of groups took place at 10:50, and sports activities ran from 11 to 12. These sports included: soccer, basketball, mushball, relays, swimming, ping pong, rope jumping, marbles, and jacks.

VISITORS TOUR GROUNDS

Luncheon was served in the Hillside and in Browne hall at 12:45. A tour of the campus and buildings was conducted from 1:30 to 2:20. Sports activities of the afternoon started at 2:30 and continued until 4:20. Group photographs were taken at 4 o'clock.

Girls from the different high schools were separated into "color" teams so that the competition was not between schools, but between representative teams of all schools. Guest badges in blue and white ribbon were worn by the visitors, and white ribbons badges were worn by members of W. A. A. who officiated.

Clara Sherwin Goes Abroad Junior Year To Study French

Plan Started By Westminster
Alumnus Combines Tours
With Study

Miss Clara Sherwin of New York City, a student at Westminster last year, is this year a member of the group of students who have gone to France under the direction of Delaware University to spend their Junior year in that country studying French. Westminster is especially interested in this plan of study because it was originated by a former Westminster alumnus, Mr. Raymond Kirkbride, Mr. Kirkbride, until his death in 1927, was the director of the group, being at the time Professor of French at the University of Delaware. At present the program of the group consists of a six weeks preparatory course in the city of Tours in the chateaux country, followed by two semesters work in Paris at different schools such as the Sorbonne. Miss Sherwin writes most interestingly of the work and of the social life of the group. Last summer the members of the group seemed to find their chief recreation in bicycle trips to the various chateaux of the Loire valley. After a four weeks term in Tours they took a trip to La Baule where there is a Casino. Among the various forms of recreation in that place gambling seems to hold a high place. Miss Sherwin tried her luck and lost $128. After this orgy the work at Tours was resumed. At the end of the stay in that city, the group took a more extensive trip to the Pyrenees mountains going by way of Bordeaux and beautiful San Sebastian. In the Pyrenees country Miss Sherwin had her first experience of seeing snow-capped mountains and of the clouds rolling below her feet. On the way to Paris they stopped at various cities, Pau, the old home of Henry of Navarre and Lourdes, where so many miracles of healing are reputed to be performed. Trips to Italy at Easter and to London in July are planned.

Of her life at Paris, besides the regular school work, Miss Sherwin speaks of the sight-seeing, cafes on Montparnasse, shopping and tearooms on the right bank, the theater and the opera. The group is taken once a week to the theatre to see mostly the classic plays. The courses of study at the Sorbonne include General History of France, classic literature, modern literature, History of Art, French Life, etc., lectures, private lessons, oral and written work. She reports that French food is delicious though rich and fattening, and that she has learned to like even their coffee. The students live in families where they speak nothing but French. Beside the practise they get in this way, dinners, dances and teas are arranged for them where they meet the best class of French people and thereby learn their language and customs.

Miss Sherwin says she will regret leaving France terribly, though she is anxious to see her family, but her ambition is to return some time perhaps with the Columbia group.

Delaware University sponsors this same plan of study in Germany to study German and just recently they announce a further expansion to include graduate students in both languages so that they can obtain a master's degree.

Wanted---A Creative Mind

Last Fall, the Holcad announced that a research project in Organic Chemistry was to be carried out in the laboratories at Westminster. A question may arise concerning the opportunities offered and the difficulties encountered in the pursuit of such an investigation.

The problem in its embryonic stage aimed at the synthesis and study of a certain type of heterocyclic organic compounds. The starting compound for these preparations is unique in that it differs from the poisonous "mustard gas" used in warfare only by the substitution of an oxygen atom for a sulfur atom and by the fact that it is non-toxic. Needless to say, a great deal of time was consumed in attempting experiments that didn't work, but in the course of time some of the ideas actually became realities. Additional work then became necessary in order to improve upon the original crude methods so as to keep within the bounds of economy and still have enough material to experiment with. Three compounds, presumably new, have been prepared. The analysis of these substances and a study of their properties with all of the ramifications involved have occupied the time since their discovery. The properties as brought to light by this study present certain interesting aspects, both theoretical and practical. On the practical side, the possibility of preparing some new dyes is indicated by the evidence at hand.

No matter how humble, any new substance prepared must be subjected to a vigorous examination in order to establish its chemical formula and molecular structure. Organic chemistry demands certain special instruments for analysis and without them research would be out of the question. For the quantitative determination of carbon, hydrogen and nitrogen, a combustion train is essential. Modern furnaces are instruments costing several hundred dollars and are to be found only in graduate school laboratories. For the determination of halogens, one must resort to a Carius bomb furnace, also very costly. Further analysis may call for a Kjeldahl apparatus. From the limbo of forgotten and rusty apparatus, two gas units of a Liebig combustion train were unearthed and put into use; and, while not so impressive as its electric prototype, the results left nothing to be desired. A complete Kjeldahl apparatus was available and it has found some use in the investigation. Even the Carius furnace is present, ancient and out of date, but capable of giving the very best results. These valuable instruments have not been used for a couple of decades or more, yet their presence removes the main obstacle to research in organic chemistry.

The inference is; that since the essential apparatus is available in our own laboratories, within certain limits, the only other things needed are the creative mind and manipulative skill in order to carry out an original investigation.

Grads Choose Life Officers

Following a plan whereby each class of alumni will have permanent officers, the senior class at Westminster College, numbering 87 students, has elected the following officers for life:

Gordon Nevin, Monongahela, president; Herbert Smith, New Castle, vice-president; Mary Jane Stunkard, Fredonia, secretary; and Willis McGill, New Wilmington, treasurer. These officers have held office during the past year.

Morning Session
Following greetings of welcome by President R. F. Galbreath, the morning session started with two addresses on "What is College Material?" Dr. J. A. Shott, head of the department of education at Westminster presided and introduced the two speakers: Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent of New Castle schools, and Dr. Gilbert H. Taylor, head of the ancient language department at Westminster.

Dr. Green in commenting on the type of students in colleges today, said, "I do not mean to imply that real scholarship does not still emerge from our institutions of learning. I do mean to convey the thought that the college diploma too frequently bears little relationship to scholarship, and I think that is largely because of the faulty raw material which colleges receive."

Declaring that all young people are not suited for college studies, Dr. Green said, "During the period since the World War we Americans have followed three vain hopes. First—that all citizens can be financially rich. Second—that all can be bachelors of arts. Third—that all can have 'white collar' jobs or live without any jobs at all. We are slowly but surely learning the folly of such hopes, and are beginning to realize that schooling and education are not synonymous terms."

Of the place of the high school in the educational scheme, Dr. Green said, "The cosmopolitan high school of today is essentially a college preparatory institution."

Dr. Green stated that he is in favor of separate high schools, in large cities, to specialize in college preparation.

Dr. Taylor Speaks
The question of what constitutes college material cannot be answered by any formula, Dr. G. H. Taylor said by way of introduction. "We cannot draw any hard and fast line between good and bad colleges, but there are evidently from 100 to, say 200 really good schools in the country. There are 30 to 40 fine colleges and say, 10 to 15 extraordinary institutions. There is everything from Packards to below Fords, and the quality of the student bodies varies in close relation to the severity and excellence of the colleges."

"High schools can not make good college material because good college material is born and not made," Dr. Taylor continued. "If the high schools are fortunate enough to have some good college material they can hand it on. If the parents do not supply the material, I suppose that is just too bad!"

H. E. Brumbaugh, superintendent of the Irwin schools and Roy Jackson, principal of the Beaver Falls high school, led the discussion on points raised by Dr. Green and Dr. Taylor. A general discussion, starting at 11:30, followed this and lasted until 12:30.

Dinner was served the guests in the Hillside dormitory shortly after 12:30.

Afternoon Sessions
Dr. J. Freeman Guy, associate superintendent of Pittsburgh schools presided at the afternoon sessions which started at 2 o'clock.

P. A. Jones, principal of the Sharon high school, and Anthony Marino, Youngstown East High school, spoke first on "Guidance in the High School for College Entrance."

Mr. Jones started by stating that the choice of the college is one of the major problems in guidance. "The problem in guidance at the present time" he said, "is very much (Continued on Page 2)"

ROOSEVELT'S PEACE PROCLAMATION

The world was thrilled by the message of President Roosevelt delivered on May 16 to the representatives about to assemble for the economic and disarmament conferences. He sounded the policy the country deems paramount to immediate and political reorganization.

In the fourth paragraph of his message, Mr. Roosevelt urged that the conference proceed to effect economic recovery "by stabilization of currencies, by freeing the flow of world trade, and by international action to raise price levels."

The remainder of the statement was devoted to the topic of disarmament. Two factors tend to increase armaments: the desire to expand and fear of attack owing to the efficiency of offensive weapons over defensive fortifications. Consequently Mr. Roosevelt charged the disarmament conference with the ultimate view of eliminating offensive weapons and the immediate objective of making substantial reductions in offensive machinery and "the elimination of many others."

The President summarized "three steps to be agreed upon in the present discussions": Immediate acceptance of the MacDonald Plan; the determination of both time and methods for enforcing the decrees; no armament increase in the meantime over and above treaty obligations. Mr. Roosevelt offered a fourth: the signing of a non-aggressive pact and universal assumption of obligations to reduce armaments, in which case armed forces are to be confined to the boundaries of the several nations.

Such in brief is the substance of Mr. Roosevelt's message to the world. That this paper or this college should formally pledge its undivided support to the above-mentioned program is a step which is neither bizarre nor unpropitious. On the contrary, it is the very least we can do. But what is the use? What plan can be offered which will make effective the designs of our President?

There can be no doubt that fundamental changes must be made in our social, political, and economic order; the presence of starvation on our one hand; vast food and surplus raw materials on the other are anachronisms only too obvious. The persistence of material fears and jealousies in spite of past experience is a sad commentary on the intelligence of the peoples here and abroad. But the disarmament conference has been deadlocked for over a year, and furthermore, the President himself gives little inkling of his own policies toward supplementing "individual domestic programs for economic recovery by wise and considered international action." Perhaps this is a polite move.

In the face of the present disarmament failure and the generalities uttered by our President, what stand should college students take?

The writer of this editorial will be so bold as to offer these suggestions for the support of the President in his effort to chisel the cyst of isolation from this country: meet together for the purpose of formulating some practical policy which will effect the necessary reorganizations; discuss the results of said meeting with certain qualified department heads and announce the adopted resolution both to the President and to worthy colleges, in order that the efforts of college men—those favored few who should be best qualified to assume the burden of reorganization—will not moulder away on the shores of the fair Seneca.—Hobart Herald.

COMMENCEMENT

Often we have wondered why the word "commencement" is used in connection with graduation. We have sought to find fault with the expression. We ordinarily think of college as just so many hurdles which have to be jumped, and then promptly forgotten. We believe that graduation is an ending of an educational experience rather than the start of anything.

But time teaches lessons. We learn that graduation is in very truth the start of the larger educational experience. We learn that in the great school of life, the teachers are hard taskmasters. We discover that we must not neglect the lessons of experience, and that we cannot enter any day unprepared.

Happily, the completion of a college course is supposed to mark the beginning of an educational adventure, not the end of an educational achievement. Commencement day is a milestone, not a tombstone. Otherwise we should inscribe diplomas with the legend: Here lies the mind of Joe Student.

The following poems submitted to Prof. Ben Euwema, head of the English Department have been turned over to the Holcad for publication due to the excellent work done by the students.

WITH APOLOGIES

Ill fares the stude to 'proaching themes a prey,
When words accumulate and plots decay;
Poems and prose may flourish or may fade
A man can write them, or perchance, a maid.
But a good gradeA thought, the student's pride,
When once worn-out can never be revived.
What fools are they who pass in schools like these

A youth of labor with no time for ease.

MORE APOLOGIES

Student, rest! thy troubles o'er,
Sleep the sleep that knows not waking;
Think of final tests no more,
Nights of wonder, day of shaking.
In our dorm's too-noisy hall,—
Thoughts hid in my mind are stewing,—
Little bits of paper fall;
My roommate senses trouble brewing.
Student, rest! thy worries o'er,
Dream of writing themes no more;
Sleep the sleep that knows no breaking,
Nights of toil, nor days of quaking.

—Edith Williams

ADOLESCENCE

I used to see
Ghosts hover over graves at dusk.
I thought of cold, damp soil
And rotted bones.
I listened to the wind
Chant its weird dirge
On moonless nights.
Always it was lonely.

Tonight the stars are keeping watch
Young trees are hushed
By the lull of autumn winds.
The earth seems soft
And warm and kind
To tired souls. —Anne Huether

CO-OP LODGES

One project of Westminister during the past year which has worked out wonderfully successful is that of the co-operative lodges for women students. Looked at from various angles, this scheme is a fine blending of communism, socialism, and technocracy, with none of the bad features of each.

Young women quartered in the cooperative lodges have learned lessons just as important as those of the classroom. They have learned that there is nothing degrading about work; that house work can be done while one is busy with classes; that student activities are open to all, whether they are working for part of their expenses or not; that there is a joy in being able to help the folks at home who are trying hard to provide their children with educational opportunities.

The cooperative lodges have been well managed, and the assignment of duties have been taken care of in excellent fashion without argument and without trouble. The experiment has proved worth while, and should be continued.

Educators Hold

Interesting Meet

more difficult that it was years ago because we have, instead of a classical angle toward education, many angles from which we view education.

"We have found all types, and classes of people in high schools. We are not going to get anywhere in college admission discussions until we succeed in winning the point to select only the best type of individual. Emphasis should be on the individual and whether or not he is good material.

Professor Jones then pointed out that the duties of guidance specialists were so great that it is hard to find good counselors in this important branch of school work.

Marino's Talk

Professor Marino of Youngstown East high school pointed out that every teacher should be part of the guidance program. He also indicated some reasons why teachers are often not of value in guidance of high school students.

"Every teacher should receive instructions in the principals of salesmanship, for without such knowledge he cannot sell information, knowledge, or himself to the average high school student.

"Every teacher should be encouraged to become more versatile. Every student in college should have several major studies, thus enabling him, if need be, to give instruction in several subjects."

Discussion of points raised by Jones and Marino was led by Dean R. W. Ogan of Muskingum College, and by Frank Burton, principal of the Benjamin Franklin junior high school, New Castle.

Dr. Ogan stated that the colleges of the future will be less standardized. He also expressed the belief that colleges will soon stress personality, individual interests and aptitude in determining eligibility for college admission.

Professor Burton listed briefly ten things which he believes should be taught over a period of three years in high school and junior high school.

Dr. Gamble's Talk

Dr. W. D. Gamble, superintendent of Sharon schools, and J. C. Diehl, superintendent of Erie schools spoke next on "What I Expect of the College Graduate When I Employ Him as a Teacher."

Dr. Gamble pointed out that there are four phases of preparation for teaching: development of personality, knowledge of certain techniques of teaching, broad general education, and definite specific knowledge of the field in which one wishes to teach.

Dr. Gamble concluded by saying, "The debt of the high school to the college for providing well-trained teachers is great. The college has functioned well but the challenge of today is for even better equipped teachers."

Dr. Diehl started by saying that the old definition for education was preparation for life. "Education today," he said, "is life."

"Someone has said that the greatest discovery in the 20th century is that the whole child comes to school. In former years too much stress was placed upon the intellectual side."

Discussion of the two talks was led by Dr. C. R. Foster, Indiana State Teachers' College, F. H. Carson, Wilkesburg high school and S. E. Irvine, principal of the Butler high school.

HOLCADABRA

Fun, frolic, and seriousness will be the theme of the Senior Day program planned by the Y. W. and Y. M. C. A. of the college for Friday, June 2. The committees in charge are taking a lively interest in the party and with support from the students it will be one of the memories of the college year.

The party is being planned purely as a farewell party to the Senior class. Unlike most college parties it is absolutely free and there are going to be free eats in the evening!

A mushball game featuring the faculty versus a student team, swimming all afternoon in the town pool, tennis matches, and volleyball games are all listed. Can't you just see that mushball game and with the finals over it will be murder. Ummm! What do we see now? Apple pie, baked beans, coffee, and hamburgs served free in the evening.

After the picnic supper an hour of vesper service and then, if you still feel like it, a big bon-fire gathering on the football field.

The best fish story of the current year found Doc Black unwillingly assuming the principle role. Feeling the call of the wild, our hero went on a trip to the fastnesses of Lake Erie over a recent week end. After donning his bathing suit and breasting the waves for a few hours, Doc struggled into shore to enjoy a well-earned rest. Imagine his embarrassment when he found a full-grown member of the finny tribe nestling cozily between his suit and his schoolgirl complexion. The appropriate sequel would be Doc's arrest for fishing without a license.

Addicts of the terpsichorean art were entertained at the Senior dance by an involuntary acrobatic act staged by a member of the graduating class and his feminine companion. Mixed signals resulted in a reverse pivot or some such tricky maneuver that ended in much of the floor wax being swept up by the performer's clothes. Were their faces red?

The riot squad now patrolling the Westminister campus has found very little to keep them busy the last few weeks. Our solution is that approaching examinations are serving to keep co-eds of both sexes from succumbing to the spring urge. Or perhaps the boys and girls are getting tricky. Take your choice. At any rate, the W. S. S. (Westminister Secret Service) is finding business very dull these days.

Cann's week end excursions to New Castle seem to have come to an end. His many friends are of course glad to have him with them but regret the fact that he does not seem to be his old cheery self.

Penthouse News

"Giddy" Baird has been seen tossing many a stone into the calm Neshannock these balmy spring afternoons.

The nudist colony on the Penthouse roof received some new members this week. "Winchell" Polonus has begun a series of daily sun baths.

The first group of Penthouse alumni will be tendered a farewell dinner Wednesday evening. It is with much regret that we see the passing of our much-respected brethren.

There are rumors to the effect that a certain little Co-op gal was only sentenced to a week of co-educational limits while her b. f. went "scot free". If such is the case, has the administration been fair to other people on the campus?

Then there is the story of another Co-op gal who "kicks teeth in". Very dignified method, to say the least.

Inter-Fraternity Track Meet Held at Upper Field

T.U.O. Wins Inter-Fraternity Track Meet By Close Score

Delts Nosed Out By T. U. O.
37-35½ In The Last Track Event

Delts Win Inter-Fraternity Relay

T. U. O. fraternity won the inter-fraternity track and field meet held at the Upper Field last Thursday. With firsts in the 100, high jump, broad jump; and seconds in the high jump and broad jump they defeated their nearest competitor, the Delts, by a score of 37 to 35½.

Due to unfavorable weather conditions the inter-fraternity relay was postponed until the track and field meet. In this event the Delts won first place and the T. U. O. second. Burry, Arrowsmith, Hunneke, and Ferguson carried the baton around for the Delts and ran the half mile in 1:37.7 or less than :23.0 per man.

Delts Win Dashes

With such stellar performers as Sweeney, McCall, Hogg, Brunt, Yourd of T. U. O. in the high jump, was able to gain a lead in the field events that could not be overcome by the Delts. With first in the 220, 440, 880, and seconds in the 100, Shot, 100, and 880 the Delts were a close second to the winning team.

Sweeney, T.U.O. star, won first in the broad jump, tied for first with Yourd of T.U.O. in the high jump, and won third in the 220. With 11 points he was individual high scorer of the meet. Burry and Ferguson carried the blunt of the Delts' attempts. With 17½ points they gained half of the total Delts points. McCall and Burry tied for second place as individual high scorers with 10 points each. McCall placed first in the 100, second in the 220, and third in the high jump. Burry led the field in the 440 and 880 yard runs.

Fast Time On Track

Time in the 100, 220, and half mile relay was exceptionally good considering the condition of the track. The discus throw by Patt was 116 ft. 6 in. and the shot was put 35 ft. 2 in. by Rehfs of the Kaps.

Coach Graham planned and sponsored the meet. He was aided by Polonus, Langley, Trevaskis, and Hines. More than 40 fraternity members participated in one or more events and five of the four fraternities were represented. The meet was the first of its kind in recent years, and created as much, if not more, interest as the varsity track meets.

SUMMARIES:

100-yard dash: McCall, T. U. O., first; Arrowsmith, Delts, second; Ferguson, Delts, third; Brunt, T. U. O., fourth. Time: 10.4

COACH

ROBERT X. GRAHAM

Track Coach Turns Out Good Teams

English Instructor Was An Outstanding Graduate Of Cornell University

Robert X. Graham has been varsity track coach of the Westminster team since coming to the Presbyterian school from Colgate university. An exceptionally good runner himself he has coached the college cinderists through successful seasons. Such stars as Brownlee, Delahunty, Hemer and McCall have been developed under the tutelage of Coach Graham.

While attending Colgate university he was elected to the Kappa Delta Rho (social) fraternity, Mu Pi Delta (honorary musical) fraternity, Pi Delta Epsilon (honorary) journalistic, Phi Upsilon Kappa (honorary) fraternity, and Gorgon's Head (senior honorary society).

He was a star member of the varsity cross country team during his four years as a student and was elected captain during his senior year. As a three year member of the Maroon Board (news), Banter Board, (jokes), a member of the Willow Path Board (literary) one year and editor-in-chief the next; editor of Freshman Handbook; and Salmagundi (year book), he gained a knowledge of journalism and actual newspaper work that few college instructors have.

Outside of journalistic work Graham was honored in many other fields. Class secretary; Biological society; Junior Prom committee; Winter Carnival committee; Varsity "C" club, and the Latham scholarship are a few of the laurels.

Coming to Westminster in 1925 as an instructor in English he interested himself with advancing journalistic work. At the present time various journalistic courses are open to the students. As faculty advisor of all students publications he is directly responsible for the All-American rating of the Argo and the prize winning makeup of the Holcad.

Graham has been one of the contingent factors in the increased enrollment of the college. As director of publicity and advertisement he has brought the college to the attention of hundreds of prospective students. The Westminster News bureau, for the collection of news items, is an organization existing through the efforts of the publicity director.

TITAN ANTICS

It won't be long now! With only a few more days before finals the intramural sports are in their last lap. It has been an active season for the frats with basketball, volleyball, track, tennis and mushball to compete in. A better feeling of kindredship has been created through the efforts of the intra-mural directors. The fraternities are to be congratulated on their fine spirit of co-operation and good sportmanship.

Speaking of congratulations.... did you notice how efficiently and smoothly the inter-fraternity track meet was run off? With nine different events scheduled and about 50 frat. members participating it was a real job to conduct the meet.... but Coach Graham and his student officials were able to do just that. This is the first time in recent years an inter-fraternity track meet has been held.... but we hope it isn't the last.... so: Thanks a lot Coach Graham.

We had been favoring the T. U. O. to make a sure thing of the half mile relay. With such stellar runners as McCall, Hogg, Sweeney, and Brunt it looked like a sure bet.... but then how were we to know that one of them was going to lose his footing and go for a nice little tumble? Anyhow it was a great race and 10 years from now the only thing that will be remembered is that the Delts won.

Wet weather has been interrupting the intra-mural sport schedule to such an extent that it may be necessary to curtail the length of the games in order to complete all the scheduled meets. By cutting down on the length of the games it would be possible to play two games an afternoon and two in the evening.

Miss Nandeen Love has been very successful with her W. A. A. organization. Reading over the Holcad proofs we see where the W. A. A. has this and that. It is a fine thing for the co-eds and we know that they are enjoying themselves from the interest they are displaying in it. Perhaps in the near future the girls will be parading around the gym with rifles on their shoulders.... you know they do have girls' rifle shooting teams.

Getting sentimental for a moment.... Did you notice the fine looking group of athletes that were in the Senior reception line? There was Glen Rehfs looking as though a football suit was something he had only read about.... and then there was "Jerry" Newton looking calm and sedate, but it was the same "Jerry" who took the bacon right away from some highly touted opponents on the basketball courts. And then there was "Bucky" Tiers of the T. U. O. gang, and quite a few others.

Going back to track again we think that this man Ferguson did an excellent job for the Delts. Comparatively unknown material he stepped out in the 220 yard dash and was a good three yards ahead of his nearest competitor at the finish. When we look over the field and see that he ran with such men as McCall and Sweeney he deserves an extra big hand.

Merriman To Seek Position In High School

Honor Student And Athletic Star Plans To Teach And Coach Next Year

Among those to receive their "sheepskins" at Commencement will be Samuel J. Merriman. Coming to Westminster from Turtle Creek Union High where he excelled in football and track for four years, Merriman has been active in the athletic and social activities of the school.

Immediately after graduating from Turtle Creek in 1927 he entered Detroit University, where he was a star member of the varsity football team until a serious leg injury necessitated his withdrawal from school. In 1929 he matriculated at Westminster and played football under the tutelage of "Dike" Beede.

During '30 and '31 he was employed by the Westinghouse Electric & Mfg. Co. where he was engaged in cost reduction work. Credits obtained through night school work at the University of Pittsburgh enabled him to complete his college course this year at Westminster.

Merriman has been an outstanding student in the business course offered by the college. His consistent work has won him the honor of ranking fourth in the graduating class, while he set up a mark of 68 honor points last semester for students in other departments to shoot at. A notable achievement was his placing second in the State in the Economics section of the recent Carnegie examinations.

After graduation in June, Merriman plans to teach and coach. With his excellent record as a student and an athlete, he will be a worthy addition to any high school teaching staff.

College Sports End On June 2

College sports will take their last breath (so to speak) on June 2 when the contest sponsored by the Y. M. and Y. W. will attract students interested in tennis, mushball or volleyball.

Volleyball Tournament Won By Delta Phi Sigma Team

SENIOR

Newton Will Graduate In Class Of '33

Basketball Star To Be Lost By Graduation; Championship Player

Gerald Newton, star forward and co-captain of the varsity basketball team, will receive his diploma this June. Newton has been one of the outstanding members of his class during the past four years and was elected president during his sophomore and junior semesters.

During his freshman year he joined the varsity basketball squad and was a substitute forward on the two great Titan teams of '29 and '30. In his first year he became a varsity first-stringer and was one of the leading scorers of that championship team. Newton was one of the few men of average height who was capable of playing on a team noted for its towering players.

Newton is an active member in the Delta Phi Sigma social fraternity, and the Delta Nubla honorary mathematical fraternity. In the latter he was elected president during the sophomore year. He has been a member of the Student Council and has taken an active part in student government.

After graduation Newton expects to teach and coach. Majoring in mathematics he will graduate with a Bachelor of Art degree. With a solid foundation of the elements of good basketball from such a teacher as Coach Lawther, Newton should be an asset to any high school teaching staff.

Twenty Girls Take Part In Ball Game

Freshman Girls Win From Sophomores In Baseball Game

The freshman girls defeated the sophomores 21-12 in a championship baseball game played on the hockey field, Thursday, May 18.

Lola Sewall and Martha Byers, sophomores, in the first inning scored the only two home runs of the game. At the end of the first, the score was even; but the freshman scored in the second and third to take the lead 20-6.

After the four and a half innings that decided the score, Eleanor Richards, Mildred Ralston, Helen Simons, Deborah Teas, and Mary Ellen Morrow had three runs to their credit; Virginia Rumbaugh, McClees Murray, Martha Byers, and Pat Jones, two runs.

T.U.O. Fraternity Won Mushball Tournament; Victorious In Tennis Matches

Campbell Plays Well In Matches

Yesterday brought to a close all intra-mural matches and tournaments of the school year. During the recent spring sports more than 200 men of the college were active in at least one of the three sports, and many were active in all three.

In the volleyball loop we find the Delts once again taking the 8 events with only one loss. The T. U. O. placed a close second with 5 wins to three losses. The victory this spring gave the Delts their fourth consecutive tournament during the past two years. With such stars as Southard, Hunneke, Kennedy, Arrowsmith and Bennet, they were able to come out on the winning side.

T. U. O. Has Advantage

Mushball was quite a different story. The T. U. O. proved just a little too good for the other teams in the loop and were an easy two games ahead of their nearest competitor, the Delts. With only one defeat they had a two game advantage over the Delts, and a three game advantage over the Kaps.

Sweeney was the leading factor in the final results for the T's. With splendid control and plenty of speed he was able to keep the hitting average of the opposing batters at a rather low figure. However it takes more than one man to win any ball game and Sweeney depended largely upon the support of Campbell, McCall, Brunt, Ketterer, and Allshouse. With such team-mates it was pretty much a T. U. O. victory from the start. The Kaps were the only opponents capable of delaying the winning streak. Their victory kept the T's from having a perfect record.

Tennis Won By "T's"

Tennis was just another match in which the T. U. O. could give lessons in how the game should be played. Campbell and Tiers, both members of the former varsity tennis squad, were just a little to expert for their opponents. In the first game of the tournament they both got off to a fast start; taking Dishong and Johnson of the Delts easily. In the "B" loop Kelso and Bowen led their fraternity to another victory. With three wins and no losses they completed the tournament with a one game advantage over the Delts.

Tennis representatives from both the Kaps and the Phis played a fast and clever game of tennis, but the smooth clicking "T" teams proved just a little superior.

Jack Hulme was largely responsible for the success of the intra-mural and interfraternity loops. He was able to keep the games running smoothly and the players interested, and this in itself would insure the successfulness of any sport program. In the past the college did not give the emphasis to intra-mural sports that it did this year. The fraternities were rather negligent about their schedule and it was almost impossible to plan for any extensive sport program for this reason. During the past season the fraternities have all taken an active interest in the sports as something that is for their benefit and the fact that more than 179 different contests were conducted proves the new regime of intra-mural and interfraternity games.

The Bible in College Curricula

All students at Westminster College are familiar with the fact that Bible courses form part of the required college curriculum. Most students know that similar Bible courses are given, and usually required, by practically all church-controlled colleges. But many students do not realize the large and growing place that Bible courses and courses on Religion have in the curricula of independent colleges and of such great Universities as Chicago and Columbia. Perhaps some students have thought that Bible courses were a mere survival of that more religious age when churches and church people founded colleges with the primary purpose of training an educated ministry for the church. Having this idea, they think that Bible courses should only be required of pre-seminary students and not of the large proportion of students in the modern college that purpose entering other than the ministerial vocation. Students who think thus are likely to resent Bible courses as out-moded and out-of-date.

A few seem to think that the Bible is kept in college curricula to win for the colleges the friendship and financial support of religious people. These students tend to resent having their courses of study determined by institutional financial considerations. Since these mistaken views lead to wrong attitudes, it would seem desirable that there should be more information concerning the purpose and place of the Bible in college curricula. It would also seem that students should know that instead of Bible courses being a slowly fading out remnant of an out-of-date curriculum they are in fact being put into their courses of study by an ever-increasing number of institutions of higher education because of an increasing appreciation of the educational value of Bible study courses.

This leads at once to questions concerning the nature and purpose of education and to questions concerning the educational value of Bible courses. A student whose conception of a college education is that it consists in the completion of a course of study, the shorter the better, which will give him a card of entrance into his chosen profession and supply him with the absolutely necessary tools of that profession, is very likely to take an impatient attitude toward the requiring of any courses that are not entirely devoted to the supplying of those necessary tools. If such a student happens to be specializing in science, he is likely to be impatient with required courses in language, history and philosophy. If his specialty happens to be language, he is likely to think he does not need mathematics or history or science. If his specialty is business, he is likely to wish to limit his course to such studies as Economics, Accounting, Advertising, Marketing and the like and to have little use for sciences, languages, history or philosophy. It is from students with such conceptions of education and with selfish and mercenary motives that one is likely to hear complaints of having to take a good bit of Bible to get a little bit of science or business. But if the purpose of education includes not only the giving of a card of entrance to a profession and the supplying of the tools of the profession but also, and more primarily, the broadening and deepening and refining and ennobling of life, the imparting of truer value-judgments and higher ideals both for the individual and for society, the development of social responsibility and the attainment of the wisdom and power needed for true living, then Bible courses are among the most valuable and worthwhile. This book of books contains much of the world's finest and most influential literature, much of the world's most instructive and significant history, many of the world's most worth knowing biographies. It contains the world's profoundest and truest philosophy and its noblest ethic. In its religion it gives meaning, unity and significance to life. It reveals the way of life. If education is for nobler living, then no study is more significant or valuable than the study of the Bible, the Book of Life.

"You and I" To Be Given At Community House By Little Theatre

Second Performance Of Phillip
Barry's Comedy Is Scheduled

Phillip Barry's comedy, "You and I," will be produced by the Westminster Little Theatre this evening at 8:30 in the Community House. The play is under the direction of Professor A. T. Cordray.

The cast for the play includes: Robert Hoose, New Castle, as Maitland White; Virginia McCown, Pittsburgh as Nancy; John Hodge, New Castle, as Roderick; Jane Holland, Bellevue, as Veronicas Dane; Mary Carlton Wright, Youngstown, O., as Etta, the maid; Orville Dawson, Ford City, as Geoffrey Nichols; and Edwin Swartz, Hickory, as G. T. Warren.

The play is a comedy in three acts. Maitland White is not content, because his ambition is to become a painter. His heart is set upon his boy becoming a great architect, but Roderick falls in love with Veronica, and announces his intention of marrying her, and seeking a job. The father is grieved, and his wife induces him to retire and forget his troubles in the pursuit of art. He does so and produces a picture; but investments fail, and he is threatened with ruin. Veronica breaks her engagement with Roderick in order that he may study just when there is not money to pay for it. . . . The decision between the attitude of "I, I, I, and my work" and the "You and I" of marriage is finally solved in a satisfactory way for the elder White and his son.

SELF CONFIDENCE

"I Love to hear the grad-uate
In no uncertain accents state
The problems which, vex poor and rich,
And how to make them lighter."

Youth steps out, with confidence manifest in every move. Confidence born of lack of contact with life's struggles is perhaps a good thing. At least, such confidence has no lost fights to cow it. It has only the world before it, with opportunity for success and achievement.

Even the most confirmed pessimist should not spoil commencement by pointing out that life will prove to be unjust at times, that not always will the best man win, that envy and jealousy will show their heads instead of thanks and congratulations and commendations when one achieves. It would be cruel to point out the disappointments, discouragements, disillusionments of life. For these young people have been living for four years in a land of milk and honey. They have not yet sent spies into the new land. They are confident that milk and honey await them in that new land of the future.

God speed and bon voyage, class of 1933. Keep that optimism and faith and confidence. Battle the world with it. Do not listen to the torpid livered pessimists. Carry on!

WHAT IS AN ALUMNUS

A good alumnus is a perfectly devoted son or daughter of a good mother. Granted that Westminster, alma mater, is a good mother, what is meant by devotion?

First, it does not mean nagging, fault-finding, attempts at domination. Only the smallest man in the world would attempt so to treat his mother, and only the little men of any alumni body attempt to "run the college."

Second, it does not mean living only in the past. The most devoted son does not want to remain childish all his life. What he did as a boy may have been interesting to him then, but is perhaps boring to others now. The "good old days" of the college are, strangely enough, next year, the year afterward, and three years from now.

Third, it does not mean forgetfulness. No person has ever been foolish enough to try to figure out in dollars and cents what a man owes his mother. Perhaps but few alumni will ever pay back to a college what they owe in money. That they have paid only one-third of what it costs for their education, they should know. They may pay back the other two-thirds in a number of ways. They may send students to the college, students who can pay their tuition and fees. They can be proud of the college, which often has to stretch its conscience a bit to be proud of all that alumni do. They can work for the college and pray for it.

Fourth, it does not mean playing politics. Colleges are not successful if used as political footballs by alumni. And alumni in some colleges know what is meant by this. The college should be free from the narrow bickerings of ambitious groups, whose one objective is advancement of self rather than of the institution.

THE YEARBOOK

Editors, business managers, and staff members of the Argo are to be congratulated on the novel yearbook which made its appearance on the campus last week. The book, modern in every respect, was edited and published at a lower cost than in former years. Fraternities and sororities did not have to pay a $25 assessment. Freshmen and sophomores did not each have to contribute 50 cents. The book cost less, and certain features had to be cut down. Despite this, it is an excellent book.

When the National Scholastic Press Association judges the yearbooks of the country in July, it is possible that the Argo will win All-American, first prize, for the sixth year in succession. Editor McMinn and his staff should be proud of their publication.

THE BAND UNIFORMS

Westminster's student band, directed by Professor Donald Cameron, plays for the commencement procession and recession on Monday. Alumni will be pleased to note the snappy uniforms worn by the band. These were made possible through a donation of a member of the board of trustees.

Caps and trousers were purchased. Coats are needed. Perhaps some alumnus, noting the climb in Bethlehem Steel, Pfd., and liking the music provided by the student organization, will be interested in purchasing coats for the outfit. By fall, coats will be needed. And the band deserves complete uniforms. An excellent start has been made. The band makes the best appearance a Westminster organization of its kind has ever made. Who is interested?

BIG MEN AND LITTLE

Senior graduating from a liberal arts college in a free state will do well to read Everett Dean Martin's "Liberty". It should serve as a sort of handbook for life in the great world of careers, professions, and varied callings. It should be an aid to every cultured person in understanding the static caused by the many uncivilized, uncultured, unlearned people with whom intelligent people must associate in every walk of life.

Indicating as it does that many who are incapable, mentally unfit, and socially unadjusted, try to offset their inferiority complexes with bluster and noise and grandstanding, it says this:

Small men are prone to turn their loves into proprietorships, and their cherished ideals into weapons for the coercion of others. For little minded men are opinionated. The ignorant man always believes he is right; the educated man seldom. The less a man has in him, the more in-temperate he becomes in the vindication of the right.

"Be not deceived: folly may be enhanced by the sacrifice of wisdom, but the foolish are never served thereby. They may gain in power until they rule mankind, but they will never be saved from themselves.

"I do not believe that it is single-hearted love of righteousness so much as love of power which is the underlying motive. The testimony of wiser men has no effect on their minds.

"Crowds think almost entirely in terms of propaganda. Very seldom does truth come to them clean. Popular propaganda supports us in our conceit and in our prejudices, and we like it. It frees us from the necessity of thinking for ourselves. But it lays us open to tremendous insincerity. It was once said 'Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free.' But the truth that comes to crowds is a tainted thing.

"Not only is the crowd opinionated and credulous of misrepresentations, but it is intensely factious. A faction is a group of people who act without regard for the results of their behaviour on others."

It is in the reading of such books that the individual comes to know that truth which alone will set him free.

CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATIONS

Westminster's two Christian Associations: Y.W.C.A. and Y.M.C.A. have been two of the most active organizations on the campus during the past year. Emphasizing the spiritual side of life, they have held regular meetings on Wednesday evenings, have sent out gospel teams, have participated in special chapel services, have sponsored the outdoor vesper service for seniors, and have been a moral and spiritual influence.

Not forgetting the other phases of life, they have sponsored the May queen crowning, intra-mural athletics, picnics, the "Who's Who", the freshman handbook, the "big sister" and "big brother" movements to help freshmen, and many other worthy enterprises.

More than ever before, these two organizations have been valuable to the campus. Carry on, Christian Associations!

Westminster Graduate and Board Member Is Highly Honored

William Wilson Campbell, president of the National Builders Supply Association and of the local lumber company, has been made a doctor of laws by Sterling College, Kansas. The honorary degree was conferred on him this week at the commencement exercises.

Mr. Campbell, a graduate of Westminster with the class of 1890, received the bachelor of music degree from the college in 1891, and the master of arts degree in 1909. He was director of the Westminster conservatory for a number of years, and is now a member of the board of trustees of the college.

Mr. Campbell has been a national figure in the construction industry, and is a recognized authority in this field. In addition to his position as president of the Retail Dealers of Building Materials of the United States, which organization covers some 30,000 firms, he has been associated with government commissions.

He was selected by President Hoover, in November, 1930, as a member of the executive committee of the President's Conference on Construction, the President's Conference on Home Building and Home Ownership, and as a member of the finance committee of the conference held in Washington.

He is also widely known as a professor of music, and directs a number of musical organizations as well as teaching private classes.

It was in recognition of distinctive service to the construction industry at large, and the valuable service he rendered Sterling College three years ago in its campaign for $350,000 additional endowment, that the board of trustees of Sterling chose to honor him with the LL.D. degree.

CLASS OF 1933 WILL RESTORE OLD SUN DIAL

The old sun dial which, for many years adorned the Market street campus, will be restored by gift of the senior class.

The dial will be placed on the South Campus near the Tower. Under direction of Professor Harold Brennan, a cut stone pillar for the dial is being built.

When completed, the dial will bear some suitable inscription, and will probably be a favorite meeting place for students.

EXHIBIT OF ART WORK IS DISPLAYED IN TOWER

Students in fine arts classes at Westminster have an exhibit of drawings, paintings, and leather work in the Tower room, Old Main Memorial. Alumni are invited to inspect the exhibit.

ATHLETIC COUNCIL HAS

An important meeting of the Athletic Council is called for Monday morning at 9 o'clock in the gymnasium. Alumni, board, and faculty representatives are urged to be present.

PERSONAL PIFFLE:

Baker scored 46 in one objective test. Hasn't she heard of the 47 Workshop at Yale? Baker's 47, it is. You're shy a point, Jane.

Then there was the senior who flunked his major subject five days before time for graduation.

And the lads who studied last year's accounting test, only to score very low anyway.

Brownlee is back on the campus. Nall down the weights, lads, he's a hammer thrower.

Hamas is sick, or he, too, would be back to send a few brothers a set of books, a laundry kit of bricks, or some second-hand watermelon rinds.

Their iter is only tellin you what he was asked to print some time next year, but the news is too good to keep. The Ethics of Journalism are scattered to the four winds.

A certain little Browne Hall lassie and a certain big Delt basketeer will announce their engagement next Fall. Won't yuh, Dottie?

Melodious discords, offered by the Browne Hall trio every day near the Journalism classroom are appreciated about as much by the students as the "critters" necessary for admission to the Rho Omega Chi group. "The best part of the program is the silence between numbers", says the Man on the Car.

So long for the summer months. Your pal, Olga will be sadder but Olga when the fall days arrive.

Senior Dance May 20
Is Successful Affair

Saturday evening brought to a close a successful round of social events for the senior class when the annual senior dance was held in the college gymnasium from 8 until 11:50 o'clock.

The gymnasium was beautifully decorated with a color scheme of blue and white. Dan Pertoff's orchestra from Pittsburgh furnished the music.

Chaperones for the occasion were: Dean Mary E. Turner, Dr. and Mrs. E. B. Russell, and Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Patton.

Marshall Leaves
For Year of Study
At Manchester

Professor Leon Marshall of the history department of Westminster, left Thursday to sail from New York for England where he will take graduate work at Manchester University all next year.

LEON S. MARSHALL

Marshall was selected from candidates from all over the United States for the scholarship offered by the English Speaking Union. He will study the early industrial city at Manchester University, having been given a year's leave of absence by Westminster.

Marshall came to Westminster from the University of Pittsburgh two years ago. He was educated at the College of Emporia, University of Colorado, and University of Pittsburgh.

Men students who passed are: William Staples, Butler; James Jacobsen, Girard; Alfred Andrews, Freeport, N. Y.; Walter Young, Freeport, N. Y.; Thomas Rogers, New Wilmington; Bruce Bower, McKeesport; Charles Parmer, Sharon; Donald Garrett, Pulaski; Joseph Wallace, Pulaski; James Watt, Struthers, O.; Melvin Moorhouse, New Bedford; and Frank Holliday, New Castle.

Women students who passed include: Phyllis Mitchell, Risely, N. J.; Fern Fox, Wilmerding; Elizabeth McCrory, Cambridge, O.; Katharine Parrish, Pittsburgh; Mary Carlton Wright, Youngstown, O.; Comfort Spelman, Kent, O.; Dorothy Johnstone, Munhall; Lucille Nevin, Monongahela; Katherine Goedel, Homestead; Mary Louise Patterson, Monongahela; Ethel Sanderson, Oakdale; Altha McCartney, Edgewood; Mary Catherine Patterson, New Castle.

Hulme claims that Lucille Nevin, Monongahela, is an excellent prospect for speed swimming. She has the buoyancy, speed, and strength for speed swimming, Hulme believes, and with training can be developed into an outstanding star. Hulme believes that Miss Nevin has the most promise of any woman swimmer since Dorothy Stunkard, now swimming instructor at Temple University, was at Westminster.

Christian Associations Honor Graduating Class With Program

Honoring the members of the senior class, the Westminster Y.W.C.A. and Y.M.C.A. yesterday held a sports day program, vespers service, and picnic supper on the athletic field.

Tennis, mushball, volleyball, and outdoor swimming in the Community pool took up the afternoon, with a mushball game between faculty and students, which ended with a 21-10 victory for the students featuring. Following the picnic dinner, Rev. James Guthrie, pastor of the Eastbrook United Presbyterian Church, and a graduate of Westminster with the class of 1929, spoke at the vespers service.

Committee chairmen in charge of the affair included: Jack Gerstner, Philadelphia, general chairman; Evelyn Judson, Rural Valley, associate chairman; vespers chairman, Matthew Gilliland.

Two Men Place In Conference Track Meet

Westminster Titans Garner Four Points In Tri-State Track Meet

The annual Tri-State Conference track meet was held at Beaver Falls again this year, last Tuesday, Memorial day. Geneva easily won the meet by rolling up 100½ points. Waynesburg finished second with 54½ points, Grove City had 25 points. Westminster scored 4 points and Thiel 1½ points. The three leading teams had been practicing and holding meets all spring and this advantage undoubtedly gave them superiority. Westminster and Thiel sent their stars to the meet instead of a whole team.

Burry, Ferguson, and Patt represented Westminster at the meet. Burry, experienced distance runner came in second in the mile run. Ferguson, a man who had never ran track before but showed up well in the intra-mural track meets, took fourth in the 220. Patt, who is a weight man, entered the Discus throw but having had no practice this year he did not place.

FACULTY MEMBERS WILL TAKE GRADUATE WORK

A number of faculty members will take graduate work this summer. Mrs. Mary C. McConagha will study at Columbia University. Foster Stulen will study at University of Chicago. Miss Pearl Hoagland will be at the University of Iowa. Professor Leon Marshall will be at Manchester, England. Mrs. McConagha completes her work for the M.A. degree at Columbia.

TITAN ANTICS

A grand and glorious feeling... isn't it? We are referring to the quite obvious joys of a three month vacation. Three full months before the worries of tests bother us again... and the pleasure of those extra hours of sleep in the morning are not to be sneezed at either. After nine months of "eight o'clocks" it will be gratifying to toss the good ol' Big Ben out the window.

But when we are digressing... Sports and near sports is our field of chatter... but a three month vacation demands a couple of column inches in any column... To get back to sports we find that finals did not seem to interfere with the sport activities of the students. The tennis courts seem to be more in demand than ever. Mushball and volleyball still hold the spotlight, as two of the most popular forms of entertainment and exercise.

Referring to mushball... the T. U. O's certainly proved their mastery of that sport. With Sweeney at the mound they proved themselves superior to the other fraternity teams, and came within one game of a perfect season. Going on through the sport records for this year we see that the T. U. O's must have some good tennis players. In both the "A" and "B" leagues they had an undefeated season. Out of the five major intra-mural sports sponsored by the college this spring the T. U. O's won three... not a bad record... what?

We suppose that Siljander and Rehfs will be dashing off to their life saving jobs, now that school has drawn to a close. We envy them for that attractive coat of tan that will come with the summer days. Then too there is that attractive and romantic tradition that seems to be a part of life saving. Wonder what it feels like to have a fair young miss (even though she is half drowned) say, "My hero!"? Bet a lemon bierd that they don't take it with a grain of salt... but then neither would we.

By the time most of us are beginning to think of getting ready to come back to school there will be a group of thirty or forty men students roaming around the town. They are the athletes who will carry the blue and white to victory in the not so far distant football season. For two full weeks before school opens they will be in football training camp... and that is where football players are either made or broken. There is no thrill of the crowd, no cheers from the spectators... but there's something about the touch of that pigskin that will make them go on and on.

It's been a lot of fun for the writer of this column to make the feeble little comments on sports, during the past, that you have been reading... or haven't been reading... at least we have not been "taken for a ride" as yet and considering that we are quite a ways from school at this time... we don't expect to get "bumped off" in the near future. The ribbon on this machine is getting quite frayed and the column is beginning to look that way... so... auf wiedersehen.

Three Athletes are Three Letter Men at Westminster

Seven Three-Sports Stars In Tri-State Conference Colleges

The distinction of winning varsity letters in three sports is held by only seven athletes in Tri-State Conference colleges. Since Conference schools emphasize football, basketball, track, and tennis, a man must be active the entire college year in order to qualify for three letters.

Harter, Thiel's versatile athlete, has won letters in basketball, track, and tennis at the Lutheran school. Harter is a graduate of Greenville high school.

Cliff Aultman, one of the outstanding stars of the district, and Geneva's ace in basketball and football, has won letters for his grid and court playing, and is also one of the best pole vaulters in the district. Aultman hails from Akron, O.

Grove City's duo of three-sport stars includes Michael Koma, Struthers, O.; and John Soich, Clairton. Koma has won letters in football, basketball, and track.

Westminster has three athletes who have won awards in three different sports. They are: Harry Brownlee, Lock Haven; Mauno Siljander, Pittsburgh; and Ray Sweeney, Youngstown, O. Brownlee, who graduates on June 5, has four basketball letters, four track letters, and one football letter. Sweeney and Siljander have also won letters in football, basketball, and track.

Two-sports stars in Conference schools are numerous. Thiel has five; Waynesburg, two; Geneva, two; Bethany, five; and Westminster, three.

Pete Leyshock, Farrell, has won football and basketball letters at Westminster. Henry Hunneke, Baldwin, L. I., has also won letters in football and basketball. Glen Rehfs, Sandusky, O., has won letters in football and track.

Waynesburg's two stars are Currie, football and basketball star from Monessen; and Mancuso, football and basketball star from Waynesburg.

At Thiel, Abrahams, Geneva, N. Y.; Strimer, Parkersburg, W. Va.; Snyder, Aspinwall; Lowther, East Brady, have each won letters in football and basketball. Steltzer, Rimersburg, has won letters in football and wrestling.

Art Graham, Akron, O.; and Walt Manning, Canonsburg, are Geneva's two-sport stars. Graham has qualified in basketball and football; and Manning has won letters in basketball and tennis.

Bethany's three athletes who have won awards in two sports includes Paul Bruhn, Wheeling, track and basketball; Dan Dopko, Plymouth, football and basketball; and William Zimmerman, Connellsville, football and track.

Bethany will lose Bruhn, Guskovich, Lewis, and Dopko by graduation this spring. Grove City will lose Critchfield, Koma, Fegley, and Shupe. Geneva stars to graduate are Cooper, Howell, Manning, and McKee. Waynesburg loses Wiley, Avery, and Ufema. Thiel will be without the services of Lowther, Schemick, Harter, and Steltzer. Westminster loses Rehfs, Brownlee, Hamas, Brown, Newton, and loses Siljander to the track and court teams, although he will play football.

Stunkard Will Be Life Saver For Red Cross

Entered In Marathon Swim At Orchard Park, N. Y.

Dorothy Stunkard, former graduate of Westminster, has been appointed to the faculty of the American Red Cross Lifesaving Institute at its New York Chapter for the coming summer.

Miss Stunkard was active in athletics while she was in college and passed her lifesaving test under Jack Hulme. She will swim at Green Lake beach, Orchard Park, N. Y., in a professional swimming marathon from June 11 to 18. She has also entered in the 1933 Canadian distance swim at Toronto, late in August.

MAUNO SILJANDER

Westminster Athletes Will Have Life-Guard Jobs During Summer

Life-guard jobs will hold the attention of Westminster students and alumni when the hot days of July and August roll around. Many of the aquatic stars will charm the female sex in New York pools, while others will flash through the water in Pennsylvania and Ohio.

John Brown will develop a coat of tan at the Blue Dell pool; McKeesport, Pa. Glen Rehfs will have charge in his home town of Sandusky, Ohio. Mauno "Whitey" Siljander's white hair will be bleached whiter at the Pittsburgh city pool. James Watt will be in charge at Castle Beach, New Castle, Pa., and Glenn Shaffer is the New Wilmington pool life guard. George Hollander, Alfred Andrews, Walter Young, and Dave Wallace will all be in charge of New York pools.

All of these men are good swimmers and passed the Red Cross Life Saving Tests under Jack Hulme.

Newton Honored With Conference Athletic Award

Titan Basketball Star Given Award For Scholarship And Athletic Ability

Gerald Newton, New Wilmington, star forward on Westminster basketball teams, was presented with the Tri-State Conference gold medal offered to the athletes who is best as a student in the graduating class. Newton, who will receive the bachelor of arts degree at the commencement exercises Monday, was selected for the Conference award by the college faculty.

A member of Delta Phi Sigma fraternity, Newton has been on the Titan floor squad for the last four years, starting during the last two seasons at forward. He has been president of his class, a member of the yearbook staff, a member of intra-mural sports teams, a member of the honorary mathematics fraternity, and a member of student governing bodies and committees.

Newton, who spent a month as a cadet teacher in mathematics in the Benjamin Franklin junior high school, New Castle, plans to teach and coach next year.

Westminster Spring Intra-mural Games Attract Large Crowd of Students

Sports contests at Westminster are about over for another year. The last events, sponsored by the Y.M.C.A. and the Y.W.C.A. took place yesterday, including tennis, mushball, and volleyball events.

The regular intra-mural sports program for men ends this week. The spring program, designed to attract all men students, included two tennis leagues, a mushball league, a volleyball league, a track league, and a relay league. Women students have been competing in inter-class baseball.

Honors in the various leagues are shared by Theta Upsilon Omega and Delta Phi Sigma fraternities. Theta Upsilon Omega won the inter-fraternity track meet and the inter-fraternity mushball league title. The Theta Upsilon Omega team also captured both the "A" and the "B" league tennis titles. Delta Phi Sigma won the inter-fraternity half mile relay, and won the inter-fraternity volleyball championship.

In the track meet, T.U.O. scored 37 points to 35½ by Delta Phi Sigma. In the mushball league, T.U.O. won nine games and lost one. Delta Phi Sigma was second with seven victories and three defeats.

In the volleyball league, Delta Phi Sigma won seven and lost one. T.U.O. was second with five victories and three defeats. In the "A" tennis tournament, T.U.O. won three and lost none, while Delta Phi Sigma was tied with Phi Phi for second with one victory and two defeats. In the "B" tennis tournament, T.U.O. won three and lost none, while Delta Phi Sigma was second with two wins and one loss.

One hundred and thirty-five different men students participated in the various leagues this spring, and 52 competed in the track meets. During the entire year, Jack Hulme, director of intra-mural sports, has had 297 of the 319 men in college competing in one or more sports.

Sixty-seven men took part in varsity sports program, 46 students acted as officials for various sports contests, and almost 200 participated in horseshoes, basketball, inter-class football, fall volleyball and spring volleyball; tennis, track, and mushball.

Hulme, director of the gymnasium since 1926, has as his student assistants in this large program Glen Rehfs, Sandusky, O.; John Brown, East McKeesport; and Alan Van Harper, Zellenople.

FACULTY-STUDENT MUSHBALL GAME DRAWS BIG CROWD

The Faculty-Student Mushball game was the big feature of the Y. M. and Y.W. Field Program yesterday.

McCuskey, who was pitcher on the Amherst College baseball team, pitched for the faculty. Black at first base figured by analytics his chances of catching a ball and by Calculus the curvature of balls coming toward him. Cameron fiddled around out in the field egging his teammates on. Brennan took the artists point of view and let the ball brush past him once in awhile. Hulme took double exercise as his shadow, John Brown, was with the Teachers. Stulen played a nice game on third base and Graham punned so much in short field that he nearly laughed his opponents out of the game. Orr added dignity to the team through his position as coach and Euwema nearly pulled his team through by his umpiring.

The lineup for the mushball game:

Faculty	Students
Brown	S.S.	McClure
Graham	S.F.	Neeley
Jones	R.F.	Luderer
Black	1B.	Sowash
Hulme	2B.	Dawson
Stulen	3B.	H. Kennedy

Holcad Inspires Former Student In Far-Off Cebu

Tells Of Amusements Which Philippines Afford Americans

Milo Root, ex-'29, who is now teaching in Cebu Cebu, Philippine Islands, inspired with pleasant memories after reading a recent Holcad, writes of his experiences while in the islands.

He tells of seeing an iguana (three foot lizard) run across the road in the moonlight, of eating a mess of locusts and learning about it later, of dancing in the largest cabaret in the world during Navy shore leave, and of hiking among the head-hunters of the various mountain sections.

On one of these hikes, he and his guide, came upon a little village where the natives had never seen a white man before. They were received cordially by the villagers and given a royal reception. They were served cooked rice in green bamboo poles, which Mr. Root enjoyed very much. In the evening they were entertained by a native welcome dance around a bush fire.

By bribing the natives with tin cans, which they had never seen before, and about fifty cents worth of cheap Chinese thread, needles, mirrors, and cigars, Mr. Root was able to secure some fine snapshots, which he prizes highly.

Mr. Root finds teaching in Cebu, though difficult and exacting, very interesting. Though the heat makes the work monotonous at times, hiking, cock fights, wild pig hunting, and collecting native articles, help to pass the time. American amusements such as movies and dances, which can be found in Cebu, also add considerably to the social life of the colony.

The Bible in College Curricula

All students at Westminster College are familiar with the fact that Bible courses form part of the required college curriculum. Most students know that similar Bible courses are given, and usually required, by practically all church-controlled colleges. But many students do not realize the large and growing place that Bible courses and courses on Religion have in the curricula of independent colleges and of such great Universities as Chicago and Columbia. Perhaps some students have thought that Bible courses were a mere survival of that more religious age when churches and church people founded colleges with the primary purpose of training an educated ministry for the church. Having this idea, they think that Bible courses should only be required of pre-seminary students and not of the large proportion of students in the modern college that purpose entering other than the ministerial vocation. Students who think thus are likely to resent Bible courses as out-moded and out-of-date.

A few seem to think that the Bible is kept in college curricula to win for the colleges the friendship and financial support of religious people. These students tend to resent having their courses of study determined by institutional financial considerations. Since these mistaken views lead to wrong attitudes, it would seem desirable that there should be more information concerning the purpose and place of the Bible in college curricula. It would also seem that students should know that instead of Bible courses being a slowly fading out remnant of an out-of-date curriculum they are in fact being put into their courses of study by an ever-increasing number of institutions of higher education because of an increasing appreciation of the educational value of Bible study courses.

This leads at once to questions concerning the nature and purpose of education and to questions concerning the educational value of Bible courses. A student whose conception of a college education is that it consists in the completion of a course of study, the shorter the better, which will give him a card of entrance into his chosen profession and supply him with the absolutely necessary tools of that profession, is very likely to take an impatient attitude toward the requiring of any courses that are not entirely devoted to the supplying of those necessary tools. If such a student happens to be specializing in science, he is likely to be impatient with required courses in language, history and philosophy. If his specialty happens to be language, he is likely to think he does not need mathematics or history or science. If his specialty is business, he is likely to wish to limit his course to such studies as Economics, Accounting, Advertising, Marketing and the like and to have little use for sciences, languages, history or philosophy. It is from students with such conceptions of education and with selfish and mercenary motives that one is likely to hear complaints of having to take a good bit of Bible to get a little bit of science or business. But if the purpose of education includes not only the giving of a card of entrance to a profession and the supplying of the tools of the profession but also, and more primarily, the broadening and deepening and refining and ennobling of life, the imparting of truer value-judgments and higher ideals both for the individual and for society, the development of social responsibility and the attainment of the wisdom and power needed for true living, then Bible courses are among the most valuable and worthwhile. This book of books contains much of the world's finest and most influential literature, much of the world's most instructive and significant history, many of the world's most worth knowing biographies. It contains the world's profoundest and truest philosophy and its noblest ethic. In its religion it gives meaning, unity and significance to life. It reveals the way of life. If education is for nobler living, then no study is more significant or valuable than the study of the Bible, the Book of Life.

To Dr. Charles Freeman

BY PRESIDENT R. F. GALBREATH

The original idea of a liberal arts college had no place for the physical sciences. However, during the latter part of the 19th century, beginning in the seventies, there was a growing conviction that even a liberal arts college might well make a place for such subjects as chemistry and physics.

Westminster was not behind in giving place to the new idea, and somewhere in the eighties a new department was opened. After Professors Hodgkiss, Swan, and Hopkins had each taken a turn at it, a youth known as Charles Freeman, graduate of Allegheny College, was made instructor.

The years were not easy. Old liberal arts traditions did not quickly give way to the new idea. Obstacles were frequently raised to hamper the progress of the new department. With unflinching tact and splendid patience, Professor Charles Freeman carried on.

Teaching hours were not limited except by the number of hours in the day. Equipment was often scarce and inadequate. Still he did his work and did it well.

That was 39 years ago. Dr. Charles Freeman has not only made a place for his subject in the teaching program of the college. He has also made a place for himself in the hearts of Westminster alumni, students, and friends. For over 20 years he served as dean, listening to student problems, assisting in student discipline, carrying a double load.

Twice he has acted as president pro tem, and each time so conducted the office that the incoming president found a minimum of difficulties.

One year ago Dr. Freeman asked that it be considered his closing year as dean. He was willing to carry a one-man load, but felt that he had done his share of carrying double. The administration and trustees, appreciating the fairness of his request, made arrangements to put the deanship responsibility on other shoulders, leaving Dr. Freeman full time for his chosen work as teacher.

All who have sat under his instruction know his unusual ability in the classroom. A graduate who is now a successful physician stated that in all the long years of preparation for her profession she had no teacher the equal of Dr. Freeman.

May his presence grace and bless his classroom and the life of the whole college for many years to come, is the wish and hope of all.

Fine Spirit Displayed at U. P. Meet

Oved 425 Delegates In Attendance At Missionary Meet

The Annual United Presbyterian missionary conference in progress here for eight days came to an official close Saturday morning after the breakfast hour. The program Friday evening was one of the outstanding features of the entire conference, which attracted 425 delegates from all parts of the tri-state district, western New York and other points. The high point of attendance occurred Sunday, when 3,000 people were in attendance at the various meetings.

Thursday night, one of the big features of the conference was presented. It consisted of the missionary pageant on India entitled "The Fakir of the Luncheon". Taking part in this event were Dr. and Mrs. R. R. Stewart of Gordon college, India; William Minter of New Concord, O.; James Brown of Pittsburgh-Xenia seminary, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Hockman who have just been appointed by the United Presbyterian church as medical missionaries to Ethiopia, and Dr. H. L. Finney of Assiut hospital, Egypt.

Friday, the closing evening, was devoted to hearing short addresses from older missionaries home on furlough, a number of those just assigned to work in the foreign mission fields and others.

One of the most important of these was held at the Carnegie Music Hall, Pittsburgh, where Dr. Galbreath preached at the community services, Sunday August 13.

Another address was given by him when he spoke to the Young People Societies of Sharon at Hillside Vesper services on Sunday August 20.

Two hundred and fifty Rotarians of District 33 gathered at the Penn Grove hotel, Grove City, on August 15, for a banquet and roundup. Golf at the Country Club was the afternoon attraction.

Among the speakers at the evening banquet were Dr. R. F. Galbreath, Attorney Roy Neville of Sharon, former governor of the district, and Dr. L. H. Beeler of Grove City College, new district president.

President Draws Plans to Honor Campus Leaders

Scholarship, Leadership and General Attitude of Student To Be Considered

Outstanding students on the campus may be given cash awards of recognition next Commencement, according to plans now being made by Robert F. Galbreath, president of Westminster. These awards will be made on a basis of leadership, scholarship, and student attitude.

The idea, a dream of Dr. Galbreath's student days, may be materialized, as friends of the college are now being approached about such a plan. Under the nucleus of the plan, as announced by Dr. Galbreath, he will seek to secure cash recognition for exceptional work in every department of the school. Knowing well the student's need of money, rather than medals or mementoes, he is using his efforts to aid those most worthy in every possible way by securing money for their needs.

Local Graduate Elected Head of U. P. Assembly

W. B. Anderson, '94, Elected Moderator At Annual Meeting In Pittsburgh

Rev. Dr. W. B. Anderson, Germantown, Pa., a member of the class of '94, was elected moderator of the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church, at a meeting of that body held during the week of June 28-July 3.

Dr. Anderson, who has served as secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions, gained a spectacular victory after one of the closest elections veteran church leaders could recall. He was chosen on a second ballot after the first separated him and the Rev. Dr. W. P. Aiken, of Omaha, Neb., by one vote. Rev. Aiken was chosen vice-moderator on the second ballot.

After graduating from Westminster college, where he completed his pre-ministerial work, he entered Pittsburgh-Xenia Theological Seminary. He was ordained into the United Presbyterian ministry in 1897, and has served as a missionary in India where he was president of Gordon college.

During the meeting of the General Assembly, Dr. Anderson made a stirring address, using as his subject "The Challenge of Christ for Tomorrow."

Dr. Anderson has gained some eminence as an author in the United Presbyterian World. When he attended Westminster college, Dr. Anderson was prominent in athletics, and gained some note as a sprinter.

The new moderator will succeed Dr. C. S. Cleland, pastor of the Second Church, Philadelphia, Pa.

COLLEGE RECEIVES OLD YEARBOOKS

Copies of the 1907 and 1908 Argo have been donated to the Journalism Department and the Westminster News Bureau, by Jackson A. Martin, a special student in the Education Department of the school last year. Martin, who resides in Sharon, spent his boyhood days in New Wilmington, where his father conducted an apothecary shop.

Among many of the features of the old Argos is a story of the football game between the faculties of Westminster and Grove City Colleges. Stars for the pedagogical Titans were Charles Freeman, quarterback, and John Abram Shott, left guard and captain. Their work was responsible for the Westminster victory. The account of the game has a slight "fishie" sound, but nevertheless, it made a very good story.

Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, president of the school, was a student in those days, having been named as the president of the Senior Class. A. A. McDonald, former graduate manager of athletics, who is now recuperating from an illness of Mercy Hospital, Pittsburgh, was student manager of the grid squad.

The first friend of the college approached about the plan offered an annual cash award of $100 for superior work in the Department of Bible. The donor, J. B. Eichenauer, a member of the Allegheny Bar Association, although a graduate of Washington & Jefferson, desires to see recognition given to worthy students of Westminster.

Other friends of the school will be broached about the plan in order that deserving students in other departments may be so honored.

Education and Psychology, Business, English, Journalism, Music, Science, Foreign and Ancient Languages, and Dramatic awards are among those sought.

Dr. W. A. Womer of New Castle is general chairman of arrangements and he has as his assistants the sub-district presidents: N. E. Clarke, New Castle, M. C. Aul, Kalor; Fred J. Brenner, Sharon; and F. M. Sorg, Forrestville.

The program of sports will begin at 1 p. m. E. S. T.; there will be speaking in the chapel of the college at 5 p. m. and at 6 p. m. a basket picnic dinner will be served. At 8 p. m. there will be an open air service on the athletic field, with Dr. R. F. Galbreath, president of the college, as the speaker.

THE NEW YEAR

The Holcad takes this opportunity of expressing its welcome to the large number of freshmen already enrolled at Westminster for the eighty-second year and also for expressing greetings to the 570 members of the upper classes who are looking forward to the opening of college, to the renewing of acquaintances, to the making of new friendships, and to new accomplishments in knowledge and training. In preparation for a great year, perhaps one of the greatest in the history of Westminster, this special number of the Holcad was published. The Holcad also welcomes Dean Carl E. Rankin to the campus and hereby expresses its cooperation with his office in the furthering of Westminster. With conditions materially improved in all walks of life, and with steady progress in all lines of industry and business, students will, it is hoped, find the college year a happier one; and remembering the sacrifices which have made possible their education, make it a successful one academically.

THE CHURCH COLLEGE

Present conditions have compelled thought on the status of the church college. With meager endowment, even for prosperous times, it has had a difficult time during the strain of the depression. The loss of income on invested funds has made necessary stringent sacrifices by the teaching force and most careful management. In some instances borrowings have had to be made from permanent funds to pay deficits in operating costs. That many church colleges have been able to survive thus far is a tribute to the skill and sacrificial earnestness of those charged with their operation. This situation has served to focus more than the usual amount of attention upon two questions: first, can the church college survive in competition with well equipped and supported state institutions, and, second, is it worth keeping alive?

These questions are closely related and one answer can be given both. It is that the Church can and will keep her colleges alive so long as she regards them as serving a vital end. It is true that the modern tendency is for the State to take an increasing part in higher education, and that its resources enable it to provide better teaching skill and equipment than can be furnished by the church college. If the educational process were purely technical, if it consisted only in furnishing the pupil with specialized knowledge and skill along given lines, then the case of the church college would be in a bad way. If that were the whole of an education then the Church would not be justified in using money needed for kingdom purposes in a hopeless and useless competition. The Church believes that its colleges can do certain important things to better advantage than other schools where the religious influence is indirect rather than direct.

The church college excels in its ability to impart to the student the will to serve. The president of a large university in commenting on modern graduates said that most of them were better trained than any previous generation of students, could discuss intelligently the problems of the day, had an accurate knowledge of the difficulties confronting modern civilization, but were unwilling to do anything about it. The critic charges the current student generation with moral indifference. If his charge be true it is a serious one. Trained and qualified people, who are concerned only with their selfish interests and are disinclined to take a hand with the social burdens of their day, are, to say the least, parasites if not a positive menace. The religious efforts of the progressive church college do not center in forcing denominational tenets of religious dogmas upon its students, but in providing them with the morally invigorating influence of a Christian atmosphere. A definite and most important result is that a majority of the students, who come out of our church colleges, have caught a sense of social responsibility. If it be true that the church college is better qualified than other institutions for producing this result so vital to the welfare of society, then there is abundant justification for the sacrifices the Church is making to support her colleges.

It is clearly recognized that the points of individual contact between teacher and pupil are more numerous in the church college than in larger schools where students are dealt with en masse. The men and women who are teaching in the church college, in addition to technical qualifications, are of high personal character. Some of them out of loyalty to the purpose of the church college are serving there at a financial sacrifice. The student's outlook on life and the set of principles which are going to govern him are more frequently acquired from his instructors than from laboratory or books. One of our most widely read journals stated editorially that the small colleges had produced more than their share of men and women who became leaders in forms of effort having to do with the common good. The Church is dependent on its colleges for the major portion of its ministers, missionaries and active lay workers. The church college does not undertake to compete in the field of highly specialized and technical training, but offers an excellent foundation for such training. Our church colleges, in their superior influence in molding character, are in a class by themselves; and ought to receive serious consideration by young people who are interested in building a life and be heartily supported by the Church at large.—The United Presbyterian.

A DOCTOR IN THE HOUSE?

Commencement has come to you—hundreds of thousands of you; confident, happy, ambitious youth throughout America.

It is adieu to many years spent in majestic halls of learning. It is commencement, as the doors swing open for your matriculation in the great school of experience, through the corridors of the world.

You're stepping out into the mysteries of a great universe, as millions before you have done. It's a world of paradoxes and perplexities; a world whose problems have no "answers in the back of the book" but challenge the ingenuity of each individual anew.

Solving the world's problems is no easy task. Particularly is this true in an era when unbalanced economics has tossed most all the globe into a sea of troubles never before so turbulent. But what we want to impress most is that there is work, great work, to be done in a world where—

The most civilized nation in all history has to its shame first rank among all in the number of mothers it permits to die in childbirth—sacrifices to neglect.

Manufacture of too many clothes brings only nakedness to a great army of the bewildered populace.

Otherwise sane and intelligent citizens will forego the necessities of life that they may have gasoline.

The thug, the thief and the racketeer rule and ruin because nothing, not even catastrophe, can bestir a lethargic public opinion for more than a single moment at a time.

Hardly more than stigma attaches to the name of "pacifist" in a nation where, probably close to 75 per cent of federal expenditures, gouged from the overburdened taxpayer, goes to pay for past and prepare for future wars.

Millions are idle at a time when work to be done is more voluminous than at any other period within the memory of man.

More and more money is being spent for education, while more and more education is being spent only for money.

Everyone is permitted to know that something is wrong and no one is permitted to know a remedy.

Production of too much has brought starvation to thousands.

Clothed in the shroud of gloom, the old world seems nearly ready to surrender, to crawl ignominiously onto the couch of death. And yet, not all hope is gone. The very death-rattle in the throat of a gasping civilization is a call for help—for assistance that can be borne on the enthusiasms and discoveries of Youth. It has been with the New—new ideas and, yes, new ideas.

If the blood is to be vigorously pumped again into the hardened arteries of America and the universe, it is up to you, and you alone. The world is sick, is there a doctor in the house?—Colorado Springs Farm News.

HOLCADABRA

Vacation Notes

"Yowser" McCall is a store-keeper now. It seems as though "Yowser's" pater needed a man to run a general store in Prospect, Pa., and the Westminster student was drafted into service. Melda gets quite a break, too, because Prospect is much nearer Bellevue than Boardman is. Is that correct, Melda?

"Dotty" Stewart told this writer last May that an important announcement pertaining to relations between her and Douglass, our basketball captain could be made during the summer. Does that still stand, Dotty? We will keep quiet until we hear from you.

Then, there is the story about Len Baird making trips to see Stevie as often as he can. That's a case brewin', and is isn't beer, either, we are afraid.

Rumor has it that "Bill" Staples hasn't written a line to a New Kensington gal all summer. That's a fine way to treat "Mid", Willie!

Dean George bumped into the perpetrator of this column the other day in the hall of Old Main. Met his dad, too. A splendid man. Dean will be back with his Patterson house crew of T. U. O. pledges.

"Chuck" Pharmed tried out the theories learned in Prof. Kirkbride's salesmanship class. He tried to sell irons, but the job turned out quite flat for him.

Harriette Gray, the Co-op musician, isn't returning to Westminster, so Dame Rumor has it. She will enter Ohio University in September. That's tuff on us, but does Ohio U. get a break? Ask Granpa Brown! By the way, where is he?

Speaking of co-op residents, we wonder if Mary Stanier has had any more teeth kicked in, if Annabelle Rodda still has the Phi Pi pin, if "Ginny" Booth, that ace high reporter for this "rag" will be back, if Jean Forbes has that "hair-raising" haircut, if Isabel Scheetz will go to debates, if Berdelle Keller will again have her picture taken over a scrub bucket and if Mrs. Dave Ritchie will allow the writer to wreck her Buick again? Great gang!

WORKMEN BUSY ON CAMPUS IMPROVEMENTS

Many Repairs, Improvements Are Made During The Summer

Repairs and improvements on campus and buildings have kept a large group of workmen busy during the summer, H. R. Patton, business manager, announces. The two co-operative lodges for women on Maple street have been completely overhauled, painted, and repaired. Considerable painting has been done in the Science Hall, and a new wiring system and switchboard for the physics department has been installed.

Tree surgeons have been pruning, cabling, and doing cavity work on the campus trees during the last two weeks. Irrigation of the roots of the large elm near the chapel entrance, involving trenching and tiling, is one of the phases of this work. The Maple tree on the South front of Old Main Memorial needs attention, and college officials are eager to have this work done. The cost, between $400 and $500, is not available at this time. In order to insure the life of this large tree for 40 or 50 years, considerable work, including root irrigation, will have to be done in the near future.

A second cooperative lodge group for women, two lodges, have been established by the college on West Nesbannock avenue. A cooperative lodge for men students has also been established. With enrollment figures climbing, other housing facilities may be necessary.

BULLETIN

A future Titan athlete was born August 14, 1933 to Mr. and Mrs. Alan Van Harper, Waterford, Pa. The boy, weighing 8 1/2 pounds has been named Charles Howard. Mother and child are getting along nicely and Mr. Harper has fully recovered.

The last time "Pete" Ley-shock was seen by the writer, he was stealing a ride on the rear of a beer truck, enroute to Farrell. Who's he dating this time? Stoneboro, Youngstown, or points south?

Poor "Hooknose"! Bloker went back to Sandusky, expecting to spend another summer riding carp from Sandusky Bay to Buffalo, but found a job awaiting him. He works the night shift at a paper box factory in the Ohio City. He has to sweat his heart out, if Rolfe doesn't have it by this time, at the straw ovens.

Everytime the writer went to New Wilmington, he saw Bill Neeley on the Phi Pi premises. He has been dressed (?) in white (?) ducks each time, Dick Reniers was with him the other day.

What is the dirt one hears about "Bill" White and "Whitey" Spear? When did they go on a tour of inspection, investigating the bastille of nearby Ohio towns? Enlighten us, please.

Weekend Hangovers

Franklin might be tearing down fences at Mineola Field, New York. Who knows? Klumph, and Dale Galbreath look well in "working clothes"... Pauline Baumgart's father died, according to the info received here, and she may not return. Our sympathy, Pauline... "Little Caesar" Shoaff, all dressed up fit to slay, visited the campus the other day. Didn't know him with all his fine toggery and new car, which will be left in Cleveland, by the way... Jones, Mehl, and Branfield have been camping most of the summer—in their own backyards... Ginny Kerins, editor of the Holcad last year will teach in Farrell this term—She is never at home, either, as we have tried to talk to her often enough—(maybe that's the reason)... Frank Goff is teaching the fish in Lake Erie a few tricks about swimming—splash, splash... Sororities are going to have a circus choosing pledges from this year's Freshman Class, if we aren't mistaken... Nice girls coming to Westminster... Is Helen Drier coming back to school?... No reason for asking that, either, as we never met the girl... maybe we'd like to, tho'... And the printer tells us we have enough copy written to get this paper out now, so we're adding the customary until the eleventh—Ogla.

NEW DEAN

DEAN CARL E. RANKIN

Dean Carl E. Rankin comes to Westminster after an active career in American and foreign schools. His duties are that of registrar and dean, relieving Dr. Charles Freeman and Dr. John A. Swindler of their duties, allowing them to devote their entire time to their chosen teaching fields.

A. J. TENER NAMED SPEECH INSTRUCTOR

Albert J. Tener, Neosho, Missouri, has been appointed instructor in speech for the coming year. Mr. Tener will have charge of work in extemporaneous speaking and debate.

He is a graduate of Park College, and has studied for one year at the University of Chicago law school. Mr. Tener has had extensive experience in debating, having represented both Park College and the University of Chicago in intercollegiate contests. He has appeared in both platform and radio debates.

Fine Numbers Scheduled On Lecture Course

Prof. Ben Euwema Engages Fine Speakers For Schedule

Seven numbers are listed on the Lecture Course for the coming year, according to an announcement by Prof. Ben Euwema, head of the English Department. More numbers may be added later, if additional budget appropriations can be obtained.

The Course, as arranged by Prof. Euwema, is probably the most interesting and diversified booked in recent years. Art, drama, science, crime, and explorations, are among the subjects to be brought to the student body. Headliners on the course schedule include: Sydney Thompson, noted dramatist; Alonzo W. Pond, anthropologist and explorer; and Harry Hibschan, a leading authority on law and its technicalities.

Miss Thompson will open the course program on Tuesday, October 10, in the Community House with a program of costume performances, selected from original plays, medieval ballads and legends, English madrigal verses, and stories from great French and Italian masters.

The next number on the course, scheduled for Monday, Nov. 13, brings Alonzo W. Pond, noted explorer and anthropologist, to the College Chapel. Mr. Pond an associate of Roy Chapman Andrews in his work in the Gobi Desert of Mongolia, will deliver a lecture entitled "The Country of Veiled Men", which will be illustrated with lantern slides.

Gerrit A. Benaker, artist, lecturer and author, will be presented as the third speaker on the lecture course, appearing in the College Chapel on Monday, Dec. 18. His subject for the evening will be "Art in Everyday Life", which will be illustrated with lantern slides.

Science will be discussed by Glenn L. Morris as the first number in the new year, when Mr. Morris will present a program of popular science demonstrations on Tuesday, Feb. 13.

Gloria Hollister, an associate of William Beebe, will be presented to the student body on Thursday, Mar. 15. Miss Hollister will speak on a subject entitled "With Beebe in the Bermudas". Movies and lantern slides will augment her program.

Probably the most famous of all American detectives, Michael Flaherty, will appear here on Monday April 9, addressing the students on his favorite subject, "Faustian Humor and Sombre Tragedy."

The last number on the course as announced will be Harry Hibschan, leading authority on absurd crime and humor of the law. Mr. Hibschan, long a contributor to the better magazines and periodicals of the time, will speak in the College Chapel, Monday, April 20, on "Humor and Quirks of the Law". Mr. Hibschan is especially noted for his designs which were used for the Liberty Loan Posters during the World War. He comes to the school highly recommended and should prove to be one of the most interesting speakers to appear on a Westminster Lecture Course schedule.

NEW TEACHERS CHOSEN IN HISTORY AND MUSIC DEPARTMENTS

James V. Baker will take the post of Professor Leon S. Marshall, instructor in history on leave of absence this year for graduate work at Manchester University, England.

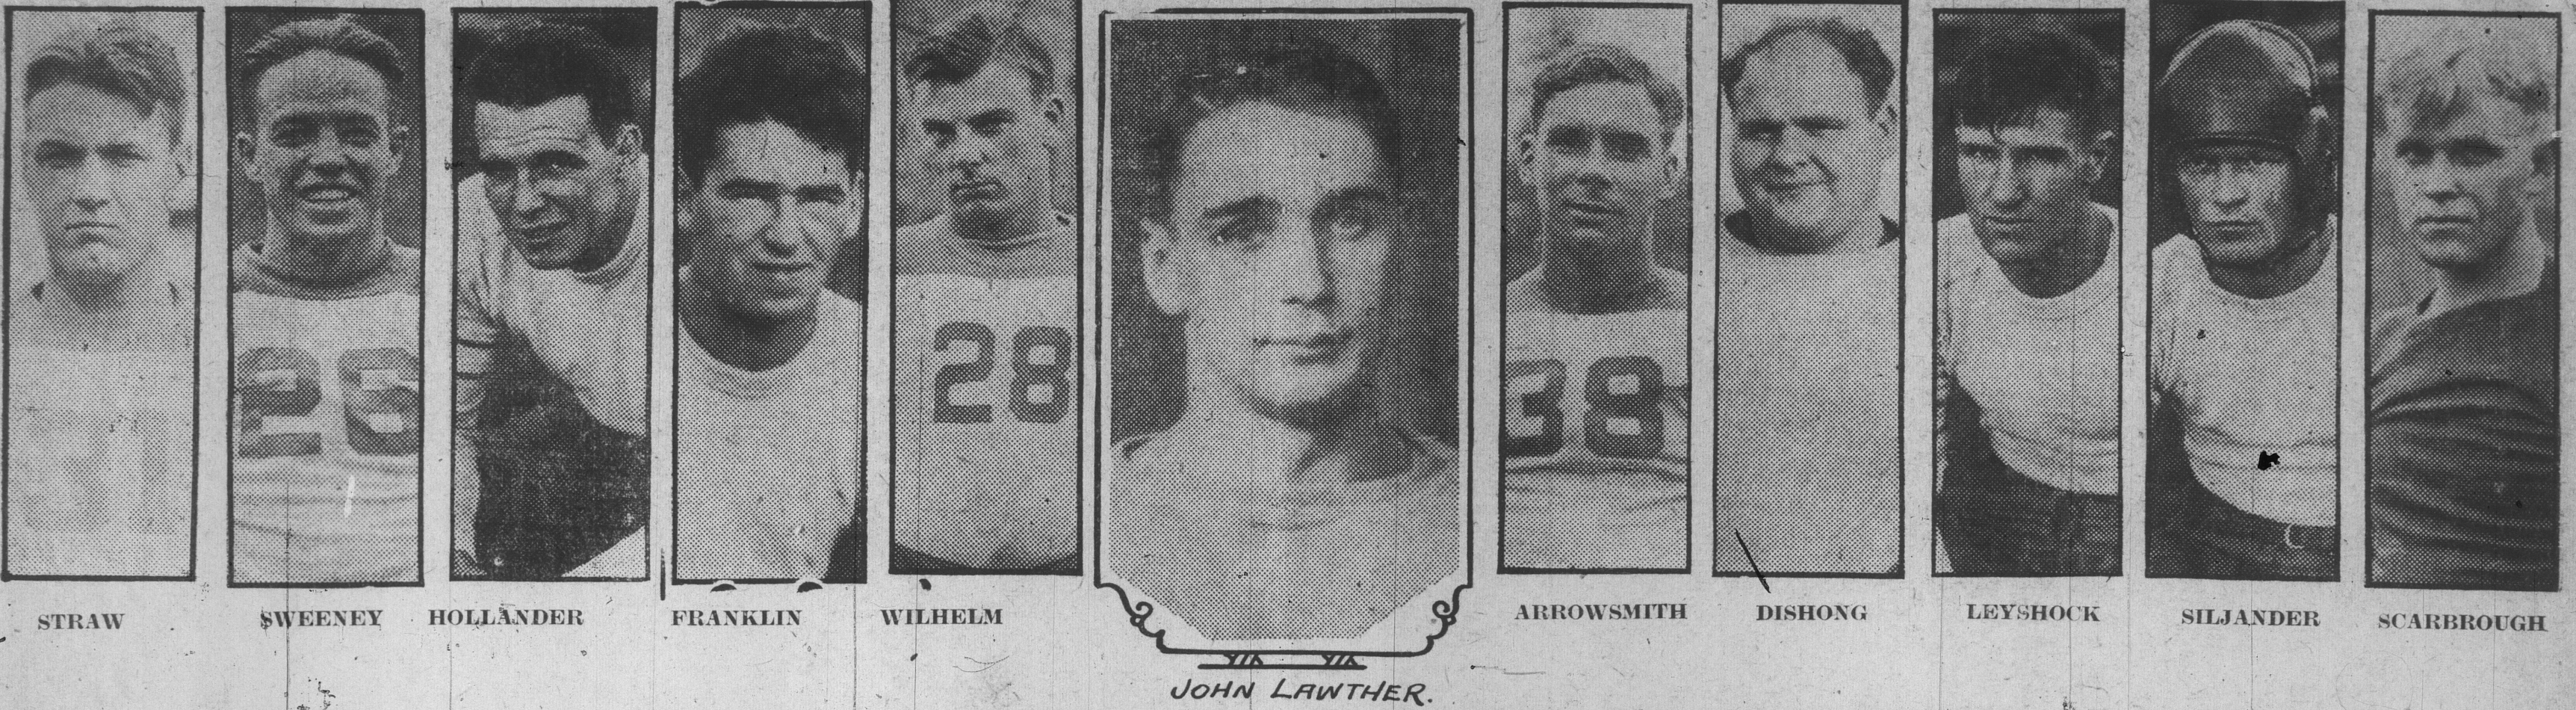

Professor Baker is a graduate of Corpus Christi College, Oxford University, England. He has been an instructor in Edwards College, Peshawar, India; was, for three years, in the service of the Egyptian Ministry of Education; and was an instructor in Marshall College, Huntington, West Virginia.

Professor Baker has his M.A. degree from the University of Pittsburgh, where he has been a graduate student during the last two years. He is a Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society.

Miss Ida Isabel Peabody has been appointed professor in public school music, Alan B. Davis, director of music, announces. Miss Peabody takes the position vacated by the resignation of Miss Florence Thomas.

Miss Peabody was graduated from the Spearfish Normal College, South Dakota, in 1921; received the public school music degree from the University of Kansas in 1927; and receives the degree of master of arts in music education from Columbia University this summer.

Stranahan To Head College Sports Board

Mercer Attorney Is Renamed As Leader of Athletic Council

The athletic council of Westminster at its regular election meeting held in the college gymnasium Friday, August 11, re-elected the officers of last year for the coming year. They are: Attorney James A. Stranahan, Mercer, president; James A. Pitzer, New Wilmington, vice-president; and Professor R. X. Graham, secretary.

The council decided to cut the cost of season books, good for four home games, to $1.80 plus tax; to shift the Grove City game on November 4 to New Castle; to open the fall training camp on September 4. Members in attendance included: Attorney Stranahan, Pitzer, W. C. George, J. D. Lawther, Dr. R. F. Galbreath, H. R. Patton, Dr. William Cleland, Jack Hulme, and R. X. Graham.

WESTMINSTER MAN HONORED AT CHURCH BIRTHDAY; 75th YEAR

Pittsburgh saw fit to honor one of Westminster's favorite sons, Dr. John A. Wilson, A.B., A.M., D.D., and LL.D., during the week of June 26.

Dr. Wilson, who is now 94 years old, is a civil war veteran, having responded to the call of Governor Curtiss for volunteers during his sophomore years at Westminster.

For 61 years Dr. Wilson has served his denomination as pastor and religious teacher. His first charge was in the pastorate of the Beaver United Presbyterian church, in 1872. Four years later he was called to the First United Presbyterian Church in St. Louis, Mo., and then moved to take a position as a pastor in Wooster, Ohio. In the nineties he was elected to a professorship at Pittsburgh-Xenia Theological Seminary. Dr. Wilson is still an effective speaker, and a keen student of theology, and hundreds of clergymen and laymen from every point of the nation were on hand at the Syria Mosque to hear him give his message at the opening of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the United Presbyterian Church.

IN CANVASS WORK

Bob Galbreath has been engaged in student canvass work the past summer, due to a vacancy in that department, caused by the illness of A. A. "Andy" McDonald.

BLOKER, W. 4

James Bloker, Sandusky, O., will see much service in his senior year at center, alternating with Irving Franklin. "Bloke" is a member of Kappa Phi Lambda fraternity.

Game Should Pack Gym As City Is A Cage Sport Hotbed

Basketball is still several months away, but it is being talked in this district.

There is a big possibility that the Shenango Valley, in which the college is situated, will get an opportunity to see a first class college game this winter as Duquesne and Westminster may be scheduled on the large Sharon High floor.

Athletic authorities at the school are looking with approval on staging their home game with the Dukes in Sharon since there are a large number of graduates from both schools in the Sharon district and the town is only fifteen miles away from the college. Last winter the fray was played at Beaver Falls, but failed to attract more than several hundred fans as the community was not interested in either team, being the home of Geneva College.

Westminster officials are also making arrangements to play the annual Grove City football game at the New Castle stadium. If the field is secured for the game, the lights will be used. It will be the first time in recent years that the college team has entertained its opponents under the flood lights.

Enrollment May Equal That of Last Year

Registrations Are More Than 50 Per Cent Above Last Year

Enrollment of new students at Westminster for the coming year is going along very well, according to William A. Johns, director of the business department. With almost 200 new students registered as we go to press, the enrollment activities are more than 50 per cent better than they were last summer at this same time.

So many first-year students have enrolled that college authorities have had to reopen two dormitory homes which have been, for two years, rented to faculty members. It is possible that one or two more rooming houses will have to be established to accomplish all who plan to register by September 1.

With many of the upper class students in better circumstances to return, due to marked upturn in business and increase in employment, it is possible that the enrollment for the year will equal or exceed that of last year.

Freshmen Rules Under Student Board

Stunt Program To Usher In Rules Saturday A. M.

Freshman rules will go into effect in the very near future, according to plans being worked out by the new Student Board, which has been given control over the new students. Due to the organization of the new governing board, the Frosh have been able to forego the wearing of the traditional dinks and berets.

Stunt day, the first activity under Frosh regulations, will be observed at Westminster College on Saturday, when the large freshman class will entertain students and faculty with the annual "circus" on the athletic field at 10 o'clock. This activity, postponed from last Saturday morning, will eliminate college classes Saturday morning, Dean Carl E. Rankin announces.

Twelve separate acts will be presented by the freshmen who have been divided into 12 groups. The usual satires, beauty pageants, and ridiculous pantomimes will perhaps feature the circus.

Sophomore students in charge of the groups are: Virginia Rumbaugh, Alta Russell, Jane Holland, Dorothy Covert, McClees Murray, Helen Dreier, Ruth Stewart, Robert Willson, William Daggett, Albert Koper, Paul Barger, and John Auld. Walter Donaldson, varsity cheer leader, will be master of ceremonies.

The sophomores in charge of the 12 groups were appointed by the student council, Elmer Meider, president of the senior class announces. The student council includes: Betty Newell, Cromwell Ketterer, Helen Whieldon, Arna Barr, Lillian Baird, Donald Kellett, William Offutt, and Isabel Reed.

Band Gives Fine Concert At Grid Game

Westminster's band made its first public appearance of the current year at the Westminster-Slippery Rock game, September 23, under the direction of Prof. Donald O. Cameron. Although the band has not recently begun its activities for the year, they rendered a very credible performance.

Twenty-six students are members of the organization at present; twelve having been recruited from the Freshman class. Additional uniforms have been ordered and more new members will be taken into the band when the "unies" arrive.

At the present time the band lacks the services of a drum major. Tryouts are now being held by Prof. Cameron and it is expected that he will name the baton wielder at an early date.

The present membership is as follows: Clarinets: Robert Lake, Katherine Achert, Harold Falkner, Ivan Yahn, Louise Bennett, and Jane Smiley; Saxophones: James Ewalt, William Hoon, and Douglass Smiley; Horns: Russell Anderson, William Lillich, and Russell Sewall; Trumpets: Edgar Schaffer, James Stevenson, Chester Miller, Camden Meek, Curtis Artman, William Kunzler, and Walter Rudolph; Trombones: Willard George, and Lawrence Rice; Bass: Richard Morris, and Richard Davis; and Drums: Ellwood Rushworth, Ernest Smizer, and Cecil Bowles.

Little Theatre Plans Full Year

Plans have been drawn up for an extensive Little Theatre program this season by Prof. A. T. Cordray, director.

Plans include three long plays and two or three groups of one-act plays. "Passing of the Third Floor Back" by Jerome; "Importance of Being Earnest" by Wilde; "Twelfth Night" by Shakespeare; "Theatre of the Soul" by Evreinov; "The Travelers" by Tarkington and "Man Who Married a Dumb Wife" by France are some of the plays now being considered for production.

Alan Van Harper has succeeded Tom Herriott as stage manager and Isabel Scheetz will supervise costuming. Other students interested in working in the Little Theatre as electricians or helpers in costuming and scenery work can, in that way, gain credits toward Masqueurs, honorary dramatic fraternity.

Dies Suddenly

Stricken with a sudden heart attack, Dr. John A. Shott, died at his home on Thursday, September 21. Impressive services were held in the college chapel, September 24.

Two Faculty Members Are Called By Death

Heart Attack Proves Fatal To Dr. J. A. Shott, Educator

Men and women from many walks of life who had sat under him in the 31 years that he served Westminster College united here with college students, faculty, and town Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock to pay their last respects to Dr. John Abram Shott.

Dr. Shott's remains lay in state in the Westminster College chapel from 2 o'clock until 4 o'clock, and many graduates and friends came to have one last look at the face of the beloved teacher. The casket was placed below the pulpit in front of a bank of beautiful floral tributes.

Two students, Wilbur Christy, Pittsburgh, and Robert Douglass, Wilkensburg, were guards of honor. Students ushers were G. Hall Todd, Warren; Ivan Yahn, New Wilmington; John Gerstner, Philadelphia; and Joseph Brownlee, New Wilmington.

At 4 o'clock the Westminster faculty filed past the coffin and took seats in the East transept of the chapel. On the rostrum were President R. F. Galbreath, Rev. Dr. J. Ralph Neale, and Rev. Dr. S. A. Kirkbride. Professor Gordon Balch Nevin was at the organ.

Dr. Neale offered prayer, and Dr. Kirkbride then read from the 12th chapter of Ecclesiastes, the favorite chapter of Dr. Shott. Professor Donald Cameron played "The Bread of Life" on the violin. This was Dr. Shott's favorite hymn.

Passes Away

A. A. McDONALD

A. A. McDonald, for many years graduate manager of athletics and director of student canvass, died September 24, in Mercy hospital, Pittsburgh after a two months illness.

A. A. McDonald Dies In Hospital After Long Illness

A. A. McDonald, well-known athletic manager at Westminster College for many years, died in the Mercy hospital, Pittsburgh, on Sunday evening at 7:45. Complications which set in after a stroke suffered in July were the cause of death.

"Andy", as he was popularly called by Westminster alumni and students, attended Westminster as a student in 1904, 1905, and 1906, during which time he was student manager of athletic teams. He became graduate manager of athletics at Westminster in 1924 and served until 1931. He was secretary of the athletic council for a number of years, was president of the Tri-State Conference in 1925, and was active in fraternal organizations and local clubs and societies.

Two years ago he became associated with the department of personnel and student canvass, to which he had been devoting his entire time. It was while at Pittsburgh working in student canvass that he suffered the stroke which proved fatal. He was attended at the Mercy hospital by Dr. H. H. Donaldson, president of the board of trustees at Westminster.

McDonald is survived by his wife Mrs. Nellie Kline McDonald and three sons; George K., Andrew A. Jr., and Robert.

Funeral services were held in the United Presbyterian church, Bellevue, on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30.

Scientists Hold First Meeting

The first meeting of the Science club was held last evening at 7:00 o'clock in the chemistry lecture room in the Science Hall. Dr. Herbert L. Davis was the speaker for the evening and the title of his talk was, "Colloid Therapy".

He included in his speech of few of the numerous applications of Colloid chemistry. He explained this view in relation to its problems of anesthesia, insanity, drug addiction, sleep, and various other conditions associated with the state of the nerve and brain colloids.

The Science Club, sponsored by the science departments, was founded last year, and is open to all interested students and faculty members. The meetings will be held every two weeks during the college year and will be addressed by students, faculty members, and nearby scientists. The attempts is made to have these talks sufficiently simple to be understood by students who have had or are taking a first year of any of the sciences. The Science club gets along with a minimum of organization; there are no dues, or other obligations. All members of the college community are invited to attend any of the meetings.

First Dance Saturday Eve.

The first all-college dance of the year will be held at Westminster on Saturday evening, Miss Mary Turner, dean of women, announces. The dance, to run from 8 to 11, will be held in the college gymnasium.

Chaperons for the dance will be Dean and Mrs. C. E. Rankin and Dr. and Mrs. Charles Freeman. This social function was postponed from last Saturday evening. A party will be held in Browne hall Saturday evening for students who do not wish to attend the dance. Chaperons for this function will be Miss Ada Peabody, Mr. Albert Tener, Miss Nandeen Love, and Miss Lucille Beerbower.

Local's Granted Petition To National Group

Kappa Alpha Alpha sorority, founded 1927 at Westminster, will become a chapter of Beta Phi Alpha, national women's fraternity, in November. The petition for the local chapter was granted at the June convention of Beta Phi Alpha held in Chicago. Mrs. Della Winters Thede of Augusta, Illinois will be the installing officer. Mrs. Thede is the acting grand president.

Beta Phi Alpha was founded May 8, 1909 at the University of California under the name of Aldebaran, but in 1919 the present Greek letter name was adopted. The badge is a pearled Greek letter Phi with the letters Beta and Alpha embossed on a field of black enamel at either side of the Phi. The chapter letters form the guard. Beta Phi Alpha is one of the few national fraternities which provides a recognition pin for mother's of members.

The fraternity magazine, taking its name from the original of the group is called "Aldebaran" and is published quarterly each year.

The policy of the fraternity has been conservative in granting charters to groups. At the present date there are thirty located over the country. The nearest chapter to Westminster is Eta chapter at the University of Pittsburgh founded in 1924.

Officers of the local chapter are: Nellie Young, East McKeesport, president; Mildred Dick, West Middlesex, vice president and secretary; Mable Masters, Mercer, treasurer; Dorothy Shiffer, New Castle, chairman; Nellie Young and Mable Masters, Pan Hellenic representatives.

Enter Seminary

Several alumni, of the class of 1933: Matthew Gilliland, Thomas Herriott, Willis McGill and Calvin Rose; all from New Wilmington are entering Pittsburgh Theological Seminary for continued study of the ministry.

Classes Elect Heads for Year

Officers for the three upper classes at Westminster College were elected by the members of the respective classes Tuesday.

Campus Club To Hold Tea This Afternoon

The Campus Club will hold its first tea of the year at the home of Mrs. Robert F. Galbreath, Neshannock avenue, on Friday afternoon, Sept. 29 from 3:30 to 5.

Mrs. Galbreath as hostess will be assisted by a committee composed of: Mrs. Harold Black, Mrs. C. W. McKee, Mrs. Gordon B. Nevin, Miss Elizabeth Stewart, Dr. Elizabeth Veach, Miss Corinne Mercer, Mrs. A. T. Cordray, Mrs. Herbert Davis, and Mrs. David Ritchie.

Men of the faculty have been invited as guests of the club at this function.

Mrs. Galbreath's social committee will pour. The committee includes Mrs. Charles Freeman, Mrs. Bertha Bay, and Mrs. R. X. Graham.

A Better Paper?

Beginning with this issue, THE HOLCAD will appear in this new tabloid form. It retains the same number of pages as the old size paper with provisions made for the expansion to a standard eight page tabloid paper. Tabloids, to the general public, mean "spicy" newspapers, but the purpose of THE HOLCAD is to maintain its same conservative policy of the past, only using the new size sheet for variety.

Beginning with the issue of October 13, THE HOLCAD will present regularly to its readers a complete pictorial review of events that occur in the college world. This supplement, known as The Collegiate Digest, is a section exactly like the rotogravure sections in the Sunday editions of the large metropolitan dailies, although it will confine its editorial content to pictures that deal with the life and activities of college and university students throughout the United States.

The supplement to THE HOLCAD will give every student the opportunity of watching what his fellow students in other institutions are doing, and will keep him in touch with educational and scientific developments throughout the world. It is the intention of the staff to give the student body of Westminster not only complete "campus coverage", but also complete national coverage as well.

This is only one of the things planned by THE HOLCAD staff to make the local paper one of the best undergraduate newspapers among district schools. It is our hope that we have the support of every student, alumni member and faculty member in this attempt. Letters from the student body, commenting upon this change will be greatly appreciated.

The Holcad's platform for Westminster is:

1. New library building and endowment for needed books.
2. Endowment to provide scholarships for worthy upper class students.
3. Student government organizations.
4. Landscaping and clearing of the lower campus.
5. Honorary society for the recognition of student activity, leadership and achievement.

A BELOVED TEACHER

In the passing of Dr. John Abram Shott, Westminster College loses more than a teacher, the college has lost one of its finest influences. More, education has lost one of its leaders and the citizens of Lawrence county have lost a valuable citizen.

His influence upon the graduates of Westminster College in the past thirty years can never be measured. In his gentle, kindly way he made an impress upon their minds that has remained with them through the years. The business man at his city desk or the missionary at his far flung post, both got something from Dr. Shott that has helped them on their way.

He loved Westminster College as the students loved him. He was a part of the old school, a part that has been removed but will always be remembered.

Old graduates coming back for reunions will miss him, for reunions meant meeting him again. Truly a beloved teacher, whose passing leaves sorrow and regret.—New Castle News.

"ANDY" IS MOURNED

Westminster's campus and the far-flung homes of alumni of the last 30 years were shocked at the death of A. A. McDonald on September 26.

"Andy" knew more Westminster people and was known by more alumni and former students than anyone connected with the college. His strenuous activities in athletics, students canvass, commencement, the Masons, the Rotary club, and civic and political lines made him a well-known figure in New Wilmington and the entire district.

The Holcad, together, with the college, mourns his death and expresses its sympathy to the bereaved family.

CLASS ELECTIONS VS. STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Much praise should be given the Senior Class members for the manner in which they conducted their election of officers and representatives on the Student Board. Fraternal politics were not in evidence; officers were selected on merit alone.

Such praise cannot be given, however for the methods employed by members of the Junior and Sophomore classes. It is discouraging to realize that the example set by the Senior members of the Greek organizations in their election could not be followed by their younger brothers.

In the process of rejuvenating a long dormant student government, it should be the sole duty of fraternities and sororities to forget their politics, lest the cause be forever lost.

Capable, efficient leaders should be named to direct the activities of the student body and not those fraternity or sorority members whose associates are only snatching glory from the cause of Westminster for their Greek organizations to bask in.

That such practices will be discarded for the cause of a greater Westminster, is the sincere hope of The Holcad Staff.

CONGRATULATIONS

Members of the newly formed Student Board are to be congratulated upon their selection of Elmer Meider as president of the body. He is well deserving of office and will fulfill all its requirements in a capable manner.

The Holcad promises its heartiest co-operation to Mr. Meider and the Student Board in all student affairs.

THE AFFIRMATIVE SIDE

"Resolved that students at Westminster College should read the daily newspapers."

Such a resolution is ridiculously in favor of the affirmative. Yet almost an incredible number of students never look at a paper much less read one. Another group glances at the comic page and tosses the sheet into the nearest basket.

Often higher educational institutions such as Westminster College are compared to distinct communities each with its own government and activities. Students are its citizens. They vote and live within "incorporated" campus territories. But how can campus citizens live intelligently unless they keep reliably informed by reading the daily newspapers.

AMERICANISM AND THE COLLEGE GENERATION

Through the amazing developments in production, transportation and communication, the United States has become welded into a single economic unit with the rest of the world. Indeed it has become a truism that no longer can any particular nation boast of its "splendid isolation." Despite this fact, however, medieval politicians and statesmen in Europe are now breaking up the political world into veritable feudal fiefdoms. Barricading themselves with high tariff walls and trade barriers they not only foster but frankly urge extreme nationalism for every country.

So with European nations falling into the nationalistic parade, some gradually, some violently, others cautiously, the United States is naturally obliged to do the same. Fully aware of world conditions, a few American statesmen and educators have already foreseen and predicted this rise of political nationalism in this country. They believe that we are to witness a re-discovery of America, a revaluation of the mental, emotional, psychological, cultural, moral and spiritual elements of American life, which hitherto have been known to only an intellectual few. With the arrival of a new political nationalism, however, the people at large may become imbued with the true and original American spirit.

Certainly it is obvious that the most important determining factor in the present NRA campaign is this rekindling of American enthusiasm. As an entirely new national readjustment, however, it demands of the generation of college men and women that they follow a wider and more thorough heart-felt interest not only in American ideals but in the problems of world civilization.

CONVERSATION—AN ART

Conversation often has been termed as a "lost art." Here are 12 golden rules for its application; as listed by Josephine Turk Baker, author and editor, in her book, The Art of Conversation:

1. Avoid unnecessary details.
2. Do not ask question number two until number one has been answered; or be too curious and too disinterested; that is do not ask too many questions or too few.
3. Do not interrupt another while he is speaking.
4. Do not contradict another, especially when the subject under discussion is of trivial importance.
5. Do not do all the talking; give your tired listener a chance.
6. Be not continually the hero of your own story; nor, on the other hand, do not leave your story without a hero.
7. Choose subjects of mutual interest.
8. Make your speech in harmony with your surroundings.
9. Do not exaggerate.
10. Indulge occasionally in a relevant quotation, but do not garble it.
11. Cultivate tact.

When I heard, several years ago, of the burning of Old Main, I was attracted to a brief but interesting sentence in the news-article: "Although several valuable books were saved, practically the entire library was lost in the fire."

It was with this in mind that I turned my steps today to the third floor of the Science Hall and gently pushed open the door marked "Library Reading Room." Within, I found a queer conglomeration of skeletons, bird's eggs, tables, Freshmen and magazines. There were only a very few books and these extremely stiff looking. With a feeling of distinct disappointment I reluctantly turned my eyes to the magazine rack; but my heart leaped as I saw my old and extremely good friends "Poetry: A magazine of verse," "The Stage," "Current History," "The Saturday Review of Literature," and a great many others equally as enticing.

As I left the room I reflected that although "practically the entire library was lost in the conflagration," the school certainly had a splendid collection of magazines.—C. M. Hazlett

Annual Who's Who Enjoyed

One of Westminster's gayest and oldest events, the All College Who's Who, was held on Saturday evening, September 15, in the gymnasium. Approximately 450 people including students of the four classes, faculty members, and alumni enjoyed the entertainment. Programs in various colors and with spaces provided for one's own name and others were distributed.

For an hour the assembly exchanged signatures, met new people and made new friends. Then the crowd scattered into five groups according to the color of their programs. After a short time for preparation each group presented a stunt. The various acts included Eliza Crossing the Ice, a Rubber Band Contest, a Pillow Race, a Necktie Tying Relay, a Political Parade, Changing Attire in pantomime, and finally, "The Forgotten Stunt."

At the conclusion of the entertainment refreshments were served while Lois McGill and Earl Johnson played the piano.

Westminster College Loses To Slippery Rock In Opener

Sweeney Dashes 85 Yards For Lone Touchdown

Under the threat of rain, Westminster opened the 1933 football season Saturday on the home grid-iron with the Slippery Rock State Teacher's College team, losing the encounter 13-6. Although the Titans were slight favorites, the Teachers displayed unsuspected strength, especially on the line, and the Lawther-Martin men were unable to break through consistently enough to score by that route.

During the first half the Titans showed good coordination between backfield and line, but successive penalties stopped scoring possibilities. In the second half, however, the team seemed to become unbalanced and was unable to make any serious threats upon the Slippery Rock goal-line. A total of 90 yards in penalties was charged up against the Titans in comparison to 35 yards against the visitors.

Late in the second quarter after blocking a Titan punt Slippery Rock bucked the line for the first touchdown of the game. They failed to complete a pass for the extra point. A moment later the most spectacular play of the day came when Sweeney took the kickoff and by a pretty bit of broken field running and good interference took the ball 8 yards to register the only Westminster tally. The placement for extra point was blocked. The game was nearly over and after carrying the ball down the field on line, plays the Slippery Rock boys completed a short pass to obtain their second touchdown of the game. They successfully kicked for the extra point. A few moments later the game ended with the Titans in possession of the ball on their own 20-yard line.

Cross Country Squad To Have A Hard Schedule

Coach R. X. Graham's cross country squad has started training for a difficult schedule which this year will include meets with Pitt, Geneva, and West Virginia. The squad of veterans captained by Klumph and including Deichmiller, Manor, Needham, Kennedy, Gerstner, Snyder, Stroup, and Rodgers ought to make a good showing. Last year an inexperienced squad faced a tough schedule and as a natural result lost every meet, but this year the prospects are much brighter for the hill and dalers.

W. A. A. Plans For Fall Activities

Plans for fall activities were made at the meeting of the Women's Athletic Association held in the Hillside, Tuesday September 26. Mildred Ralston, hike supervisor, announced that plans were being made for the second W. A. A. hike of the year for Saturday, September 30, at which time the evening meal will be prepared over open fires. The first hike was held on Thursday, September 28 with all members partaking of a "nose-bag" lunch.

Titan Antics

News in the making—what with seven hundred potential news headlines floating about the campus we have little doubt that there are "things" going on—but where? Not having Winchell's complex spy system, and absolutely no stool pigeons—well—you finish it.

But we do know that Bennett (of football fame) has discovered something in common in a little (?) from Mt. Lebanon...at they seem to get along quite well. Is it serious? How far's up, "Road Towner"?

W. A. A. dashes—The vice president of that organization strolled into an official board meeting just forty minutes late...The president made a welcome speech with an axe in her hand (What a friendly gang).... Mildred Ralston, hockey terror, spent the summer teaching little Girl Scouts to mold beer mugs and ash trays...from mud...A blond charmer of the freshman class went to New Castle last Sunday...to graduate from Sunday school! Since we actually saw the diploma...well we might have had you wrong, Gertie...maybe!

Jack Hulme couldn't resist the vagabond urge this summer...visited the swimming meets in Canada and then saw the "Big Fair"...Never become a physical ed. instructor, son!...This galvatating around the country might turn you against the simple home life...but we're not envious!

Saw a few cross country men warming up for their short (?) five mile jaunt. That's the real life! But not for us...we would rather sit here and write about the courage it takes to run those last four and a half miles than to try it ourselves...but if you like to run (not just because your afraid) you should report to Coach Graham.

We watched one of the cool (I scream) freshman girl athletes wield a tennis racket the other day...didn't know that a girl could have such control and at the same time slam a mean backhand...and the same girl is quite the berries on the hockey field...and also an up and coming journalist...and also...but why go on?...she's got a "steady" back home.

Badminton has been added to the sport card of the intramural schedule and will be entirely for the freshman boys...all of which shows that the purpose of the school is to have sports for everyone. Freshmen can not take part in the volleyball and basketball loop until after pledging and during this time they will have their own sport of badminton...if enough interest is taken in the sport...otherwise they will have nothing.

Titans Face Bonaventure

When the Titans travel to Olean N. Y. next Saturday, they will find a strong St. Bonaventure team ready to meet them. Last year the Westminster boys met defeat at the hands of the Bonnies by a 13-7 score. This season with the Titan team possibly a bit weaker than last, and the New Yorkers easily as strong as before, the New Wilmington lads will find that they will be playing against an experienced crew.

In last year's St. Bonaventure game the Titans surpassed their opponents in first downs, registering 13 to the Bonnies 9. In yards penalized, the home team totaled 25 to Westminster's 40.

Sweeney starred for Westminster, doing all the kicking and passing, and practically all of the running. Mavian and Lackey starred at half back for the Bonnies, Maxian doing the kicking and Lackey doing the running. Mullenhoff played a good game at tackle. These three men will probably play with the Franciscans this year.

Many Profs Occupied By Studies Or Teaching During Summer Months

Many members of the Westminster college faculty spent the summer doing graduate work and teaching in other colleges and universities.

Mr. Ross Ellis and Mr. Ronald Jones, instructor in the business department at Westminster college, studied during vacation months at Northwestern University, Evanston, Illinois.

R. X. Graham, publicity director and english professor at Westminster college, taught at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis.

Mrs. Mary McConagha, instructor of english and speech at Westminster, took a course at Columbia University, New York City, N. Y.

Foster Stulen, professor of mathematics at Westminster last year, attended the University of Chicago, Chicago, Ill.

Mr. John D. Lawther, head coach and instructor in education at Westminster, taught at Davis and Elkins Coaching School, Elkins, West Virginia.

Ben Euwema, head of the english department at Westminster, assumed duties as an instructor, at the University of Chicago, Chicago, Illinois, during the summer.

Leon Marshall, a member of the Westminster college history department last year, studied at Manchester University, England, from which he won his scholarship.

Miss Nandeen Love, head of the athletics for women at Westminster, took extension work at the University of Missouri.

Miss Pearl Hoagland, instructor in the education department at Westminster, attended the University of Iowa, where she did graduate work.

Westminster Alumnus Heads Sharon Buhl Club Successfully

Hugh M. Gamble, Sharon, Pa., '27, is the first Sharon man to serve as secretary of the F. H. Buhl club, there. Since his succession to A. L. France in 1931, he has been doing a fine work in that capacity. During the first year Mr. Gamble was in charge of the club the debt of $20,000 was greatly reduced and many improvements made to the building itself. Under his plan, the gymnasium was remodeled in 1932, and with other changes, this contributed a great deal to a very successful season in 1932-33.

Professor C. W. McKee, head of the department of economics and business administration, returned to his home yesterday, from Mercy Hospital, Pittsburgh, where he has been confined since last June, when he suffered a nervous breakdown.

Delts Defeat T. U. O. 2-1; Phi Pi Phi Loses To TUO As Season Opens

Delta Phi Sigma defeated the T. U. O. in the first volleyball game of the fall season. The T. U. O. defeated the Phis' on Tuesday to prove the strength displayed in the previous game.

The Delts-T. U. O. game was hard fought throughout and both teams displayed the same form that made them winner and runner up respectively, last year. Meider, Southard and Kennedy were the outstanding players for the Delts; Campbell, Willison, and Paris for the T. U. O.

Phi Pi Phi was unable to cope with the well balanced T. U. O. team and suffered a 2-0 defeat in their first game of the season.

The Eps and Kaps still have their first game to play and there is a possibility that either of these teams may produce a winning team.

Badminton for the Freshman and horseshoes for the upper classmen, will be the other two sports on the fall schedule. The former will start today at four o'clock and, due to the large number expected to take part in the tournament, all names must be turned in to Mr. Hulme no later than Saturday.

Mr. Buckley has succeeded in forming an organization which is functioning very successfully. Officers of the local code, under his organization, are being dealt with very efficiently, and the constructive work of the organization has been equally successful.

Returns Home To Coach Line

Jack Martin, Sharon, captain of the 1930 football team at Penn State, was announced as assistant football coach to Lawther. Martin's appointment was made by the athletic council upon recommendation of Lawther.

Martin was born in New Wilmington where his father once ran a drug store. He played tackle on the Sharon high grid team from 1922 to 1925. He was captain during his last two seasons. Martin also jumped center on the Sharon high basketball team.

At Penn State he played guard on the grid team, and was a member of the lacrosse team. He was a member of Phi Delta Theta and of Lion's Paw. Martin is assisting Lawther in drilling the Titan linemen, and is an assistant in the department of physical education.

HEART ATTACK FATAL

TO DR. J. A. SHOTT

continued, "and because the teacher was wise he taught knowledge." A new sacredness to chapel and campus are what Dr. Shott has left behind, the President said in conclusion.

Dr. Neale, speaking as pastor of the deceased, characterized Dr. Shott as "modest, quiet, retiring, and devoted", and said that such an unobtrusive life speaks louder than any words which the preacher may say. "Dr. Shott was faithful and devoted as a father in the home, faithful and devoted as a citizen in the community, and faithful and devoted as a true teacher in the college," Dr. Neale said. He then commented on Dr. Shott's favorite verse of the Bible, pointing out that this verse was what the real thinker arrives at when he weighs life: "This is the end of the matter: Fear God and keep his commandments. This is the whole duty of man."

Professor Cameron played "Nearer My God to Thee" on the violin, with Professor Nevin accompanying on the organ. The prayer and benediction were pronounced by President Galbreath.

Early Monday morning the body of the beloved teacher was taken to the scene of his boyhood days, his birthplace in Sandyville, O., where he was buried in the old family plot. Thus a native son, who spent his life helping others to find the true meaning and philosophy of life and who in the process reached the heights of greatness unknowingly, returns to his native soil while many whose lives he influenced mourn the loss of a great leader.

Esther Caughey Elected

Glee Club President

Wednesday evening, September 27, in the Conservatory, the first business meeting of the newly formed Glee Club was held. Fifty girls, who were selected by Miss Ada Peabody, the new directress, were present. Charlotte Melhorn presided at the meeting. The only business taken up was the election of officers. The results were: President, Esther Caughey; Vice President, Charlotte Melhorn; Secretary, Betty McCrory; Treasurer, Dorothy Patch; Librarian, McClees Murray. The rest of the evening was spent in trying out new songs to be used in the coming season.

Something new and different has been organized in the Conservatory. It is called an A Capella Choir. This type of choir is one which sings without accompaniment of any type. Prof. Davis speaks very highly of the voices of those who tried out and is highly confident of the future of the organization.

Meider Elected President of Student Board

Elmer Meider, senior, was elected president of the Student Board at their first meeting held last week. Other officers elected were: vice president, Cromwell Ketterer; secretary, Lillian Baird; and treasurer, Helen Whieldon.

The purpose of this body is to give the students more voice in school affairs and as the first step in this direction Dean Turner wishes to announce that she has given the student board charge of all future college parties.

The board has appointed a social committee to take charge of these college parties and anyone who wishes a party may go to them. The committee consists of Jane Baker, chairman; Donald Kellett, Hugh McCall, Jane Holland, Richard Reniers and Lillian Baird.

PRIZES OFFERED FOR BEST CHEERS

Students with ideas for college cheers may win expenses to the Duquesne or Thiel games if they follow rules made by Walter Donaldson, varsity cheer leader. Donaldson has made arrangements with the college office to offer as prizes for the best new cheers submitted trips, to either of the two games away from home.

All college students are eligible to submit new cheers. The entire student body will act as judges in the contest, each cheer being tested for practical yelling purposes. All copies of cheers should be handed to Donaldson, and the name of the author should be written on the paper.

First prize—all expenses to the Duquesne game, including admission ticket. Second prize—all expenses to the Thiel game, including ticket.

Marionettes To Appear Soon

"Dick Whittington", the legend of the orphan boy who three different times became Lord Mayor of London will be presented by the world famous Tatterman Marionettes at the Community House next Tuesday evening at 8:15. Headed by Ellen Mahar, an actress of the legitimate theatre, the Tatterman Marionettes are among the finest puppet companies appearing in America. The story of Dick Whittington was dramatized as a puppet show as early as the seventeenth century being mentioned in the journal of Samuel Pepys.

Two years ago this company of marionettes appeared before the Westminster student body. As the program is part of the college lecture course, admission will be by student ticket only.

Pan-Hellenic Council Makes Rushing Rules

Official rush season for sororities will start on Monday, October 30 and continue through November 8, the Pan Hellenic council announced this week.

Prior to rushing no sorority girl is allowed to spend money on a freshman girl nor is she allowed to talk sorority to her. Sorority girls may visit in the rooms of freshman girls but freshman girls must not visit sorority girls in their rooms or at their homes. These rules went into effect Tuesday, October 10.

During the rushing period the same rules as last year will hold, that each sorority is only privileged to have no more than five dates with a freshman, the fifth one being the party; each date is not to exceed two hours and no money is to be spent on the freshman during these dates. The violation of any of these rules insures a penalty of deferred rushing and pledging for the guilty sorority for one college term.

Y. M. C. A. Sponsors Chapel Services

Wilbur Christy, president of the Y.M.C.A., announces that beginning the week of October 23 the organization will sponsor a series of weekly chapel services, conducted by Dr. B. E. Quick and Dr. M. G. Yeager of Mercer, Pa., for the men of the college.

The membership campaign will draw to a close this week. Many new memberships have already been received and the drive is expected to exceed the fine enrollment of last year. The enrollment contest is, at this writing, being led by the senior class.

Last Wednesday evening the gospel team had charge of the services in the Second United Presbyterian Church of Mercer, James Jacobsen, Wilbur Christy, Tom Rogers, Richard Davis, and Joseph Brownlee composed the college team. This made the second engagement of the year for the gospel team, the first being at the First United Presbyterian Church of Warren, Ohio on Saturday, September 30.

Freshman Rules Made By Sophomore Class

Final Enrollment Totals 638

Enrollment for the first semester reached 638 on October 2. This marks the highest first semester enrollment in the 82 years of the college's history. Credit for this remarkable increase belongs to William A. Johns, director of Personnel, whose capable efforts have met with due success.

Of the number now enrolled, 251 are old students and 383 are new students. With 40 or more students registering at the start of the second semester as is usually the case, the net enrollment for the year at Westminster will probably be more than 680 or an increase of almost 23 percent over the 1931-32 registration. Last year's increase over the 1931-32 enrollment at Westminster was 17 per cent. The increase this year over last year's figure for the first semester, 622, is about 2 per cent.

The seniors have the smallest class in the school, with 80 members, 43 men and 37 women, while the freshman have the largest with 246, 108 of them men and 138 women. The juniors and sophomores have 117 and 173 respectively, with 63 men and 54 women in the junior class and 81 men and 92 women in the sophomore. In addition to these there are 12 men and 10 women listed as unclassified.

Frosh Win First Battle In Election

That members of the Freshmen class will have their own "say" in the election of their class officers was decided last night at a meeting of the Student Board in the office of Dean Rankin, according to statements issued after the session by Elmer Meider, president of the Board.

This decision was reached after the members of the Freshmen class circulated petitions protesting the offering of candidates by the members of the Sophomore class. The new officers will be selected by the class this morning after chapel in an election held under the direction of the Student Board.

A committee on assemblies was appointed to work in conjunction with the faculty committee now in charge of chapel programs. Those named are as follows: Helen Whieldon, chairman, Charlotte Melhorn, Fred Luderer, Helen Baerman, and George Hollander.

Plans for the time honored Tribunals for violations of freshman regulations were drawn up. Two members of each fraternity and sorority and non-fraternity and non-sorority organizations will be in charge of inspections which will probably start some time this afternoon.

Members of the Student Board also decided to ban Holcad reporters from the meetings, preferring to give out such information they desired published from the minutes.

Alpha Gams Entertained By New Castle Alumnae

On Tuesday, September 26, Miss Hazel Bergland and Mrs. Joseph McFate entertained members of the Alpha Gamma Delta and Alumnae at the Carnegie Rod and Gun Club, New Castle.

Bridge was played after the business meeting, the prizes being presented to Mrs. Orville Brown and Miss Gertrude Turk.

Miss Helen McConaghy, assisted by Miss Harriett Ewing, will entertain the alumnae next at her home.

REPORTER

Fred Williams '31, West Middletown, Pa., former editor of the Holcad, spent the past summer as a reporter on the "Chautauqua Daily."

HOLCAD STAFF OUTLINES PLANS

In an effort to make the Holcad a true student publication, devoted to student affairs and problems, an Editorial Council, which will serve as advisers on policies adopted by the Holcad has been formed.

Students, who have been selected by the staff are not connected with the present Holcad staff or the Student Council, thus insuring the student body that every problem on the campus will be touched in some form.

Those appointed are: Eric Thompson, Charles Branfield, Frank Goff, James Bloker, Robert Faber, Helen Snyder, Jane Black, and Fern Fox. The newly formed council will meet weekly and discuss all campus questions in an attempt to outline the policy that the Holcad will support.

In another effort to make the Holcad a true reflection of student life and problems, Dean Carl E. Rankin has abolished the Faculty Committee on Publications, retaining Prof. R. X. Graham only as the faculty adviser.

Efforts are also being made to issue the Holcad every week instead of twice a month as at the present time. If these efforts are successful the paper will appear next Friday at chapel hour, at which time it is hoped that the Holcad columns will contain more student items and problems to be settled than ever before.

The student body must realize that the Holcad is a STUDENT PUBLICATION to be devoted solely to student problems and news. This can be done, however, only if the Holcad receives the support of each and every member of the four classes.

Y. W. C. A. CABINET HOSTESS TO FROSH

Members of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet at Westminster college, were hostesses to the freshman girls residing in Browne Hall, at a dinner held in the dining hall at Hillside, on Wednesday evening, September 20. All upper class girls living at Hillside, with the exception of the cabinet members went to Browne Hall to have dinner, on that evening.

October 6 Marked First Day For Freshman Initiation

Rules and regulation have been made by the Sophomores for this year's freshman class, went into effect Friday morning, October 6, at 8 o'clock and will continue indefinitely.

Both men and women must attend all pep meetings, and home football games; they must greet all upperclassmen and women with "Hello Mister" or "Hello Miss"; they must not wear any high school or prep school insignia; and they must remain standing after chapel services until all upperclassmen have left their places.

Freshmen men must wear a green Windsor tie and a Westminster dink at all times, while the women must wear a Westminster beret and low heels. During the week of October 9, men are not permitted to date and women must not date the week of October 16.

During the week of October 9 both men and women must wear on their backs white cards bearing their names in letters three inches high. During this same week freshmen women must not wear any cosmetics and on October 12 they must wear raincoats, galoshes, and carry umbrellas, putting them up as they go from class to class.

The week of October 16 both men and women must carry an egg, not hardboiled, and get the signatures of two different upperclassmen on it each day and during the week of October 23 the women must wear white cotton hose, their hair parted in the middle, and tied with a green ribbon.

These rules are suspended for all out of town football games, all college functions, and week ends beginning at 6 o'clock Saturday evening until 8 o'clock Monday morning.

A tribunal has been formed to hold court martials, if necessity arises, for the enforcement of these rules.

Three Plays Scheduled For Homecoming Day

Arrangements are being made to eliminate the usual lag which occurs between dinner time and the dance on our annual Homecoming day, Saturday, November 11. The plans are to present three one-act plays at the Community House in which the members of the alumni who have formerly been active in Little Theatre performances will take part.

As the plans now stand, some of the best talent that Westminster has ever seen will be represented. Groups in Sharon, New Wilmington, and New Castle are now working on the productions which will be three comedies. Ruth Lewis '30, is in charge of the New Castle group while Paul Gamble '32, is in charge of Sharon arrangements.

The performance, which will be the first of the Little Theatre course, will start at 7:30 and will be over in plenty of time for those attending, to go to the dance.

W. D. Gamble Appointed To National Committee

W. D. Gamble, '96, superintendent of Sharon schools, has been appointed a member of a national committee on public education financing. This was announced at association headquarters in Washington by Paul C. Stetson, president of the Department of Superintendence of the National Education Association. This committee will meet at a convention at Cleveland, of the Department of Superintendence, February 24 to March 1.

CUT SYSTEM ON THE SPOT

We hear that a new excuse system is being debated by the faculty. If this system is decided upon, it means that no cuts will be permitted in any class and absences for illness will have to be made up. Surely students of college age should be self-reliant enough not to have to obtain excuses from the dean. In almost every college and in all universities the cut system is used on the assumption that the students who are in college for a serious purpose will not over-cut. In many university classes roll is not taken at all except when quizzes have been announced. Usually if many students make a habit of cutting a certain class, it is because the professor does not present his course interestingly.

In high school we had to bring a written excuse from home and "hooking school" was a capital crime. But now we consider ourselves adults and expect a certain amount of freedom and responsibility. If a college student has to be compelled to attend classes, that person does not belong in any college or university. So for the sake of keeping Westminster a college, and not making it seem like a prep school, The Holcad hopes that the present cut-system will be retained.

OPPORTUNITIES FOR REAL STUDENTS

Westminster has not had a candidate for the Rhodes scholarships since 1929. Why aren't more of our students interested?

A Rhodes scholarship is tenable at the University of Oxford. An appointment is made for two years with the promise that a scholar may remain for a third year upon presentation of a satisfactory plan of study for that year. There will be four candidates chosen from each of the eight districts into which the United States is divided so why shouldn't a Westminster student have a chance?

To be eligible a candidate must:

- (a) Be a male citizen of the United States and unmarried.
- (b) Be between the ages of nineteen and twenty-five.
- (c) Have completed at least his sophomore year at college.

A candidate may apply either in the State in which he resides or in the one in which he has received at least two years of his college education.

The qualities which will be considered in making the selection are:

- (1) Literary and scholastic ability and attainments.
- (2) Qualities of manhood, truth, courage, devotion to duty, sympathy, kindness, unselfishness and fellowship.
- (3) Exhibition of moral force of character and of instincts to lead and to take an interest in his schoolmates.
- (4) Physical vigor as shown by interest in outdoor sports or in other ways.

Applications are due not later than November 18, 1933 and further information about the matter may be obtained from Dean Carl E. Rankin.

FROSH ELECTION HUGE FARCE

Officers of the Sophomore class staged a comedy-farce, Wednesday, October 11, during which the Freshman class went through the process of a mock-election, and became "organized".

The president of the sophomore class, obviously disgusted with the Frosh, who "bucked" at his dictates, stated that the nominees had already been made for them, because, "We feel that we know you better than you know yourselves." Demands from the Freshmen that they be allowed to nominate their own officers met with denial, until, after a consultation with a shall we say lieutenant?—the demands were complied with.

Why? Did the election officials feel that as the votes were to be counted by themselves, at their own fraternity house, (need we mention names?) there would be little chance of any but their own candidates being elected? Candidates, by the way, the most important of which are publicly known to the future pledges of the above hinted-at fraternity.

Public protest at the election methods used with such answers as, "Why worry about it, it's only temporary." Why not worry? Why not start out right? Surely, in a class of 240, there are men and women capable of conducting an election, without being told what to do by upper-classmen. And, if class election MUST be governed by fraternity politics, why not let all of the fraternities have a hand in the muddle? Give the sororities a chance, too. If it must be a controlled election, at least make it interesting.

Either let the Freshmen class elect officers of their own choosing, or else let a full and clear explanation be made of the reasons and methods back of Wednesday's performance. Fault can be found, not so much with what was done as with the way it was accomplished. Who minds being "gyped" if the "gyping" is done artistically? If people must do wrong, at least let them do a good job of it. Crooked or square, let us have the best.

FASHION NOTES

Stylists say that the latest thing in young men's neck-wear is long, flowing, green neckties. What next!

Rumor has it that our younger coeds are forsaking silk for cotton. What is more, some girls have even given up cosmetics. Will wonders never cease?

As a result of a special meeting of the town council, Freshmen have been asked to stay away from all of the several highways leading into town. Our motoring public hasn't the hardness it once had, and several near accidents have resulted from a too sudden glimpse of green neckties and blue dinks.

We hear that Don Walters, freshman, nearly met his death by hanging, while hurriedly trying to tie his "Windsor" the first morning of regulations.

The following conversation is reported to have taken place between Arthur Brownell and one of our wittier sophomores, last Friday:

Brownell: "What is this 'court-martial' I've heard so much about?"

Sophomore: "Do you have matches, and a hand-book with you?"

Brownell: "No—I forgot to bring them with me."

Sophomore: "Don't worry, you'll know about 'court-martial' soon enough."

The frosh feel that one of the upper classmen was right when, after reading the "egg clause" in the freshmen regulations, he said, with a dirty laugh, "Ha, ha, the yolks on them."

Like Daniel in the Lion's den, is a lone, shrinking freshman in one of the more popular "hangouts."

We feel that if the person across the street doesn't stop practising, the band is either going to have a blamed good trumpet player, or a dead one.

OBITS

OUR DAILY QUESTION

This question is to be answered by those bashful gentlemen who "stag" at dances, and want to dance "sooo bad," but haven't the nerve to venture over the girl's "stag" line for fear of a rebuff.

Nation's Oldest Local Frat On Campus

Those who organized the Van Ornsdell Club in 1851 little dreamed that, 82 years later the society would be carrying on as the Kappa Phi Lambda fraternity, the oldest local fraternity in the nation.

In 1864 Kappa Phi Lambda was organized from the Can Ornsdell club. It was then a national fraternity that had been organized in 1862 at Washington and Jefferson. Westminster had the second or beta chapter. Other chapters were at Mt. Union, Michigan, Monmouth, Ohio Wesleyan, Virginia, Denison, Northwestern, and Western University of Pennsylvania (Pitt).

Since 1874 the fraternity has not been a national, but has continued at Westminster as a local. It has been suggested by Francis W. Shephardson, an editor of Banta's Greek Exchange, that Kappa Phi Lambda again become a national, with the local chapter as the Alpha chapter.

The present group contains 28 members. Seven were graduated last June. They have before them a precedent for success established by alumni of the local chapter. Two alumni are college presidents; 15, college professors; 35, doctors; 40, lawyers; 67, ministers; 20, business men; seven chemists; two, congressmen and senators; five, judges, some located in Lawrence, Allegheny and Washington counties. A number are listed in Who's Who in America.

Youngest? Oldest?

If you're "up a tree" as to how old your new freshman friend is, guess 18. That is the most popular age this year for beginning Westminsterites. Ninety-eight of the 215 of them are just that. Seventeen is a fairly close second, with 19 coming in next. Then the numbers slide off to 14 and 23.

You can ask any one of the 14 of them how to plant a row of beans, or when sweet potatoes ripen, and be sure of some degree of accuracy in the answer, too! Farming is more popular among the parents of the freshmen than any other one occupation. Merchandising, the ministry, and salesmanship follow very closely. And, of course, there are a number of managers and engineers.

When you want to know the hometown, and yet not ask point-blank, say nonchalantly, "You're from Pittsburgh, aren't you?" Chances are pretty good, because 15 per cent of the class is from the "Smoky City". Be wary of suggesting New York or New Jersey, though, and even Ohio. There are only 28 Ohioans. About 50 commute.

In spite of the fact that this is a United Presbyterian school, there are more Presbyterian freshmen than United Presbyterians. Presbyterians number 51, United Presbyterians, 47 and Methodists, 26. Catholics, Baptists, and Lutherans are next.

Titans Lose Second Game Of Season To Bonaventure

Arrowsmith's Passing Features Titan Setback

By Douglas Smiley

Last Saturday, Oct. 7, Westminster lost its second game of the season by a 32-13 score, to the powerful St. Bonaventure team in one of the most weird football games ever witnessed at the Olean, N. Y. stadium.

The Titans, with a patched-up lineup, completely outplayed the Bonnies during the entire first half. Twice the blue and white team placed the ball within the shadows of the Bonaventure goal line only to lose it on downs. Lyschok made one of the outstanding plays of the game when, late in the second quarter, he dashed from the Titans 34-yard line across the Bonny goal line only to be called back when officials declared the Titan backfield to be in motion. The St. Bonaventure team never penetrated beyond the Titan's 30-yard line during the first half.

Sweeney, Leyshock, and Bloker starred for the Titans during the first half. Leyshock, who did most of the kicking for the Titans, displayed fine punting ability; kicking the ball out of bounds twice on the Bonnies' ten-yard line.

Titans Dominate Last Quarter

Early in the third quarter the New Yorkers started an offensive drive which completely up-set the Titans' defense. Three touchdowns from scrimmage and two via the air route were marked up for the Bonnies before the Titans succeeded in checking the rout. Zayacheck, Franco, West and McConigle led the Bonny attack. The Titans came back in the fourth quarter and completely outplayed their opponents throughout the quarter. Arrowsmith and Laraway led the Westminster attack with a series of line plays, end runs, and forward passes. The first Titan touchdown came after a spectacular 70-yard run by Laraway after taking a pass from Arrowsmith on the Titan's 30-yard line. Bloker featured the play by clipping out four would-be tacklers to clear the way for Laraway. The second touchdown came after a series of line plays which placed the ball on the Bonnies' 34-yard line. A pass from Arrowsmith to Watt completed the drive. Arrowsmith's pass to Watt for extra point was incomplete.

Bonaventure registered 17 first downs to 11 by Westminster. The Bonnies threw eight forward passes and completed three. Westminster threw 19 and completed 11. Bonaventure lost 75-yards in penalties; and Westminster 45. The Bonnies fumbled five times, with Westminster recovering four of the fumbles. Westminster fumbled once with the Bonnies recovering.

Bloker, Arrowsmith, Staples, Sweeney, Leyshock, and Laraway were outstanding for Westminster. McConigle, Sayacheck, West and Kantekevich played well for St. Bonaventure.

W A A To Have Fall Party

BY LIBBY CONE

The Women's Athletic Association of the college will hold a Halloween Party for its members on Friday, October 27. The affair is under the direction of Mildred Ralston, hike chairman, who announces it will be in the form of a treasure hunt. This week's activity will take place on Friday the 13th, when the stronger girls of the weaker sex will throw aside superstition and take to roller skates, for the skate hike which is planned.

Girls from a number of the neighboring colleges have been invited to Westminster Saturday, October 28, when they will be guests of the W. A. A. The afternoon will be devoted to soccer and hockey, while an outdoor picnic supper is carded for the evening.

Try-outs for the Mermaid Club will continue through this week. Girls are reminded that the club meets Tuesday from 9 to 10 p. m., as well as Friday afternoons.

The feminine soccer and hockey players will begin play next week on an inter-class schedule. Tuesday at four o'clock the Sophomore Hockey Team will meet a combined team of juniors and seniors. Wednesday, at the same time, the Freshman Soccer Team will have the sophomores as its first opponents. All games are under the personal direction of Miss Nandeen Love.

Titan Antics

ANTICS—By Libby

High-low.... Life has its ups and downs for the college cross country team.... In the "ups" we have Manor who towers well above six feet.... The lows claim the miniature Deichmiller as their representative.... The latter is suing the town for building the sidewalks too close to his nose.

The young Prof who dines daily with the freshman girls at Browne Hall was heard complaining about the peculiar seating arrangement in the dining hall.... from his assigned place he can see only the lady faculty members and the head waiter without appearing too interested.... and that would never do!

Eight Phi Pis started for a convention in Cleveland last Friday.... On the way, they decided the Streets of Paris might be more to their liking than the streets of Cleveland—hence, on to the Fair they went.... There, the Fan Dancer (from the Mid-way) was the speaker (?) of the evening.... We did not hear the delegates report, but a good time was had by all.... exclusive of the local girls who lost their week-end dates.

Taped—and how!.... During the past eight years more than 32 miles of tape have been used by Jack Hulme, varsity trainer.... Already this year approximately four miles of the "hair remover" have been used to bind sprained ankles, wrists, and "what nots".... going to be a big year!

Miss Love has organized a "Mermaid Club" for the advanced women swimmers of the college.... The modern charmers meet twice a week to practice—their swimming.... They have promised an exhibition some time soon.... Hmm.... Something to look forward to.... One member of this organization taught swimming at a camp at Chautauqua this summer.... a few miles from the home of the "Kap" president.... How did you "gag" that, Elsie?

Intramural Notes

Volleyball, horseshoes, and badminton have been holding the spotlights in the intramural loops. For the third season the Delta Phi Sigma have the lead as the tournaments swing into the last half, followed closely by the T.U.O. fraternity.

Phi Pi Phi has been making a strong showing in both the volleyball and horseshoe loops. Tim McClure, Fred Luderer, Bill Nealy, and Griffith have been outstanding for the Waugh avenue house.

Freshman badminton has been attracting many of the plebes, being the only college sport, excepting Freshman football, planned exclusively for the "youngsters."

Within the next few weeks plans will be made by the intra-mural department for the annual Frosh-Soph football game. This game is one of traditional features of the Freshman and Sophomore year. During the last two clashes the Freshman have managed to outplay the upper class team, but this season the odds seem to favor the Sophs.

Titans Face Covenanters

Westminster faces its first Tri-State conference football game tonight when it stacks up against the strong Geneva College team at Reeves field, Beaver Falls. The Covenanters played their first league game last week, meeting Thiel.

Coaches Robertson and Schmidt of Geneva witnessed the Westminster-Slippery Rock game two weeks ago at New Wilmington; while Coaches Lawther and Martin have not had an opportunity to scout the Covenanters.

On paper, Geneva has a large squad with plenty of power and deception; while Westminster has a small squad, with both backfield and line lighter than most every other team in the section. As a result, the Titans depend upon speed, while the Covenanters have speed, weight, and a brilliant forward-passing attack. While the Geneva eleven won last year by three touchdowns, the contest was in many ways a fast, interesting one to watch.

The Titans will probably use Sweeney and Ketterer, each weighing in at 140 pounds, in the backfield, together with Leyshock and Staples. On the line, one or two Titan posts will be held by 160 pounders. With few substitutes available, the Lawthermen will have to worry along in the contest with the least amount of substituting.

Freshman Writes Tribute To Shott

Avalon LeMonte, a member of the Freshman class paints a vivid word picture of the service in honor of Dr. J. A. Shott held at the half of the Slippery Rock-Westminster game.

It is as follows:

As the half ended, and the players went from the field, during the Westminster-Slippery Rock game, the cheer leaders announced to the home audience and the visitors that a short service would be held in memory of the late Doctor Shott.

The crowds in the stands rose to their feet—heads were bared—members of the second team, practicing in the field, stopped where they were—a football, thrown aimlessly, thudded to the ground and wobbled to a halt—President Galbreath mounted the "players" bench, and stood there, watch in hand for a minute.

Not a sound could be heard. As he stepped down from the bench the clear, beautiful bugle notes of "Taps" were heard through an awesome silence. As the last thrilling note died away some brightly colored leaves fell from the trees in back of the bleachers and drifted downwards; Someone spoke, breaking the tension, and the spectators sat down; a beautiful and solemn tribute to a great teacher, a great friend, and a great man.

Dave Wallace '30, Rockville Center, New Y., has retained his position as sports reporter and cartoonist on the staff of the "Island Daily News."

Attorney W. W. Braham '15, New Castle, is chairman of the professional division of the Community Chest Drive, which opened in New Castle, Thursday, October 12.

Freshmen Defy Rules Made By Upperclasses

Rotten eggs and other traditional missives have been flying thick and fast for the past week between the Freshmen and the Sophomores. After a few days of sullen mutterings things finally came to a climax the other a few days of sullen mutterings, half of the freshmen class appeared at the pep meeting and bonfire without regulations. The sophs took care to inform the Freshies that such action was not permissible. This did not dim the youngster's spirits, however, for it was but a little while later that a small group of boys boldly dashed down the hill to the fire and threw in their name cards.

It was on Friday the thirteenth that the kettle boiled over. First of all the sophomores held inspection after Chapel. Numerous were the missing handbooks. Threats of court martial were given. That afternoon witnessed a regular mass meeting on the hockey field. After vainly trying to take down the conspicuous flag hoisted on Old Main, the freshmen gave it up as a bad attempt and resorted to their fists. After cuffing each other around a bit the upperclassmen and the freshmen adjourned. The girls did their share with encouraging shrieks and admiring stares directed at the "he men." Several freshmen banners were hung out on Browne Hall and a collection taken to buy whitewash for 37's.

Things were quiet over the week end. However the disturbance started anew on Monday night when about 40 sophomores raided freshman (Continued on Page 2)

Marionettes Produce

Dick Whittington In Excellent Manner

"Dick Whittington", a Tatterman marionette performance, was produced as the first number on the Westminster Lecture Course last Tuesday evening on the Community House stage.

One of the most popular performers of the program was Dick Whittington's famous tom cat, who bounced about the stage to the immense enjoyment of all. Unlike the other puppets who were supple to the point of limpness, Tommy seemed to have no flexible members, moving about in one piece. His appearance on the little stage was everywhere greeted with responsive "meows". The audience appreciated one occasion when he experienced some difficulty in making it up the stairs, all of him but his unfortunate tail being out of sight around the corner.

The other little beings seemed to use the German goose step almost exclusively, in getting about. It was amusing to see their heads come into view as each and everyone of them mounted the ladder, and then watch them flop over the ship railing and float down onto the deck.

Another high point of the play, which probably appealed to movie fans, was the fade-out ending at the finish of the sixth scene, when Dick was standing in the darkness of Highgate hill.

A clown pantomime and a short play "The Melon Thief", were the other features of the program.

HOMECOMING PLANS NEAR COMPLETION

Arrangements are being made for a complete program to be held on the annual Homecoming day, Saturday, November 11. To begin the day, the Titans will play Muskingum in a football game scheduled for 2:30. Later in the afternoon, at 4:00 o'clock, a tea will be held at Browne Hall, to which all students, alumni, and friends are cordially invited. Following this, dinners will be given by the various sororities and fraternities. In the evening, there will be the usual Homecoming Dance held in the college gymnasium.

Football Men Treat Maple On East Campus

A maple tree near the chapel entrance was found diseased when one of the Davy tree surgeons was here last week. Ten of the football men were set to work digging an irrigation ditch and fertilizing the soil around the tree. When the roots were uncovered and examined, the surgeon decided that it would be possible for the tree to be saved. Treatment was started immediately.

College Chapel Opened Again By Council

Through efforts made by the newly formed Student Board and the hearty co-operation of Dean Carl E. Rankin, Westminster's chapel was thrown open for student use yesterday for the first time since the opening of school.

The chapel had been closed because of improper conduct on the part of the students during their free periods and it was felt by college authorities that the chapel was intended as a place of meditation, and not as a place for "horse-play".

In an interview with Dr. Rankin, the writer was handed three rules to be followed by the student body when in the chapel. They are as follows:

There shall be quiet in the chapel at all times. No talking will be allowed as there has been a room reserved on the first floor for that purpose. This room was formerly occupied by the Personnel department.

Lunches shall not be eaten by commuters in the chapel. The room on the first floor has also been reserved by the college for that purpose.

There shall be no co-educating at any time in the chapel. The chapel is opened only as a place of quiet for study or meditation. Any students who desire to co-educate must seek some other place in which to do their "biling and cooling".

Any infractions of the rules will result in the closing of the chapel for student use other than the daily chapel services, according to the edict of the dean.

Tribunal Gives Sentences To Rule Violators

Thirty-five members of the Freshman class learned last night that the regulations imposed upon them by the Sophomore class and Student Council were to be observed, when the Tribunal tried offenders at the first scheduled court-martial of the year, held on the South Terrace.

With George Hollander acting as judge and Fred Luderer serving as the prosecuting attorney, 23 members of the fair sex and freshmen men were given sentences for non-observance of the rules.

The girls were charged with dating during their "no date week", failure to carry handbooks, the use of cosmetics, and general misconduct. Sentences handed out included the carrying of brooms to classes; the bearing of appropriate signs upon their backs, and the carrying of baskets in which they must have their handbooks tied with blue ribbons.

Sentences imposed upon the male violators were more severe as several boys will be seen next week with boxing gloves, barrel staves, bird cages, bloomers, and hair ribbons. Such sentences were imposed after the Freshman men were found guilty of the refusal to wear proper insignia and signs, and for instigating trouble with the Sophomore class by attempting to fly colors from Old Main Memorial.

Other inspections will be made as the year progresses and violators of the rules in the future will be more severely punished.

Needham Issues Last Call For Argo Photos

Wilbur Needham, who has been appointed photographer editor for the Argo, announces that all individual and group pictures for the Argo should be taken by the photographer from White's studio, by this afternoon. The photographer has his headquarters in the Argo room, on the third floor of the science building, and all students not having had their photos taken should do so today.

Following a meeting of the faculty committee on absences yesterday, it was learned that one chapel cut a week has been granted to the student body. Chapel will be held five days a week with but a four day attendance required and are not cumulative. This ruling will take effect on Monday, Oct. 23. Contrary to the impression which is now prevalent on the campus, students are allowed as many absences in a course as the student will receive credit hours for that course. As soon as a student exceeds this number of absences he is immediately debarred from the class, and may be re-instated only by the mutual agreement of the dean and the class instructor.

At present a faculty committee is working on a plan regarding class absences which will be even fairer and more feasible than the present arrangement. Plans were discussed yesterday, but no agreement was reached.

Another committee representing both the students and the faculty is making plans for a chapel program for the year, which will provide interest and variety. Helen Whieldon is chairman of the group appointed by the student council and Dr. Harold Black is head of the faculty group. They will welcome suggestions from any students.

Canon Chasuble, Robert Douglass; Merriman (Butler), not yet cast; Lane (manservant), not yet cast; Lady Bracknell, Helen Baerman; Hon. Gwendolen Fairfax, Helen Weingartner; Cecily Cardew, Sara Haney; Miss Prism (governess), Charlotte Bartlett.

To Visit Campus

Moses Shaw, secretary of the Young Peoples organization of the United Presbyterian Church of the United States will visit the campus two days, November 1 and 2. Mr. Shaw is visiting colleges of the denomination over the country.

FRESHMAN ELECT JONES PRESIDENT

Owing to the dissatisfaction of a majority of the class over a previous election, the freshmen held another meeting Friday the 13th, to elect their officers for the coming year.

The meeting was in charge of Elmer Meider, President of Student Council. Nominations were made from the floor and the number of nominees for each office was not limited.

The results of the two elections were not the same, although Charles Jones was elected president in both cases. In the second election Charles Jones was again elected president; E. Brown elected vice-president; R. Maxwell, treasurer; D. Morrison, secretary and A. Smith, student council representative.

These officers will represent the class in all activities during the coming year.

CAMPUS PRIDE

The Holcad has included in its platform, the "landscaping and clearing of the lower campus", an improvement undoubtedly necessary. Although nothing can be done at present in the way of actual landscaping, the appearance of that space would certainly be improved if students would refrain from using it as a public highway. The path from Thompson House to the gym is disfiguring enough, but the use of that path as a driveway is inexcusable. We realize that mere thoughtlessness has prompted this action, and we wish to here register protest against that lack of care. Even though our campus is not well-landscaped, don't disfigure it further by driving your car across it. —K.

A CONDITION TO BE REMEDIED

Fire sirens wailed, and "dates" were interferred with, when the roof of the McKelvey house (a girl's cooperative lodge) was discovered to be on fire, last Saturday night.

Although the blaze was not serious, and was soon quenched, it demonstrated the need for an accurate record as to the exact whereabouts of the various dormitories and lodges about the campus. Due to the fact that an exact report could not be made to the fire department when reporting the fire, the truck went to two other houses before finding the right one. Spectators were amused, but another time it might result in a serious conflagration.

SABBATH CHAPEL CALLS

While the attendance at last Sunday evening's chapel service showed a marked increase over that of the preceding Sabbath, it was discouraging to note the number of students who were loafing around the fraternity houses, dormitories, and business places uptown, while the evening's devotional service was being held.

Dr. Galbreath, when questioned about the attendance, praised his audience by saying that he had never spoken before a more serious audience, except when speaking to soldiers before they went "over the top" in the World War. Still, a larger number of students should attend the Sabbath chapel services.

It was also extremely discouraging to note that the faculty was conspicuous by its absence, no more than eight members of the body being present. When chapel services are held, are they not for faculty and students alike? Faculty members need the devotional service and the message delivered just as much as the student body.

Chapel services at Westminster are interesting, intensely so. Excellent sermons are delivered and the music is of the very best. Why stay away? Let's each and every student make it a point to attend the services next Sabbath evening. Also, let's see more faculty members present. It will do both groups good.

Switchboard Installed In Science Hall

During the past summer, the physics department installed a modern switchboard and electrical distribution system in the Science hall. The board, one of the most needed pieces of apparatus in the science courses, places the Science hall among the best equipped halls in the district. The system was installed by the department staff and the electrical repair men of the school.

The board is more than 6 feet high and over 5 feet wide. It is made of sheet steel finished in aluminum. On the right hand side of the board are the power supply sockets providing 220 volts three phase, alternating current, 110 volts direct current from a motor generator, and 110 volts direct current from storage batteries.

On the left hand side of the board are sockets for 30 two-wire circuits, and for three three-wire circuits leading to the outlet panels in the laboratories and the lecture rooms throughout the building.

At the very top of the board is a current rectifier with controls by which any section of the storage batteries can be charged from the rectifier or from the motor generator. By means of connector cords, the supply sockets can be connected to the outgoing circuits, making it possible to have a large number of voltages at command at all times in the outlet panels located in the laboratories. The lecture rooms are also connected with outlets with a wide choice of panels, thus allowing a number of demonstrations requiring different voltages and currents to be staged at the same time. Special cords are provided to connect the panels with any apparatus which is necessary in the demonstrations.

The switchboard was designed and constructed by the Standard Electric The Co. of Springfield, Mass. Representatives of the company spent several days going over the Science Hall with Dr. J. A. Swindler, and Dr. John Moorehead, of the physics department. They then designed the board to meet the needs of the building.

The board is located in the battery room in the basement of the Science Hall and can be inspected by interested students at any time by getting in touch with members of the department of physics.

FRESHMAN DEFY UPERCLASS RULES

houses for students who refused to observe regulations. They were marched to Browne Hall to be paddled.

Then the fun began! Maidens of the freshman class, not wishing to see their class warriors humiliated, made use of the eggs which were required as part of the initiation program. Instead of having upperclassmen inscribe their names on the shells each day, the fair lassies came to the rescue with a heavy barrage upon the heads of the unprotected sophomores. Over-ripe pears, apples, stale bread, and other sundry articles too numerous to mention accompanied the "hen fruit". The males of the freshman class were greeted with cheers while the upperclassmen were the recipients of hoots and jeers.

Nevertheless, the freshmen were paddled in the driving rain, and were ordered to observe the regulations. And the next thing will be cotton stockings, which will be worn by the fair sex.

HOLCAD STAFF REORGANIZES

According to the new policy with reference to student activities, the Holcad will elect editors in the future instead of having them appointed by the faculty committee on publications.

Harold Polonus, Sharon, was re-elected editor-in-chief by the staff heads of the paper at a meeting last week. The staff heads then resigned so that he could appoint from the editorial staff whatever students he wished. Polonus re-appointed the entire group, which includes: Ebba Sizer, Sharon, managing editor; Theresa Burgoon, Sharon, and Helen Louise Taylor, Sharon, associate editors; Maurice Michmerhuizen, Grand Rapids, Mich., sports editor; Alan Van Harper, Zellenople, intra-mural sports editor; and Robert Jones, Sharon, business manager, Grace Kelly, West Middlesex, was re-appointed assistant business manager.

In addition, an editorial advisory council to determine policies was formed which includes: Frank Goff, Charles Branfield, Eric Thompson, Jane Black, Fern Fox, Helen Snyder, James Bloker, and Robert Faber.

Titans Lose Third Game To Geneva

Coach John Lawther's Titans displayed the best brand of ball they have played so far this season on October 13, when they stacked up against the strong Geneva team at Beaver Falls despite the fact that at the end of the game the Covenanters were on the right side of a 20-0 score.

The Blue and White offered a strong defense for the first half and Grahame's forward to Begolly a few minutes before the end of the half was the first chance at scoring Geneva got.

Again in the third quarter the Titans forced the game and held the Covenanters scoreless. Westminster played Geneva on even terms, but the passing of Grahame was hard to cope with even though his old receiving buddy, Aultman, was on the sidelines.

The fourth quarter saw two scores when Robbins caught a pass from Grahame back in punt formation near his own goal line and raced 85 yards. Grahame stood on his own 6-yard line and Robbins caught the ball on his 15. Johnston's 27-yard run gave Geneva its last touchdown a few minutes before the game ended.

Westminster made one real scoring threat. The Titans advanced from their own 42-yard line into scoring territory, but Troiano intercepted a pass on his own five-yard line to stop the threat.

The fact that Westminster made 11 first downs to 13 by Geneva gives some idea of the closeness of the game. Geneva completed six out of 17 forward attempts, and Westminster completed 5 out of 17. The Titan punts averaged 41 yards while Geneva averaged 39.

Westminster men recovered three of Geneva's four fumbles. The Titans were penalized 35 yards, while Geneva lost 25 yards in this way. The fact that all of the penalties were for five yards and most of them were for incomplete passes shows that it was a clean game.

Score by quarters:
Geneva 0 7 0 13—20

The lineups:
Scoring: Begolly, Robbins, Johnston. Placements: Grahame 2.

Young Is In Hospital; Unable To Play Sat.

Walter Young, who was injured the early part of the season in scrimmage, will be unable to play in the Thiel game tomorrow. Expansion of Intra-Mural Card Is Dream of Jack Hulme

Intra-mural athletics at Westminster college have been receiving more and more attention during the past three years than ever before. From an organization sponsoring two or three sports during the college year it has grown to be one of the most attractive extra-curricular activities.

A survey taken at the close of last year showed that approximately 80 per cent of the student body took an active part in one or more of the sports sponsored. Considering the inadequacy of the intramural equipment such a splendid record deserves commendation.

That realm of activities should not be allowed to die out, especially when the interest of the student body has been so definitely proven. With certain improvements and additional equipment the sport program could be made so interesting that practically every student in school would find something to his liking.

In a recent interview with Jack Hulme the writer had the pleasure of listening to a man talk upon a subject that was not only his position, but his pleasure and chief interest. One could easily understand why, without adequate facilities, the intra-mural program is attractive to the students.

Mr. Hulme outlined a possible sport program which would make the intra-murals a very definite part of the college life. The cost, in comparison to the value received, would be very slight, and it would offer some form of physical exercise to everyone.

The present sport field is badly in need of grading and general re-arranging, but it is a place which could be made an ideal spot for student recreation, for example:

A section could be devoted to such sports as volleyball, mushball, tennis, horseshoes, and archery. These courts would be graded and kept in playing condition.

Another section of the field could be made into a baseball diamond and inter-fraternity or inter-class baseball could be sponsored in the spring. A portion of this field could be arranged so that it could be flooded in the winter time making a college skating rink.

Rifle shooting, wrestling, skiing, and archery could be added to the present schedule. The equipment used at the present time could be increased, and in some instances, replaced.

These are just a few tentative possibilities, but it is a certainty that the intra-murals could be made a very definite part of the campus life. To do this the college would necessarily make an expenditure, but would not the advantages far exceed the financial cost?

At the present time mushball, volleyball, water polo, horseshoes, badminton, basketball, archery, football, and tennis, are under the direction of Mr. Hulme. The badminton and archery equipment was purchased by Jack Hulme from a personal contribution. Certainly such a splendid interest in the intra-mural director deserves recognition from the "powers that be".

Approximately $1,000 would be needed to furnish equipment for the suggested sport schedule. This would not include the grading of the athletic field, nor the construction of playing courts for the various outdoor sports, but when we consider the advantages of a strong and healthy body against monetary units there is no doubt as to the betterment of intramural facilities.

Both Teams Have Lost To Geneva; Thiel Has Slight Edge Over Titans

BULLETIN

Although no confirmation could be received from Head Coach John D. Lawther today, it is rumored that Ketterer and Alfred Andrews, backfield men, will not appear in uniform for the Titans tomorrow when the football team faces Thiel at Greenville, Pa. No details could be learned by press time from authorities.

If there is one "natural" among college football games for the season, it is the Thiel-Westminster contest scheduled for Greenville on Saturday. Both conference rivals will be out to win the first contest of the season, and since both teams are about equal in ability the contest should be one of the most interesting in the district.

Thiel has lost to Geneva and Slippery Rock, while the Titans have lost to Slippery Rock, Geneva, and St. Bonaventure. Comparative scores mean nothing, but they do show that Thiel was stronger than Westminster against Geneva, losing by a 20-6 score while the Titans lost 20-0; and Westminster was stronger against Slippery Rock, losing 13-7 while Thiel lost 13-0.

The probable lineup:

Mermaid Club Plans To Swim To New Castle

The Mermaid Club held its first official meeting of the year Monday, October 16. The 28 girls who passed the test which was the requirement for membership, reported. Miss Betty McCrory, as swimming supervisor of the Woman's Athletic Association, had charge of the meeting, and explained the purpose and plans of the club.

The purpose of the club is to promote interest in intra-mural swimming for girls. This activity has, until this year, been rather neglected. Being subsidiary to the W.A.A., the club will award a certain number of points to each member, which may be used toward W.A.A. credit.

Some of the plans include a swimming exhibition before the Christmas holidays, work in Life Saving, and "swimming to New Castle". The latter is a plan whereby the distance to New Castle will be covered by "doing lengths". Speaking in terms of Westminster's swimming pool, the distance is 792 lengths. At the beginning of each swim period each girl is required to swim at least five lengths. This number will be gradually increased, until, by the end of this semester the entire distance to New Castle will have been covered during the "warming up" period.

The following girls have been accepted as members: Brindle, Morrison, Falls, Ralston, Washabaugh, Dornhoeffer, Work, Pollock, Spelman, Rymer, Mitchell, Metzler, M. E. Morrow, M. Morrow, McCartney, L. Nevin, M. Nevin, Charles, McCrory, Wettick, Gage, McCabe, Cohn, Lindsey, Veazey, and Cene.

Cross Country Squad Loses First Meet To Pitt; 15-40

Last Saturday, October 14, Westminster lost its first cross country meet of the season by a 15-40 score to the all powerful Pitt harriers at the Schenley park course. Due to the poor marking and shortness of the course the Titan runners came in somewhat late but in good condition. The winning time for the 4 1/2 mile course was 25 minutes 44.2 seconds.

The following girls were chosen as members of their various teams. Freshman soccer: Lorimer, Bryan, Bakken, Washabaugh, Metzler, McNab, Morrison, Pliester, Schnebly, Bolles, Dornhoeffer, Dickson, Means, and Cene.

Full Program To Feature Annual Homecoming Day

Eight events are on the program for the annual alumni homecoming celebration at Westminster College on Saturday, November 11th. The complete program for the day was announced yesterday by the local committee which is headed by Dr. S. E. Calhoun.

The college will entertain parents, graduates and former students at the alumni luncheon which will be held in Browne Hall at one o'clock.

At 1:30 p. m. the Cross-Country race between Muskingum and Westminster will start. The homecoming-day game between the Muskingum and Westminster football teams will begin at 2:30 p. m.

A reception for all alumni and visitors will be held in Browne Hall at 4:30. Dean Mary E. Turner will be in charge of this function.

Fraternity and sorority dinners will be held in frat houses, dormitories and private homes at 5:30.

Two dramatic productions, under the direction of alumni, will be presented in the Community House at 8 o'clock in the evening. Prof. A. T. Cordray announces.

A dance will be given at the gymnasium from 8:30 until 11:30 and (for those who do not care to dance) a party will be held at the same time in Browne Hall.

The local committee in charge of arrangements included: Dr. S. E. Calhoun, chairman; Mrs. James A. McLaughry, Miss Elizabeth McBane, and Miss Belle Corinne Mercer.

Offutt-Harper Win New Cheer Contest

Cheers, submitted by members of the student body, were voted on last night by the students attending the Duke-Westminster pep meeting.

First prize was awarded to George Hollander; second prize to Robert X. Graham. Both winners were ineligible for the awards and a second vote was held. William Offutt's cheer won first prize, and second place went to Alan Harper.

Offutt will receive a free trip to the Duke-Westminster game tonight; Harper will be guest of the college at the Grove City game.

FALSE ALARM SCIENTISTS

The mighty red motor of the New Wilmington fire department came screaming down Market street, took the turn at College street, and ground to a stop before Westminster's venerable, ivy clad Science Hall. Students flocked round, questions flew, Prof. Davis came flitting across the campus in a cold sweat, and many were the prayers offered up both for the salvation and destruction of the massive antique. This was the way it all happened:

"Scar" and "Whitey," wandering their usual useless ways across the campus, were suddenly startled by the red glow gleaming through the windows of the Chem lab. Now "Scar" was once a Boy Scout and being a quick thinking, good-turning sort of young fellow, ran to the alarm box, and almost sprained his wrist turning the knob. Then came the dawn and our efficient fire department had almost arrived.

As our brave fire-fighters were unslinging their axes, preparing to complete the damage, a pretty pair of science majors extended their respective heads through the nearest porthole, and staring in awe and amazement at the sight of the science staff tearing their hands and weeping bitter tears, inquired as to the reason for the excessive hubbub and what-not. And then had the temerity to coolly answer queries as to why they had not been cremated with the dampening response that they were conducting an experiment—and in the dark—and what an experiment—and were they mortified.

But "Alls Well That Ends Well" and hats off to Scar-brough for his heady action.

Fraternity Judge

DR. CHARLES FREEMAN

Doctor Charles Freeman has been named to judge the rushing activities of the various fraternities, whose "silent period" starts tomorrow morning.

Noted Explorer To Be Presented On Next Lecture Course Program

Alonzo Pond, noted explorer and anthropologist, will lecture on "The Country of Velled Men" November 13th. This is the second number on the college lecture course.

Mr. Pond is an entertaining lecturer, and his address will be supplemented by vivid lantern slides.

Mr. Pond is coming here with an enviable background in the history of early man. As a student in the University of Paris, he was fascinated with archaeology, and spent several years in study at the American School of Prehistoric Research. Mr. Pond was closely associated with Roy Chapman Andrews on the later expedition into the Gobi Desert in 1928.

In addition to his exploring trips through the Sahara and Gobi deserts, Mr. Pond has been conducting an extensive study of the Tuaregs, a native race of Northern Africa. He is the author of several books dealing with anthropology, and is held in high regard by the scientists of America. Mr. Pond's lecture is sure to hold a peculiar interest for every college student.

Colorful Masquerade Held By YWCA at Dorm

College women were entertained on Wednesday evening, October 25, by the Y. W. C. A. at a Halloween party, at Hillside. Martha Byers was in charge of plans, with Virgil Wettick acting as chairman of entertainment; Betty Newell, chairman of refreshments; and Esther Caughey, the head of decorations. The party began at 8:30 and lasted until 10:45 in the evening. Girls were dressed in masquerade. The dancing-room, dining hall, and W. A. A. room were set aside for dancing. Besides these, the basement and hall were given over to the playing of Halloween games. Refreshments were served.

W. A. A. To Hold Halloween Treasure Hunt Hike

Friday, October 27, the W. A. A. will hold a Halloween Party in the form of a treasure hunt. The search for "something or other" will begin at seven and will be climaxed by a bon fire, food, and ghost stories. In case of rain, the party will be held in the W. A. A. rooms in the gym.

Brown Hall "P. J." Party--"Comedy of Errors"

An expectant, breathless hush falls over the audience—the lights grow dim—the curtains part—the show begins—it is the "operetta" presented at the Browne hall "p. j." party.

The heroine, Ruth Fulton, trips in lightly to the accompaniment of the Spring Song—tra la la la tra-la la la. The hero, Jean Semple, enters dramatically. (Stars and Stripes Forever). The hero spies the lovely heroine and is smitten by her charms. ("Anvil Chorus"). She glances coyly at him and drops her handkerchief. (Crash!) wholly by accident, of course. He retrieves the handkerchief and they seat themselves on the nearest davenport to discuss the Geneva Disarmament Conference, which was taken over by the Conventions, 20-0. Just when the hero is waxing eloquent on the subject of economic conditions in the defunct Penthouse, the vamp, Helen Byers, slithers in. The heroine sees at once that she "ain't got no chance wit dat dame around". The hero is torn between love of country and love of—well you know what. Anyhow, he weakens and leaves the legitimate stage. The heroine is heartbroken. She manifests this fact by the use of heart-rending sobs and great heavings. At this point, the villain, Mary Lou Held, enters. The heroine screams and resists, but to no avail, because she is carried off to the villain's villa. The hero, much abased, enters the scene once more. Suspecting that foul play has been done, he takes Miss Beerbower's paper knife and kills himself. The heroine then returns, and upon seeing her fond lover stretched out cold, takes the same knife and repeats the performance. (That makes two down and two to go). Immediately the vamp enters, and when she sees the unhappy pair dead, she thinks it's some old custom and she does the same thing. At last, the villain clumps in. He laughs a wicked laugh, wipes off the paper knife, and kills himself with one fatal thrust.

The curtains are drawn together, and nothing is heard but the sobs in the audience.

"HONOR TO WHOM"

It has long been the opinion of many students and faculty members that Westminster should have a chapter of some honorary scholastic fraternity on the campus.

Such an organization would do much to encourage and reward high scholarship. There are various honorary fraternities for those who have taken part in activities on the campus, but those who excel in academic work receive nothing in the way of recognition. Journalism, debates, dramatics, and mathematics are recognized by societies formed for that purpose, in which members are enjoying certain privileges. Athletes are awarded college letters for their ability in games. But the "intelligentsia" pass by unnoticed.

If recognition cannot be gained in a national honor group for those students who are proficient in their studies, there is no reason why some local organization cannot be formed for that purpose. Surely, however, with the high rating which Westminster possesses among the colleges of the country, some such society should be petitioned for a chapter or, at the very least, some such society should be founded on the campus in order to "honor those to whom honor is due".

It is the opinion of the Holcad that the faculty should take steps for the installation of an honorary academic society on the campus immediately. It would not only be for the welfare of those eligible students, but it would indirectly prove to be of immense value to the academic rating of the institution.

May this rest with the faculty for their worthy consideration!

SONGS OF THE TIMES

The Fraternity Song

Now, mister freshman, can't you see
That we've the best fraternity?
Don't stop to think, or ask, or plan;
Just come with us.—Why you're the man
That we've been seeking all these years.
If you don't pledge we'll all shed tears.
Just think how big you'll feel some day—
If you will only come our way. —Av

The Freshman Song

Oh, gosh, oh, gee, where shall I go?
Shall it be Kapp or T. U. O.?
Or mayhaps, Phipi, Ep or Delt?
If you but knew how I have felt
To have them ask me, poor and rich;
They're not all right, but which is which?
I wish I knew where I was at!
Doggone, I guess I'll go non-frat! —Av

Things We Should Like To Know

What are the names of the squirrels who inhabit the campus trees?
Of how many flagstones is the south terrace composed?

Why do George Monks' ears vibrate when he hits a high note during chapel services?

Is murder justified when you drag yourself out of bed at five o'clock in the morning to bone for a test and then arrive at class and discover that the test has been postponed for a week?

We Hear That:

The T.U.O's have no beds in their second floor rooms. They sleep on the third floor and use the second floor for dressing and studying.

The Kaps make toast and coffee at all hours of the night.

The Eps churn their own ice cream.

The Phipis sing at the dinner table.

The Delts talk sports, morning, noon, and night.

Smoker Notes

Bridge, hearts, ping-pong, solitaire, smoking, eating, and talking are the most popular recreations at the fraternity smokers.

You should see some of the freshmen tackle their first cigar.

The motto of smoker guests is, "Don't bother about brands; grab all you can grab and trade later."

"Our idea of the perfect guest is the freshman who attended a smoker and brought his own pipe and tobacco with him."

From what we have seen this past week we believe that skiing is coming back as a winter sport.

Automobile Department

Here's a little story that came our way the other day.

It seems that Dolly Breen, pretty commuter from Farrell, and a senior in the bargain, drove into a gasoline station the other day. This in itself was an event, for although Miss Breen has been driving a car for some time, she had never had occasion to stop at a gas station.

The attendant came forward and Miss Breen asked him to put some air in the tires.

How much? was the response. Miss Breen's reply was classic.

About five gallons.

We rarely sell air by the gallon, was the shocked reply.

Well, give me a couple quarts, then.

The willing attendant, though obviously stunned, rallied and came back with, We haven't any fresh quarts of air at the present because we usually give it away by the pound.

Very well, said Miss Breen, determined to have the last word, give me a pound and a half.

Excerpt from a transfer's letter... "Westminster has only one Berty Quick; down here they all like him. Am I having a swell time?!"

The Audubon society should be interested in a new species of bird to be found flitting around the college campus of late. Although the members of the species cover the entire area of the college, they only sing to very select people and most of their caroling is pure "croaking". No one like them; everyone would like a shot at them; they are without exception a brilliant canary in color. Some people call them "stool pigeons." Anyone could suggest a more appropriate classification.

Last year it was Charlie, the Delt mascot. This year it is Hugo, the feline mascot of the Rat Hotel (Varsity House to yuh, sir). Hugo attended his first Chapel a few days ago. After the first hymn, he fell asleep in true collegiate fashion in the lap of one of our more beautiful coeds. We hope that Hugo has better luck with automobiles than poor Charlie had.

The one man show: Bill Douglass at the College Inn (minus the ball and chain).

After demonstrating every batting stance in both major leagues, Douglass gave some excellent imitations of Carl Hubbell and Lefty O'Doul and in conclusion told his enthralled audience how Wally Berger drove a ball out of Forbes Field to bounce into the fountain at the Carnegie Museum. Even the spire atop the Cathedral of Learning will not be safe if Bill goes to many more ball games.

The next time you young "bucks" answer the call of the wild be a little more cautious. Wouldn't it have been tragic if that raid squad had gathered some collegians as Exhibit A?

A tragic case. That Browne Hall Co-ed who recites and jabbars through each meal. On second thought, we can think of better things to occupy time than eating some of those F-Manchu concoctions.

A word to the wise. If you feel that your libido is sagging, watch that applesauce! Anyhow, we aren't in the Army anymore.

Hiram-Shasta; The Tale of The Kap Ford

Unknown to the general public a tender romance has been budding in our midst. Compared to it, the love stories of Napoleon and Josephine, Mark Anthony and Cleopatra, and Solomon and the Queen of Sheba are but platitudinous fairy tales.

We speak of those two soul mates, Hiram and Shasta. Hiram—a name that is symbolic of the strength and character that built our country. Shasta—a name of the orient, bringing with it the perfume of the East, the thoughts of languid eyes, soft arms, silks, and jewels. Hiram is known to most of us and the least that can be said about him is that he is a man's man. Shasta—well, Shasta is an old 1918 Ford. She's rather old, of course, and hasn't much in the way of beauty, but she has an abundance of character. One can see at first glance that she must have been a belle in her day. You forget her laborious movements at the thought of the lilted motion, and carefree grace of youth that once was hers. Her eyes are languid pools that hold in their mysterious depths untold memories, and glow, even yet, with the light of love when she sees Hiram—her master—her beloved—her man.

Hiram named her Shasta when he first started going with her, because, as he explains it, "She 'as to have gas, and She 'as to have oil, and She 'as ta be coaxed." An inherent laziness that is Shasta's is the reason she has to be coaxed. Oftentimes Hiram wants to go for a ride and Shasta refuses; the process of coaxing that is then resorted to involves towing, and pushing, and often, we are sorry to say, harsh words. Then as Hiram is about to give up in disgust, Shasta gives a snort of disdain and springs into life.

This habit of hers came very near to ruining their romance about a week ago. Shasta was being towed behind another car. Things were going excellently when Shasta took matters into her own hands: unexpectedly the rear right wheel started to come off, and at the same time the front wheels tried to go in two different directions. The car towing her stopped suddenly and Shasta threatened to climb up into its front seat, but at the last minute she changed her mind and ran into the curb. Hiram was disgusted, disgruntled, and disillusioned. Someone put the top up and there they left her.

Late that night friends went to see if she was comfortable. Never had human eyes rested upon a more pitiable, discouraged object. Her top was ragged, and sagging; looking for all the world as if she had been in a hair pulling match. In the flickering light from the street lamp her windshield gleamed brightly, as if she had forgotten her compact and didn't care if her nose was shiny or not. The four wheels were slanting at different angles, so that she appeared to be a trifle knock-kneed, and the tow rope lay draped over the radiator cap, reminiscent of pictures of not too temperate gentlemen arriving home in the "wee sma' hour," with their collars torn and their neckties hanging outside their vests.

The next day Hiram went back and patched up their differences and brought her home. Shasta is convalescing now and her spirit seems to be more subdued. Let us hope that they have begun a new era of mutual friendship and love.

Lawthermen Defeat Lutherans 14-0

Locals Display Power In 80-Yard Drive For First Score Of The Game

Sweeney And Laraway Score

By Douglass Smiley

Westminster's Titans scored their first win of the season by defeating Thiel 14-0, at Greenville last Saturday.

During the first quarter Thiel kept the Titans constantly on the defensive. Soon after the kick-off Strimer blocked Leyshock's punt on the Titan's 20. A pass sent the ball to the five yard line where it was first down and goal to go. Four times the Thiel backs drove hard at the Westminster line and four times they were thrown without gain, and Leyshock punted out from behind his own goal line.

Another quick drive brought the ball back to the Titan 3 yard line where again it was first down and goal to go. After gaining a yard in three plays Clarke tried to round end only to be thrown for a loss by Hunneke. Sweeney then punted out of bounds near the 50 yard line. This was Thiel's last bid for a score.

Thiel then punted to the Westminster's 20 yard line from where the Titans, with a varied running and passing attack carried the ball to Thiel's 15. Sweeney then tossed a pass to Laraway for the first score of the day. Hunneke kicked the extra point.

In the fourth quarter Scarbrough intercepted a pass at midfield and after three ineffectual line plunges the ball was kicked to the Lutheran's 15. From here they punted and Sweeney returned the ball to Thiel's 21. The ball was then carried to the 4 yard line by a series of plays and from there Sweeney went around end to score the second and last touchdown. Hunneke again kicked the extra point.

Westminster made 10 first downs as compared to Thiel's 9. The Titans were penalized 20 yards in all while Thiel lost 35. Thiel attempted 13 forward passes, completed 4, two were declared complete because of interference, and two were intercepted. The Titans attempted 3 passes, completed 2, and had none intercepted. Thiel fumbled three times and Westminster once.

Intramural Notes

Last Wednesday the final games in the intramural horse shoe tournament were completed; the Delts upholding a one game lead over the T. U. O.

Campbell and Paris were the two outstanding stars for the T's. A forfeit in the early part of the race prevented a possible tie with the Delts.

Newton and Hines represented the Delts in most of the contests. They had little difficulty in repeating their victory of the past year, both being exceptionally accurate pitchers.

Volleyball schedules will be completed on Monday of next week. The Delts have already completed their schedule without being defeated. T. U. O. is in second place with two defeats and six victories.

Each team will have played 10 games during the season and more than 80 players and 15 officials have been active in the two sports.

Simpson, James, Meider, Boyd, and Smizer officiated the majority of the games.

Water-Polo

The freshman team which challenged the sophomores to a water-polo contest went down to defeat Monday afternoon. McCully, of the freshman team was high scorer, garnering four of his team's nine points. Twelve points were totaled by the sophomores, the high scorers in their group being James and Fekete.

AT IT AGAIN!

Yesterday members of the freshman class sent a challenge to the sophomores asking that they send a football eleven, composed entirely of second year men, to meet the plebe team. The time, and arrangements for the game, to be in the hands of the intramural department.

More Fun!

Today representatives of the sophomore class accepted the challenge of the "youngsters", to meet them in the annual frosh-soph football game.

PRACTICE!

A meeting of the freshman boys interested in class football has been called for Monday afternoon, in the boys locker room, at 4:30.

GET TOGETHER!

Sophomores planning to play in the soph-frosh game are to report to the college gym at 4:30, Tuesday afternoon.

Georges "Jim"

Job Interesting

Since 1926 George Anderson has had charge of the Westminster college gymnasium. During this time he has handled equipment for all of the school athletic teams. Either through their participation in varsity or intra-mural athletics, or by attendance at Physical Ed. classes, practically every student has come in contact with him.

Since his connection with the college, Mr. Anderson has worked with 7 different athletic coaches. Those with whom he has associated are: Dyer, coach of Basketball 1926; Dyke Beede, coach of Football 1926-1930; Coleman, coach of Track and Tennis 1926; J. D. Lawther, coach of Basketball 1926-1930 and 1932-33; "Pops" Harrison, coach of Basketball 1931; Joe McFate, coach of tennis since 1927; and R. X. Graham, coach of Track and Cross Country since 1927. He has also worked with Jack Hulme, Trainer, and a number of assistant coaches in the various sports.

As equipment manager, George has handled athletic equipment for approximately 625 men. Of this number, 239 used football equipment, 204 track equipment, 112 basketball equipment, and 70 men participated in cross country running. Football has received the attention of more men than any other sport, during the time Mr. Anderson has been here. In 1928 he handled the largest amount of football equipment, with 37 men on the squad.

When "Old Main" was destroyed by fire early in 1927, George had charge of arranging the gymnasium building to take care of the academic classes which were held there until the completion of the present building "Old Main Memorial" which was first occupied in 1926.

On Injured List

BLOKER, "A"

Jim Bloker, center will see the Duquesne-Westminster game this evening from the sidelines, as he has been unable to report for practice all week. He suffered injuries to the right ankle and instep. Others on the injured list are: Laraway, Leyshock, Young, and Arrowsmith.

Sophomores Lose

Soccer Match

Wednesday of this week, the sophomore soccer team braved the wintry winds and threats of snow only to lose to the junior-senior team, 2-1. The goals were made by Pat Jones and Isabell McKnight. Although the game was slightly "below par" the playing of Mildred Ralston, Fern Fox, and Helen Simison was especially outstanding. As both teams appeared minus players, a number of freshmen were pressed into action.

Monday, October 30, the freshmen will meet the junior-senior combination; and Wednesday they will again play the sophomores. The only hockey game scheduled for next week will be played Friday, October 31, when the freshmen will meet the junior-senior group.

Titans-Dukes Play Tonight At Pittsburgh

With but one victory to their credit, the Westminster Titans will travel to Pittsburgh this afternoon to meet the Duquesne Dukes under the lights at Forbes Field tonight. Unlike their visitors, the boys from the Bluff have been victorious in every contest so far this season. Traditional rivals, and although quite evenly matched by the Pittsburgh boys on the basketball court, the New Wilmington lads are no match for the Irish on the gridiron.

Tonight's game will be the second successive Fall contest between the two teams. In 1929 the schools discontinued athletic relations to resume them again in 1932. In the fray at the Oakland park last year, the Dukes defeated the Titans by a 20-0 score. The United Presbyterians' biggest threat came in the final period when Wilhelm's interception of an Irish pass placed the visitors in scoring position. However, the superior strength of the Duquesne line did not allow the Westminsterites to turn their threat into a score.

With Leyshock possibly out of the game with a dislocated knee, and Young still unable to return to his guard post, the Titans will be somewhat handicapped in the game this evening. But with the Dukes probably intending on resting after their battle with the strong Detroit U. team last week, and the Titans in the winning mood, Westminster fans may be pleasantly surprised.

BY HAROLD POLONUS

ROUNCE GROVE CITY!

That is the cry on the Westminster campus this week-end as Coach John Lawther's Titans prepare for time honored encounter with the gladiators wearing the Crimson colors of Grove City College. The game will be played at Taggart Field, New Castle and will commence at 2:30 p. m.

Even now, with both teams primed to the "nth" degree, the battle looks like one for the ages. Both teams have been pointing to this fray all season and according to words emanating from the undefeated Crimson stronghold, they are out to avenge the defeat suffered last year when the Titans walked off the field with a 7-0 verdict. However, the Titans say that they will repeat!

Silent Period Ends Sorority Rushing

Rushing season for campus sororities will, officially, end Wednesday, November 8, when silent period will begin and continue through noon of Friday, November 10.

During silent period freshmen women are not permitted to talk to any upperclass sorority girl except senior members of the Pan-Hellenic council. Freshmen are also permitted to consult with any faculty member concerning their decision at this time.

All freshmen preferential cards must be returned to the college office by 8 a. m. Friday, November 10.

Gordon Balch Nevin Will Present First Recital

Gordon Balch Nevin will give his first organ recital of this season Tuesday, November 7 in the college chapel at 8:15 o'clock.

He plans to present the following program: "Overture Triomphale", Rearata; "Valse Mignonne", Rebikoff; Kreisler; the Good Friday music from "Passifal"; Wagner; "Sonata Tripartite", G. B. Nevin; Music Box, Leadon; and "Water Music", Handel.

Although the Titans have won but one contest so far this season, they will enter the game tomorrow with more gameness and fighting spirit than they have ever shown before. With practically every man available for duty, as the majority have recovered from injuries received in earlier contests. Coaches Lawther and Martin are especially optimistic over the outcome of the game and have instilled a "do-or-die" spirit into the hearts of their warriors.

Game is Traditional

Rivalry between the two schools has been keen since 1892, when two games were played. Since 1892, Westminster has won 15 games while Grove City has walked off the field with victory on 22 occasions. Four games ended in deadlocks. Last year, Westminster defeated the Crimson for the first time since 1924 by a 7-0 score; when Staples plunged over after a long drive through the line from mid-field.

The game, tomorrow, will be Grove City's first conference affair of the year while Westminster has already met Thiel, defeating the Lutherans by a 14-0 score. However, the Amos coached lads played Slippery Rock to a 6-6 tie, while the Lawthermen were defeated by the Rockets by a 13-7 tally in the opening game for both schools.

Titan Full Strength Available

Grove City holds the edge over the Titans by virtue of reserve material, carrying a squad of 39 men, while the locals will be fortunate if two teams are available for duty. However, the Titans are most versatile as the men have been schooled to play in as many as three different positions. The fact that Lawther will be able to call on Bloker to hold down his old center berth, after having missed the Duquesne game because of an injured left foot, suffered in the Thiel game, bolsters up the line considerably.

Laraway, and Arrowsmith, the Erie twins will also be ready for action, thus giving Lawther a source of backfield material upon which to call as Mintz, Bailey, Staples, and Sweeney are in fine shape for battle. "Pete" Leyshock will be back in uniform after being inactive for the

Why We Should Win!

Members of the football team have come to see during the past week that the attitude of the student body is this: The men on the team have ability. They are as good players as others on teams of small colleges. They are well coached. Any criticisms that have been offered have not been that the men were no good, but that perhaps they were not playing inspired ball.

As we face Grove City, we face a team governed by the same situations as found at Westminster. If Grove City wins, it merely means that the Grover players have that extra determination; that the Grovers have more fight than the Titans. Such, we know, is not, will not be true.

Let us look at the situation with reference to athletics at Westminster. While many colleges have announced publicly that they have "cleaned house" athletically, the facts show that this is far from true.

The standing, adopted at Westminster and followed, has reduced the number of scholarship men to a minimum. There are not enough men on the football squad this year to make possible development of old material, much less the finding of new ability.

High academic standing required, by the Tri-State Conference and by the college place Westminster athletes higher than in a majority of colleges. The Conference rule is that no athlete who receives help may compete in Conference games unless he was a high school honor student. If this rule were applied to debates, the band, dramatics, publications, one can readily see how many students would be eligible. It looks like a stacked deck against athletics, and still may have been done in good faith.

Faculty attitude toward athletes is not based upon facts. There are, on the present very small football squad more than half a dozen high school honor students. The other men on the squad have done good academic work. If we start with a prejudice, as faculty members in any college may do if not careful, and if we decide that a man is an athlete and therefore a poor student, we arrive nowhere. More than this, the athlete is handicapped.

Lack of docility is sometimes resented by college professors. Athletes, being virile and free-thinking, often do not swallow all that is said in class. This is a compliment to such men, as any true professor can see. The real professor does not dote on docile receptacles of his teaching.

Student attitude is also partly to blame. Students who have not learned to play think that football is hard work. As a result, there are no new recruits available for the team this year from the student body. Students believe that if they go out for the team, they should receive scholarships and other awards. Then, too, co-education and other similar inane activities are so much more attractive to those who are always first at finding fault when a team loses.

There seems to have been a queer attitude at Westminster. No honor is given an athlete unless his team wins. His teams cannot win unless there are plenty of players available. There are, this year, only half enough football players. The limitations of the Conference, the Middle Atlantic States and Maryland Association, and the college make for even less players. Less players, make for even less chance of winning.

Faculty members and students talk about "amateur athletics." Neither faculty and students nor the general public want "amateur athletics." If they do, why such a howl when amateur teams lose? The amateur system is based on playing just for the fun of it. But college students, alumni, the wiser faculty members, and the general public know that the real fun in playing is in winning.

Credit on the campus for the superb physical fitness, the courage, the determination, the energy, and the self denial of athletes is often lacking on the part of students and officials.

Actually, the full-rounded personality, the man among real he-men, the person on whom you can rely in a crisis, the one who is best equipped for life's battles, the most healthful and virile force in modern civilization is the intelligent athlete.

Campus attitude toward the men on the Westminster squad this year is, happily, changing. During the last two weeks the student body and many of the professors have been expressing to the players their belief that the men are worthy of pride and enthusiastic support. Tonight's pep rally will be another expression of that confidence. The football team, therefore, has no other alternative than to prove again on Saturday that the pride and confidence of the campus has not been misplaced.

ENTHUSIASTIC SCHOLARSHIP

From an absolute point of view it seems impossible that anyone except an itinerant chapel-speaker could become enthusiastic over the status of scholarship in this institution. Scholarship, to all appearances is no better here than elsewhere.

A great deal of note-taking, of book-buying, of book-bearing and class attending there may be; but to an impartial but intelligent visitor from Missouri it seems impossible that the majority of classrooms could reveal anything notable inside except perhaps the extraordinary amiability of the instructors. Of intellectual enthusiasm, of original student thinking, of even decently clear understanding of what the entire academic business is about there seems little save great dearth.

Sparsely sprinkled among the quick and the dead, there are, we will agree, some conscientious (but blind as a bat) grubbers. There are also we add, some precocious parrots making a noise like "side show barking" for straight "A" grades. For the rest, there is merely a vast apathetic mass clicking its heels together academically and discontentedly wondering, "What good this is going to do anybody anyhow?"

It's lots of fun to become lachrymose, blame oneself bitterly and blubber out loud over one's own degeneracy. In this case, however, supposing the blubbering has been omitted, are we, the students, entirely to blame?

For every blameworthy effect, there is a blameworthy cause. In this situation would it be anywhere near the truth to intimate that the blameworthy cause resides somewhere between the "zeit geist", the Spirit of this Age, and that side of the cheering section generally given over to instruction?

Moreover, seeing as how in a Liberal Arts college, the retrogressive portions of a "zeit geist" should be cut out altogether by combat, would it be indiscreet to jump further to one last obvious but rather unkind conclusion?

It was just about four years ago,

In a city beside the sea,

That a dame there lived whom you may know

By the handle of Sadie McKee;

And this baby she lived with no other thought

Than to feed and be clothed by me.

And then in November in twenty-nine

In this city by the sea,

The bottom fell out of the market one day,

Chilling my Sadie McKee;

And took her away from me,

To shut her up in a penthouse

Forty stories above the sea.

For the bank never phones without mentioning loans

Oh, my fashionable Sadie McKee;

And my bell when it rings still brings bills for your things

Oh, chiseling Sadie McKee;

And so all the night-tide, I must swallow my pride,

My gold digging honey took all but my hide,

But Oh, that some day I will dough-heavy be,

There's a lot worse in Gotham than Sadie McKee.

New Wilmington Fire Department,
New Wilmington, Pa.

Gentlemen:

Permit me to express on behalf of the college our sincere appreciation of the promptness with which you responded to our fire alarm last Thursday night in the Science Building.

While we were greatly relieved to find our fears were groundless, the appearance of the building from the outside did fully justify the rearing of the alarm. The great value and low fire resistance of the Science Building render its preservation worthy of even such excessive precautions as were then taken.

Hoping that no member of the company was severely inconvenienced and expressing our thanks for the service you rendered, I am

Sincerely yours,

National Scholastic Press Association in making its awards, has again honored the Argo by giving it first class honor rating for last year's book.

The Argo, the only Pennsylvania college year book placing in the awards, won 850 out of a possible 1000 points. It has been the only college annual to win high honors for six years in succession; taking All-American prize for the last five years.

Credit for the fine showing made is given to Paul McMinn, editor and Charles Brandfield, business manager.

W. A. A. To Vote On Candidates

By LIBBY CONE

Announcement is made by the W. A. A. that, with the close of the current soccer and hockey season, new members will be elected to their organization, from these teams. Although there is no limit to the number of girls who may be admitted, the number will probably range from ten to twenty, this being the season when the largest number of girls participate in sports.

The following requirements constitute the conditions for membership: possess outstanding athletic ability in one sport, and participate in more than one; attend faithfully sport practices; possess good moral character, with marked qualities of sportsmanship; maintain an average of "C" in all subjects; pass written examination on the rules of the sport in which you excel; be voted into membership by members of the executive board, after passing test on the constitution of the W. A. A. Membership acquired is not membership maintained, for each member must "come out" for at least one sport a semester, and live up to the rules of W. A. A. and Westminster college.

The purpose of W. A. A. is "to promote athletics for girls, create a love of sports, and to foster ideals of sportsmanship."

Annual social events include a Halloween Party, a formal initiation with a banquet or party, and a formal spring banquet. The activities include organized horse-back riding, roller skating, hiking, breakfast and supper hikes, entertainment for all girls, swimming parties, and the awarding of letters in recognition of athletic ability and for intra-mural sports.

Under the point system now effective, a girl voted outstanding in any sport receives 100 points. To a W. A. A. member who tries out for a sport, 50 points is given. For the accumulation of 1000 points, a large "W" is awarded. A small letter representing the various sports is awarded to each girl receiving 100 points.

The executive board of the W. A. A. for the current year is as follows: President, Lola Sewall; Vice President, Martha Byers; Secretary, Pat Jones; Treasurer, Fern Fox; Hockey chairman, Mary E. Morrow; Soccer chairman, Jane Holland; Hike chairman, Mildred Ralston; Swimming supervisor, Betty McCrory; and Sponsor, Miss Nandeen Love.

Hockey

Freshmen girls won their first intra-mural victory Thursday of last week, when the freshman hockey team gained a 1-0 victory over the sophomores. Esther Bryan scored the only goal of the game; while "Belle" Lorimer with Mary Jane Metzler lead the freshman attack and turned in fine performances. The play of Dottie Young and Allene Somerlade was outstanding on the losing team.

The freshmen will again meet the sophomores Tuesday, November 7, at 4 o'clock.

Titans Primed For Undefeated Crimson Eleven

Thirty-One Points; Sixty-Two Dukes; Seventeen Titans!

By DON KELLETT
Sports Reporter (Still) At Large

Upon Forbes Field, those Bluff-ites go,
Across the goal line, fast and slow
That is our lot, and though time flies,
Our bones will ache from them tough guys
The gun at last—now take a blow!

Last Friday night the boys from the hilltop eked out a 31-0 defeat over the Westminster iron men; the victory being even more commendable when it is recalled that the Dukes accomplished this by only using three complete elevens against the Tottering Titans' sixteen small but versatile pigskin toters.

The Lawther coached outfit was no match for the heavier Layden men although Pittsburgh sports writers were unanimous in their opinion that Westminster was undoubtedly outplayed but decidedly not out-fought. The old story of no reserve strength repeated itself for the fourth time this season. Throughout the 60 cold minutes of play, the locals harrassed the Duquesne ball carriers, no end, causing numerous fumbles deep in scoring territory.

In the initial stanza, after a sustained drive to the Westminster three yard line, Signor Zaninski, one of the Irish halfbacks, fashioned a gaudy fumble, upon which Master Dick Lubuono starting at left end, gracefully flopped, whereupon Herr Sweeney contrived a mighty boot to set the Layden men back where they started from. The triumph was merely temporary, however, when after a 50 yard march the chastised and repentant Mr. Zaninski scored on a four yard dive over tackle. Zaney, who had on and off moments all evening, then proceeded to stub his toe upon the try for conversion.

In scene two, the wolf (Zaninski) again knocked at the Titan door. Admission being allowed, he tore through the upset Westminster household for 24 juicy yards. After being forcibly ejected, he entered once more; this time for eight yards and a touchdown. Not to be too much of a nuisance, the old maestro graciously allowed his second try for placement to be blocked. About this time, numerous new faces were to be seen hovering around the Duquesne camp fire; cruel faces, desirous of a place in the sun. Play being resumed, a 59 yard march began with Monsieur Marin, one of the new comers playing "The Stars and Stripes" as the goal line was crossed for the third time during the first act. Emulating his temperamental ancestor, Marin refused to convert and the Presbyterian ledger now read; Credit: 0—Debit: 18.

At this point the Titan forward wall began to show signs of wear and tear, causing the removal of Mr. Siljander, who nobly filled the shoes of the incapacitated "Hooknose" Bloker. Play was resumed. From the Westminster 23-yard line Fillingham, another of the many numerous Duquesne halfbacks started on an end run. Seeing many blue-clad figures swarming down upon him, he decided to try his hand at bowling, and rolled a grounder to the hovering McDonald near the sideline. Much to the chagrin of both Fillingham and the appreciative Titans, Mr. McDonald refused to play this fascinating new game and gambled some 27 yards for the fourth score. The newest of the tribe of Zaninski and Marin appeared, a lad named Baron, who carried on the torch and missed the extra point.

Later in the third period, the playful Fillingham dashed 23 yards to the Westminster 15. Upon the next play he again played his beloved game and this time it was Mr. Mintz, a newcomer to the Titan ranks who recovered the fumble. Nothing daunted, after Sweeney had punted the Bluffites well back, Fillingham sprinted some 37 yards for the final touchdown of the game. This time a traitor appeared, Gates by name, who much to the disgust of his clan, booted the ball over the uprights.

Upon the advent of the Duquesne varsity, the Westminster team, braced itself and shoved the first stringers far from the goal line. The game soon ended, much to the relief of the 4700 frozen fans. In the final quarter, the gigantic Joe Straw, a light on the Titan forward wall, seized a grounded fumble and waded down the field for several yards but was called back due to the fact that the ball was dead when it touched the ground. Mr. Straw was none the less pleased however, and was heard to remark proudly, "What the —, they didn't catch me anyhow."

Spencer Davis Recovers After Sudden Operation

Spencer Davis, Titan cross country runner, who underwent an operation for appendicitis last week is getting along nicely according to reports. Davis complained of a pain in his side last Thursday night, and was rushed to Jameson Memorial hospital.

Davis entered the tryouts for the team held last Tuesday over the Fayette course and finished fifth, thereby winning a place on the Titan team. Arthur Deichmiller, Oakmont, alternate, went to Morgantown in place of Davis.

past week and will hold down his own position at right end. Hunneke will start at the other wing position. The center of the line will see Scarbrough and Straw, hefty tackles ready to display their best work of the year, while Franklin and Hollander, two Long Island boys will occupy the guard berths.

Crimson "Ponies" Dangerous
Grove City's "pony backfield" will prove a constant threat, however, to the Titan defense as Deems, Gross, Orris, and Smith, the probable starters for the crimson, are known to be about as shifty a quartet of ball toters as found in the Tri-State Conference ranks. Their line, slightly lighter than the Titan forward wall will undoubtedly be composed of Tomko and Soich at the terminals, Caulfield and Plance at the tackles, Beres and Binder at guards, and Bache holding down the center position.

All in all, it looks like a "battle royal", with plenty of thrills to be uncorked before the afternoon has waned to a close. Coaches Lawther and Martin will not send their charges to New Castle until shortly before game time, in order that they secure a maximum of rest for the encounter, which should be witnessed by the largest crowd ever to attend a collegiate game in this section.

Klumph Breaks West Virginia Course Record

Westminster's varsity cross country team triumphed over the University of West Virginia harriers Saturday afternoon at Morgantown, winning by a 24-31 score.

Running over the mountainous five-mile course, Perry Klumph, Titan captain, finished first in 30 minutes, 50 1/2 seconds, breaking the course record. Hill, of West Virginia, finished second, negotiating the distance in 31 minutes, 12 1/2 seconds.

The order of finish: Klumph, Westminster, first; Hill, West Virginia, second; Snyder, Westminster, third; Manor, Westminster, fourth; Martin, West Virginia, fifth; Kennedy, Westminster, sixth; Mason, West Virginia, seventh; Haskin, West Virginia, eighth; Woodhill, West Virginia, ninth; Needham, Westminster, tenth.

Westminster finished four men in the first six, and won out with a low Westminster tenth. Westminster finished four men in the first six, and won out with a low score of 24.

The Titan harriers lost the first meet to Pitt two weeks ago, and now point for the Muskingum race to be run on the home course Nov. 11 as one of the features of the homecoming day.

Soccer

Due to a rather serious injury which was sustained by a member of the freshman soccer team, the Monday game with the junior-senior group was called off late in the second half. At that time the junior-senior combination, the only team which has not been defeated to date, held a 1-0 lead over the freshmen. The game will be played off Wednesday, November 8, at 4 o'clock.

Ho Hum! Why Can't The World Powers Behave Themselves?

World powers are staging a return engagement of that delightful comedy entitled, "Geneva Disagreement Conference" at Geneva. It is played by an all-star cast. A new role has been added. It is played by Herr Hitler, the new German sensation, who takes the part of the villain in the first act. The main significance of the play is that it reveals Germany as back in the ranks again. The invalid has recuperated rapidly in the last few years. Today she is back on her feet—a trifle shaky and weak, of course, but nevertheless, up and about her business. But like all convalescents, she wants the things she had before her illness.

If you remember, when Germany was taken ill, a consultation of doctors, known as the Allied Powers, prescribed a diet, known as the Treaty of Versailles. The diet excluded such things from the national menu as war-planes, large battle ships, and so forth. Today Germany claims that she is ready to go off the diet. She believes that her illness, which the doctors diagnosed as howling hydrophobia, requiring quarantine and strict supervision, was nothing more than a severe case of strawberry rash. But she won't promise to be a careful girl in the future and keep her feet dry, and her nose clean—to the contrary, she's mad because she can't go out and play ball with the other boys and girls. She even delivers ultimatums—imagine! Perhaps she's been spoiled. This week she said, "If you can't let us have what we want, at least give us some 'samples' so that if any of the 'gang' should drop in unexpectedly, we'd have something with which to entertain them. We're positively itching to get our hands on some of those shiny new combat planes that make such a nice buzzing noise, and drop bombs, and shoot little lead bullets."

As the first act opens we find the doctors in consultation. They have called in a number of other specialists: Handsome Adolph Hitler, Germany's papa, is also present. A gala time is promised. The main question to be settled is whether or not Germany's demands are to be met, but before that can be decided upon, each of the doctors has to decide as to how the decision is going to effect his reputation and standing. Each of the doctors is frightened at the possibility of losing the friendship of one of the others, and consequently care must be taken to make haste slowly. So the play drags on, with everyone either evading the question, or answering it with his tongue in his cheek, and they finally bring it to an hilarious finish by deciding on nothing more than the date on which the next meeting will be held.

That, of course, is the way former performances have been given. Possibly there will be some slight change in the script this year. If so it will delight the audience; if not, no one will be very surprised.

Prexies Extend Greetings

Heads Of Sister Schools Issue Messages To Campus

DR. R. F. GALBREATH

Dear Friends:

I am very happy to express a word of greeting to the faculty, students, and alumni of Westminster College in behalf of Muskingum College. We were glad to have you as our Homecoming guests last year. We are appreciative of the welcome which you have given us. As for the football game, may the better team win.

Very sincerely yours,
Robert N. Montgomery
President,
Muskingum College

Westminster College has a very great privilege today in welcoming to our campus as our guests a great body of Westminster alumni and also visitors from our sister college, Muskingum. One of life's sweetest privileges is that of meeting one's friends. Whether they be new friends or long-time friends matters little. This is our privilege today. Westminster is yours today. Our residences are open to you. Our halls wait to welcome you. The latch-string is out for you. Welcome to Westminster—old friends of the years, Alumni; new friends for the years-to-be, Muskingum, officers, athletes, students.

Robert F. Galbreath,
Westminster College

Griffin Reported Doing Nicely After Operation

'Des' Griffin, senior, has been removed to his home from Buhl Hospital, Sharon, where he underwent a successful operation for appendicitis last Saturday morning.

Griffin took sick Friday evening and was taken to Buhl Hospital Saturday morning. His physician reports his condition as very good.

Marjorie Sample Killed At Railroad Crossing

Word has been received of the death of Marjorie Sample, Springdale, Pa., a member of last year's graduating class, at about 9:00 p. m. Thursday night, through injuries received, when the automobile which she was driving was caught between two trains, near Creighton, Pa.

Miss Sample, who has been engaged in welfare work, was returning to her home at the time of the accident. Witnesses state that there was a south-bound passenger train standing at the crossing when Miss Sample started her car across the tracks. A north-bound Pennsylvania passenger train struck her car and forced it into the south-bound train.

She transferred to Westminster from Grove City college her senior year, and graduated with a B. B. A. degree last June. During her senior year she was a proctor at the McKelvey house.

Funeral arrangements have not been made according to Mrs. Alan B. Davis, a cousin of Miss Sample.

New Reporters Added To Holcad Staff This Week

Twelve upperclassmen have been appointed as reporters on the Holcad staff this week.

Melda Bryant, Ruth Clarke, Isabel Scheetz, Lucille Amendola, Jane Work, Gertrude Lindsay, and Josephine McGoun are the sophomores who have been appointed.

To Honor Veterans

In memory of those alumni who lost their lives in the World War, a one minute silence will be observed this afternoon at the half of the Muskingum-Westminster game.

ALUMNI, ATTENTION!

This Holcad is presented to the alumni with the compliments of the Holcad staff.

Any alumnus who wishes to subscribe to the Holcad may do the same by paying their alumni dues, $2.00 a year, to those girls of the junior class who are in charge of distribution. They are: Anne Thomas, Mary Stanier, Charlotte Melhorn, Ruth Martin, Helen Snyder and Mary Blackwood.

Muskingum Graces Role Of Honor For Day's Activities

By VIRGINIA BOOTH

Members of the junior class are acting as hosts to-day as members of the Alumni Association and friends from Muskingum college gather here. Eight major events will afford the guests an opportunity to renew friendships and to make new acquaintances.

The Juniors who are in charge of homecoming activities are: John Kelso, chairman, Robert Faber, Mary Morrow, Fern Fox, Tom Smith, and Lucille Litman.

Luncheons, teas, dinners, cross country race, football game, reception, plays, dance and party will be included in the program of events for the day.

A special feature will be added to the program for Homecoming Day is the girl's hockey game, scheduled for 10 o'clock, Saturday morning. The sophomores will meet the junior-senior team. As this will be the play-off of last week's game which ended in a 2-2 tie, both teams will have their best players on hand and plenty of action can be promised. Captaining the sophomores will be Helen Simison, while Isabel McKnight will lead the junior-senior attack.

I.N.A. To Be Invited Here For Meeting

The Inter-collegiate Newspaper Association of the Middle Atlantic States and Maryland will be extended an invitation to hold its Spring convention at Westminster by Harold Polonus who will attend the fall meeting at John Hopkins university, Baltimore on November 17 and 18.

Polonus will speak before the convention which will be attended by a number of well-known daily newspaper publishers and editors. The subject of his paper will be, "Illustrations for College Newspapers".

There are about 130 colleges from New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, West Virginia, and District of Columbia who belong to the association and should the spring meeting be held at Westminster, representatives from these colleges will meet here.

Judge Cummins Dies After Brief Illness

Judge Andrew Cummins of Washington county, of the class of 1901, died suddenly on Friday morning, November 3. He had just come through a successful strenuous political campaign in which he sought re-election. In his college days, Judge Cummins was regarded as an athlete of outstanding ability. He was the champion mile runner of the Conference while here and starred in football particularly in his post-graduate days at Pitt.

Judge Cummins was an outstanding lawyer of the Washington county bar, served for some years as district attorney and for the past twelve years has been judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Washington county.

S. W. McGinness, Esq., of Pittsburgh represented Westminster at the services.

Sabbath Chapel

Dr. R. F. Galbreath announces that there will be the regular Chapel service on Sabbath evening.

Lack of Student Center Handicaps Campus Activities

Westminster is in need of a student center to accommodate activities on the campus. At present and heretofore, students seeking a place in which to meet informally or formally have been forced to use the chapel.

The chapel is not the place to hold meetings. It is, rather, a place where one should be able to go for quiet and meditation: where one should be able to commune with Him in whose name the chapel was built. In other words, students are forced to use a place designated for secular purposes for their meetings because of the proper facilities on the Westminster campus.

To what extent does such a handicap affect the student body? A conservative estimate shows that approximately twenty organizations, exclusive of classes, are hampered in their efforts to be active groups on the campus.

It is true that each organization manages to hold its meetings when necessity demands, but it is an undeniable fact that there is not a group among them which could not be more active in promoting campus life and projects, provided the proper facilities for meeting and gatherings were available.

HOMECOMING

The spirit of returning is one of the most profound influences that help to mould the wayward life of man. Perhaps it is even the most beautiful, the most deeply significant.

In the beginning, God projected creation away from Himself in order that it might hunger and thirst to get back to him; and certainly the whole course of our human life bears out this theory.

After graduation the alumni are projected far enough from the campus so that the real values of the college are seen through the distance. It is then that the graduate and former student realizes the beauty and peace and grandeur of Old Westminster, which qualities escaped him often in the rush of college days.

And so Homecoming Day was established that alumni might return, chum again with their classmates and friends of college days, and inspire their work-a-day lives with some of the zeal and enthusiasm of campus life.

WELCOME MUSKINGUM

An important significance of Homecoming
Day is the fact that for the first time in a number of years, this school plays host to Muskingum, its "sister school" of the United Presbyterian Church.

Muskingum's representatives are welcomed here today. It is the earnest hope that their visit to the Westminster campus will serve to strengthen and weld the relations between the colleges for many years to come.

"LEST WE FORGET"

Graduates and former students of Westminster are returning today to the campus to live again the days of the past. Three men, Robert Collins Dornon, '19, J. Wilbur Randolph, '18, and J. Clifford Richards, '19, will be missing.
These men sacrificed their lives upon the altar of the "war god". They will be enshrined forever as Westminster students who made the ultimate sacrifice for their country during the World War.

They belong to their country, to their families, and to Westminster. Mere words cannot do them the honor they deserve. We must remember them, we must honor them always in our hearts. May they rest in peace!

A 600-pound vibrating table has been developed in the mechanical engineering laboratory at Stanford University which can create on a small scale the effect of an earthquake. The purpose of the invention is to test shock resistance of bridges, dams, office buildings and other structures.

Frank Carideo, former all-American quarterback at Notre Dame, has failed to win a single major game during his first two years as head coach of the University of Missouri.

Holcadabra

According to the latest data we have found, if all the students in chapel were put end to end,
they would fall asleep.

Our choice for the "All-American Pain" is the bird who sits behind us at the football games and tells everyone how much better and tougher the players were, when he was playing back in '09. In the meantime he flicks the ashes from his cigar down the back of our neck.

We certainly wish he were still playing!!

As a cure for that would be atheist on the campus who doesn't believe in a Hades, it has been suggested that he take a lab course in Biology.

It's the truth, so help us!

At the time of registration, a freshman rushed into Prof. Graham's office and gasped out,
"Mr. Graham, I want to be an English major!!"

"That's fine", answered that dignitary, "I'll play too. I'll be a German general."

There ought to be a law.....

We were at the game on Saturday too and we will be darned if we saw Mac West. What do you think we went to the game for, Ben?

It seems that some people get everything.
Meider, not content with being president of every imaginable thing on the campus, has recently been elected King of the Dorm.

There is a rumor, however, that says there may be a Thorne in his side, which also irritates McKean friend!

These people who say that the Latin races can talk faster than any other type in the world should hear some of the proctors of the girls' dorm asking "grace" before meals.

The Humane Society should give Bob Faber some kind of an award. Although he has been a nimrod for at least two years, the only things he has brought back have been a pair of cold feet and a great desire for rest.

The Parenthesis Club, unique organization at the State Teachers College in Trenton, N. J., is only open to bow-legged men.

The Princeton football coaching staff is unique, as every member of it has been head coach at some university.

There is now in operation at the University of California a machine to crush atoms. It is done with deutron, science's tiny but powerful "bullet."

Col Calvin Goddard, director of research in Northwestern University's crime detection laboratory, predicts another major crime wave within the next few months.

Marquette University's football team has the fastest water boy in the world serving it. He is Frank Metcalf, the Olympic track star.

Prof. Lee Travis at the University of Iowa placed ping pong on the curriculum in his speech clinic as the part of a program to cure stuttering.

Prof. Stoeppelwerth at Concordia College,
Ind. is planning the production of four moving pictures, one of which will show a full day at the college.

A Detroit City College track star, in need of dental work but out of funds, took three large gold medals to his dentist, which the medical man melted, using part of the gold for filling the teeth and accepting the rest in payment.

An unusual set of twins is enrolled at the University of California. The girls are taking their doctor's degree at the present time, had earned their master's before they were twenty and had graduated from college at 15.

At the University of Berlin students are allowed a period of six weeks to analyze and select their professors.

The Yale University library soon is to receive from Gabriel Wells a manuscript of a sermon believed to have been written by Samuel Johnston.

Prof. Albercht Mendelssohn-Bertholdy, grandson of Mendelssohn, the famous composer, has been dismissed from the University of Hamburg and from the Institute of Foreign Affairs of which he was the head because of his Jewish nationality.

Titans-Muskies Set For Clash Today

Titans Lose To Grovers

By CHUCK TREVASKIS

Playing rather uninspired ball, the Westminster Titans lost a decision Saturday Nov. 4, to Grove City, by a 12-0 score. The game was played at Taggart field in New Castle, before 1,420 spectators. Alexander and Deems did the scoring for the Grovers.

Grove City took to the air 14 times, completing eight of their tries, and intercepting two of their opponents' tosses. The Titans made but two of their fifteen aerial attempts and intercepted one of the Grovers' passes. The Blue and White made six first downs to Grove City's twelve, and were penalized 30 yards to a total of 110 yards for their opponents.

The Grovers' first tally came toward the end of the first period. After the combined efforts of Alexander, Smith, and Deems had placed the ball on the 18-yard line, Alexander bucked the line for a first down, and then carried the ball through right tackle for four yards more, placing it on the six-yard line. The next attempt placed the ball on the one-yard mark from there Alexander took it over. Gross' kick for placement hit the goal post.

Again in the third quarter, Grove City started a drive that brought the ball to the five-yard line. Here the Grovers received a five-yard penalty. After suffering another 15-yard penalty, a pass, Smith to Tomko, moved the ball to the 14-yard line. On the next play Smith heaved a pass to Deems for the second touchdown. Alexander tried a pass for the extra point, but it was knocked down.

Smith, Alexander, and Gross were outstanding for Grove City, while Sweeney was the most consistent ground gainer for the Titans.

The lineup:

Westminster	Grove City
Hunneke L.E.	Tomko
Scarborough L.T.	Capifield
Hollander L.G.	Beres
Franklin C.	Bache
Reniers R.G.	Binder
Straw R.T.	Piance
Leyshock R.E.	Soich
Sweeney Q.	Deems
Laraway L.H.	Gross
Mintz R.H.	Orris
Staples F.	Smith

Score by quarters:

Grove City	6	0	6	0-12

Touchdowns: Alexander, Deems.

Substitutions: Westminster—Arrow-smith for Laraway, Young for Reniers, Watt for Leyshock, Laraway for Mintz, Leyshock for Watt, Mintz for Arrow-smith, Watt for Straw, Reniers for Young, Burry for Hollander. Arrow-smith for Laraway. Grove City—Smith for Orris, Wilson for Gross, Wycis for Deems.

Officials: Referee—W. C. Evans; Umpire—S. A. McFarland; Head Linesman—A. A. Cutler.

"HIGH SPOTS"

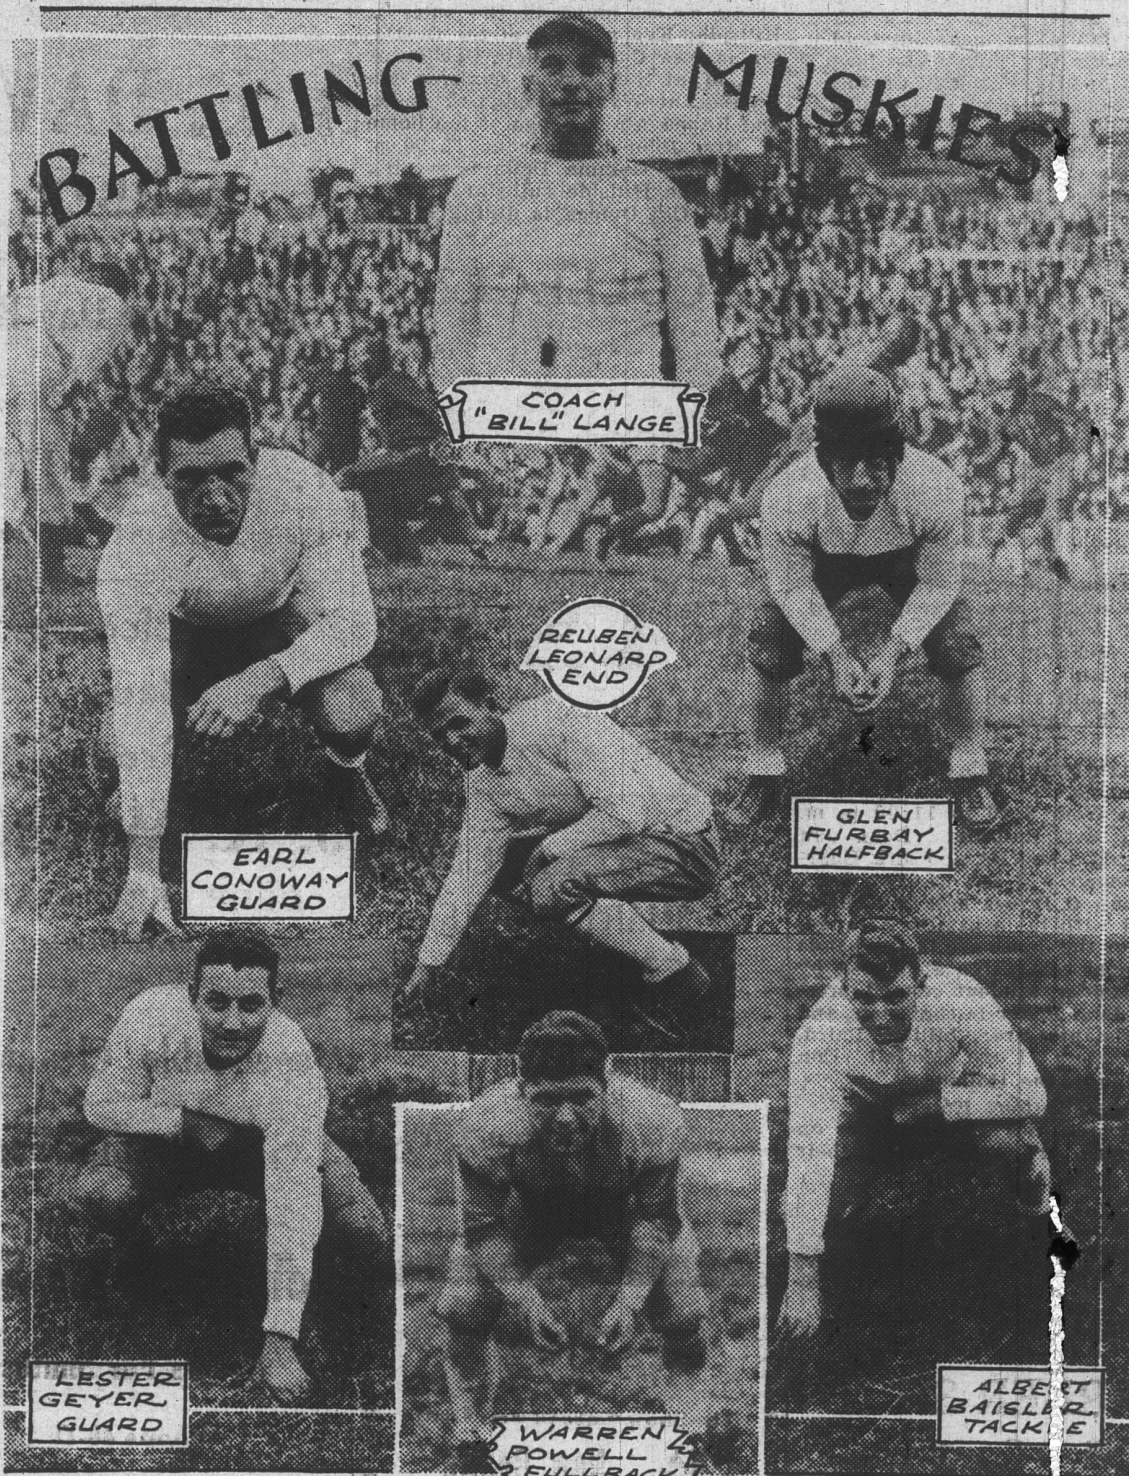

By Libby Cone

Members of the W.A.A. have "gone domestic" during the past few weeks, and tried their hand in a field somewhat out of their usual line. The result—a newly decorated meeting room! If new lamps, refinished furniture, newly painted walls and floors, rewiring, and redecoration mean anything, the W.A.A. parlors in the Hillside should be an inspiration for the planning of any number of campus activities.

The following girls have been chosen by Miss Love to make up the lineups for Saturday's game: Sophomores—Young, Somerlade, Rumbaugh, M. E. Morrow, Holland, Simson, L. Nevin, McCartney, Stewart, Luckhart, Jackson; Junior-Senior Team—McKnight, Miller, Judson, Rymer, Wettich, Pope, Leyshon, Fox, Ralston, Sewall, Jones, M. Morrow, Byers, Oester.

Miss Love announces that with the close of the hockey season Saturday, intra-mural attention will turn to volleyball. Practices are scheduled to begin next Wednesday, November 15, and will be held Wednesday and Friday of that week, and Tuesday and Thursday of the following week, at three and four o'clock. Girls who expect to participate in this sport may attend any two practice periods each week.

Frosh-Soph Football Game To Be Played November 21

Freshmen and sophomore men are practicing daily for the annual frosh-soph football game to be played on Tuesday, November 21. The freshmen are under the tutelage of Elmer Meider and John Ruffolo. Cromwell Ketterer and Leonard Baird are directing the gridiron activities of the sophomore team.

More than 24 men have been reporting to the daily practice period of the plebe team. Many of the squad members have been active in high school athletics and, though not varsity material, are certain to display a good brand of football.

Robert Rose, alternating at half and fullback, has been outstanding in the tentative freshman backfield. He is an excellent kicker and a good passer and will undoubtedly cause the sophomores plenty of trouble. On the line Charles Jones, plebe center, will strengthen the offense and defense of the first year men. His playing in the scrimmage sessions makes him almost certain to be in the starting line-up. Other men who will probably take part in the game are: H. Lasher, McCully, Brownell, Obester, Peters, Morris, Leiby, Jones, Glendinning, Carter, Wortle, Mankedick, Whiteside, Campsey, Depuey, and Brinko. Coaches Ketterer and Baird have practically all the members of the last year victorious freshman team reporting again this year. In Wilson Myers the second year men have a match for the freshman star, Rose. Both men have booted the pigskin over 70-yards in practice sessions. Paris, Glaser, Ramsey, and Auld have been showing up well during the scrimmage periods. Other sophomores who will see action in the football frolic are: Manse, J. Carson, P. Carson, Budd, Strous, Patterson, Wagner, Donaldson, and Turner.

Harriers' Run Final

Meet This Afternoon

Westminster's varsity cross country team with one victory and one defeat to date, ends its season against Muskingum today as a preliminary to the Muskingum-Westminster football game.

The Titan harriers will race the Muskies over the Fayette five-mile course. The race will start at 1:30. Klumph, Manor, Gerstner, Kennedy, Snyder, Needham, and Deichmiller qualified in the tryouts held last Tuesday to represent the Titans.

Shift Titan Lineup For Muskie Game

Muskingum College will invade New Wilmington today for the grid game with Westminster to feature the annual alumni homecoming of the Titans. The two United Presbyterian colleges are about equal in strength, but the battling Muskies have a little better record for the current season.

Coach John Lawther's men will try to avenge a 7-6 defeat suffered last year at New Concord in a game which saw the Titans register 21 first downs to four for Muskingum, but which the Muskies won by intercepting a pass and turning it into a score.

Coaches Lawther and Martin have shifted their lineup considerably for the game, after finding the offense weak against Grove City last week. As a result, Scarbrough, right halfback last season who has been playing tackle all this year, will be back again at right halfback.

On the line, Hunneke and Lo-Buono will be at the tackles in place of Scarbrough and Straw; Burry and Young will be at guard in place of Hollander and Franklin; Franklin will be at center; and Leyshock and Watt will play the ends. Ray Sweeney, Bill Staples, and Jack Laraway will hold down the quarterback, fullback, and left halfback posts.

The lineups:

Westminster	Muskingum
Leyshock L.E.	Leonard
Hunneke L.T.	Young
Young L.G.	Geyer
Franklin C.	Ralston
Burry R.G.	Conoway
Lo-Buono R.T.	Baisler
Watt R.E.	Wyper
Sweeney Q.B.	McCandlish
Laraway L.H.	Furbay
Scarborough R.H.	Reavely
Staples F.B.	Powell

Referee: Paul Fitting; Umpire, S. A. McFarland; Linesman, W. C. Evans.

GAMES TO-DAY

In a survey conducted among the students, the symposium of opinion in regard to such a center seems to point to the following conception of what the college needs:

The building should provide meeting rooms for the various organizations, such as the Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., Delta Nabla, honorary mathematics fraternity; Tau Kappa Alpha, honorary debating group; Masquers, the dramatic society; Tau Gamma Delta and Psi Nu, honorary journalistic fraternities; Karux, the pre-ministerial group; W. A. A.; Student Council; Inter-Fraternity Council; Pen-Hellenic Council; Campus Committee; Science Club; History group; and other such societies.

Each social sorority on the campus should have a suite in the building composed of a lounge and kitchenette in which they could hold their formal and informal meetings. This arrangement would tend for more active and intimate sorority life.

The student center should also provide offices for the HOLCAD, which is greatly handicapped in its work because of no office, copy having to be gathered as best it can through the News Bureau; and the ARGO, which at present uses a room on the third floor of the Science building.

Recreation lounges for men and women should also be provided where games, parties, informal gatherings and the like could be held, thus eliminating the general student invasion to uptown business houses for gatherings.

A combination auditorium and ballroom should also be included in the plans so that mass meetings, dramatic productions, lectures by guest speakers, artist's recitals, movies, debates, and dances could be held.

At the present time, the Community House, fully a quarter of a mile distant from the campus has to be used for student functions which require a large hall. The Community House is not adequate for the purposes to which it must be utilized by a college, nor is it the most pleasant place in the world to go to, being situated in a most out of the way place.

The use of this hall can be appreciated, but Westminster does need a student center on the campus from which real college life can emanate.

Pan-Hell To Go National--Guess Not, Already Is

Like Tyltyl in Maeterlinck's "Bluebird" who goes on a search for the "Bluebird of Happiness" and finds that he has always had it, so the Pan-Hellenic council found, after petitioning for membership in the National Pan-Hellenic Congress, that they have been members since 1926 when there were two national sororities on the campus.

Chi Omega was installed on the campus in 1925 and Alpha Gamma Delta in 1926. Since then four other national sororities have been added on the campus, Sigma Kappa in 1927, Kappa Delta and Theta Upsilon in 1931 and Beta Phi Alpha who are to be installed next month.

The officers of the Pan-Hellenic council are elected by rotation, the oldest national sorority on the campus holding the presidency first and the others in order of their becoming national. This year, Ruth Martin, a member of Sigma Kappa, is president, Grace Kelly, Kappa Delta, holds the position of secretary and Clara Mae McLaughry, Theta Upsilon, is treasurer.

According to a letter received from National president of Pan-Hellenic Congress, Clara Pugh Redd, Kappa Delta, the campus Pan-Hellenic has control of all inter-sorority activities. The deans of the college have no veto over actions of the council.

Newly Organized History Majors Elect Officers

At a meeting of all history majors held yesterday the following officers were elected: Fred Luderer, president; Helen Wheldon, vice-president; and Evelyn Baer, secretary-treasurer. Dr. E. B. Russell, head of the department of history and government is the faculty advisor for the club and the following advisory committee was appointed: Dave Harris, George Hollander, Louise Johnston, Wilbur Christy, Bruce Bower and Thomas McClure.

The purpose of the organization of such a club is to enable the students to discuss current events.

John Leisher Scores High in Thurstone Test

John Leisher, freshman, scored second-high of all the students entering Westminster this fall in the Thurstone psychological examination. He led all of the 250 freshmen who entered this September by a wide margin.

The three students who have scored highest in this standard test in the last eight years are all in school now. The other two are both juniors: William Nunn and Frank Baldwin.

Special Program Marks Pep Chapel This Morning

Dr. Hugh Hart was the main speaker at the special chapel service held this morning with Elmer Meider, president of the student council in charge. Dr. Hart who is the varsity team physician spoke on "College Athletics".

Dean C. E. Rankin thanked the juniors for the exceptionally fine work they did on Homecoming Day. Professor R. X. Graham introduced members of the cross country squad to the student body.

The program was concluded with a selection by the college trio and with the singing of college songs by the student body.

Westminster's football team will attend a performance at the Columbia Theatre, Sharon, tonight, as guests of the manager, John Fisher.

Sara Haney, junior, is student director of "The Travelers" to be presented Thursday and Friday evening in the Little Theatre.

College Health Service Improved by Additions

Miss Alice Maxwell, graduate nurse of the Presbyterian hospital, Pittsburgh, has been added this year as resident nurse of the college. She has quarters in Browne Hall and is in charge of the infirmary rooms which have been equipped in both Browne Hall and Hillside dormitories.

Dr. Elizabeth Veach has been retained by the college and is in charge of physical examinations for all women students.

Dr. Hugh Hart as varsity team physician, completes the medical staff of the college.

Three Seniors Cadet Teachers At Local School

Helen Baerman, Helen Weingartner, and Mauno Siljander, members of the senior class who will graduate in February, are doing their practice teaching in the New Wilmington high school. Miss Baerman and Miss Weingartner are both teaching English, while Siljander is fulfilling his requirements in social sciences.

New Library Building Paramount Need Of College

By HERMAN MYER

For the past three years, the library of Westminster College has been suffering from severe growing pains. Hampered by lack of space, lack of books and a small trained staff, the college library has reached the point where it is totally incapable of meeting the needs of the students.

This fact has been quite obvious for the past three years, the growing enrollment and the increase in the number of commuters making larger library facilities imperative.

Mildred E. Ailman, present librarian, gives three reasons for the library's present deterioration. "For a better library," she says, "we must have larger quarters, many more books and a greater number of trained librarians on the staff."

New Building Needed

"Westminster's real need is a new library building," Miss Ailman continued. "Books are at present scattered in eight places over the campus, many volumes are in storage and yet all the available space is used up. A new library building would remedy once and for all these

Teaching Requirements Must Be More Rigid Say State Dept. Heads

"Requirements for teacher training must be more rigid at Westminster if we are to continue to certify teachers for work" seems to be the state attitude says Professor John D. Lawther who with Mrs. Lawther and Miss Pearl Hoagland attended the annual Education Conference in Harrisburg, Friday, November 10. There is a definite movement toward the selection of a smaller group of people for certification. The Liberal Arts College Associations recommended five years as the minimum amount of training above high school for teacher training and elementary certification should now be secured by attendance at a state school with the liberal arts colleges giving teacher training only for secondary schools.

At the meeting of the Association of Liberal Arts Colleges Superintendent Rule presided. The main issue of this meeting was the question of whether state normal schools should be admitted to the association. The question was met with little enthusiasm and as no decision could be reached it was turned over to a committee for discussion.

Professor Henry Klanoewer, assistant superintendent of public instruction then addressed the convention on the subject of "Adult Education". He pointed out that a movement has been made by the government to spend part of the money collected for the aid of the unemployed, for teaching unemployed adults. $50,000 has been added to the monthly salaries of teachers for this purpose.

A conference was then held concerning practise teaching. This meeting was attended by teachers and representatives of all schools in the state. It is not uncommon for schools to pay $50 per cadet teacher for their services. It is now becoming customary for schools to enlist the aid of a supervisor whose main duty it is to criticize the teaching of the cadet. At Penn State there is one supervisor for every 25 cadets.

It is expected that all the details and arrangements necessary for the formal inauguration of Kappa Alpha Alpha, local sorority, into Beta Phi Alpha, national social sorority, will be completed by Saturday, December 16.

Kappa Alpha Alpha Will Go Beta Phi Alpha Next Month

An inspector representing Beta Phi Alpha will visit Kappa Alpha Alpha, Saturday, December 9, at which time preadmission tests will be given. Results from these tests should be tabulated by December 13; and beginning on that day and continuing through December 16, the present members and those alumni wishing to join, will be pledged and initiated into Beta Phi Alpha.

The local chapter will be the twenty-ninth chapter of Beta Phi Alpha, which was founded at the University of California, May 8, 1909.

The Marianne Kneisel String Quartet will appear in the College Chapel Monday night, November twentieth, as the first number of the Artists Course. Marianne Kneisel, first violin, Nina Wolfe, second violin, Louise Rood, viola, and Katherine Conant, cello, compose the company which made its private debut in 1925, but did not appear publicly until after the death of Miss Kneisel's father, Franz Kneisel in 1926. Since then it has twice toured the United States and been received with loud acclaim.

Miss Kneisel, born in Boston, began to receive her musical education from her famous father at an early age. Because she was determined to carry on the work he had begun and because several of her friends were attracted by the idea they sacrificed social pleasures and gave freely of their time to accomplish their unusual achievement.

Franz Kneisel, coming to this country from Roumania in 1885 made the quartet an ensemble instead of a violinist and three assistants, and has probably been the greatest influence toward stimulating appreciation for the best in chamber music in this country.

His daughter has furthered this type of music and will present a program of three different divisions; first, Haydn's D Major Quartet, second, Dvorak's "American" Quartet in F Major, third, The Pixy Ring, by Waldo Warner, Tschalkowsky's Andante Cantabile, and Schelling's Scherzo Tarantella.

Endeavor To Make White Cards A Part Of Student Guidance System

Four hundred and eighty-eight white cards have been sent out during the past week to 277 students, 264 of them went to 168 upperclassmen and 119 freshmen received 224 cards.

More women than men received white cards but more cards were sent to men than were sent to the women. 134 men students received 253 cards while 145 women received only 255 cards.

A new plan has been initiated this year, that is, that students receiving "O" grades in any subject would be sent white cards. Consequently almost one-half of the white cards sent out were for "D" grades. The purpose of this plan is to give the student information and to give some help to the faculty advisors in aiding the students. Correlation will be made of IQ's and grades to help pull the students up to full capacity of work.

Another policy of this new system is that if a student receives only one white card it is not to go home but he must see his faculty advisor, if he gets two white cards he must see the dean besides his faculty advisor and if he receives three cards a notice will be sent to his home. This is an attempt to make white cards a part of the student guidance system.

Veiled Men of Mystery Subject of Interesting Lecture By Alonzo Pond

"No more than 10 per cent of the desert is sand," said Alonzo W. Pond, and thereby surprised more than one person in the audience. Mr. Pond, the noted anthropologist spoke on the subject, "Veiled Men of Mystery", in the College Chapel, Monday evening, November 13.

He went on to say that the desert is a country of contrast, citing the example of the usual daily temperature high-jump from freezing at 5:00 to about 90° a little after noon.

The "Veiled Men of Mystery" belong to the Taureg tribe, and true to their name never appear in public without a veil. The Tauregs, a step ahead of modern civilization, practise a strange custom of advance allmomy, which is paid or credited before the marriage takes place. Among the slides which accompanied Mr. Pond's lecture, was one of two nobles in Taureg "soup to nuts", which if you can recall the flowing robes worn by many Africans, is certainly "full" dress.

Liberal Arts Colleges Meet Here Next Month

A meeting of the Association of Liberal Arts Colleges of Western Pennsylvania will be held here on December 9, Professor Ben Euwema, secretary of the association who is in charge of arrangements announced this week. This association which was formed five years ago is made up of the faculties of Grove City, Geneva, Thiel, Allegheny and Westminster colleges.

The meeting will open with a general assembly at 2:30 p. m. Professor Lee McLean of Allegheny college will speak on "A New Approach in Fields Of Social Sciences" and Professor John Colman of Geneva college will speak on "Some Current Events from a College Man's Standpoint".

The assembly will divide into group conferences at 4:30 and at 6:30 will be entertained at dinner at the Hillside. A program of entertainment will be a feature of the evening.

Bill Staples Elected

Bill Staples was elected to fill the vacancy in student council, at a meeting of the Junior class, yesterday, following chapel. He will take the place of Anna Barr-Berry, who left school recently.

Men must be at liberty to say in print whatever they have in mind to say, provided it wrongs no one.
—CHARLES A. DANA

By the time this issue of the Holcad has come out, the "homecoming" of those 488 white cards to 277 students will have become history. Statistics will already have been compiled and the curious will have discovered how 28 upper class men and women actually flunked 99 courses (approximately 4 courses per person) and how a group of 20 Freshmen received 67 cards collectively (3 1/2 to the person) and low the average for the 277 students was 2 classes flunked per student and how etc. etc.—on and on. The situation, without doubt, will have been discussed pro and con, student reactions will have been registered and everyone including the Freshmen, will have decided that "this is not right," and that "something is wrong somewhere."

That something is wrong somewhere, is obvious but indefinite. That that something is not the number of white cards sent out, is our opinion. 477 white cards with classes in their present state is not too many for this college. Twice that many would not have been too many. If every student on the campus, for example, received two white cards, not very many would have anything to kick about. It is not the fault of the students, of course, but the standards of work around this place have been getting so low of late that the first sign of a stiffer class administration was bound to shower the campus with white cards.

It is because of this beastly state of scholarship in the college then that the Holcad is supporting the New White Card system. It is not because the White Card system itself is likely to work any magical transformations in these classes—some of its features are probably bad—but simply because it looks like the re-beginning of some action for scholarship in Westminster.

Students in the future will receive more white cards, and maybe more frequently. Whereas previously only E grade students received attention now D grade as well will get faculty supervision; and in addition students of high I. O. not working up to capacity will get cards to pull them up to where they should be. In spite of the fact that the aim of this arrangement will not be to scare students, it seems probable that some students will get some scares; and most students will have to work harder. That most students complain they are working too strenuously right now is true but irrelevant, we feel, to the situation at hand. The same students assert classes are stale, stupid, dull, dead, and uninteresting. The same students must have realized that the first step in the process of pepping up these classrooms will have to be the business of getting most students to work from 3 to 5 time harder.

That these sentiments coming from an editorial page of a student paper may sound like treason, rank heresy, or else shallow hypocrisy to some, does not, we feel, alter their essential truth. If the student body in this college is actually serious in its discontent with present classroom conditions, if it is really intent on having something done about them, if it is really sincere in its desire to attend a class A college, it must be prepared to take somethings on the chin. One of the first must be—more work. College cultures are not picked up like Radio programs—by relapsing into armchairs and pressing buttons. Here there can be no armchairs, no wonderful buttons and but few magical voices.

Nevertheless, if, as we hope, the New White card system is a prologue to that new deal for Scholarship which is coming, may we hope that after the unemployed students have been put back to work again in the classrooms, that the faculty will play fair and sign some codes. After all students are not to blame for a state of scholarship in a college. College policies not student inclination, make college scholastic traditions. Most students, rightly or wrongly, remain passive, classes are only as fine as the teachers make them. A truck load of icebergs can never be expected to set a lot of green students flaring with intellectual enthusiasm. As it is here, at least 30 percent of the instruction is characterized by lustreless laxity, unhappy routine, pedantry and unfortunate incompetence. We could name four important departments everyone far below par. One, in our opinion, is so bad, as to be an offense to student intelligence.

Certainly something will have to be done on that side of the academic fence. If not white card systems may come and new white card systems may come. The student body will not respond.

If we look back upon the history of Westminster we find associated with the school many traditions. Among these traditions, which have been upheld throughout the years, we find one which has to do with smoking on the campus. It has long been the custom at the school to refrain from smoking on that part of the college grounds known as the campus proper, which includes that rectangular property on which are situated the main building and the Science hall.

In recent years, however, it has been noted with regret by both graduates and undergraduates of the school that this custom, which has prevailed through so many years at the college, is being violated habitually by many students.

While we feel that the infringement of this "unwritten law" shows a lack of loyalty and reverence to the college; we do not believe that the offenders do so in a malignant or disrespectful spirit—but rather do so unwittingly and unthinkingly.

No matter what attitude we assume, it is a matter which can easily be remedied, and one in which we can show our loyalty and respect to the traditions of Westminster.

Editor, the Holcad:

I am making this communication with the desire that through the Holcad I, as well as the rest of the student body, may be enlightened upon several subjects concerning which no information has been forthcoming.

Let me recall the beginning of the school year; the student was led to believe that Student Government was to become a part of our school life. With that end in view we elected representatives from the various classes to form a Student Board. This Board, as far as we have been informed by official reports, has since its formation been inactive. True, rumors, were heard of the submission to the faculty of a proposed system of class cuts to replace the existing system, but nothing concerning the matter was given to the student body.

Various other bodies have been formed, among them the Chapel Committee and the Inter-fraternity Council. The Chapel Committee was appointed with the purpose of trying to arrange more interesting services, and to promote conditions more conducive to reverence during the period of actual worship. With the exception of a single day's program, no change has been made in the routine of the Chapel period.

Some time ago the student body was warned to refrain from cutting classes. Since that day no official statement has been made, either to tell us what "trouble" to expect if we cut classes, or to confirm the continuance or discontinuance of the system of previous years.

I, for one, favor a definite statement of the powers and duties of the various organizations; definite statements, particularly concerning the cut system, from the office, finally, regular information to the students concerning the workings of the Student Board.

Are these various elected and appointed organizations to be replicas of their inactive predecessors, figureheads, totally subservient to the faculty and to the administration? Or are they to be active representatives of the student body? If the latter, it is the right of the student body to be kept informed of the actions of these groups, particularly of the Student Board. Or is the student body too illiterate, immature, or what have you, to have divulged to them the findings of the students' government?

Little Theatre Notes

By "JIMMY" LAY

"The play's the thing", at Westminster with three one-act plays being rehearsed for production on November 23 and 24. The other night while the wind raged outside and snow covered the campus, "The Travelers", mystery play by Booth Tarkington, was rehearsed on the stage of the Little Theatre. Appropriately enough the scene was an inn somewhere in the mountains of Sicily where a family of Americans were touring. The gesticulating Italian guide of the party was none other than the Holcad editor sans the copy pencil and worried expression of Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Roberts, Mary Wright; is sure that bandits are after her jewel box. (Just why Americans must carry jewel boxes in Sicily isn't explained.) Mr. Roberts, Eric Thompson; and his daughter, Jessie, played by Gretchen Smith are no more pleased with the situation.

The usual strange noises, banging doors, and lights which go out at the unexpected moment are present in the Tarkington mystery play, while the love interest is supplied by Jessie and Fred Slidell, Dean George.

From another room in Old Main we heard shrieks of laughter. Upon investigation we discovered that the "Kiss in the Dark" was being rehearsed in room 109. But in the words of a junior who heard the chapel announcement of practice for that play, "No practice should be necessary."

It is an English farce which will be presented in the old style acting. From the fun that the actors were having at the rehearsal, we imagine that the audience will be "in the isles". Mr. Pettibone, a rather ordinary individual, is married to a beautiful woman. To test her love, the husband induces Frank Fathom, an American, to make love to Mrs. Pettibone.

The crusade period will be the setting for "Hearts Enduring". The characters "He" and "She" will be taken by Don Mechling and Maxine Jacobs. "He", a crusader, returns to his old love after the war only to discover that both have undergone severe changes. This tragedy is being directed by Alberta Miller.

THETA UPSILON OMEGA

Pledges will be guests of honor at a house party to be held by Theta Upsilon Omega tomorrow evening at the fraternity house. "Ted" Marlen and his orchestra will furnish the music for dancing and entertainment.

Dr. and Mrs. R. F. Galbreath and Mr. Tener have been invited to attend.

Theta Upsilon Omega entertained twenty-five alumni with a six o'clock dinner at the fraternity house on Homecoming Day.

The following alumni visited the local chapter on Homecoming Day: Arch Master, Samuel McGinnis '01; M. M. Edmundson ex-'01, Raymond Black '32, William Frack '32, James Williams ex-'28, Gordin Nevin '33, and Calvin Rose '33.

KAPPA PHI LAMBDA

Kappa Phi Lambda entertained thirty-one alumni during homecoming week-end.

Fraternity officers elected at a meeting last Monday night are: Paul McMinn, president; Clarence Manor, treasurer; Maurice Michmerhuizen, secretary; James McGeorge, senior guide; Nelson Greer, junior guide; and Paul Barger, K. P.

Titans Open Relations With Case Saturday

Blue And White Team Will Play Last Game of Season

Coach Lawther's Titans will open relations with Case tomorrow in the last game of the season. Although the Blue and White has won only one game so far this season the Case game is sure to be a good one.

Coach John Lawther has shuffled his small squad around all year in an effort to have enough men for the various positions, and Saturday's lineup is apt to present the usual patched-up appearance, with backs playing on the line, and linemen playing in the backfield, often shifting back and forth on offense and defense.

The only comparison between the two teams is that Muskingum, which defeated Westminster 6-0, defeated Wooster 9-6, while Wooster defeated Case. It would appear as if the two schools, maintaining high academic standards, have teams of equal ability. The edge, if any, would go to Case with a larger squad and a little more experience.

The contest Saturday has been scheduled for 2 o'clock instead of 2:30 in order that the game may not prolong into the darkness of the late afternoon.

For Case, Thom is playing his first year as varsity quarter-back, but his fine field generalship and his educated toe have made him a very valuable man. Seifert and Read hold down the tackles. Seifert won all-Olio Conference honor last year and will probably repeat in 1933; Read, a junior, is playing his first year at that post on the varsity. Bale is also an all-Conference man, but he has been handicapped during the last four weeks by a serious leg injury.

The probable lineup:
Westminster Case
Leyshock L.E. Haynam
Scarborough L.T. Seifert
Hollander L.G. Allmen
Baker C. Bale
Franklin R.G. Zellmer
Lobuno R.T. Read
Watt R.E. Munchausen
Sweeney Q.B. Thom
Mintz L.H. Brownsberger
Staples F.B. Samuelson
Referee: Bolster; Umpire: McFarland; Linesman: Evans.

Frosh-Soph Meet on Tuesday

by DICK NELSON

Student interest has increased in the last few days as to the probable outcome of the annual Frosh-Soph civil war, which is scheduled to take place on the college athletic field at three o'clock on Tuesday afternoon. An added interest is the fact that student council ruling all Frosh rules will be suspended if the Freshmen win. Rules will be extended another week in case the upper-classmen take the fracas. This battle is sponsored by Jack Hulme and the Physical Education department.

With the prospects of a slippery snow covered gridiron the game promises to be interesting, at least from a bystanders point of view, in more ways than one.

Freshmen Ready

Although the plebes are somewhat handicapped by lack of weight both on the line and in the backfield they have plenty of fight and are determined to show the Sophs lots of action. Coaches Ruffolo and Meider have their men practicing daily and they should be in good condition by Tuesday.

How the team will line up at the starting whistle is undetermined but spectators will probably see Carter and Mankedick at the end positions, Purnell and Wardle at tackle, Morris and Thompson at guard, and Auld at center. Rose will undoubtedly fill the fullback berth, Peters and Brownell at halfback duties, and "Halfpint" Lasher will call signals. Bill Whiteside will also see action in the backfield.

Sophomores Ready Too

With last year's victorious team on the field the Sophs are the favorites to repeat. Ketterer and Baird, Sophomore coaches, have their team in good shape and say they are ready

"HIGH SPOTS"

Betty McCrory, swimming supervisor of the Mermaid Club, announces that the following girls will make up the committee in charge of the girls swimming exhibition: Kay Wagner, Betty Washabaugh, Helen Dornheifer, Lucille Nevin, and Elizabeth Cone.

The program as it is now planned will consist of races, fancy diving, life saving, exhibition of the various strokes in good form, and individual and group stunts. Club members have purchased new green bathing suits adorned with the emblem of the club, and are all set to demonstrate their aquatic ability on a date which will be definitely announced next week.

New members were elected to the W.A.A. last week, and will be formally admitted November 27, at a banquet to be given them by the present active members. Mary Jane Dixon, Do Morrison, Jean Semple, Jean Jaxheimer, Florence Heintz, Sally Brindle, Joan Bolles, Lucille Nevin, Mary Jane Metzler, Betty McNab, and Elizabeth Cone were chosen as outstanding during the soccer and hockey season just completed. In addition to athletic ability, members must have "C" averages in all academic subjects.

With the arrival of the deep layer of snow on the girls hockey field, gym classes have moved back to the gym rooms for the winter months. Miss Love is directing a new plan of class work, whereby one period of each week is given over entirely to dancing of some type, while the other period is devoted to exercises. All sports are sponsored by the W.A.A., and are classed as extra-curricular. This somewhat different program is being tried for the first time here, and although well received by most of the gymnasts, we've heard more than one complaint of "sore muscles".

Brownlee To Oppose

Titans December 6
Bud Brownlee, who graduated from Westminster last year and played four years at varsity center on the Titan floor squad while he was in school, will play with the Akron Goodyears against the Westminster team in a pre-season game in Akron, December 6.

Brownlee in his last year of collegiate basketball set up a record of scoring more points in one season than any other player in this district. He was elected all-district center for the district his senior year.

Titans Lose To Muskies

Snow, rain, ice, and sleet made for a game in which skill did not mean everything when the Titans received a 6-0 defeat at the hands of Muskingum last Saturday before a large alumni homecoming day crowd, who sat through four quarters of wintry weather to see the Blue and White play.

Freshmen, student managers, and college workmen worked almost all morning scraping and shoveling snow from the field. Almost 20 truckloads were removed, and up until game time there were still many shoveling snow in an effort to make the playing field less treacherous.

Muskingum scored in the first quarter, after Arrowsmith's punt was blocked on the Titan 30-yard line and the ball was recovered by Baisler, who had blocked the kick. From here, Furbay and Malone made 11 yards in two tries, and then Furbay slipped off the Titan left tackle for 21 yards and the score. Reeveley's try for extra point was spoiled when the pass for center skidded low and the Titan line rushed in and prevented the placement try.

The rest of the first half was a duel between Ray Sweeney, Titan back, and Furbay, washing Muskie back. These two men provided all the fireworks, both getting away for long gains, but neither being able to shake loose for a score.

In the second half the Titan took the offensive from the visitors, and threatened to duplicate the Muskingum trick of the first quarter. Austen threw Malone for a 12-yard loss in the fourth quarter when Muskingum had the ball on their own 24. Then Franklin crashed through on the next play and blocked Malone's punt, which Scarborough recovered on the Muskingum three-yard line.

In two tries, Sweeney made two yards, placing the ball on the Muskingum one-yard line. On the next play, both elevens were off side. Sweeney then carried the ball to the half-foot line, and on the fourth try Sweeney again carried the ball, but was stopped at the line of scrimmage. From this dangerous position, Malone punted to the Titan 30.

Muskingum registered seven first downs to five for Westminster. The ball was so slippery that few forwards were tried. Muskingum's two air attempts were both intercepted by Titan players, while Westminster's lone forward was grounded. Muskingum lost 45 yards on penalties, while Westminster lost only five yards.

Westminster gained 89 yards from scrimmage, lost 18 yards from scrimmage, and lost five yards on penalties, for a net gain of 66 yards during the contest. Muskingum gained 150 yards, lost 21 yards from scrimmage, and lost 45 yards on penalties for a net gain of 84 yards.

The game was the fourth played between the two rivals. The first two ended 0-0, and last year's game was won 7-6 by Muskingum, giving Muskingum 13 point to 6 in total scoring in four contests.

Play Last Game For Titans

SILJANDER

These three men are: George Hollander, Freeport, L. I.; Mauno Siljander, Pittsburgh; and James Bloker, Sandusky, O. Hollander has played three seasons as a lineman. Siljander, who has won letters in basketball and track as well as in football, is completing his fourth grid season. Bloker has been a lineman for four seasons.

All three men will be used in the contest, Coach John Lawther says. It is probable that Bloker will be at center; Siljander, at right halfback; and Hollander at guard.

Cross Country Team Defeats Muskingum

Running over a four mile snow-swept course last Saturday, the Westminster cross country team defeated Muskingum's harriers by a 22½ to 32½ score. Perry Klumph, Titan captain, finished first, negotiating the distance in 26 minutes 2 seconds. Raitt of Muskingum was second, in 26 minutes, 25½ seconds.

The others, in order of finish, were: Gerstner, Westminster, third; Snyder, Westminster, and Hale, Muskingum, tied for fourth; Needham, Westminster, sixth; Kurze, Muskingum, seventh; Manor, Westminster, eighth; Roode, Muskingum, ninth; Carrier, Muskingum, tenth; Kennedy, Westminster, eleventh.

The victory gave the Titan harriers a record of two victories and one defeat for the season. Victories over West Virginia and Muskingum, and a defeat at Pitt completes the season for the team.

Harriers Season

In ability by 50 per cent over the showing made at the start of the season.

Winning two out of three races on the schedule for the 1933 season, the Westminster cross country team closed a very successful season last Saturday against Muskingum.

The Titan harriers, with a number of rather inexperienced freshmen and sophomores on the squad, defeated West Virginia University and Muskingum, and lost to University of Pittsburgh. Since Westminster was the only Tri-State Conference college to have a varsity harrier team this year, no league championship cup was offered.

Coach R. X. Graham says that the members of the team deserve all the credit for the excellent showing in that they trained hard and improved. The men who ran in most of the races were: Perry Klumph, captain; Jack Gerstner, Harrison Kennedy, Harvey Snyder, Wilbur Needham, Clarence Manor, Arthur Deichmiller, and Spencer Davis. Davis, who underwent an operation for appendicitis, ran in one meet and qualified to run in another.

The work of Paul Barger, Hickory, as student manager was especially outstanding during the season.

Students of the college recognize the limited facilities of the library and govern themselves accordingly, but this condition should not be tolerated. Improper library facilities are a blot to any school, and in a school with enrollment and attainments like Westminster, such a condition is shameful.

GRETCHEN SMITH

Playing the part of Jessie in "The Travelers", Gretchen Smith performed very capably at the two performances last night. The one-act plays will be repeated at 7:30 this evening.

Committee Outlines Program of Interest

Dr. H. L. Black, chairman of the committee on Chapel programs, announces that a schedule of chapel programs has been outlined which promises to be interesting. Current events, debates, musical performances, and a variety of talks will be included in the programs.

History majors will be in charge of the current events program, and faculty members will speak at various times. The first members of the faculty to speak will be Professor R. X. Graham on Tuesday, November 28, and the subject of his talk will be "Freedom of the Press."

Dr. J. A. Swindler will give a lecture on astronomy and Mr. Harold A. Brennan will present several art lectures in the near future.

Y. M. C. A. Cabinets Will Hold Meeting At Geneva

Under the auspices of the Geneva college chapter, Western Pennsylvania student Y. M. C. A. cabinets will hold their regional conference in Beaver Falls on December 8 and 9. The election of a May Queen will be held sometime after Thanksgiving recess.

SPECIAL ISSUE

There will be a special Thanksgiving issue of The Holcad next Wednesday, November 29, according to present plans.

Casts Perform Well Under Student Direction

The three one act plays which had their premier showing last night walked away with the honor of being one of the best shows ever held in the Little Theatre. They were produced under student direction and were received with hearty commendation by a large audience.

The second performance of these plays will be shown to-night at 7:30 in the Little Theatre.

"Hearts Enduring" a tragedy directed by Alberta Miller was very well done. It is the story of a crusader, Don Mechling, who returns to his native land after a ten years absence and finds that the country has been visited with a terrible plague making all the young, old. The action was seen when he came to the old lady on the hill, Maxine Jacobs, who is really Lady Alice, his old love, for information concerning Lady Alice. He leaves without discovering that she is Lady Alice.

The second play, "The Travelers" a mystery play very ably directed by Miss Sara Haney had a Sicilian inn for a background. The story was woven round a night's adventures of an American family traveling in Sicily. Harold Polonus as La Sera, the guide, handled his part in a professional manner as did also Eric Thompson as the eccentric Mr. Roberts. Dean George as Fred Sliedell and Gretchen Smith as Jessie provide the love interest of the play.

Helen McCrory directed the third play, "Kiss In The Dark" an English farce which set the audience into paroxysms of laughter. Charles Brown as Mr. Pettibone persuades his friend Frank Fatham, Bill White, to make love to his wife, Jane Holland. Complications set in but the play winds up with a happy ending.

No Change In Cut System - Ruling Of College Faculty

During the fall the faculty have engaged in a careful study of the problem of absences. It has been decided that the same cut system which has been in force in previous years in the college shall be retained. This rule, which states that a student may be absent from a class as many times in a semester as he is to receive credit hours in the course, is now in effect. If a student exceeds this number of absences he is debarred from class and must be reinstated.

Education Head Analyzes Local Scholarship Situation

By JOHN D. LAWTHOR

At the request of the Holcad an attempt is made to give an estimate of the intellectual level and academic achievement of Westminster students.

According to the American Council of Education Tests for predicting college success, the Westminster students' average is approximately the same at entrance as the average taken from a random sample of progressive colleges in the United States. This means that the Westminster student body is a normal student body, being distinguished neither by its superiority, nor by its inferiority. Perhaps one who expects to deal with a world of average people could gain more valuable experience here than among a group of near geniuses such as attend those few institutions nationally recognized for their erudition and academic intelligence.

According to the Carnegie Foundation Examinations, the Westminster student body average is approximately the same as the average of the total student body of all Penn-

The debate will be held in the Little Theatre and is scheduled to begin at eight o'clock.

HOLCAD MEETING

Staff members and competitors for the Holcad are asked to meet in Room 214 at 2:15 o'clock this afternoon.

Holcad Rates Fourth Place For Editorials

Of all four prize-winning college newspapers entered in the contest of the Intercollegiate Newspaper Association of the Middle Atlantic States, the Westminster College Holcad was the only small college paper in the group.

Scoring 93 points out of a possible 120 for editorial policy, the Westminster student weekly paper was given fourth place by the judges. Marlen Pew, editor of "Editor and Publisher", and one of the judges, gave third place to the Westminster paper and commented, "A bright, lively paper. Needs editorial page brightened a bit."

Lehigh won first place. John Hopkins was second, and University of Pittsburgh was third. The Westminster paper was given 83 out of a possible 120 points for news coverage and news writing, and again was the only small college paper mentioned by the judges.

Harold Polonus, Sharon, editor-in-chief, and Robert Faber, Freeport, L. I., a member of the editorial council, were the two Westminster delegates to attend the fall meeting of the association, held at John Hopkins University last week-end. On returning yesterday, both reported an excellent convention. The spring meeting, to which Westminster extended an invitation, will be held at Temple University, Philadelphia.

Polonus was appointed temporary chairman of the nominating committee of the association, and will help select officers to be elected at the spring meeting. He also read a paper before the convention on "Illustrations for College Newspapers."

Assistant Coach Completes Duties

Jack Martin, assistant football coach of the season completed last Saturday, left yesterday for his home in Sharon. For the last three months he has been drilling the Titan line-men and acting as an assistant in the department of physical education.

His knowledge of football made him a valuable addition to the college staff and though handicapped with insufficient material showed his coaching ability by the fine performance of the Titan line against Case.

Marianne Kneisel String Quartet Well Received

The same favor which has followed the Marianne Kneisel String Quartet in its appearances all over the United States was manifest here last Monday night when the players appeared in the College Chapel as the first number on the Artists' Course. Although many expressed their especial enjoyment of the selection entitled "The Pixy Ring" in the opinion of the appreciative audience the whole program was very well chosen and superbly rendered. Those who attended this first number of the Artists' Course feel it augured well for the remaining presentations.

AN ABLE COACH

last Saturday the college lost a man who had worked faithfully during the past three months to develop a line that was largely responsible for the second Westminster victory. It is rather unfortunate that conditions were such that Jack Martin, assistant football coach, found it necessary to find another position after having given up a contract to coach and teach at another school to come to Westminster. The Holcad regrets that such a condition could arise and expresses its thank to Martin for the interest shown in the college athletics during the past three months.

HOLCAD AMONG LEADERS

College students in any institution are apt to believe that the pot of collegiate gold lies at the foot of the rainbow—in the campus backyard of some other institution. Glamor is always vague, in the distance, not wholly understood.
Romance and achievement are thought of in terms of distance, which not only lends enchantment but also glosses the surface to make tin-foil look like platinum, "fool's gold" to look like the genuine article.

As a result of this natural attitude, students often belittle their own organizations and activities without realizing that their own may be outstanding in the reasoned scheme of things. Take the Holcad, for instance. Rated as one of the best college papers in the East, the Holcad presents to Westminster students a sample of good layout technique, articles written with a knowledge of journalism, editorials marked by courage and an interest in the greater welfare of the college, and more illustrations than are found in the average college publication.

More than this, the "high-schoolish" attitude often assumed by college writers is absent. The "Rover boy" "rah-rah", "our school won the banner" method of writing news and features is taboo. Even under the handicap of only ordinary printing facilities, and under the greater handicap of slow equipment, the Holcad achieves something like phenomenal success. The credit for this belongs to the staff members who devote more time to this student activity than many believe. An average of 18 hours each week is the working time of editors, managers, and staff heads.

When, therefore, the Holcad again wins recognition in the Intercollegiate Newspaper Association contest, being the only small college newspaper to win recognition, it is time to call attention again to the success of the 50-year old publication. Congratulations and continued success.

Editor's Mail Bag

Dear Sir:

Recently there appeared an editorial in "The Holcad" on the need of a student center as a necessity towards a betterment of the social organizations of the campus. The writer of this letter has full sympathy with that policy, but before such a condition should be considered, it would be well to inquire into the actual position the organizations now hold on the campus.

Probably the outstanding organizations of the campus are the debating fraternity, Tau Kappa Alpha, the journalistic fraternities, Tau Gamma Delta and Psi Nu, the dramatic fraternity, Mas-quers, and the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. Each of these have been organized for a definite purpose and with the exception of the last two mentioned have failed miserably.

Tau Kappa Alpha was organized to recognize and honor students excelling in forensics, and to cooperate with the debate coach in arranging and sponsoring collegiate and intercollegiate debates. It has done neither of the two. Any organization that only meets to vote on and initiate new members could not, under any circumstance, be called a valuable organization. The same condition exists in Tau Gamma Delta, and Psi Nu, and Masquers. All these organizations are merely instruments, though having the possibilities of being a credit to the campus.

It is easy to criticize the conditions, but in this case it is not the general organization that deserves criticism. Rather, it is the officers of the organizations. All meetings are to be called by the president and in his hands rests the responsibility for the activity of the fraternity. If he, or she, is not interested and only holds the office for the honor that it gives, then it is time that something is done by members themselves.

Last year members of Tau Kappa Alpha elected a leader. After the honorary title had been granted him the organization seemingly concluded all responsibilities for the year, and though debate is well on its way for this season, he has not taken any steps to fulfill the duties of the organization.

The same condition is true of Tau Gamma Delta. After the initiation of those eligible for membership and the election of officers for the present year the Greek organization disbanded.
The writer is certain that when the members honored the president with leadership, they expected to see some activity within the organization.

Why not rejuvenate these organizations and bring them up to the position they should hold on the campus? If the presidents of these organizations are not willing to lead, then it is time for them to at least call a meeting in order to hand in their resignations; so that the groups will not suffer because of lack of leadership.

Titans End Season With Victory Over Case

Sweeney Upsets Cleveland Team In Win For Titans

Upsetting Case School of Applied Science, Ohio Conference champions of last season, Coach John Lawther's Titans closed its 1933 season Saturday with a 6-0 victory.

It was Ray Sweeney, 142-pound quarterback, who spelled defeat for the Scientists, but it was the playing of the entire Titan team, both on offense and defense, which made the victory possible.

Not only did Sweeney carry the ball over the goal line for the only score of the game, but on a number of occasions his well-placed and lengthy punts placed the visitors in rather ticklish position. Once, standing behind his own goal line, Sweeney punted over the head of Shafer, Case safety man, and the ball rolled to the Case 30-yard line, traveling a distance of 89 yards.

With the first quarter about half over and with Case in possession of the ball on the Titan 35-yard line, Shafer, Case back, punted over the goal line, Westminster scrimmaged on the 20, and Sweeney booted a long one which was grounded on the Case 15. From here, Shafer got away a poor punt which went out of bounds on his own 39. Sweeney and Captain Bill Staples made a first down in three tries, placing the ball on the Case 15. From here, Sweeney broke through left tackle and raced over the goal line for the score. Hunneke's try for placement was partially blocked, and hit the left goal post.

Case Threatens
The second period found Case threatening, when a pass, Brownberger to Haynam, gained 12, and Brownberger made 28 around end. This threat was spoiled, however, when Scarbrough battled down Thom's pass over the goal line. Scrimmaging from his own 20, Sweeney made 12 in two tries, Siljander and Staples picked up 9½ yards in two tries, Sweeney made another first down, and Staples and Sweeney added six yards more, placing the ball on the Titan 47. From here Sweeney punted to the Case 12.

Case opened up another offensive drive, with Samuelson, Brownberger, Thom, and Shafer alternating, and carried the ball to the Titan 24. Shafer and Thom added 6, placing the ball on the Titan 18, Scarbrough again knocked down one of Thom's passes at this point, and Sweeney made nine yards through the line as the half ended.

The second half found the Titan offense clicking again, with Staples and Sweeney making two first downs after the kickoff and a Case punt, but here the Case forwards held and Sweeney punted to the Case 30. Another drive, led by Samuelson and Brownberger, took the ball to the Titan 18-yard line. The Titan line held Samuelson here, but Sweeney's punt on the next play was blocked and Case had the ball on the Titan 6 as the third period ended.

Goal Line Stand
With but six yards to make in four downs, it seemed certain that the Scientists would score as the fourth quarter started. Samuelson made three yards through the line, and the ball rested on the Titan three-yard line. In two more tries, Samuelson made two yards, and the ball was on the Titan one. Samuelson, fourth stab at the line netted nothing, and Sweeney stepped back of his goal line, kicked the ball over Shafer's head, and it rolled to the Case 30, a distance, from point where it was kicked, of 89 yards.

This advantage was nullified two plays later when Samuelson quick-kicked, the ball rolling to the Titan 11-yard line. Sweeney elected to run the ball from this dangerous position, and made 17 yards in his first try. Mintz replaced Bill Staples, who had been injured. Mintz made 21 yards on the next attempt. Sweeney and Mintz made 11 in four attempts for another first down. Mintz and Sweeney added six more in three tries, and then Sweeney punted out of bounds on the Case 6.

Thom punted to midfield. From here, Mintz and Sweeney had Case on the run again, for these two diminutive backs made 18 yards in four attempts. A five-yard penalty on Westminster caused Sweeney to punt, and the ball went over the goal line. Only a few minutes of the game remained to be played, and Case was back where the Titans had no fears. The Scientists made a few last efforts to score, making two first downs in succession, and placing the ball on the Case 41, but Brownberger was thrown for a loss on the next play, and Samuelson made up the loss of five yards as the game ended.

Fourteen First Downs
Both teams registered 14 first downs. Mintz, Sweeney, and Staples did most of the gaining for the Titans; while Samuelson, Brownberger, and Shafer made most gains for Case. Case tried three passes and completed one for 12 yards. Westminster did not throw a pass during the game. The Titans lost 45 yards in penalties, while Case lost only 16 yards. The Titans fumbled three times, but twice recovered their own fumbles. Case fumbled three times and recovered all three.

The play of Lou Franklin, center; Bob Scarbrough, right half; Pete Leyshock, end, as well as that of Sweeney, Staples, and Mintz, was outstanding for the Titans. For Case, Red Samuelson, all-conference fullback; Brownberger, halfback; Thom, quarter; and Shafer, half, was outstanding for the Scientists.

Gym Absences To Be Arranged For In Advance

A new plan in physical education provides that students may now be absent from their regular gym periods only on condition that they arrange before taking the absence to make it up another day of the same week in which the absence occurs. If such arrangements are not attended to and the work not made up, record of the absence will be made in the Registrar's office and loss of credit in the course may be incurred.

Frosh Defeat Sophs In Annual Game, 6-0

High Scorer

RAY SWEENEY

Ray Sweeney, 145 pound quarterback for the Titans ran up more points than any of the other Blue and White players this year. Sweeney scored in the Slippery Rock game, the Thiel game, and the Case game, for a total of 18 points. Laraway, playing his first year of college football was second with 12 points. Watt has a total of seven points to his credit. Hunneke scored two points, both after touchdowns in the Thiel game.

Mankedick Scores On Pass From Peters Late In Fourth Quarter

By DICK NELSON

Last Tuesday the Freshman football team defeated the Sophomores in a hard fought, and evenly matched game by a 6-0 score. The touchdown came as the result of a sophomore fumble on their own six-yard line which was recovered by "Chuck" Jones, frosh center. A pass from Peters to Mankedick gave the plebes the lone touchdown of the afternoon.

During most of the 20 minutes of play the plebes and sophs battled on even grounds. Only once did the upper-classman come within scoring distance of the plebe goal line. A series of line bucks and end runs by Carson and Glaiser gave the sophs a first down on the "yearlings" 30-yard line. Here the plebe line stiffened and held for downs.

The scoring play came late in the fourth period after a sophomore back fumbled a kick on his own six-yard line. The frosh covered the fumble and after two line plays with no gain completed a pass from Peters, plebe halfback, to Mankedick. The attempt for afterpoint was low.

Electing to receive the ball after the touchdown the Sophs made a desperate attempt to score but their running attack was stopped by a now joyful plebe team and the game ended with the frosh in possession of the ball on their own 40-yard line.

As a result of the victory all freshman rules were discontinued. This ruling was made by the sophomore class in conjunction with the Student Council as an added feature of the annual frosh-soph melee.

In "Red" Carson and "Jerry" Auld the sophomores had two of the outstanding players on the field. Time after time these two players stopped what looked like a goal line march by the plebes. On the offense Carson was the best ball carrier. His end runs and off-tackle drives netted yardage to the upper-class team. Paris, Glasier, and Ramsey performed well in the soph backfield. Wagner, Patterson, and Snyder were prominent for their fine defensive work.

For the victorious plebe team Lasher, diminutive freshman quarterback, and Rose, plebe fullback, were outstanding. In the line, Jones, Carter, Mankedick, and Brown showed plenty of strength.

The officials for the game were: Hollander, referee; Siljander, umpire; Wilhelm, head linesman; Bill Staples, varsity fullback, acted as team physician.

Coaches for the game were: Elmer Meider and John Buffalo, freshman coaches; Cromwell Ketterer and Leonard Baird, sophomore coaches.

Education Head

Analyzes Local Scholarship

And finally, what is more important, the students themselves are sufficiently interested in this process of learning to analyze and criticize the class room work. That critical attitude is perhaps the best indication of an improved interest, of a curiosity and a desire to learn.

Perhaps more rigid entrance requirements would raise the general intellectual level of our students somewhat. Perhaps a system of comprehensive examinations in the student's major subject, as a final requisite for completion of the major, would focus the attention of the college on what the students learn rather than on the fulfilling of requirements. Perhaps a final comprehensive examination over the total field of college work would be a preferable requisite to the present system of credit getting. Unquestionably, constructive criticism from an interested student body would be appreciated by the Westminster faculty. The faculty are, secretly, very much interested in stimulating the intellectual curiosity, and hastening the mental maturation of the students.

As a result of an editorial campaign waged last year at Temple University, the section of the stadium allotted to the student body has been enlarged to permit the seating of about 400 more persons.

Trio Fills Initial Date With One Selection; Now Have Excellent Repertoire

By ANNE BOYER

Although it is not generally known, there is a great history back of the Omicron Mu Gamma Trio, which has harmonized in chanted several times and which appeared on the program of one-act plays presented last night in the Little Theatre. They will again appear at the final showing this evening.

It seems that these three girls, Charlotte Melhorn, Dorothy Patch, Margaret Weber, suddenly decided to be a trio. The one and only song in their repertoire was that classical number "Who's Afraid of the Big Bad Wolf?" Since they had only this one selection, they decided to perfect it, so they practiced in the conservatory.

Professor Davis chased the Big Bad Wolf from room to room, until finally in desperation he told the girls that they might get it out of their systems and the conservatory—they were to sing it in chapel the day before the Grove City game.

Now the trio was in a great dilemma because they knew they would need an encore, and that they could hardly sing the same number both as a selection and an encore. So, they put their heads together and made—no, not a concrete wall—but a parody, fitting Grove City into the Big Bad Wolf's clothing, and thus the song went "Who's Afraid of Grove City?" A touch of irony appeared in answer, "We're not—not much."

The song was quite a success. Some days later they decided that they really should have another piece just in case of emergency. Although they wanted very much to sing another encore to "Who's Afraid of the Big Bad Wolf?", they thought better of it, and using the names of the football players they presented "The Last Round-up."

The trio has now decided to go in for bigger and better parodies. Their selections of last evening were of very high calibre and tonight, they again appear in the footlights.

Frosh Debate Team Defeats Soph Rivals

The ever recurring battle between the freshmen and sophomores broke out anew last night in the Little Theatre when the debating representatives of the first year class defeated the sophomore debaters in their annual match.

The freshman team composed of Helen Dornhoefer, Avalon LeMonte, and McCrea Hazlett upheld the affirmative side of the question "Resolved: That The Essential Features of The NIRA Should Be Adopted As A Permanent Feature of The United States Government". Marjorie Scott, Virginia Booth and Dean George debated the negative side for the sophomore class.

The faculty judges, Dr. H. L. Black, Prof. Ben Euwema, and Prof. A. T. Cordray were unanimous in their decision for the first year debaters. Fred Luderer of the varsity debate squad acted as general chairman.

District Colleges Send Delegates Here For Meeting

The Association of Liberal Arts Colleges of Western Pennsylvania will hold its annual meeting at Westminster tomorrow. This association was organized five years ago, and is made up of the faculties of Geneva, Thiel, Allegheny, Grove City and Westminster colleges.

The program will begin at 2:45 p. m. with a general meeting in the Little Theatre. Two addresses will be given, one by Professor Lee McClean of Allegheny on "A New Approach in the Field of Social Science", and one by Professor John Coleman of Geneva on "A College Man Looks at Current Events."

At 4:25 p. m. the meeting will break up into divisional conferences, the various groups meeting in the classrooms.

At 6:00 p. m. dinner will be served at Brown Hall and Hillside.

At 7:00 p. m., there will be a general meeting again in the Little Theatre. A play, under the direction of Professor A. T. Cordray will be presented, and music by the Westminster music students. Dr. Gilbert Taylor of Westminster will speak on, "If Plato Were a Modern Educator."

Drastic Measures Will Enforce No Smoking Rule

President R. F. Galbreath in a speech made before all the women students of the college Wednesday morning issued a final statement concerning smoking by women students. Hereafter, any girl found smoking while attending school will be immediately sent home.

"The leniency of the last three months has come to an end," said Dr. Galbreath, "and the authorities will see that the lid is put on any such activity". He advised any girl who could not be happy without smoking to register elsewhere. He pointed out that Westminster has lost many prospective students because of smoking by women students and that since appealing to them did no good that a ban would now be put on to enforce the rule.

Outstanding Seniors Named By Students

Members of the three underclasses named the ten most outstanding men and women in a vote cast today at chapel hour.

The men named were: Elmer Meider, Harold Polonus, William Douglass, Paul McMinn, and Alan Van Harper. Wilbur Christy, Eric Thompson and Robert N. Jones finished in the order named with few votes separating the from the first five.

The race for the outstanding senior women was hotly contested with Evelyn Judson, Ruth Russell, Jean Miller, Jane Baker, and Helen Baerman having a scant majority over Emily Parker, Louise Johnston, Ebba Sizer, and Grace Kelley.

The vote was taken after questionnaires had been filled in by the faculty. Those names appearing most often on the faculty ballots were given to the student body for the final selection.

The balloting ran as follows: Meider, 307; Polonus, 282; Douglass, 229; McMinn, 214; and Harper, 165; Judson, 253; Russell, 201; Miller, 186; Baker, 183; and Baerman, 159.

Leave School

"Peggy" Lindsay, sophomores, has been called to her home in Bellevue by the illness of her mother; she is not planning to return to school.

Naomi Perrault, freshman, did not return to school after Thanksgiving recess. Her family has moved to Boston where she will attend school.

Student Council Will Investigate Rumors Of "Stool Pigeon" System

An investigation will be launched in order to discredit or substantiate rumors that "stool pigeons" are working on the campus, members of the Student Council decided last night in their regular meeting.

Rumors that students were actively employed in carrying information to the Administration were reported at the meeting and as a result, Student Council members promised an immediate investigation of the situation.

Freshman regulations for next year were decided upon, and all first year students will be required to wear dinks or berets with any other insignia the Council order for a period of not less than three weeks.

Plans for an open forum for the students were tabled until next Thursday at which time the Council will again meet.

The rule banning cigarette smoking by women students was judged a college rule, which will be discussed with the Administration.

No moving pictures will be presented before the Christmas holidays according to Helen Whieldon, chairman of the Student Council committee. The silent pictures can not be obtained until the first of the year. However, catalogues from moving picture concerns are being sent to the college and from these old favorites will be selected. The committee is depending upon the students to furnish their own sound accompaniment with hisses for the villain, cheers and clapping for the hero, and maybe a few romantic sighs during the love scenes.

Six Colleges To Send Delegates To For Tournament

Six district colleges will send two teams of two speakers each to the debate conference to be held here next week-end, December 15 and 16. Professor Albert Tener is in charge of the meeting.

Those schools who will send teams are: Grove City, Geneva, Baldwin-Wallace, Waynesburg, Washington-Jefferson, and St. Francis.

There will be seven debates going on at one time during the preliminary rounds, the winners of each meeting the winners of the others until all are eliminated but one. The

Pretty Chi Omega Brunette Wins Crown

Miss Virgil Wettich, pretty brown-eyed Chi Omega junior was elected 1934 May Queen by the girls of the senior class when they met Thursday afternoon in the Little Theatre. Miss Wettich will be crowned at the ceremonies early in June by last year's queen, Miss Louise Johnston of Sigma Kappa sorority.

Miss Wettich is one of the most popular and most active girls in the junior class. She is associate editor of the Argo, junior class year book; past president and riding instructor of the W. A. A.; membership chairman of the Y.W.C.A.; and has served on the Freshman Tribunal.

This year's May Queen "goes for" camping and silhouettes: camping all summer at the family camp along the Slippery Rock creek; and perky silhouettes all over the walls of her room at the Hillside.

She is an honor student, having made the honor roll a good many times since her enrollment as a Freshman. Not only that, but she left a fine record at New Castle High, where she served as valedictorian of her class.

Miss Wettich's hobby is sports. She is especially fond of hockey, basketball, volleyball, and swimming; but she enjoys many others. She has won her Senior Life Saving badge in swimming.

Her major is math, which she intends to teach, along with history and English. But her real interest is in personnel work for a college, or buying for a department store.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Wettich, W. Clayton avenue, New Castle, graduating from New Castle high school with the class of '31.

VIRGIL WETTICH

Versatility won the May Queen crown for Virgil Wettich, pretty New Castle girl, at the election held by Senior girls Thursday afternoon. She will be crowned in June by Louise Johnston, last year's Queen.

Three Act Farce To Be Presented By Dramatic Club

"The Importance of Being Earnest" will be presented next Thursday and Friday, December 14 and 15 in the Community House by members of Masquers, honorary dramatics fraternity. This three-act farce by Oscar Wilde is the third number on the Little Theatre play course ticket.

Those who are cast for the production are: William Neely, Lane; Orville Dawson, Algeron Mancie; Geoffrey Sowash, John Worthing; Lady Bracknell, Helen Baerman; Gwendolyn Fairfax, Helen Weingartner; Miss Prism, Charlotte Bartlett; Cecily Cardew, Sara Haney; Rev. Canon Chasuble, Robert Douglass; and Merriman, Carrull Anderson.

The college orchestra under the direction of Professor Donald O. Cameron will play at the performances. They will play the following numbers: Overture, Selections from "Music in the Air"; Two Dances from Henry VIII; two Guitars; and Exit March, "On the Campus".

Koper Named Head Of Science Club For Current Year

Albert Koper, a member of the sophomore class was elected president of the Science club at the regular meeting of the body last night in the Science Hall. Martha Morrow, a member of the junior class was named secretary and reporter. Koper will succeed James McGeorge retiring president. Miss Morrow's office was unfilled during the past year.

Following the business meeting the club members were addressed by Dr. B. E. Quick on "Botanical Studies in Japan". Plans were made for the showing of a movie of the iron and steel industry in the chemistry lecture room on the afternoons of Dec. 11-14. The picture has been donated by the Carnegie Steel Company, a subsidiary of the U. S. Steel Corporation.

OUR ADVERTISERS

After a careful check on other college and university papers, The Holcad has learned that New Wilmington merchants are more than boosting Westminster's student weekly.

Our advertising occupies more space than most advertising in other collegiate publications, and at the same time, the Holcad does not accept advertising from cigarette companies.

This speaks well for the New Wilmington,
New Castle, and Sharon merchants, who are assisting the staff in presenting a weekly to the student body. They are certainly deserving of Westminster patronage, for they have made it possible for the staff to turn out a paper which ranks high in newspaper rating.

Let's buy from our advertisers. They deserve it.

AT A DRUNKEN MAN

(With Excerpts from the New York Evening Journal)

How often have you seen a drunken man stagger along the street!

His clothes are soiled from falling. His face is bruised. His eyes are dull. Sometimes he curses the boys that tease him. Sometimes he tries to smile in a drunken effort to placate pit-iless, childish cruelty.

His body, worn out, can stand no more, and he mumbles that he is going home.

The children running ahead of him persecute him, throw things at him, laugh at him.

Grown men and women, too, laugh with the children, nudge each other, and actually find humor in the sight of a human being sunk below the level of the lowest animal.

The sight of a drunken man going home should make every other man sad and sympathetic. And horrible as the sight is, it should be useful, by inspiring in those who see it a determination to avoid and to help others avoid that man's fate.

The reeling drunkard is going home.

He is going home to children who are afraid of him, to a wife whose life he has made miserable.

He is going home, suffering the worst curse in the world—to endure bitter remorse himself after having inflicted suffering on those whom he should protect.

And as he goes home men and women, forgetting what the home-coming means, laugh at him and enjoy the sight.

In the old days in the arena it occasionally happened that brothers were set to fight each other. When they refused to fight, they were forced to it by red-hot irons applied to their backs.

We have progressed beyond the moral con-our imaginations and sympathies are so dull that diction of men guilty of such brutality as that.
But we cannot call ourselves civilized as long as the reeling drunkard is thought an amusing spectacle.

This month has seen the return of this country to alcoholic beverages. Again we are to see the drunken man reeling along the streets. Again that drunken man will be going home to children who are afraid of him, to a wife whose life he has made miserable. Again that drunken man will be going home to a mother whose heart will ache for her boy.

And as he goes home will men and women, knowing what the home-coming means, laugh at him and enjoy the sight?

Editor's Mail Bag

Editor, the Holcad:—

Recently there appeared an article in the Hol-cad, concerning student activity centers. It pictured the honorary fraternity as useless, as far as activities are concerned.

Delta Nabla, honorary mathematics fraternity has been on the campus for six or seven years.
Its purpose is to promote an interest in mathematics in Westminster and it has constantly worked with this purpose in view.

A regular meeting is held each month and at least three social functions during the year.
program always follows our business meeting.
This year the executive committee met at the beginning of the year and mapped out a program for the semester. Our program is to be conducted by the members of Delta Nabla one month, and for the next month, a speaker is brought in who speaks to the club on mathematics and related subjects. Dr. Davis was our speaker for the October meeting.

Last year an attempt was made to increase the interest in math among the freshmen. An award was offered to the freshman student who excelled in the work. This award was presented in chapel this fall. Plans are being made to hold an open meeting of Delta Nabla, at which time, all those interested may attend.

Delta Nabla is an organization which is more than merely a name. It functions. You will find us the third Tuesday of each month, holding our regular meeting in Dr. Black's classroom.

on him if he calls, thinking it's of the student body a chance to laugh with you.

Be ready for him. His pet phrase when he calls, is "This

Heh, heh.

(With Douglass playing

Titans Drop First Game To Goodyears

Douglas High Scorer For Titans With 14 Points Bud Brownlee Stars

Playing a brand of ball below the Blue and White par, Coach Lawther's Titans lost their first pre-season game to the Akron Goodyears by a score of 43 to 36, last Wednesday night.

Although the game was close and the Westminster players were on the upper side of the score a good deal of the time they lacked the extra punch needed to throw in the winning baskets. At the half the score was tied up, each team having 16 points. The Titans taking the lead from the half gained a six-point margin over the Goodyears. The tide turned in the middle of the second half, though and the Akron men after again catching up to the Titans, threw in enough baskets to win by a seven-point margin.

Brownlee, a former Westminster player, was high scorer of the evening with 15 points and Rush, another Goodyear man had 11 points. Douglas ran up 14 points for Westminster and Bennett tallied 12 points.

Manager

NELSON GREER

Nelson Greer, member of the junior class, earned his letter in football this year not by playing in half of the quarters of the football games, but by handling the managerial duties in an efficient manner.

Reappointed

According to announcements last week, Dr. W. D. Cleland, an alumnus of Westminster, has been reappointed to the New Castle High School Athletic Council.

Dr. Cleland played on the Westminster football team in 1903 and was captain in 1904. He is also a member of the Westminster Athletic Council.

Extensive Intramural Basketball Loop To Be Arranged

Plans for the 1933-34 intramural basketball tournament are being formulated according to an announcement made by Jack Hulme. Six teams will take part in the tournament which will start shortly after the Christmas vacation.

Coaches for the teams will be selected by members of the participating fraternities. Three teams will represent each group and will be known as the "A", "B", and "C" teams. Pledges will be eligible to play on any one of the three teams; the only restriction being that, after playing on the "A" team a member can not participate in the two minor teams. The same conditions govern the "B" team members. Any player can advance from a lower team to an advance team.

Officials for the game will be selected from members of the student body interested in physical education. Mr. Hulme expects to have a sufficient number of referees and umpires to conduct as many as three games in one afternoon.

Basketball has been one of the outstanding intra-mural sports for the past two years and bids fair to become the most important sport on the intra-mural schedule. Last year each fraternity had three teams entered in the loop and approximately 100 games were run-off.

Practice periods are being held three days a week and the three periods have been divided into ten fifty minute periods and are assigned to the different teams.

George Hollander, varsity football tackle, will aid Mr. Hulme in handling the tournament. Hollander is student assistant to the physical education department and also takes care of the boys' swimming periods.

Approximately 100 men will be active on the gym floor during the tournament and it will be necessary that every team appear at the scheduled time or forfeit the game.

Captain

WILLIAM DOUGLASS

Bill Douglass, senior member of the Titan basketball team, will lead the Blue and White in their floor engagements. Douglass was high scorer in the Akron Goodyear game last Wednesday.

Douglass was named one of the outstanding men in the Senior class today.

Coach Lawther Primes Cagers In Defense For Second Tilt

Tomorrow night the Titan cagers will go to Sharon where they will meet the Sharon Buhl Club in their second pre-season game this year. Although the Blue and White players went down to defeat in their first pre-season game with the Akron Goodyears, the benefit derived from playing together in a regular game will help them against the Buhl Club.

Coach Lawther says that the Titans will work on defense the rest of the week. Westminster is favored to defeat the Sharon team, even though the Buhl outfit is composed of college stars. The line-up for the Saturday night game will probably be, Bennett at center, Douglass and Leyshock at forwards, and Williams and Hunneke at guards. Melder and Sweeney will probably see action also.

Next week the Titans will leave for the strenuous five-game schedule through the East which starts Dec. 14. The Titan squad of 10 or 11 men leaves here Dec. 14 for Scranton, where St. Thomas College will be played Dec. 15. Nat Holman's Stellar City College team will be met in New York City on Dec. 16. John Marshall College will be played Dec. 18 at Jersey City. Marshall is coached by Matty Begovitch, former Titan player.

Upsala College will be met at East Orange, N. J., on Dec. 19; and St. Johns College, defeated last year 25-15 by the Titans, will be met on the Freeport, L. I. high school floor on Dec. 20. The team will return Dec. 21.

Color Teams Picked For Girl's Loop

Volleyball practices will come to an end Friday of this week, and the regularly scheduled games will begin Monday, December 11. Players from each class have been divided into a number of color teams which will make up the playing circuit. Four games will be played on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, beginning at three o'clock, three-forty, four-forty, and five o'clock.

The following girls will captain the various teams: Betty MacNab, Joan Bolles, Comfort Spelman, Mildred Ralston, Isabelle McKnight, Jane Smiley, and Elizabeth Cone.

Tonsil Operation Keeps Lawther From Meeting

Coach John Lawther was unable to attend the Tri-State Conference meeting held last Monday in Pittsburgh due to the fact that he had his tonsils removed late last week at Alliance, Ohio. The popular Titan mentor suffered from throat colds last winter, and took the opportunity afforded by the Thanksgiving recess to have his tonsils removed.

Although a blowup of the conference was expected, all disputes were settled amicably and peace again reigns supreme. The biggest action taken was when it was voted to have each school submit its Freshmen and Sophomores receiving athletic aid to Dr. Adam L. Jones, secretary of the Middle Atlantic States Association, for an impartial report.

Little Theatre Notes

By HELEN LAY

The other night we disguised ourselves as a dramatic critic and previewed the rehearsal of the Masquers' coming production, "The Importance of Being Earnest". The farce by Oscar Wilde takes place in England and so the exaggerated English accent adds much to the humorous situations. Without disclosing the plot, we might say that two men have posed as Ernest Worthing and under that name have become engaged. When both of the young ladies, Cecily Cardew and Gwendolyn Fairfax, meet and compare diaries, it appears that they are engaged to the same man.

Except for a little stiffness on the part of the Englishmen, all the characterizations are very well enacted. Charlotte Bartlett as Miss Prism is exactly what the name implies, a dignified, prim, maiden lady. Robert Douglas takes the role of a typical country curate, the Rev. Canon Chasuble. Sara Haney, or Cecily Cardew, is the charming ward of John Worthing—her dear "Uncle Jack". Helen Weingartner is the more dignified, London girl who has been taught to be "near sighted" so she must use a lorgnette. Geoffrey Sowash as John Worthing; and Orville Dawson as Algernon Manerief take the two male leads. (The latter expressed a need for private practice in the love scenes.)

Shorter roles in the play are William Neeley, Lane; Carroll Anderson, Merriman; and Helen Baerman, Lady Bracknell. After seeing this three-act farce, next Thursday or Friday evening, you will be dropping your r's and drinking afternoon tea. Both performances will be given at the Community House.

Bellowing Bolshevik blouses are all the rage since the King Male Quartet stopped at Westminster for a program of songs and bell ringing last Tuesday night.

In spite of their clothing, the program ranged from negro spirituals to Spanish love lyrics, displaying real finesse in piano, accordion, and their Swiss bells. The program was the third on the Westminster artist course as arranged by Prof. Alan B. Davis, head of the department of music.

Course In Soap Sculpture To be Added to Art Schedule

A course in soap sculpture is to be offered by Professor H. J. Brennan after the Christmas holidays. The class will meet on Tuesday afternoons and anyone interested (even though they have not been registered in any other art classes) can present their name to Mary Forbes.

The aim of the class is to attain an appreciation of a few of the fundamental principles of art and to secure an enjoyment which can only come with self-creation.

The class will be strictly informal, interesting and instructional. If any piece of work has sufficient charm and form it may be submitted to the Small Sculpture Competition in which various worth while prizes are offered.

Cleveland Artists Present Program In Excellent Manner

Perfect blending of fine cultured voices in a varied program of classical music, madrigals, Russian selections, and Christmas songs distinguished the Cleveland Artists Ensemble, in its appearance here last Monday evening, as an outstanding choral group.

The twelve men and women in evening dress sat about a table in the old English custom and sang in absolute unison under the competent direction of their leader, Dr. Carl Radde. The singing of this talented group was an object lesson in the lost art of "bel canto". The remarkable restraint in the mezzo voice displayed a sure vocal technique which was a delight and with the contrasting dynamics left nothing to be desired in vocal balance.

The outstanding number on the program were the Brahms Opus 92 (sung in German), "The Nightingale" and "Cherubim Song" by Peter Tschaikowsky, "Bold Turpin" (Bridge), "The Silver Swan" by Orlando Gibbons, "Praise to God the Angels Sing" and "A Brilliant Light Shone in the Sky" by Dorothy Radde Emery.

George McGeoch, '36, has been named circulation manager of the Holcad to take over the duties of Paul Barger recently resigned. McGeoch will supervise the circulation to alumni and men and women's residences.

Cast Produces Play In Professional Manner

The initial performance of "The Importance of Being Earnest", by Oscar Wilde, was given last night at the Community House before an enthusiastic audience. The production will be repeated tonight.

As a Masquers' production, the play was handled by veteran actors. The three-act English farce is centered about the escapades of two young men, John Worthing and Algernon Moncrieff. As the sober young guardian of Cecily Cardew, played by Sara Haney, John Worthing feels obliged to take the name of Ernest Worthing while in London. To offset the escapades under this name, he invents a younger brother who is so very wild that Cecily falls in love with the young man.

John's friend, Algernon, goes to his country house where he poses as the younger brother and becomes engaged to Cecily, a girl from London who believes herself to be engaged to Ernest Worthing, enters the scene. (Continued on Page 4)

Journalists Will Sponsor Holiday Dance

Tau Gamma Delta, honorary journalistic fraternity, together with the Holcad is sponsoring a holiday dance, to be held in the college gym, Wednesday evening, December 20.

Music for the affair, which will be the last function before Christmas recess, will be furnished by Billy Blank's Commodores of Sharon.

With holiday spirit running high and the assurance of a band capable of providing delightful syncopation, the dance promises to be very successful.

Tickets will go on sale Saturday morning and may be obtained from any member of the Holcad staff or Tau Gamma Delta.

Proceeds will be used to help defray expenses incurred by the fraternity in petitioning Pi Delta Epsilon and to assure the publishing of the Holcad each week for the remainder of the first year.

The committee in charge of arrangements consists of Charles Brantfield, Paul McMinn and Harold Polonus. Dancing will be from 8 to 11:30 p. m.

"Gwendolyn Fairfax"

Under the name of Gwendolyn Fairfax, Miss Weingartner closes four years of stage work in an excellent manner in "The Importance of Being Earnest" which will be repeated tonight in the Community House.

Gordon Balch Nevin Well Received In Second Of Yearly Organ Recitals

Gordon Balch Nevin, Head of the department of Pipe Organ, gave the second in his series of organ recitals in the college chapel on Tuesday evening of this week. A large audience was present to hear what many believe to be one of the best recitals this artist has given on the chapel organ.

The recitalist presented a program of unusual range, including numbers by Mendelssohn, Harvey B. Gaul, N. Rimsky-Korsakoff, Gordon Balch Nevin, Tschaikowsky, Malling, and Dethier.

"Daguerrotype of an Old Mother" (Harvey B. Gaul) was played in a most sincere devotional mood.

"The Tragedy of A Tin Soldier", one of Professor Nevin's original compositions, was given with distinct intermixture of pomp, jealousy, a well managed farewell and a Tin Soldier's Funeral March.

The artist rose to symphonic grandeur in his playing of the Finale from the Symphony "Pathetic" (Tschaikowsky). In this number the organ was like a great symphony orchestra as tonal pictures of intense grief were interwoven in a manner that lifted us out of a murky haze into a vision of hope which was realized in the next number "The Birth of Christ" by Otto Malling.

WELCOME DEBATERS

The Westminster Holcad extends the welcome of the entire college family to the teams and coaches of the visiting schools. Make yourself at home for the Westminster students are your visit here a pleasant one (and nourish your appetites for the formal dinner Saturday night).

to Mr. A. J. Tener, debate coach, much credit should be given, for they have worked diligently and well in this novel endeavor.

CRIBBING

Despite the fact that we ourselves disapprove of cheating in the classroom, we feel at the same time that the administration is making a bit of a big fuss about a mere part of a much larger problem. Ordinary cheating, we cannot help but feel, is not so horrible an offense, practically speaking, as many persons not familiar with the way schools work are wont to believe.
Except in the case of a hardened continuously conscienceless cribber, we hardly believe that cheating reflects any sordid twist in the average student's soul. We cannot imagine him ever absconding with anything more valuable than the boss' grand-daughter. That cheating is of course unpleasant and unfortunate, we agree.
We will be the first to rejoice if the Student Council can do something about it. That cheating reflects something especially significant about a student body though, we refuse to believe.

That cheating does, however, reflect something significant about a faculty of a school is something else altogether different. Widespread cheating, in our opinion, is like a high temperature in the blood. It is a bad sign of an unhealthy condition already existing there.
If the Faculty in other words, believes that there is an unusual quantity of cheating going on among students on this campus, we feel that the point of departure for reform, is, as usual, nearer home. How about classes? Bad classroom managements will encourage cribbing every time; what is worse they will go a long way to justify it. Unbelievably inept instruction in classes of unbelievable lifelessness and visionlessness will corrupt the scruples of even the best intentioned of students. A month's dose of academic dope will generally do it. After that time the conscientious will crum, the bright will bluff, and the rest just crib. Which is the worst, cramming, bluffing or cribbing? Probably it is better to be dumb than dishonest; yet just the same in a college it should be preferable to be neither than either.

And it is precisely because of the doubtful quality of some of this college's classrooms that we have taken what may seem to some to be the defense of the sinful. However, observe that we have not supported cheating. We have not denied that cheating is nasty, that cheating from an absolute point of view is inexcusable. We have merely observed that bad teaching from an absolute point of view is also inexcusable and probably much more so than cheating. Honesty at best is a negative virtue. The aims of a Liberal Arts College certainly must include something more positive and in this case infinitely more serious. What is more, considering the state of scholarship on the campus at the present time the issue on cheating seems most unhappy. It resembles that peculiar sort of fastidiousness which strains at a gnat after managing to swallow a camel.

An epidemic of robberies from fraternities and sorority houses at the University of Colorado has brought forth a variety of precautions.
One house placed a guard armed with a shotgun in front of the door. Another has forbidden its members to make late dates and hides all valuables, while the brothers of a fraternity take their money to bed with them.

The Sterling Memorial museum at Yale University is displaying an exhibit of modern and ancient cards from all parts of the world.

sumed every day at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and eighty gallons of water per man is used daily. The Institute has one thousand

Dr. Frank Freeman, of the University of Chicago, claims intelligence is not something that is fixed. "The pace of mental operation may be well influenced by practice and mental alertness and probably varies considerably with appropriate training."

To correct their posture for "posture week" co-eds at Smith College were recently seen going about the campus carrying books on their heads.

Although the idea is dying out slowly, it is still considered a mark of beauty in German and Austrian universities to bear a nice duelling scar on one's face.

Some students in the University of Vienna sign up for a course, miss all their classes, and only meet the professor when the final examinations are given. They pass as often as those who attend all the lectures.

If one expects to work after graduation in Germany, he must be a Nazi. All jobs from the best to the worst are given only to Nazi sympatizers. Whether students believe in the ideas of National Socialism or not, they join one of their many organizations.

With nearly a fourth of the students from other countries, the University of Vienna is an unusual place for interesting experiences and a cosmopolitan atmosphere.

Going for a walk in the park is a good date

Students with cars, are extremely rare.

Students in Switzerland get a double dose of Co-eds at Washington College, having been granted permission to smoke in classes ambled

The professor ordered that all windows be kept tightly closed and in a short time the class fled.

The Colorado School of Mines has a ruling which prevents sophomores from paddling freshmen. Sophs get around the rule by making freshmen paddle themselves.

At the University of California at Los Angeles candidates for student offices have to be heavily guarded by police to protect them from being kidnapped by opposing forces.

Because of the increasing nuisance caused by skunks in the vicinity of State College, Pennsylvania, the State Game Commissioner has ruled that students may kill the animals without the necessity of a hunting license.

The students of Glasgow University in Scotland upset the whole of Great Britain by publishing a fictitious yarn concerning the crash of a trans-Atlantic aviatrix and then took up a collection for their charity fund when a crowd appeared at the scene of the supposed crash.

If a student is caught drinking at the University of Colorado, he is forced to attend Sunday School for a period of three years.

Maxine Jacobs Gives Her Impression of Westminster

Congeniality is the one word which, to me, expresses the true Westminster spirit. I came here as a perfect stranger, necessarily dependent upon others for a certain amount of assistance. I often think now of the many times I wondered what college would be like, and whether it would seem any different to be thrown with an entire group of sighted people. Having been associated practically all my life with persons with the same handicap as myself, this, of course, is a new experience for me.

I had my biggest thrill when I was asked to play the role in "Hearts Enduring". Learning the lines was the easiest part of the whole thing.
I merely copied them and my cues,

in Braille, from the manuscript.
Finding my positions on the stage was easy, much easier than I had anticipated.

Having been accustomed to very small classes, I found it hard to realize that I was just one among many.
But, contrary to my expectations, it is not at all difficult to keep up with my class work. As far as tests are concerned, I take most of them orally.

On the whole, I feel that I could not have made a wiser choice as far as choosing a college is concerned.
I am very much pleased with the course offered in speech and dramatics. And upon graduation I shall be grateful to Westminster college for an adequate preparation for my life work and a wealth of experience.

The final test comes when the first cake is ready for eating. It is dropped from the ceiling onto the table and if it bounces it is eatable.

Titans Play St. Thomas Five Tonight

Five Games on Eastern Card Will Be Played This Week And Part Of Next

St. Johns Cancels Game; Nassau Collegians Replace

Ten Westminster basketball players, Coach John D. Lawther, Assistant Athletic Director R. X. Graham, and managers left here today at noon for Williamsport on the first leg of an Eastern trip which will give the Titans five games in six nights.

The first contest will be played at Scranton, Pa., tonight when the strong St. Thomas team, only team to defeat Westminster on the trip last year, will be met. The Titans hope to be able to stop Deitch, six foot five center of the Tommies who scored 11 points against the Westminster team last year. After the game the team will stay at Stroudsburg, and will go on to New York City Saturday morning.

Nat Holman's City College team, composed of veterans, will be played tomorrow evening in New York. Holman has a squad of 10 veterans, two complete teams, and is not certain which of the teams is the better. In all probability, however, he will start Captain Moe Goldman, star center; Samuel Winograd, and Peter Berenson at forwards; and Arthur Kaufman and Daniel Trupin at guards.

At Jersey City Monday night the Titans will meet John Marshall. Last year the Titans were able to defeat John Marshall by a 36-21 score, although the first half found the Titans but three points ahead due to the superb work of Miroff, forward, and Lape, center. With practically the same team back this season, Coach Matty Begovitch should force the tired Titans to the limit.

On Tuesday night the Titans will play Upsala college at East Orange, N. J. This will be the fourth game for the Titans of the Eastern series. Lawther will probably take no chances with the Upsala team, but will start his strongest combination, including: Douglass, Leyshock, Bennett, Hunneke, and Wilhelm.

Instead of the game with St. Johns, scheduled for Wednesday night, the Titans will come up against the Nassau Collegians who play under the name of Omega Tau Delta. The Collegians are the amateur champions of Nassau county. The Long Island team will have a number of coaches in its lineup and it is possible that "Babe" O'Donovan, former Titan captain, will play for the Nassau team.

Players who left with the team yesterday noon are: Captain Bill Douglass, forward; Peter Leyshock, forward; Wes Bennett, center; John Wilhelm, guard; Henry Hunneke, guard; Ray Sweeney, forward; Bill Williams, center; Elmer Meider, forward; John Willits, forward; and Irving Franklin, guard.

Titan Antics

Sympathy.....to the "college widows" on the campus..... What with the basketball players touring points east, with a day off now and then for sightseeing (?)..... No wonder some co-eds are wishing for the speedy flight of vacation days.

Freshman.....the One who called the Kap House asking if it was on New Castle street..... and after the poor Kap bit, said they'd better get it off as there was a big truck coming down the hill..... Fresh man!

Santy Claus.....Can't you just see Joe Straw as "the grand old man"..... giving out presents at the Delt A. C. Christmas party?..... How about giving Faber a big smile.....he seems to be out of them of late.

Closed.....the Browne Hall lounge to gentlemen callers..... every Wednesday evening (of all times!)..... Sorry, but the nite of good dance music is also featured by Y. W. meetings and "ladies only" parties...

Fraternities Lose Players To Varsity

Members of the various Fraternity intra-mural teams have transferred their allegiance to the varsity this year because of the lack of substitute material by Coach Lawther.

Elmer Meider, who played guard for the champion Delt aggregation last year, is with the Titans on their Eastern tour. He has played in both pre-season games so far this year and he started the Buhl club game in Sharon last week. Meider will probably be seen in many of the other games this year.

The star center of the Kap team, Irving Franklin, has also joined the varsity. His positions now are: center, forward, and guard. Lloyd Garrett, a member of last year's Delt team, and Willits, the champion of the Phi Pi team are also intra-mural players who are making good on the varsity.

Many of the fraternities will have to go into the ranks of the freshmen to make up their teams this year. Graduation of such stars as McGill from the Phi Pi's, Rehfus from the Kaps, and Tiers from the T. U. O's and the fact that many of the players are joining the varsity will make it hard for some of the teams.

Practices will be held next week and fraternities will continue rounding their teams into shape. Regular scheduled games will begin immediately after the Christmas holidays, Jack Hulme, director of intra-mural sports, announces.

Women's Organization Brings New Interest In Co-ed Athletics

Westminster has not always had a Women's Athletic Association, under whose sponsorship girls interested and proficient in athletics could participate in intra-mural sports. In fact, until two years ago, the only athletics open to college women were to be found in the swimming and gym classes. These offered routine work for the most part, and intra-mural competition was not encouraged.

This increase is particularly to be noted since a new sport, soccer, was added in the same season. Soccer enthusiasts totaled 65 this year. The volleyball tournament in progress this week claims the afternoons of 71 girls, as compared to the 55 girls who participated last year. The Mermaid Club, also organized this year, has thirty members who passed proficiency tests in swimming for entrance.

Each sport is under the personal direction of Miss Nandeen Love, who has built up at Westminster an athletic department which compares very favorably with that of any school of this size. Interest in woman's athletics is increasing so rapidly that time and space for scheduled practices and games are becoming inadequate.

MISS NANDEEN LOVE

Under the direction of Miss Nandeen Love, who came to Westminster two years ago, the Woman's Athletic Association was organized. A branch of the national organization, the local chapter now sponsors basketball, volleyball, soccer, hockey, swimming, hiking, horseback riding, ping pong, tennis, and tumbling. Competition is keen, as is evinced by the number of followers attracted to each sport.

Girls who came out for hockey during this year's season numbered 61, as compared to 40 of last year.

Blue And White Defeat Buhlers By 15 Point Margin At Sharon

Coach John Lawther's Titans defeated the Sharon Buhl Club last Saturday on the Sharon floor by a 39 to 24 score. The game was the second pre-season game for the Blue and White before starting on their trip through New York.

The Titans, having the advantage of height over their opponents, got under way in the second quarter for an easy triumph. The Westminster passers were held even in the opening period but at half time they had a 9-point advantage over the Buhlers, and had things more or less their own way during the rest of the game. They were on top 18-9 at the half and 29-16 at the third quarter.

Wes Bennett and captain Bill Douglass led the Titans with 15 and 11 points respectively. Bennett's points came as a result of four field goals and seven fouls while Douglass had five field goals and one foul.

Don McNally topped the Buhlers with seven points while Tom Davis followed with six. Bill Banks and Jimmy Gibbons each counted four.

Lawther Speaks At Basketball Clinic

"Individuality in Basketball" was the subject Coach John Lawther chose to speak on at the District basketball clinic held in Pittsburgh last week. Coach Lawther was also the leader of a group discussion on basketball. Other speakers were: Max Hannun, Carnegie Tech; Doc Carlson, Pitt; and Chick Davies, Duquesne. Over 400 high schools and colleges were representatives of the Tri-state area at the clinic. The final number on the program was a basketball game between Georgetown and Pitt.

Girls' Color Teams Hold Tournament

The volleyball tournament now in progress began Monday of this week, when the first group of games was played. The freshman Blue team turned in a 38-19 victory over the Reds as well as a 32-25 win over the sophomore Orange team. The Green team, after defeating the Brown 27-21, lost a close one to the Reds 23-26.

Wednesday afternoon the Blues continued their winning streak and defeated the Green team 27-21. Other results were: Brown 21, Orange 14; Red 26, Brown 21; Orange 42, Green 17.

"The Play's The Thing" But Stage Crew Toils Too

What goes on backstage when a production is being staged in the Little Theatre? Plenty! Does the cast constitute all the students who put on the production? No! Well, then, who else does work? The stage and costume crew!

Who are they and what do they do? What they do was evidenced last night in the first performance of the Masquers play "The Importance of Being Earnest." The costume crew under the capable direction of Isabel Scheetz handled all the stage properties and designed and made the costumes used.

The crew which Miss Scheetz has working under her are Mary Forbes, McClees Murray, Alice Freeman, Dorothy Bieber, Joan Bolles, and Anna McEwen.

Alan Harper, stage manager, has charge of a crew who build and paint all the flats necessary for the plays, change sets, and do all the hard work connected with producing the plays. His crew includes James Crooks, Ernest Smyser, David Campsey, Donald Depuey, Charles Trevas-kis, Russell Sewall, and Richard Nelson.

Masquers To Present Play Again Tonight In Community House

Just how the matter of who has the right to be Ernest is settled is not disclosed until the end of the third act.

All the characterizations were very well handled. John Worthing as the serious young man and Algernon Mancrief who has a gift for getting into scrapes were played by Geoffrey Sowash and Orville Dawson. Sara Haney played the sweet young word of eighteen to perfection; while the more sophisticated role of Gwendolyn was well taken by Helen Wein-gartner. Robert Douglass as the Rev. Canon Chasuble and Charlotte Bartlett as Miss Prism added much to the humor of the situation. A haughty society leader, Lady Bracknell who carried a list of young men eligible for her daughter was realistically portrayed by Helen Baerman. Minor parts were Lane, William Neely, and Merriman, Carroll Anderson.
